Speeding Car Flips In Crash, Man Trapped

A car was demolished Saturday morning when it flipped end over end several times, trapping the passenger inside.

Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported that a 1991 Chevrolet driven by Shannon L. Lee, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, was traveling at a high rate of speed along Route 135 near Truesdale Road at 3:50 a.m. when the accident occurred. The report said that Lee fell asleep at the wheel, allowing the car to travel off the right side of the road and strike a ditch prior to flipping over.

The vehicle came to rest on its side, and the passenger, Terry J. Shope, 20, Oakland, was trapped for the next 25 minutes with the car lying on his arm and shoulder. Police reported that the car was obliterated and pieces of it were scattered over a wide area. The front bumper of the car was ripped off, flew approximately 80 to 100 feet, and became embedded 2½ inches in a tree truck, the report said.

Lee was charged with negligent driving, failure to reduce speed in dangerous weather conditions, driving while intoxicated, and driving under the influence, and was given a civil citation for possession of alcohol under the age of 21.

Deer Park VFD and Southern Rescue Squad responded to the scene. Lee and Shope were transported by Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where Lee was treated and released, and Shope was admitted for treatment. He was later discharged, according to hospital personnel.

Police stated that both occupants of the car were using seatbelts, which reduced the level of injuries.

One Injured

One person was injured in an accident of Route 560 Wednesday morning.

Police reported that Brenda Weese, 31, Elk Garden, W.Va., was southbound on Route 560 at 10:30 a.m. when the incident occurred. Freddie Beckman, 50, Oakland, was northbound on Route 560 at the same time. Weese reportedly crossed the center line and side-swiped the

A UNIQUE HALLOWEEN SENTIMENT can be viewed at the Oakland home of Jane Avery along High Street, where tombstones mark the deaths of the vices and ills that plague humankind. Avery calls the display a cemetery of hope, where put to rest are bigotry, hatred, gossip, sickness, evil, injustice, poverty, hypocrisy, and greed. To even imagine a world where these weaknesses do not exist is indeed itself an act of great hope and great faith.

Convicted Sex Offender Given Three Years

An Oakland man was sentenced last week by Garrett County Circuit Court Judge James Sherbin to three years in jail. Richard Wolf Jr., 50, was convicted in August of third degree sexual offense.

Sherbin gave Wolf credit for time he has already served in jail, a total of 195 days, according to the court report.

The defendant was arrested earlier this year after an investigation revealed that he had apparently sexually molested an 11-year-old girl on several occasions over a two-year period. The child was in his care at the time of the alleged offenses.

Other circuit court cases heard last week involved the abuses of alcohol and/or prescription drugs.

Cheryl L. Combs, 41, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated (DWI) and Sherbin fined her $500. He also ordered her to attend a 28-day treatment program, according to the report.

Combs was stopped on Sept. 14, 1996, by a Maryland State Police officer along Rt. 40, near Lower New Germany Road. In addition to the DWI charge, she was cited at the

Guests Tour Waste Sites, High View To Be Razed, Yough Glades Equipped

County staff leaders give reports

Department and agency leaders of Garrett County offices met with the county commissioners Tuesday for the monthly staff meeting and several items of interest were announced and discussed. Items included news about a tour at the local recycling facilities by West Virginian guests, an update on the razing of the east Oakland High View Apartments, information about the nearly completed Yough Glades Elementary School, and other issues.

Recycling

Rodney Glotfelty, director of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling, told the commissioners that a group of people from last week's Canaan Valley Conference of West Virginia Solid Waste Authorities came over to Garrett County last Friday to tour the recycling sites. Glotfelty said they are hoping to establish similar facilities in West Virginia.

"They were very impressed by our system," Glotfelty said. "They hope to come back and talk with you, the commissioners, about how the system works."

Glotfelty also reported that the effort to clean up illegal dumpsites throughout the county has been completed. He had high praise for members of the Youth Conservation Corps, who worked with leader Clarissa Harris in the effort.

"Those kids did an excellent job," Glotfelty said. He also expressed thanks for the help of Larry Maxim and Jim Richmond. The job was funded through money from the Maryland Tire Recycling Fund. When any resident purchases a tire, one dollar of the price goes to the state fund.

"It's good to know that we are getting some of that money back here in Garrett County," Glotfelty stated.

Community Action

Duane Yoder, executive director of the Community Action Committee, Inc., reported that his trip to Washington to receive the recently awarded federal Head Start grant was successful, and mentioned that Governor Parris Glendening was "very responsive" in the effort to secure the grant for Garrett County. Yoder also commended Henry Brown, director of Social Services, and the commissioners for their letter to the state offices concerning the plight of Head Start programs in Garrett County.

"We want to make sure we have adequate child care throughout Garrett County," Yoder said. In reference to the funding dilemma announced in September, when a grant for child care at the Oakland Head Start was not funded, Yoder said what was at first a problem has resulted in many positives.

In other news of his department, Yoder noted that a new Head Start center will open in Jennings by January 1998. The center will serve 20 children.

Yoder said the High View Apartments will be demolished this winter and the construction of new facilities is to begin in early spring. Because of a mild summer, the construction of Pleasant View in Loch Lynn is ahead of schedule and many persons leaving High View will most likely be eligible to move to the new development. Leasing should begin on Dec. 24, Yoder said.

Education Board

Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County schools, reported that the bid for new furniture for Yough Glades Elementary School came in lower than what had been expected and the board was able to order everything on the prepared list.

"We had expected to have to cut some items, but we were very pleased to discover that we had enough to purchase all of the new furniture," Teets said. The items consist mostly of student and teacher desks and other basic furniture, he said.

Teets also announced that this year's enrollment in the county school system is somewhat lower than last year, by approximately 55

Workout For House Of Hope Set At Southern

"Workout for Hope," a dance-exercise extravaganza for the entire family, is slated for Saturday, Nov. 15, from 6 to 10 p.m. at the gymnasium of Southern High School. The special fund-raising event is being held to benefit the House of Hope, a local charity that helps area residents in need.

"We are excited to be a part of the Workout for Hope event," commented Linda Carr, House of Hope committee member. "The event not only helps raise funds for the House of Hope, it also sends a positive message to youth about health, fitness, and the importance of community and volunteering."

The four-hour program will provide participants of all ages with entertainment, exercise, and the opportunity to raise money for the House of Hope by exercising for one hour for pledges from friends and family, as well as the chance to earn various prizes for their efforts. "These grand prizes are really outstanding," said Carol Slawson, House of Hope committee member. "We are very grateful to those area businesses for their support." Middle and high school students also may receive up to three hours of community service hours for their participation.

County Receives Micro-Business Grant Award

A Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) in the amount of $111,400 in financial assistance has been awarded to Garrett County, according to Governor Parris N. Glendening. The funding mechanism is administered by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD).

"These funds will assist with employment opportunities by helping county organizations create a business development program," Glendening said. "The program is expected to provide loans to help develop new small businesses and expand existing small businesses in the area."

The grant has been awarded to the Garrett County commissioners, who will sub-grant the CDBG money to the Garrett County Community Action Committee (GCCAC). They in turn will take the lead in creating the partnership and in managing the Micro-Enterprise Loan Fund. Garrett Community College is to provide and certify training in business practices. The county extension service, economic development office, Social Services, chamber of commerce, and the American Trust Bank also will participate.

The estimated cost to start the micro-enterprise program is $234,300, according to the governor's press release. More than $60,000 in additional support and in-kind training and marketing assistance will come from the GCCAC, the extension service, and Social Services. In-kind case management services will reportedly be provided by an AmeriCorps member through GCC.

Approximately 10 local businesses, each employing between one and five persons, can apply in the first year for loans up to $5,000. Each year thereafter, the remainder of the funds will be used to assist approximately 30 local businesses. To date, inquiries have been received to utilize these funds to assist with livestock farming, home-based child care, stone masonry, and home-based medical transcribing, according to the report.

"We are excited about the opportunity to work with existing and potential entrepreneurs," said Duane Yoder, executive director of GCCAC. "This program will help these businesses and Garrett County move toward greater economic security."

The Small Cities Community Development Block Grant is a federal program administered by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development and the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Develop-

Garrett County Representatives Hosted At Capitol, White House

Several Garrett County residents gave presentations and answered questions at a press conference in the U.S. Capitol last week. Among them were eight local preschool children. A reception at the White House and a trip to the zoo followed the conference.

The Garrett County contingent included Duane Yoder, executive director of Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. (CAC), two stall members of the Head Start program of CAC, parents of children in the program, and some Head Start children.

The event that prompted the press conference was the selection of Yoder's application, along with only four others nationwide, to be included in a new child care program to develop and build daycare facilities.

At The Capitol

Aside from the program funders and federal officials who spoke, only three other people were on the roster to take the podium: Yoder and two Garrett County Head Start mothers, Tammy Thrift and Margie Lauver.

Yoder spoke on behalf of the other recipients, he explained. "I talked about why having a national partnership in a child care program is necessary," he said. Small communities cannot afford to build the needed facilities and carry a mortgage, Yoder stated. This partnership program will permit building a facility that the community can then afford to run.

Parent Tammy Thrift said the press conference experience was rather overwhelming when she found herself faced with television cameras and news photographers. Thrift told those present about the Garrett County Head Start program. "I think it is a great program and we need more like it. We need more affordable daycare," she said. Thrift noted the financial impossibilities faced by those who are employed but still cannot afford to pay the high price of good care.

Lauver, too, spoke of the importance of availability of quality child care. "I also told them how much Head Start had helped my daughter, who has speech problems," she said. Lauver explained to the press that her daughter had spoken very little at home. After her first year in Head Start, where the speech issue was addressed, the child had overcome her speech problems. "She would just start talking about something and go on and on and on. I spoke about that and they all laughed," she said.

As for the little people of Garrett County, the only children in attendance, their presentation was in the form of the song "Friends."

The pre-schoolers had all been given packets of stencils to concentrate on during the conference. They worked with them busily, while seated on the floor in front of the podium. During the question and answer period, the children were even asked a few questions by the news media.

"The parents and children created a wonderful atmosphere. The children were really great," Yoder said.

With the national funders present for the event, Garrett County had the opportunity to build some helpful networks and to be noticed. And according to Yoder, the group certainly was noticed. "When I left there, an official of the department of agriculture came to me and said, 'If you ever need anything, just

Group Opposing Continental One Slates Meeting

There will be a public meeting of persons opposed to the construction of the Continental One Trade Corridor (1-67) on Thursday, Nov. 6, at 7 p.m., in Room 308 of the Continuing Education Building at Garrett Community College. New plans and actions will be discussed, and new ideas will be introduced regarding the proposed project and what can be done to stop it.

Dana Shimrock will be the principal speaker, along with other participants Jaime Alvarez, Judy Sconyers, Ken Bauer, and Courtney Englar. "This meeting promises to be very interesting and productive," a spokesperson said. "It is hoped that all concerned and interested people will attend."

Continental One Opponents Meet Bartlett In D.C.

A delegation representing Garrett County Conservative Action for a Rural Environment (G.C./CARE), the citizens' group opposing the proposal to construct a portion of "Continental One" through Garrett County, met recently with sixth district congressional representative Roscoe G. Bartlett in his Capitol Hill office.

According to the G.C./CARE representatives present, George Falter and Craig Speicher, Bartlett stated that he believes that a north/south interstate highway is needed, but not necessarily through Garrett County. Falter and Speicher reportedly explained their viewpoint that many reasons, including environmental sensitivity, make Garrett County an unsuitable location for such a highway.

Continental One proponents have submitted that Route 219 and Route 220 be studied as possible links in the Continental Highway, which would, as a whole, link Toronto, Canada, to Miami, Fla. Bartlett reportedly commented that it is unlikely that the federal government would fund two interstate highways in such proximity, and also indicated that the logical placement of the new interstate would be the state's geographically narrower area, Route 220 near Cumberland.

According to a statement by G.C./CARE, the Route 220 alternative could "conceivably promote more economic growth for the state because it would give more reasonable access to residents and businesses both east (in Allegany County) and west (in Garrett County) of the Continental One corridor."

Bartlett also reportedly commented that if Garrett County residents oppose, by a referendum, the Continental One location in their county, and local officials honored that opposition, he would support the wishes of Garrett County residents.

LOCAL ARTIST'S WORK IS CARD OF HOPE - Violet Yoder, shown at right, created one of 10 selected holiday designs for the 1997 Cards of Hope. Miss Yoder, a Swanton resident, was one of several young cancer patients who designed the cards at a holiday party this summer. Her work is among five holiday and five all-occasion designs chosen, which are now included in a package on sale for $12.50. The proceeds will benefit the Children's Cancer Care and Research Fund, a joint project of the Mary Babb Randolph Cancer Center and WVU's Children's Hospitals. The local artist's original work will be on display at the First United Bank in Oakland until next week, when it will be taken to the Euro-Suites Hotel, Morgantown, W.Va. Her work, along with the other nine designs, will be auctioned off there on Friday, Nov. 21, at 5:30 p.m. Last year's auction raised over $3,000. To order the cards, persons may pick up an information pamphlet at First United, or call 304-293-3711. Persons can also simply send a check for $12.50 to Children's Cancer Care and Research Fund, Mary Babb Randolph Cancer Center, Development Office, Robert C. Byrd HSC, P.O. Box 9300, Morgantown, WV 26506-9300. Standing with the young artist is Kathy Knotts, First United community office manager.

GCC Trustees Hear Visions Of New Faculty

Two new Garrett Community College faculty members were introduced at a recent meeting of the GCC Board of Trustees and the occasion provided board members with the opportunity to hear the latest developments in, and the future direction of, those respective programs.

The Adventuresports program, which has taken the college by storm, has been receiving national recognition, and the other program, Medical Language Specialist, appears poised to do the same as it comes off the drawing board and into reality this month.

Adventuresports

In introducing Steve Tomb as the new assistant professor of Adventuresports, program director Mike Logsdon brought the board members up to date on the activities of the Adventuresports program. With 92 students majoring in Adventuresports, the program has grown to be the second largest at the college since its creation just five years ago. The Adventuresports Institute, under Logsdon and executive director Don Storck, offers a two-year associate's degree and a one-year certificate in Adventuresports, as well as the first four-year Adventuresports degree in the nation in conjunction with Frostburg State University.

In the past year the Adventuresports Institute has received national publicity in outdoor-related publications such as Backpacker Magazine, Outdoor Retailer, and even a profile in Woman's Day magazine, which is not ordinarily associated with adventuresports coverage. Logsdon credited the Backpacker Magazine article alone as being responsible for over 800 phone queries seeking information about the program from all over the nation and beyond, and the addition of 40 students who enrolled in the program this fall after calling for information.

Tomb comes to the Adventuresports faculty position with a bachelor's degree in English literature from LeMoyne University in Syracuse, N.Y., and a master's degree in recreation and leisure studies from the State University of New York at Cortland. An experienced instructor in a variety of outdoor activities, including caving, mountain climbing, and watersports, Tomb has worked as an instructor with Outward Bound in North Carolina and the National Outdoor Leadership School in Lander, Wyo.

In his presentation for the board of trustees, Tomb outlined his top three priorities in the Adventuresports program over the next six to nine months, which are managing risk and liability issues by developing a comprehensive risk management plan, reviewing the program's curriculum, and addressing physical space considerations for the program.

"We are aiming at building a portfolio that will help sell an Adventuresports graduate to either a ready employer or a four-year school to further their education in the field," said Tomb.

Dr. Stephen Herman commented afterwards that "the Adventuresports program is now the second largest program at GCC. It's great that Steve Tomb is here to help Mike Logsdon out, as the fast growth of the program, which is a sure sign of its continuing success, is getting to be more than even a pro like Mike can handle on his own. Steve Tomb's presence is a real asset to the program, and we look forward to even bigger things from Adventuresports in the future," Herman said.

FIREMAN OF THE YEAR - Among the events of the annual Autumn Glory Festival is the naming of the Garrett County Fireman of the Year, and that honor for 1997 was presented to Pat Bowser, assistant fire chief and secretary of the Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department. She is also an emergency medical technician with the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, and a first aid instructor. She is pictured above receiving her trophy from Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco Gabriele. The award was presented at the Oakland VFD's annual Oktoberfest.

Medical Lang. Specialist

Next, Debbie Bishop, founder and director of the Medical Language Specialist program, gave an overview of the newly established program, which got underway with 12 students this fall. The nine-month full-time program will prepare participants for the growing field of medical transcription, which can be done from the home, a hospital or a doctor's office, among other settings. Current statistics show a shortage of qualified medical transcribers nationwide.

"We are centered around getting our graduates jobs," Bishop said. "After their nine months of training, which will involve a number of items for them to learn -- from the language used in the fields of anatomy, physiology, pharmacology, among others, to the use of the technology of transcribing, which is evolving rapidly -- we will offer to employ them for a year in an incubator businesses here at the college called The Accuracy Center (TAC). After a year with TAC, our program's graduates will be certified medical language transcribers, ready for employment.

"Steve Herman convinced us that GCC's infrastructure is better than what was available in Morgantown," Bishop went on to say, "and he was right. The Garrett Rural Information Cooperative (GRIC) will house a state-of-the-art dictaphone system here at TAC, and when the folks from the dictaphone company came to GCC to make arrangements to install the system, they told us that GRIC's telecommunications system was just as powerful as the one they had just finished working with at Georgetown University."

Bishop concluded by saying that "GCC's Medical Language Specialist program will be one of the first programs to take advantage of the new voice recognition technology on the market. The infrastructure for the program has three legs to it -- GCC, TAC, and GRIC. It's a win-win situation for all three players, and it's the wave of the future for rural communities. GCC can further expand its leadership role in the field by designing transcription curriculums for other colleges in the future," she said.

Audit Report

Jim Murray of Rodcheaver and Associates presented the board with the results of the audit of the college's general purpose financial statements for the year ending June 30, 1997. Several items were of special interest to the board, and were underscored by Steve Herman.

"There was a growth in both unrestricted and restricted revenues over the past year," Herman said, "with an especially striking 12% increase in unrestricted revenues. We are working to put those revenues to use, and relative to Garrett County a very large percentage of our $7.3 million in revenues circulates into the local economy. We are very proud of that."

Herman went on to say that "the college spends more per student than any other community college in the state, while our student/faculty ratio stands at 13:1, which is the lowest in the state. That shows that our students are our bottom line," he concluded.

Academic Report

Dr. Lillian Mitchell, dean of students, gave the final enrollment report for the fall semester. With a total headcount of 720 students, the enrollment is up three students from this time last year, while the FTE (full-time equivalency) generation is 259.43, up nine percent from last year. She also noted that there are currently 47 more full-time students over last year.

Financial Report

Comptroller Michelle Quinn told the board that the college is currently in a very good cash position. She said that the college is on budget in all major functional areas, and that she envisions that no borrowing will be required to meet expenses in the foreseeable future.

The next meeting of the GCC Board of Trustees is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 2.

Stolen Pickup Recovered In Grant County

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office is continuing to investigate a theft of a pickup truck after its recovery in Grant County, W.Va., yesterday afternoon. The vehicle had reportedly been stolen from a driveway in the 5100 block of Gorman Road sometime during the night of Sunday, Oct. 26.

The 1992 Dodge Dakota LE single-cab pickup, valued at $10,000, was found heavily damaged in a wooded area three miles outside of Bayard, W.Va. All the glass on the vehicle was lying in a roadway next to a 30-foot embankment, apparently broken out intentionally. The vehicle itself was found at the bottom of the 30-foot drop, and appeared to have rolled over twice as it fell down the hill.

Deputies are also investigating a theft of a tailgate from a pickup truck parked at Quality Auto in the 10000 block of Route 219. On last Thursday morning employees discovered that a maroon pickup with a two-foot wide white stripe was missing its tailgate, which bore the same paint scheme and an additional aluminum piece. The tailgate is valued at $400.

A 1995 Chevrolet vehicle parked on Pensinger Boulevard in Mtn. Lake Park was damaged with scratches to the passenger side door on last Monday evening. The damage exceeds $300.

Any person with information on either of these two incidents, or other criminal activity, is encouraged to call the Crime Solvers number at 301-334-1975.

In other sheriff's news, several subjects were arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated last week. They are Damon Thane Thomas, 31, Cumberland; Timothy Lee Rounds, 20, Swanton; and James Delford Oliver, 48, Mtn. Lake Park.

Ohio Man Draws Sentence For Trackside B&E

An Ohio man was sentenced in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings in connection with a June burglary at the Trackside Restaurant in Oakland.

George David Moore Jr., 20, was handed a 15-month sentence by District Court Judge Ralph M. Burnett, all of it suspended except for time already served, placed on two years of supervised probation, and ordered to pay $50 in restitution to the Trackside. Initially arrested by the Oakland City Police, Moore was subsequently convicted in July on charges of fourth-degree burglary and felony theft.

In other district court news, Jody Crosco, 26, Oakland, was sentenced last week in connection with an October assault at the Oak Grove Tavern in Oakland. He received a 60-day sentence, a $105 fine, was placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. Crosco was initially arrested by deputies from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and charged with second-degree assault.

Janet Ellen Moats, 23, Cumberland, was handed a probation before judgment (PBJ) after pleading guilty to possession of marijuana. In May she reportedly walked in to the front counter of the Sheriff's Office and turned in a small portion of marijuana, telling deputies that she had been smoking it to relax. Her PBJ means that if she complies with all the terms of her six-month probation, her case will not reflect a criminal record.

HALLOWEEN HAYRIDES, featuring a variety of spooks and goblins along the way, are held every year at Herrington Manor State Park, and the event this year has been scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 1, from 7 to 9 p.m. The rides are being sponsored in part by Farmers & Merchants Bank and Trust. Above, DNR park ranger Carolina Blizzard accepts a check from Joe Prado, senior vice president of F&M Bank. All are invited to don their best costumes, come to the park, take a ride, and enjoy some candy and hot cider. Pre-registration is required by calling the park at 301-334-9180.

A charge of fraudulently falsifying a validation tab on a state license plate against William Greg Camp, 41, Mason, W.Va., was placed on the stet docket, with a condition that he complete 20 hours of community service. That charge and additional charges of possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia (which were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office) resulted from his May arrest by sheriff's deputies after a traffic stop on Route 219 at Route 42.

Bonnie Jean Ballou, 39, Cumberland, was found in violation of probation which had resulted from a conviction for possession of a controlled dangerous substance/prescription drugs. Her probation was revoked and her original incarceration time was reimposed, with all but time already served suspended.

Staff Leaders Offer Reports

In addition to the Garrett County staff meeting reports noted on the front page of today's issue, other staff leaders also gave reports of their offices to the fiscal authority.

Library

Emily Ferren, director of the Ruth Enlow Library, announced that her department had its fifth annual staff day on Oct. 24. Employees spent time at Broad Ford Elementary School and Northern Middle School to work on computer skills. They also traveled to other libraries in the state.

Ferren announced that the state library leadership training conference will be held in Garrett County next year. The event is slated for July 1998 and will be held at the Wisp Resort.

Extension Service

Alice Hevner, director of the county extension service, told the commissioners that a national campaign is underway to promote 4-H. She said her office will be involved in various promotion activities.

She also noted that the office now has a position available at the Western Maryland 4-H Center. The job is for a camp director who will specialize in marketing. It is a two-year contractual position.

Sheriff's Office

Lt. Don Tucker of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office reported that the police department is operating normally, despite the recent controversy involving former Sheriff Randy Sines. Richard Sanders, acting sheriff, could not be present for the staff meeting but asked Tucker to report that the office, which has moved to its new location along Third Street, is running smoothly at this time.

Tucker also noted that the State Highway Administration, in cooperating with the Oakland Town Council, is currently constructing a few parking spaces in front of the police office.

The renovation/expansion of the jail has not been initiated, although Gary Mullich, director of general services, announced later in the meeting that the bids are out on the project.

Environmental Health

Steve Sherrard of the environmental health offices reported that the low cost rabies vaccine clinics are finished for the year. He noted that the number of pets vaccinated this year was 925, up over 300 from the previous year.

He also noted that there were two confirmed positive rabies cases last week, making the year's total around 15.

Block Grant For Appalachian Parent Assoc. Building Approved

Developmentally disabled adults in Garrett County soon will benefit from a new and expanded facility and help renovate downtown Oakland, as a result of $138,925 in financial assistance, Governor Parris N. Glendening announced Tuesday. These funds are being provided by a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), which is administered by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD).

"This grant will enable Garrett County to assist developmentally disabled residents in need of services by improving and expanding the area's only facility that offers programs for these citizens," Governor Glendening said. "At the same time, we are targeting these funds to an area of Oakland that is in need of revitalization by renovating a blighted building in the heart of the downtown business district."

The CDBG grant is being awarded to the Town of Oakland, which will manage the project with the Appalachian Parent Association (APA). This organization provides such day services as landscaping and bulk-mailing for many of the area's local businesses. APA is serving 71 of Garrett County's developmentally disabled clients, and 20 more clients are expected to be served within the next eight years.

The DHCD-administered CDBG funds will be used to convert a vacant auto dealership (former Shaffer Ford building) located adjacent to the Oakland Municipal Building, into program and office space. In addition to DHCD's involvement, other State support has been provided by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH). In 1995, DHMH provided almost $700,000 in grant money for the acquisition and partial renovation of the property. APA is providing more than $73,000 to assist with the purchase and design of the project.

"When complete, this new facility will enable our developmentally disabled citizens to expand the services that they currently offer to the community," said Oakland's Mayor Asa McCain. "In keeping with Governor Glendening's Smart Growth initiative,

Reagan Was Right...

Despite this week's up and down ride by the stock market, the economy of the United States is chugging right along. Inflation is low, productivity is growing, unemployment nationwide is below five percent, and we seem to finally be in sight of a balanced budget. Whom do we have to thank for such prosperity: the Clinton administration? Congress? Big business?

While the above are taking the credit for these good times, an article/editorial in a recent edition of the Baltimore Sun by Edwin Feulner, president of The Heritage Foundation, gives most of the acclaim to none other than Ronald Reagan, and we believe his reasoning is sound.

Feulner reminds that, in the late 70s, just before Reagan took office, "big government had the economy in a deadly headlock," he writes. "Bad fiscal policies, a top tax rate of 70 percent, and massive regulations had stifled the economy and created an atmosphere of pessimism. Productivity was virtually nil. Inflation rose while household income fell."

He goes on to write that, while Reagan took considerable heat from the liberal side of the aisle (remember "voodoo economics?"), which is now claiming credit for our prosperity, he pushed Congress to cut taxes and get government hands off business via major deregulation. The result was a surge in productivity, a drop in inflation, and a dramatic rise in employment. Those who predicted that tax cuts would just make our deficit problem worse have witnessed instead a rise in tax receipts of 205 percent because of increased productivity. We are now on the verge of wiping out the deficit.

A conservative-controlled Congress has also no doubt been a key in this recovery.

An intellectual giant, Reagan was(is) not, and unfortunately he is best remembered by many for his "forgetting about" the events surrounding the Iran Contra affair, and his occasional bumbling responses to other questions, with Nancy whispering answers to him. But he was right on the mark about our government being most to blame for our economic problems, and we have him to thank, in large measure, for today's healthy economy.

Ironically, Reagan kept on his desk a plaque which read, "There is no limit to what a man can do or where he can go, if he doesn't mind who gets the credit."

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Boy Scouts from Troop 22 would like the person or persons who "borrowed" our American flag from St. Matthew's Episcopal Church on Autumn Glory weekend to return it. We waited several weeks because we assumed that it would show up, but it hasn't. We used our flag in the Fireman's Parade on October 9 and returned it to the church that evening. We were surprised that it was missing when we met again on October 13. This act has not been reported to the police because we find it hard to believe that someone would steal an American flag from a church building.

Sincerely,
Lee Brown
Senior Patrol Leader

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to James Hinebaugh, economic development director for Garrett County, requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Mr. Hinebaugh:

Thank you for your contribution to the recent public information meeting with CARE. It was refreshing to finally see a public official come forward with responses to such a critical issue as another four lane highway in Garrett County. CARE applauds you for having the integrity to serve your county as you did when most of the audience you faced seemed opposed to your views.

Thank you for standing up and standing out.

Sincerely,
Craig Speicher

To the Editor:

I'm writing to advise all pet owners to keep their dogs chained or penned in during hunting season.

We live on a very large farm, which we rent, and every hunting season there are several hunters who park their vehicles at the top of our driveway, all of whom have our landlord's permission. They hunt in our woods, and we see them walking through the corn fields to go to their tree stands. But what happened to our dog was no accident.

On Saturday, October 25 our beloved black lab, Spink, was shot by an arrow. This was no accident. It's nearly impossible to mistake a black lab for a deer, especially for the clear shot which the arrow pierced through the front of his neck, directly through his shoulder blades, into his chest. This was a shot to kill.

Miraculously, Spink made it all the way home, where he collapsed on our front porch, right in front of the door, where we couldn't miss him. When my father arrived home, Spink was still alive. We immediately took him to the vet. They said it would cost around $2,000 to treat him. He had lost so much blood, they doubted he would live, even after surgery. He had suffered long enough, and the only thing left to do was to put him to sleep, so we did. They removed a foot-long piece of arrow out of his chest; the other half had broken off.

Spink was a part of our family for six years. He was the most loving dog we ever had. It is beyond my comprehension how any human being could intentionally kill a dog. To this particular individual, I want you to know, when you killed our dog, you killed a part of us too.

Melissa Moore

To the Editor:

As a corporate general manager my work involves issues similar to those addressed here last week, and it includes separating wheat from chaff in evaluating vendors and potential customers. Describing today inaccurately does not build much faith in predictions about tomorrow. Here are some facts about today.

For five and a half years I have driven 27 miles each way to work, 20 miles of it on Rt. 219 through Oakland and Deep Creek. Traffic congestion is negligible. Should bypasses be built? Only if they are limited access roads. I'm looking at a letter from Parker F. Williams, Administrator, SHA, written to Delegate George Edwards 9/19/97 that says: "It has been our position for many years that all new construction of bypasses...should have at least partial controls of access.

George wants limited access on the bypasses. He is adamant on limited access, including new four lanes built here. In a previous letter I did not mention his opposition to open access four lanes because I did not understand the depth of his feelings. Delegate Edwards is now actively working to ensure that both Rt. 219 bypasses and any four lane roads built here shall be limited access. It is an important effort, and one that can be applauded regardless of one's views on the proposed new interstate.

Part of my function at work is to negotiate national and international freight rates and to insure that schedules are kept. We ship thousands of packages to hundreds of dealers nationwide and worldwide; price and time are important issues. Roadway and Overnight are among the carriers we deal with. The cost of shipping 500 lbs. of class 92.5 freight from Red House to Pittsburgh is the same as from Friendsville to Pittsburgh ($196.24). The cost of shipping the same freight to Hagerstown is $165.79 from Red House, nad $191.50 from Friendsville. The time frames are identical, but the cost advantage belongs to Red House, 35 miles from an interstate. The effect of an interstate on local shipping is going to be negligible. Period.

Garrett County's telecommunications deficit is greatly exaggerated. According to Bell Atlantic officials (contacts on request), B&L and other businesses use DS-1, and multiplex DS-3 lines are already installed at GCC and other locations. Since user owned equipment for DS-3 connections can cost tens of thousands of dollars, demand is low. State of the art diversified fiber optic links are along Rt. 495 and Rt. 219, and can be put anywhere in the county if the user is prepared to share the cost with Bell Atlantic. Some businesses reject high speed connections because of high equipment costs, costs that are not related to availability. Almost anyone in the county can get a reasonably priced ISDN line (128K) or bundle that provides more capacity and speed than 98% of Internet or www users can use today. These are the facts according to Bell Atlantic officials.

There is never going to be a time or a place where people more than a couple miles off a main road get fast freight pickup or cheap infrastructure of any kind. Why don't we get away from fear and superstition and put some verifiable numbers on the table. The bottom line is that roads bring in some money, but they also bring in a lower grade of people (not different, lower), people who require more support. The want smoother roads, more "free" services, and they shall cause taxes to increase without in most cases doing much to enable hicks like me with straws in our mouths to be able to pay higher taxes.

I embrace the future. As I recall I embraced the days of future past. This isn't an issue between the past and the future, it is a debate about the quality of our descendents' future. I want to know what the new interstate is going to do for me personally as an old man. What's it going to do for my young friends? Who is it going to help and how? Put out some numbers instead of pipe dreams.

Our visitors from other states, Canada, England, Austria, Germany, Nepal, Zimbabwe, Australia, New Zealand, Japan and so on would still have come to see us if the last hundred or so miles was on a two lane. They came to do business and paddle, not to be dazzled by how easy it is to get in and out of here. This place has character and our visitors seem to like it. We don't encourage them to move here, but some of them already have. Damn, and without a four lane. What kind of people are they?

Sincerely,
W.L. Welch
Gortner

To the Editor:

I'd like to personally take this opportunity to thank everybody who attended the Open House at the Oakland Armory on September 14. I'd like to extend thanks to our congresspersons, to our city officials, to the military leaders, and especially to the people of Oakland for taking time out of their Sunday schedule to make the Open House an overwhelming success.

The Maryland National Guard exists completely because of people--people willing to undertake the challenge of being civilians during the week and members of the National Guard one weekend a month and two weeks a year. It also exists because of the people, friends, family members, employers, and communities who support the National Guard in one capacity or another. Whether you know a guard member, employ a member or members or the National Guard or are a relative, the support you give to the organization allows the National Guard to continue to exist and give back to the communities.

Over 600 members of the surrounding communities attended the Open House. This shows the quantity of support you as a community have for a National Guard and the Oakland Armory. We as guard members will continue to do our part in the community as well, both as civilians and members of the National Guard.

I also cannot say enough about the people who participated or somehow contributed to making the Open House an absolute success. Your continued involvement allows the National Guard and the surrounding communities to form an interactive bond, which becomes mutually beneficial to everyone.

Again, I want to thank everyone who attended or was involved in making the Open House a great success. We hope to have the same success in the future. Thanks for everything.

To the Editor:

I would like to propose a route for the Garrett County (MD) segment of the NAFTA inspired (proposed) international trade corridor from Toronto to Miami (i.e., Continental One).

Starting south of Meyersdale, Pa., run all four lanes of the highway in the Appalachian Maryland section directly through the towns of Grantsville and Accident, across the existing Deep Creek Lake bridge, by Harley Farms, and on south through Mrs. Leighton's back yard just east of Oak-

HARVEST HOME AND HALLOWEEN

Bushels of apples and bonfires are lines in the poem of autumn. This is the season of death at its most beautiful, death which is mostly sleep, when the realm of nature yields its last fruits before the season of cold and quiet.

Apples bespeak the harvest. Months of growing and maturing have now arrived at a destination. Apples are ready to be eaten and stored for eating when the snow flies and bitter winds drive us all indoors.

Bonfires transform the decay of nature into an illumination which cheers and warms us. The dead leaves, the diseased limbs, the garden remains which harbor pests are all piled high to be burned into purity.

This is autumn.

Two festivals encompass and express these dynamics of autumn: Harvest Home and Halloween. The former we have largely forgotten. We have also forgotten the latter's meaning.

"Harvest Home" was originally the occasion when the last of the harvest was brought home from the fields. The occasion was formalized as it became a festival. It could be formalized in an age when people lived more by the seasons than we do, and the work of farmers was engaged on a more human scale than it is today.

While references to harvest home can be found in the literature of the 16th and 17th centuries (including a reference in Shakespeare's Henry IV), Henry Alford gave the most succinct and complete expression of the festival toward the middle of the last century.

"Come ye thankful people, come,
Raise the song of harvest home:
All is safely gathered in,
Ere the winter storms begin;...."

The village would gather at the parish church for a service of thanksgiving and for a feast. The Pilgrims were celebrating harvest home when the emphasis was shifted to thanksgiving, and thus the distinctly American holiday of Thanksgiving Day was created.

But Thanksgiving has been taken over by football and Christmas shopping. All that endures of Harvest Home are the occasional apple bobbing and bonfires.

Halloween, when the evil of the occult seeks to deceive us by wearing a friendly mask, is "All Hallows' Eve," the eve of All Saints' Day.

The 17th century Puritans, rather characteristically, threw out the baby and saved the bathwater. They successfully rejected remembrance of the faithful departed as "popish" and therefore bad, and were stuck with the pagan trappings which led them into famous difficulties in Salem and elsewhere.

All Hallows Eve, properly observed--that is, observed as a Christian holy day--says what the bushels of apples and the bonfires say. There is harvest in death, and there is purgation even in the destruction of death--when it is death in Christ.

Toward the end of restoring the festival of harvest home and a right understanding of All Hallows' Eve, I propose the creation of a sub-season within autumn. The sub-season of Harvest Home would begin with the last Sunday of October, which we would call "Harvest Home Sunday" and would continue through Thanksgiving Day.

It would be a season of celebrating harvest at the hour of death and of purgation in the destruction of death. All Hallows' Eve and Day would focus those themes on the only human hope of immortality, death in Christ.

It would be a season of apples and of bonfires, a season of delight in the harvest, of joyful feasts culminating in the great Thanksgiving which has characterized our nation at its best. Like all great poems, autumn needs re-reading and revising until it is finished, and ready to be spoken in an everlasting word.

Dear Reader(s):

It's been just about a year since I came to work at The Republican -- a busy and surprisingly short year for me.

I remember having those first-day-on-the-job nerves; I got to the office early and stood outside in the rain for 20 minutes waiting to get in. During those early weeks, as I left the office each night, I thanked everyone in the newsroom. They laughed at me.

A lot has happened since Nov. 2, 1996. I have had the privilege to meet people from all around the county who have shared insights and information with me. Among those who have worked with me are public officials, municipal employees, private citizens donating time and efforts to others, educators, law enforcement officers, and care providers. I, in turn, have tried to pass on to our readers, in a responsible way, the information entrusted to me by all these people.

In speaking with long-time county residents, I have learned about people who lived in Garrett County in years past, what their lives were like, and what contributions they made to the community.

I have also learned about those who work and thrive here today. There are so many stories of dreams and struggles and achievements. The enthusiasm of people, young and old, telling me their stories has been contagious.

Though the material is fascinating, some workdays are tiring, both physically and mentally. As they say, "if it weren't hard it wouldn't be called work." But actually it is pretty super. The people I work with are a fine and funny crew. They are witty and bright.

But there is a major problem in all this. Yes, after all the glowing things I've said about working here, I must share with you a big drawback to this job. And it is serious.

Time flies. Weeks vanish. As my co-worker Diana Deal said, "Thursday runs right into Thursday." So what's wrong with that, some might ask. Those who ask are too young to understand. When time goes by this quickly, folks, think about it -- we get older that much faster.

Anyone who read Catch-22 will remember the character who hated to see time go by quickly and found the remedy. He spent his days doing the most boring things possible so that time would drag.

This may be my solution, but somehow I don't think so. I'm having an awfully good time here and as long as they let me stay, I think I will.

Sincerely yours and aging rapidly,
Peggy Santamaria

charted and dangerous future.

The freeway may indeed offer Oakland residents more convenient access to the shopping malls of La-Vale. Nevertheless, Continental One offers little to serve or promote the long-term interests of Garrett County except at enormous cost.

There is hope:

(1) The Emperor has no clothes.

(2) For the sake of our children–as well as for more immediate interests and selfish concerns--Congress is in a cost-cutting mood.

(3) Ours is not yet a government entirely of, by, and for the special interests, well-funded lobbyists, federal bureaucratic engineers, and Wall Street-driven, profit-motivated, national and international corporations.

In support of this peculiar concept of infrastructure development, the Secretary of the (WV) Department of Transportation has observed that "when you sit down to eat an elephant, you chew one bite at a time." I respectfully suggest that when the meal becomes unpalatable, you are well advised to regurgitate it all at once. There are other entrees on the political and social infrastructure menu.

The question is not essentially one of economic "progress"; rather, it's a much more demanding and challenging one of values, historical perspective, and spiritual attitude.

Sincerely,
Steve Schlosnagle
Accident

P.S. Though David Moe's cleverly conceived and astutely executed advocacy of this project (both within and beyond the borders of Garrett County) might indeed appeal to some vested interests comprising the local chamber of commerce, it would be erroneous to conclude that his advocacy represents the broader interests of the general citizenry. Do you suppose Mr. Moe and his Chamber associates would support with similar enthusiasm the "concept" of a public referendum on this issue?

Isn't it ironic how little in our democracy is actually decided by majority opinion in the privacy of the polling booth? The decision-making process notwithstanding, one pertinent contention at least seems not subject to debate--in this case (as in others involving matters of public policy), it's virtually impossible to fool all the people all the time.

To the Editor:

Thank you for your support for helping us get the word out about our 1997 Old Fashioned Apple Harvest Festival. The festival was another huge success!

On behalf of all of the infants, children, youth, and families we serve and also on behalf of our auxiliary and staff, I would like to express deep appreciation to all of those who worked land.

I propose this route because it is relatively direct, basically allows the routing of existing Route 219, and would promote traffic through areas represented by public officials and private property owners on record as favoring the "concept" (if not the actual construction) of this brave new trade corridor (i.e., the Mayor and Town Council of Grantsville, the Mayor and Town Council of Accident, the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association, Mr. Gillespie, and Mrs. Leighton). I would also suggest the location of the proposed infrequent interchanges and off-ramps in the public and private jurisdictions of these officials and individuals--to better and more efficiently serve their interests.

When other interest groups and individuals (i.e., the Farm Bureau, the Bittinger agricultural community, the Sierra Club) come on board in support of the corridor "concept," alternate routes could be considered (i.e., along existing Route 495, through state and federal forests, through the farmland of Pleasant Valley).

Personally, I've tired of the self-styled "conservatives" advocating this project. A major international four-lane freeway does not conserve the natural environment; it does not conserve rural values and lifestyles; it does not conserve hard-earned tax dollars (especially when routed through the mountainous topography and severe winter weather conditions of extreme western Maryland and West Virginia); it does not conserve an economy based on individual entrepreneurism and imaginative enterprise; it does not (through its application of 20th century solutions to 21st century problems) conserve the creative ingenuity that has made this an enterprising and progressive land of, by, and for the people who live here.

I will no longer write my local representatives in Washington and Annapolis in opposition to Continental One. For various reasons (i.e., well intended but ill-considered logic, the feathering of campaign nests by powerful and well financed interests, disconnection with the views and concerns of the average citizen), most of our local and regional political representatives have decided to support the "concept" of routing Continental One through Garrett County and West Virginia. My hope is that other representatives of the American public--more objective through their political, social, moral, and geographic detachment--will come to view this particular proposal (or "concept" as characterized by advocates) for the social/environmental/economic folly and political pork it actually represents in our mad collective rush toward an uncharted and dangerous future.

MARYLAND YOUTH SERVICE DAY was marked by Northern High School students from Barbara Law's Student Service Alliance class who spent a day last week providing volunteer services around the community. The town of Accident had the help of 21 students serving in a variety of capacities at Town Hall, the Ruth Enlow Library, the fire hall, the town park, Flowery Vale Senior Center, Head Start, and Accident Elementary School. These young people painted playground equipment, assisted members of the PTA in getting ready for their fall festival, and helping with playground supervision. The group pictured here seem to have found a way to have a pretty good time while helping at Head Start. Amanda Bowser, Wendy Wilt, Seth Flores, and Dana Broadwater may have enjoyed a beautiful day outdoor playing with the children as much as the children themselves. The service alliance class is an elective that focuses student energies on supporting the community, Law explained. "The students really had a good day. They seemed excited about what they had done," she said.

According to written reports, James E.N. Nazelrod, 48, Keyser, W.Va., a former employee of the town of Deer Park and Bausch & Lomb, was shot by his son, Neil Nazelrod, 21, who also shot three other people, two fatally, before he, too, was shot to death by a neighbor whom he wounded.

James Nazelrod was born Oct. 5, 1949, in Oakland, a son of the late Eugene O.and Virginia I. (Rowan) Nazelrod.

He was a U.S. Air Force veteran of the Vietnam Conflict and was a member of the Mt. Top Christian Assembly of God Church. An avid hunter and fisherman, he was a member of the National Rifle Association, the Short Gap CB Club and the Mineral County (W.Va.) Sheriff's Association.

Survivors include two daughters, Sylvia R. Paugh, Bayard, W.Va., and Valerie Allen, Ridgeley, W.Va.; and two brothers, John R. Nazelrod, Reedsville, W.Va., and Curtis M. Nazelrod, Fort Ashby, W.Va.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland. A service will be conducted at the Mt. Top Christian Assembly of God Church at 2 p.m. today, Oct. 30, with the Rev. Galen Hixon officiating. Interment will be in Pleasant Valley Cemetery.

Military honors will be accorded at the cemetery by members of the various veterans organization in southern Garrett County.

Venture Undertaken By Former Bank Executives

Bob Likens
Times-News* Staff Writer

LaVale--They took over 80 years of combined banking service and ventured into the unkown.

Four former First Federal vice presidents pooled their talents approximately three months ago and formed First Mortgage Services with locations in LaVale and Oakland.

The four, James A. Stemple, David E. Sweitzer, Eugene Broadwater and John Golden, are quick to point out that they never dreamed their venture into a new business would be so successful, so quickly.

"We have been very successful since opening," Stemple said, proudly pointing out that between the two locations the four mortgage loan specialists have done approximately $8½ million in mortgage loans.

The four said the reasons for their sudden success has been attributed to a variety of factors.

- They offer a competitive fixed rate product up to 30 years.
- Quick processing and turn around of loan applications.
- Hands-on service that is a convenient service to the customer.
- Strong experience in banking and mortgage lending.
- Local businessmen with a strong following.

In addition to these services, First Mortgage also offers adjustable rates, veterans loans, loans for second homes and rental properties.

Broadwater said, "A lot of our clients come from our past exposure and referrals from realtors. When we take an application we stay with it from start to finish."

Stemple said the entire loan process takes about 30 days, "a comfortable time." The new business is serving customers in Mineral County as well as in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Only in their new business for about three months, the four brokers are already considering expansion, with possible moves into Hagerstown and Morgantown, W.Va.

"We're well over and above what we had projected," Stemple said. "We've done in three months what we expected to do in six months."

Adaptable to meet customer needs, the four take most of their loan applications during weekends and evenings. "We take opportunities whenever we can," they said in unison.

First Mortgage is not a lending institution. They work with 13 different institutions that handle the firm's clients and most of the 13 are out of town, a factor that the applicant does not seem to mind, they say.

"We saw where the mortgage business was heading," Sweitzer said. "We saw a trend where brokers were becoming more competitive.

"We went out first and sought investors and packaged that with the best rates and unlimited service. We knew we had a customer base and that there was tremendous opportunity."

The four businessmen see a trend developing where customers will begin looking to go to brokers rather than individual banks. The only downside to their business that they can see is possible mortgage rate hikes.

However, this is not a lurking problem to their business. They see positive things happening in the communities they serve and with that upbeat approach they also see an increased demand for their mortgage services.

In LaVale, First Mortgage is located at 359 National Highway and the office number is 301-722-3623. The Oakland office is at 316 E. Alder Street and the telephone number is 301-334-6915.

Two performances by Mark Rust, a nationally known singer, musician, and dance caller who has appeared in People Magazine and on the Phil Donahue Show, will be held at Garrett Community College on Thursday, Nov. 13.

At 7 p.m. Rust will turn the college cafeteria into an old-time country dance hall as he calls the moves for a traditional American country dance, including some line, circle, and square dances. All dance steps are easy to learn and will be taught at the beginning of each dance.

Devine's Personal Care Home

Carolyn Devine, owner of Devine's Personal Care Home, was originally from Friendsville and said she moved away for employment reasons. "My heart was still in Garrett County because of my family and friends," she said. "I found that city life wasn't the best place for my daughter Shannon, who is now 11, so I gave up my job and career and brought her back to the country."

Devine found that Salisbury, Pa., was as close to being home as she could get, and since she had always taken care of family and friends when they were sick and needed help, she decided she would do what she enjoyed--helping people. As a result, she opened Devine's Personal Care Home at 120 South Grant Street, in Salisbury. The job, she said, is stressful and hard work, but she feels rewarded. "This is my calling in life," she said.

Devine's Personal Care Home opened four years ago at Halloween. "Not really the ideal date we'd have chosen to celebrate our anniversary," she said, "but that's when it is."

No one can predict the future, their health or their family's health, Devine said. "We don't want people to come here thinking this is the way their life is going to be till the end. Our goal is to help them regain as much function as possible, and hopefully one day they can go back home," she said. But, Devine said, she wants clients to have fun and be able to relax while they are at her home.

After expansion and renovation this spring, Devine's Personal Care Home is licensed for 16 clients, with private and semi-private rooms available. "Our home is always open to the public for visits and for those who want to plan for the future," said Devine.

Devine and two employees, Susan Warnick and Judy Yoder, offer quality care for disabled and elderly people. The owner says, "The people we have are great, and range in age from 44 to 98 years young.

"Our home becomes the client's home," Devine said. "It is in no way an institution. We try to make our people feel at home by being homey. They can have their own personal items in their rooms. They all have their own room with TV, if they want, and home cooked meals are provided. Family and friends are always welcome, and we include our clients in our personal lives by going to movies, out to eat, shopping, or to visit friends.'

Devine's Personal Care Home can be reached by calling 814-662-4502.

Statewide Solar Energy Initiative Is Announced

The Maryland Energy Administration (MEA) announced yesterday a major statewide program to install solar electric systems on rooftops throughout the state. The "Maryland Solar Roofs Program" was developed by the MEA in response to President Clinton's Million Solar Roofs Initiative announced by the president on June 26. Maryland's program is the first in the nation to respond to the president's initiative.

Under the Maryland Solar Roofs Program, MEA, in partnership with the U.S. Department of Energy, will assist in the installation of solar energy systems on 20,000 roofs in Maryland by the year 2010.

Frederick H. Hoover, MEA director, said, "This program will advance the use of renewable energy, contribute to cleaner air, and promote economic development and new high tech jobs." Maryland is home to Solarex, the second largest manufacturer of solar electric (photovoltaic) panels in the world. Unlike solar thermal, which uses the sun's energy to provide heat for hot water or other uses, photovoltaics (PV) convert the sun's energy directly into electricity. Hoover announced the Maryland program during a national telecast Wednesday on the President's Million Solar Roofs initiative.

The first step in the Maryland Solar Rooftops Program calls for installing solar electric technologies on 10 residences and up to 10 schools within the first year of the program. MEA has already participated in the completion of the first PV powered school at the Germantown campus of Montgomery Community College.

For the Maryland Solar Schools Program, MEA selected DTE Energy of Detroit. DTE will install solar photovoltaic systems on up to 10 elementary schools, generating almost 20 kilowatts of electricity. The schools will be provided a solar energy curriculum developed by DTE to help educate students about solar energy and photovoltaics.

"It is essential that we continue to look for ways to help our schools and provide new educational opportunities for our children," Governor Parris N. Glendening stated, "This project provides those opportunities in addition to direct energy, environmental, and economic benefits."

DTE and MEA will seek schools and sponsors for the PV installations. Under the DTE proposal, corporate sponsors would be selected to help provide funding for the school systems.

Energy and Environmental Consulting (E&EC) of Baldwin is the contractor chosen to install photovoltaic systems on 10 homes in Maryland. E&EC has teamed up with Solarex. E&EC will focus on selecting 10 new residences to receive the 1.6 kilowatt Solarex PV-Value systems.

The homeowners will be able to take advantage of the new net metering law passed by the General Assembly in 1997 and signed into law by Governor Glendening. Net metering adds to a homeowner's utility savings by allowing a residential customer to interconnect a PV system with the utility system and spin the electric meter in reverse during those times when solar output is greater than the electricity being consumed in the home.

MEA plans to continue the Solar Rooftop Program each year until goals are reached in 2010. In each successive year, the numbers of installations will roughly double. This will provide a slowly accelerating approach that will enable the solar industry to develop new technologies, increase efficiency, and reduce costs, while at the same time providing valuable experience to contractors and others with actual installation of solar technologies on home, school, and commercial rooftops.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Marine Lance Cpl. Tony R. Murray, son of Thomas P. and Daisy M. Murray, Oakland, has completed a six-month deployment with the 22nd Marine Expeditionary Unit (MEU), embarked aboard the ships of the USS Kearsarge Amphibious Ready Group (ARG).

Murray's unit deployed in April as part of the USS Kearsarge ARG, which includes the amphibious assault ship USS Kearsarge, the amphibious transport dock USS Ponce and the dock landing ship USS Carter Hall.

During the deployment, Murray participated in the evacuation of more than 2,500 American citizens from Sierra Leone, conducted jointly with French, Nigerian and Sierra Leone surface combatants. Murray's ship was also involved in several multi-national exercises designed to challenge communications, increase task force and unit readiness, and provide desert-like training for Marines.

The deployment gave Murray the opportunity to visit Italy and several ports in Spain. In addition, he was able to participate in several community outreach projects in the host communities.

Murray's Unit is an expeditionary intervention force with the ability to rapidly organize for combat operations in virtually any environment. MEUs are composed of more than 2,000 personnel and are divided into an infantry battalion, an aircraft squadron, a support group and a command element. With the combination of these teams, Murray's unit supplies and sustains itself for either quick mission accomplishment or clearing the way for follow-on forces.

The 1993 graduate of Southern Garrett High School joined the Marine Corps in June 1995.

Community Links With School For Garden Project

Members of the Kitzmiller community are forming an alliance with the school system to accomplish an environmental, educational, and historical project. Revitalization of the botanical garden, established in Kitzmiller in 1948 as a school and community enterprise, is the goal of the joint venture.

At a meeting this week, town council member Nancy Brady met with Linda Buckel, principal of Kitzmiller Elementary School, Richard Stevens, first grade teacher, Kathy Kling, math resource teacher, Gary Heath of the Maryland State De-partment of Education, and Jackie and George Brady, community residents.

The conference was held to evaluate the overall botanical garden revitalization project as it relates to the school curriculum and to evaluate methods of incorporating the project into classroom instruction.

Nancy Brady presented a selection of slides taken during the development of the garden from 1948 to 1952. She also read from the notes of Dr. Melvin Brown, science teacher, who conceived and implemented the curriculum-driven garden, which integrated all course work and included students in grades 1-12.

Stevens discussed his plan to use a pond in his first grade classroom where fish and plants can be raised for transfer to the ecosystem of the garden. The pond is installed and will be filled by the Department of Natural Resources, Stevens said. The pond project was funded with a grant that he and Kling applied for through the Chesapeake Bay Foundation.

Heath noted that Dr. Brown's original educational concepts for developing the botanical garden mesh with current education goals. "This program would be easily MSPAP integrated," Heath said, explaining he could easily see the project aligning with Maryland School Performance Assessment Program (MSPAP) goals.

Heath and Buckel later reviewed the goals and objectives in the program of studies which would correlate with tasks associated with the garden revitalization. "Gary was so encouraging," Buckel reported. He assured her that funding would be available to support facets of this innovative concept.

She believes there are many opportunities for educational applications within the framework of this enterprise. "I am excited about writing it into the school improvement plan," Buckel commented.

She said she could see the possibility of developing reading, writing, and research activities focusing on this experience. "We're looking at cross curricular activities," she stated.

Not only does she see the potential for study of aquatic and plant life, but of using math for calculations, language arts for journal writing, and even grant writing by the students, she explained.

Buckel said she also sees the school-wide project as providing an opportunity for the school to give something back to the community which has been so supportive of it.

time for failure to drive right of center, driving without a license, driving an unregistered vehicle without current tags, and other offenses. These were not prosecuted in light of the guilty plea to DWI.

A defendant who contested a charge of violation of probation against him was found in violation by Sherbin. James N. Livengood, 40, Oakland, was convicted of DWI in July 1996 and at that time received a six-month suspended jail sentence. He was apparently charged in June of this year for driving in violation of a court ordered restriction on his license, which led to the violation charge.

OPEN IN OAKLAND - Ace Quick Lube, offering Pennzoil 10-minute oil changes, began operation in May. Owned by Brenda Walker, Ace Quick Lube is located in the old Pontiac garage at 103 North 3rd Street in Oakland. The building has been a garage off and on since the closing of the Pontiac dealership, and after a complete renovation now provides customers with efficient oil changes, air filter changes, belt service, and anti-freeze checks. The three employees, Rod Reagan, Mike Crosby and Jason Hensley, use a pit system for efficient service. No appointments are necessary, and the hours are from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays, and 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays. For more information, those interested may call 301-334-5181.

Sherbin reimposed the six-month term and then suspended it. He ordered Livengood to re-enter an alcohol abuse program provided by the health department.

A Swanton woman who pleaded guilty to violation of probation received a continuance of her probation. Patricia A. Collins, 27, was originally convicted of the charge of prescription forging, according to the report.

The original sentence imposed on Collins was three years in jail, suspended, and three years of probation. The probation was apparently violated when a routine test for drug use was positive.

Huskies Play Well, But Can't Stop Dingess, Vikes

While the miserable weather of Friday night seemed to neutralize the usually potent passing attack of the Petersburg Vikings against the Northern Huskies, co-coaches Jerry Black and B.J. Harman simply shelved the passing game plan and handed the ball to junior running back Ryan Dingess, who spoiled the homecoming game of the Northern Huskies by leading the Vikings to a 16-7 victory.

The loss evened the Huskies' season record at 4-4 and basically eliminated any chance for the 1A playoffs this season for Coach Phil Carr and his squad. Making matters worse, the Huskies are suddenly faced with an off-week, as Mapletown, Pa., had to withdraw from this Friday's previously scheduled game with Northern. Thus the Huskies will play only a nine-game slate and finish up their season a week from Friday at home against the Southern Rams, who also had to accept a nine-game schedule this year.

Dingess carried the ball 30 times for the 5-4 Vikings and finished with 190 yards and two touchdowns.

Petersburg took a 3-0 lead when Jamie Rickard capped the Vikings' first drive of the game with a 23-yard field goal.

Dingess then put his first touchdown on the board with a six-yard carry, still in the first quarter. Rickard's conversion kick gave the Vikes a 10-0 advantage.

The Huskies responded with a scoring drive in the second quarter, with Jimmy Green reaching paydirt on a six-yard carry. Houser's conversion kick brought the Huskies' to within three points, 10-7.

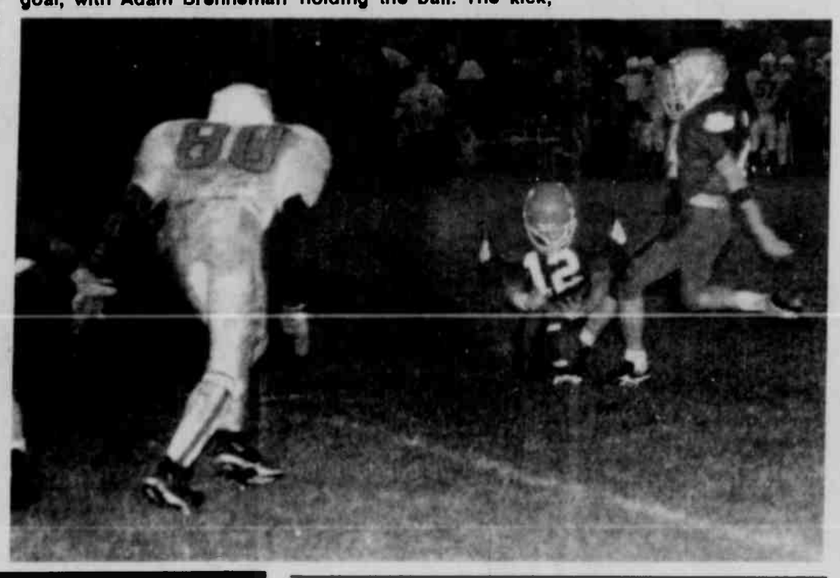
CLOSING IN on Petersburg's outstanding running back Ryan Dingess in the above photo are four Northern Huskies, including #89 Jed Wilhelm, #76 Ryan Savage, and #64 Cory Sisler. Dingess was contained on this play, but finished with 190 yards and a pair of touchdowns to lead the Vikings to a 16-7 win over the Huskies. Below, Northern place kicker Matt Houser attempts a 22-yard field goal, with Adam Brenneman holding the ball. The kick, which would have tied the score at 10-10 just before halftime, was no good, however, as pouring rain and a severe angle complicated matters for Houser. The loss evened the Huskies' record at 4-4, and they will play only one more game this year (at home against Southern), as this week's scheduled opponent, Mapletown, had to cancel its game with the Huskies.



The Huskies had another successful drive going just before halftime, but it ended with a failed field goal attempt by Houser. The Huskies had the ball inside the Vikings' five-yard line, but were ultimately forced to attempt a 22-yard field goal at the 1:28 mark. The rain, wind, and extreme angle of the kick contributed to Houser's miss.

The only points of the second half were scored by Dingess on a three-yard carry to cap a Viking drive in the third quarter.

Green finished with 78 yards on 18 carries to lead the Huskies' offensive effort, which yielded 149 yards. Defensively, Gary O'Brien and Ryan Savage led the team in tackles and Cory Sisler had a pass interception.

Dingess also led the Viking defensive effort as the leading tackler.

"It was a tough game, and our kids gave a great effort," stated Coach Carr. "We hoped the rain would help us more since it took away their passing game, but their size and the ability of Dingess was just a little too much for us to overcome. Dingess is without a doubt the best back we've seen so far this season."

Carr said the loss took away the Huskies' chances for a playoff spot and the victory kept Petersburg's chances alive. "This is the best Petersburg team we've faced in several years," he said.

The Huskies emerged from the contest with no significant injuries; however, they will have an extra week to get all of their bumps and bruises healed before hosting the Southern Rams since this Friday's scheduled match at Mapletown, Pa., has been cancelled.

"We knew when we scheduled this game that there was a chance this would happen," Carr said. "The reason they had to cancel is that, by virtue of a win last Friday night, Mapletown made it into the WPIAL playoffs. And we can't pick up anyone this late, even though there are a couple of Pennsylvania teams available, because it would violate the Maryland rules. Once a schedule is set, you can't change it.

"We also can't take the game as a forfeit; it just goes down as a 'no game,'" he said. "But a forfeit wouldn't help our point standing anyway."

Carr said that he does not particularly like being off a week, but the Huskies will use the time wisely to "get 100% healthy."

"It will also give us some extra time to prepare for Southern," he added.

A preview of the Southern-Northern contest will appear in next week's issue.

Youth Football League To Dine, Hear Johnson

The Oakland Youth Football League will hold its first banquet at the Southern High School cafeteria on Thursday, Nov. 6, at 5:30 p.m.

The evening will include recognition of the team champions from both divisions, as well as words of advice and inspiration from Southern High School head football coach Tom Woods.

Former West Virginia University football great Undra Johnson is the scheduled guest speaker. Johnson played running back for WVU from 1984 to 1988 and is currently the third all-time leading rusher in school history. He was also chosen as one of the top 100 football players in WVU history. Undra played in the NFL for the Dallas Cowboys in 1991 and 1992. He is currently a financial consultant for Merrill Lynch.

All NCAA and NFL division players, coaches, volunteers, and parents are encouraged by league officials to attend.

Huskies Top Wildcats In Playoffs, Then Fall To South Hagerstown

The 1997 soccer season came to an end this week for the Northern Huskies, but not before Coach Tom Ables and his team recorded a 4-1 victory over visiting Westmar in an opening round match of the West Region 1A playoffs last Thursday night.

The win propelled the Huskies into a second-round match Tuesday night at South Hagerstown, but that was the end of the line for this season, as Northern was defeated, 3-1. The Huskies finished the campaign with a 4-10 overall record.

Two members of the Husky squad scored for the first time in their high school careers last Thursday night against Westmar, as Lee Railey recorded two goals and Eric Neubert scored one.

Most of the first half went scoreless until Neubert scored unassisted with just 3:35 left before halftime.

It was about midway through the second half when Joe Weimer doubled the Huskies' lead by scoring off a feed by Zach Rawe with 21:56 remaining.

Railey recorded the first of his two goals about three minutes later, when he scored unassisted with 18:49 left in the match.

The Wildcats averted a shutout when Troy Morris scored an unassisted goal with just 4:21 remaining, but Railey countered with his second goal, this time off an assist by Rawe with 2:17 remaining.

The Huskies were outshot by the Wildcats by a 16-12 margin, and Westmar also finished with a 7-3 advantage in corner kicks. Matt Fritz had 17 saves for the Huskies, while Chuck Moran recorded a dozen for Westmar. The Wildcats finished with an overall record of 2-11.

The victory was costly for the Huskies, however, as Rawe, the team's leading scorer, sustained a broken arm and had to miss the match against South Hagerstown.

Details of the Tuesday night's match with South Hagerstown were limited. Jeremy Butts scored a pair of goals for the winners, while teammate David Grove recorded the third. Jimmy Warnick scored the Huskies' only goal of the evening.

The win upped South Hagerstown's season mark to 5-8.

McDonald's To Support Rams

McDonald's Restaurant of Oakland is beginning a new program Wednesday, Nov. 5, that will benefit the athletic programs of Southern High School, according to Steve Cosner, SHS athletic director.

Between the hours of 5 and 7 p.m. that evening, McDonald's will donate a portion of their sales to the SHS athletic department. Teachers, school administrators, and coaches from the school will be volunteering their time to work the counters and to be out front of the restaurant to greet Southern fans. Cosner said it is hoped that it will become a monthly event.

"We ask that all fans of our sports teams at Southern come out that evening and support this effort," Cosner said. "We also express our greatest appreciation to McDonald's for their support of the athletes of Southern High School."

Rams Let Campers Rally For 4-3 Overtime Win

The 1997 season for the Southern High School varsity soccer team came to an end last Thursday evening when the Rams were edged by Allegany, 4-3 in overtime, in an opening round of the 1A West Region playoffs, played at Northern High School.

It was the second time in 48 hours that the Rams had a major victory in their grasp, but let it slip away in the final moments, as they had nearly upset undefeated Flintstone in their regular season finale two nights prior. Southern built a 3-0 lead over Allegany, but the Campers scored two quick goals late in the first half to cut it to 3-2, tied the score early in the second half, and won the match midway through the first overtime period.

Nonetheless, the Rams finished with their best record ever (7-6), recorded wins over Allegany, Fort Hill, Beall, and Westmar, and were within a goal of winning the Western Maryland Interscholastic League title (in the final match with Flintstone).

Coach Tom Powers' squad dominated play in the match with Allegany most of the evening, as the Rams finished with a 23-19 lead in shots-on-goal and an 8-3 advantage in corner kicks.

Mike Tressler put the first point on the board with a goal off an assist by John Menker just two and one-half minutes into the match.

An unassisted score by John Andrews at the 18:12 mark upped the Rams' lead to 2-0, and Mark Ludwig scored unassisted with 10:39 remaining in the half to put Southern up 3-0.

The Campers quickly responded with a goal by Andy Sams, off a feed by Jimmy Small, just over a minute later (9:22), and then Joel Metheny cut the Southern lead to one when he scored off a direct-kick assist by Arnel Kazazic less than a minute and a half later (7:57).

It became a new match less than six minutes into the second half when Joe Bidwell knotted the score at 3-3 with an unassisted goal at the 34:13 mark of the second half.

The remainder of the half was all defense, as Southern goalkeeper Jonathan Price and Allegany's Robbie Stansbury each controlled numerous shots by both teams. Price finished the match with 10 saves, while Stansbury was credited with 15.

The match ended at the 6:07 mark of the first overtime period when Joel Metheny broke free ahead of the Ram defensive line and fired a shot at the goal. Price came out to challenge him and got a hand on the ball, but it slowly rolled across the goal line and into the net to give the Campers the 4-3 win.

The victory improved Allegany's record to 9-3-1, with one of those losses coming at the hands of the Rams (also in overtime) in the season opener. Allegany edged Southern in the second regular-season contest, 1-0.

Local Snowmobile Racers Compete In Pennsylvania

The local snowmobile grass drag racing team, sponsored by Snowy Creek Motorsports, traveled to Donegal, Pa., Sunday to compete in a race hosted by the Laurel Highlands Snowmobile Club.

Rain and fog throughout the day made track conditions muddy. Jason Blakeney, who was operating a 500cc machine, had to move up to the 600 cc class because of a lack of entries. Blakeney placed third in both the D stock 600cc class and C stock 600cc multi-pipe class.

Teammate Dan Ledden finished second in the D stock 600cc and in the C stock multi-pipe race.

Ram Defense Can't Stop Fort Hill's Page, Read

The Southern High Rams kept the score close against the highly touted Fort Hill Sentinels last Friday night in Oakland, at least for most of the first half. With less than four minutes to play in the first half, the Rams were down by only nine points, 15-6, and had a first and goal at the Fort Hill nine-yard line, but that's when it all came tumbling down for Coach Tom Woods' team.

The Sentinels stripped the ball away from quarterback Chad Warnick to eliminate that potential score and quickly put 16 more points on the board in the final three minutes of the half to take a commanding 31-6 lead.

The Rams held the 8-0 Sentinels to just 14 points in the second half, but were unable to generate enough offense to put any more of their own points on the board. The loss dropped the Rams to 4-3 on the season and halted their winning streak at four games.

The Sentinels' powerful offense, led by the strength of senior fullback Josh Page, the speed of senior running back Noah Read, and the leadership of senior quarterback Josh Grove, scored on its first possession of the game, as John Squires hauled in a 17-yard touchdown pass from Grove with 7:45 remaining in the first quarter to cap a 10-play, 72-yard march. Page recorded 50 of those yards on six carries. Ben Lapp booted the extra point to give Fort Hill a 7-0 lead.

Going into the contest, Coach Woods believed his offensive unit would be able to move the ball against the bigger Sentinel defense, and on their first drive, the Rams did so. An outstanding 26-yard run by Nick Dolan, featuring several broken tackles, concluded an eight-play, 65-yard drive. Warnick's pass for the two-point conversion was incomplete.

Dolan's run was costly, however, as he sustained a twisted ankle and ultimately had to find a seat on the bench for the rest of the evening.

The Sentinels responded with their second scoring drive of the night, one which covered 56 yards and was capped by Page's four-yard carry for a touchdown at the 11:48 mark of the second quarter. Trae Foster's conversion run put Fort Hill on top, 15-6.

The Rams did not quit, however, and the offense came back with another time-consuming drive that took the ball just inside the Fort Hill 10-yard line. But after a penalty that moved the ball back to the 18, Warnick attempted a carry around the left end and was hit by Grove. Warnick fumbled the ball, which was grabbed by Jeff Burgess, who returned it to the Rams' 35-yard line. A clipping penalty moved the ball back to the 50, but it was Fort Hill's ball and the Rams' scoring threat was eliminated.

Fort Hill	7	24	14	0 -45

First Quarter

FH - John Squires 17 pass from Josh Grove (Ben Lapp kick), 7:45.

S - Nick Dolan 26 run (pass failed), 3:45.

Second Quarter

FH - Josh Page 4 run (Trae Foster run), 11:48.

FH - Josh Page 6 run (Noah Read run), 2:55.

Third Quarter

FH - Noah Read 39 run (run failed), 7:43.

FH - Noah Read 21 run (Josh Page run), 3:10.

Fort Hill scored seven plays later on a six-yard run by Page with 2:55 remaining before halftime. Read ran for the two extra points to give the Sentinels a 23-6 lead.

A freak incident on the ensuing kick-off set up another first-half score by the Sentinels and virtually sealed the Rams' fate, as the line-drive kick by Lapp struck Southern's Chuck O'Brien, who was on the front line of the receiving team. The ball bounced off O'Brien and straight back to Fort Hill's Bill Harvey, who recovered it at the Southern 48-yard line. It took just two plays for the Sentinels to capitalize, as Page broke loose on a 23-yard touchdown run. The score came just 31 seconds after the previous touchdown. Page also ran for the conversion to conclude the first-half scoring.

A 39-yard touchdown run around the left end by Read on Fort Hill's first possession in the second half gave the Sentinels a 38-6 advantage. The final touchdown of the night was also by Read, this time on a 21-yard carry, on Fort Hill's next possession. Page's successful conversion run concluded the scoring for the night and caused the clock to run non-stop the rest of the way because of the 35-point rule.

Read finished with 146 yards and two touchdowns on 11 carries, and Page recorded 141 yards and three touchdowns on 19 carries. Josh Bosley paced the Rams' ground effort with 45 yards on a dozen carries.

The victory avenged an 8-6 upset of the Sentinels by Southern last year in Cumberland.

"We knew that, if we didn't give Fort Hill any free opportunities, we might be able to stay close, at least in scoring," Coach Woods said. "We didn't give them any until late in the second quarter, and a good team will always capitalize on any such opportunity."

Woods was still pleased with his team's effort against a team that he is confident is among the top few in the state of Maryland. "We went in with a good plan and we executed it well in the first half," he said, "but they just have too many offensive weapons."

Woods' biggest disappointment of the evening was off the field and in the stands, which were about three-quarters empty on the home team side, while the visitors' bleachers were overflowing.

"Three quarters of our gate was from Fort Hill fans," Woods said. "I know that the weather was bad, but it was embarrassing and unfortunate that we had such a poor turnout of fans. Our kids came into the game with a four-game winning streak and were playing one of the best teams in the state. It was also parent night, and it was a shame that so few people were there to honor our 12 seniors who have worked so hard over the past three or four years."

The Rams will now move on from facing the best team on their schedule this year to the second best team, the Allegany Campers. The game has been moved from Friday to Saturday night at Greenway Stadium because of a scheduling mix-up between Allegany and Fort Hill, who both use Greenway.

The Campers, like the Sentinels, are 8-0 on the season and Woods gives most of the credit for Allegany's marked improvement to new head coach Tim Kane.

"Coach Kane has done a marvelous job of turning that program around," Woods said. "They are back to the Allegany of old."

In comparison to Fort Hill, Woods believes Allegany has an even better defense than the Sentinels'. "They have an excellent defense, but not as much depth as Fort Hill," he said. "Offensively, they don't have as many weapons, but are very sound."

The Campers use a basic wing-T offense and, like the Rams, prefer to keep the ball on the ground. They are led offensively by senior running back David Miller (5-10, 170), senior halfback Nik Gates (5-10, 155), senior tackle Ed Lease (6-1, 279), and senior guard Chris Golliday (6-1, 215).

"Miller has emerged as one of the top running backs in the area," Woods said, "and Gates, Lease, and Golliday are all three-year starters and just having great seasons."

The Allegany 6-2 defense is anchored by senior linebacker Chris Appel, whom Woods describes as the best defensive player in the area. Appel also starts at tight end on offense.

"They apply tremendous pressure on you defensively," Woods said, "and they have shown steady improvement all season."

Woods believes that the two teams are comparable in physical size, but says that Allegany has somewhat better speed than the Rams.

"This is a make-or-break game for us," he said. "If we pull out a win, and can defeat Northern to finish with a 6-3 record, we will probably be on the bubble for a playoff spot."

As for the injury list, the Rams will be without Tommy Diehl this week, and Nick Dolan is listed as "questionable" because of his ankle injury.

"Since our jayvees will be playing Northern Thursday night, we will only have about 28 kids on the sidelines Saturday night," Woods said. "So we really have our work cut out for us. But we also really believe we have a good shot at a win."

Saturday's kickoff is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Southern Mat Club Sign-up Night Tuesday

The Southern Mat Club will hold sign-up night next Tuesday, Nov. 4, at 6:30 p.m. in the Southern Middle School cafeteria. Anyone interested in joining this youth wrestling team is invited to attend.

The Southern Mat Club is a youth wrestling team consisting of athletes (boys and girls) ranging in age from kindergarten through eighth grade. The team members are split into smaller groups according to age and skill levels. The team practices two to three days a week beginning in mid-November. The season continues through March. Competitions include tournaments, scrimmages, and exhibition matches.

"Wrestling is a great sport," stated coach Dave Taylor. "It teaches discipline and dedication, and improves the kids' conditioning and balance. There is no better sport for developing individual athletic skills while also promoting the team concept."

Interested students unable to attend the sign-up night may contact Coach Taylor at 301-334-3855 or club president Tracy Riley at 301-334-1463. Persons may also contact the coaches or follow the team on the Internet via a web site at www.miworld.net/~smat club.

GAME MEAT HEALTHIER

While deer hunters might spend more effort retelling the story of their successful pursuit than the dietary health benefits of game meat, a number of health experts say that priority should be reversed. These health experts say that game meat is considerably lower in saturated fat than beef, pork, chicken, and even some seafoods. Considering that the fat intake for most Americans exceeds the recommended daily allowances established by the American Heart Association (AHA), game meat becomes a healthy, attractive alternative.

Why is game meat leaner and lower in saturated fat? Wild meat is lean by virtue of exercise. Wild animals expend a tremendous amount of energy foraging to stay alive and develop very muscular lean tissue. Domestic meats are generally from animals that receive little exercise and, in the case of beef, are raised to develop "marbling" or fat streaks prized for flavor, but high in saturated fat. Further reducing their fat content, wild animals forage on grasses and shrubs rather than on the richer diet of grains and other feed that domestic livestock is fed. Comparisons between game and domestic meats are striking. For example, a 3.5-ounce serving of venison contains approximately 153 calories, 1.4 grams of total fat, and 1.1 grams of saturated fat. Lean roast beef, on the other hand, has 239 calories, 14.3 grams total fat, and 7.2 grams of saturated fat.

The health benefits of a diet that includes game meat are proven. Proper preparation is the key to how it will taste. Because it is leaner, cooks must prepare it differently than they would store-bought domestic meats. Hot and quick searing on a mesquite grill is a tried and true method for the better cuts of game meat such as tenderloins and small medallion cuts. Searing keeps the moisture in. Another way is slow cooking with moisture. For lesser quality cuts, brazing with flour, adding liquid, and combining with other food items such as in a stew is recommended.

LOST LAND RUN AREA DAY TRIP

On the Friday of Autumn Glory weekend, my better half insisted that I accompany her and Zack the dog to the bottom of Lostland Run for a scenic ride and hike. I had other plans, but went along and was glad I did. We parked in the area for the Potomac Overlook and walked the incline to the overlook itself. The vista there has few rivals anywhere. The view is spectacular both up and down the Potomac gorge. Know that this area is remote and the climb a bit steep but worth it.

And, talking to Harold Harsh of Spring Creek Outfitters about it, he added that the fishing down there is pretty good, too. A delayed harvest section extends from the mouth of Lostland Run upstream six or seven miles to Wallman. Harold said that this is definitely worth fishing, as it contains some nice holdover rainbows along with browns and brooks. The fishing is better upstream as it gets less pressure. Lostland Run itself offers outstanding brook trout opportunities, though they can be spooky.

RIVER REPORT

Water levels in the North Branch have been ideal and the fishing has been productive, particularly in the new catch and release area above Barnum. If you can get out, look for action from the big ones. It is fall and they are aggressive. The best action will probably be on wet flies. Try imitation crayfish, Clouser minnows, and olive or black weighted woolybuggers drifted to the end of their swing and then retrieved with short slow strips. As the water has cooled some in the Yough, the action has slowed on the surface. Some productive patterns should include Bitch Creek nymphs, imitation sculpins, and the ever reliable woolybuggers.

LAKE FISHING REPORT

Deep Creek Lake has been producing some walleyes and my sources tell me that they are getting them on nightcrawlers. But, they won't tell me where. Smallmouth have been hitting in the general 8-10 foot depths. Live bait has been fishing better than lures.

OUTDOOR TAXES SUPPORT OUTDOOR RECREATION

Continuing a conservation tradition dating back more than six decades, state fish and wildlife agencies will share $301.8 million in excise taxes paid by American hunters, target shooters, boaters, and anglers. These funds from the Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration and Federal Aid in Sport Fish Restoration are used for land acquisition, habitat improvement, research, education, and other programs. The funds also help pay for hunting education programs, boating access, and other fish and wildlife related recreation programs.

'TIS THE SEASON - David Broadwater displays his 10-point buck, dropped recently during the early muzzleloader season. Dressing out at 171 pounds, the deer was likely a frequent guest in farmers' cornfields in the area off Meyberry Poling Road outside Swanton, where it was bagged on private property.

DNR Fall Trout Stocking Sets New State Record

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) recently announced that a record of nearly 70,000 trout have been stocked into selected trout fishing areas around the state this fall after completion of a record fall trout stocking program. This brings the total number of trout stocked over the entire year to 563,000, which is also a new record.

"Maryland provides some of the finest trout fishing on the east coast," DNR Secretary John R. Griffin said. "Stocking this record number of fish will ensure that anglers will enjoy some fine fishing this fall."

This fall in Garrett County, the Youghiogheny River and North Branch of the Potomac River at Kitzmiller were each stocked with 2,000 fish, while the Casselman River and the delayed harvest area of the North Branch of the Potomac River each were stocked with 1,000 fish.

Fishermen are reminded that a trout stamp is required to possess a trout caught in Maryland waters. DNR's trout stocking program is funded entirely by the sale of freshwater fishing licenses and trout stamps, and federal Sportfish Restoration Program (Wallop-Breaux) funds, which are generated by anglers' and boaters tax dollars.

Hunter Safety Education Class Offered By NRP

Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) is offering a hunter safety education class at the Westernport fire hall Nov. 3 and 10, 6-9 p.m. and Nov. 15 beginning at 8 a.m. Class size is limited; therefore, pre-registration is required by calling 301-777-7771. Maryland law requires the successful completion of a hunter safety education class prior to the initial purchase of a hunting license.

Local Fishing Holes Gaining Wide Attention

By David Foster

It's nothing new to see trucks and cars with Pennsylvania and West Virginia license plates, in addition to vehicles displaying Maryland plates, parked along the roadsides that line local trout streams. What may be a newer development, however, is the appearance of vehicles bearing plates from further afield -- Virginia, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, and beyond. How do anglers from such distant locations hear about our local fishing holes?

Perhaps a glance at outdoor sporting publications, both regional and national, provide a clue. The upcoming December issue of Fly Fisherman magazine, a nationally circulated publication, carries a feature story titled "Maryland's Savage River," which profiles not only the Savage, but the Casselman River and Deep Creek Lake as well.

Virginia Outdoor Weekly, published in Charlottesville, Va., has had two recent articles about fishing expeditions on both the Youghiogheny and the North Branch of the Potomac rivers. Both articles featured the flyfishing guide services offered by Spring Creek Outfitter owners Allen Noland and Harold Harsh, who have been guiding fulltime for the past four years.

Visiting fishermen help contribute to the local economy by spending their money in local lodges and restaurants as they seek a nationally renowned wilderness recreational experience in a pristine outdoor setting. These visitors also contribute to the quality of the county's fishing by purchasing out-of-state fishing licenses, that help ensure the continued maintenance of the county's waterways for generations yet to come.

Fly Fisherman magazine credits "vision and sound management" as the reason the Savage has become known as a haven for trout fishing. Up to a decade ago the rocky, fast-flowing tailwaters south of the Savage River Dam held a large population of stocked brown trout and a smaller number of native-born brook trout. The article gives an account of the DNR plan to increase the wild brook trout population by putting a halt to the stocking of brown trout, and establishing two special-regulation sections on the lower Savage, which has encouraged an explosion in the numbers and size of brook trout in the river.

The Casselman River, on the other hand, flows slow and smooth through the northern end of the county and is stocked with thousands of brown and rainbow trout annually. The Casselman is also home to a number of bass that are available for the taking after June 15, according to the article, which also notes that Deep Creek Lake is a hotspot for smallmouth bass and brown trout angling ventures.

With excellent fishing prospects like that, in a place of wonder and beauty like this, it's no wonder that Garrett County is gaining a reputation as "the Yellowstone of the east." Perhaps someday vehicles bearing plates from Colorado, Idaho, Montana, or California may be seen parked along local waters, as fishing enthusiasts from far and wide join in the chase after Garrett County trout.

Lakers Sweep Potomac State, Ready For Tournament Play

The Garrett Community College volleyball team ended its regular season by sweeping Potomac State last night with game scores of 15-10, 15-12, and 17-15. The Lakers appear poised to make a run for the Region XX championship, as they enter tournament play this weekend as the number two seed behind host Hagerstown Junior College.

At Keyser, GCC's Alexis Nogle led her team from the service line by going 21-for-21 with two aces, while Andrea Barrick was 18-for-19 on service with six aces, and Erica King also went 18-for-19, adding one ace of her own.

Mindy McCarty led the Lakers' attack as she went 24-for-32 with 15 kills. Barrick was 18-for-23 with nine kills, and King was 13-for-16 with seven kills. Nogle was 14-for-15 with six kills.

On blocks, Barrick was 6-for-6 and King was 7-for-8. Nogle wos 55-for-66 in sets with 22 assists and McCarty was 29-for-45 with six assists.

The Catamounts were led by Jennifer Timbrook's perfect 22-for-22 service tally, while Krista Moreland and Christine Bell each had nine kills.

The win over Potomac State rounded out GCC's regular season record at 26-8 overall and 8-1 in the conference.

Regional tournament double-elimination play kicks off on Saturday morning at the Hagerstown ARCC, as the Lakers go up against Cecil Community College, the seventh seed, at 10 a.m. The victor advances to play the winner of a match between number three seeded Frederick and number six seed Catonsville.

Fourth-seeded Charles plays number five CCAC-Allegany Pittsburgh, and the winner goes on to tackle top-seeded Hagerstown, which has a first-round bye. The championship game is scheduled for Sunday at 1 p.m.

"We had a great season so far," said King, the Lakers captain, "and if we play together at regionals we could go all the way."

The Region XX winner advances to the NJCAA National Tournament.

Huskies On Trail Of Regionals After Downing Rams At Home

Northern's volleyball team completed its regular season last night with a 3-1 victory over the visiting Southern Rams, with game scores of 15-2, 15-7, 12-15, and 15-2. The Huskies' 12-1 record will be tested on Monday in the Class 1A West Region quarterfinal playoffs at 7 p.m. in Hancock, while the Rams' first-round match pits them against Allegany this Saturday at 1 p.m. in Cumberland.

Jenni Stephens tallied 18 service points while Laurel Wolf added 12 points and four kills for the Huskies.

Southern was led by Rachel Lane with 10 points and five kills, and Michelle Teter had eight points.

The Rams won the junior varsity match with game scores of 5-15, 15-13, and 15-11. Miranda Byers led Southern with 10 service points, while Mimi Harvey had 10 points for Northern.

The Rams' varsity loss capped a tough week for Southern, as they had fallen to Allegany 3-1 on Monday night in Cumberland. The game scores were 15-10, 12-15, 15-7, and 15-7.

Jennifer Teagarden led the Rams with 15 service points, while Michelle Teter added nine. The Campers' Tracy Little served for 14 points and added seven kills and six blocks, while Laura Helmstetter had 11 service points for the victors.

Allegany's jayvees took their match as well with game scores of 15-9, 7-15, and 15-12. Jessica Hinebaugh had 15 points for the Rams, while Trish Lewis tallied six points for Allegany.

Uninsured Md. Motorists To Lose Tags

The license tags of uninsured motorists will be removed from their vehicles and returned to the Maryland Department of Transportation's Motor Vehicle Administration (MVA) under a joint effort of the Maryland Automobile Insurance Fund (MAIF) and the MVA. The tag recovery program employs independent agents to recover and return the tags of vehicles belonging to uninsured motorists.

The independent tag recovery agents must meet the criteria set by the Maryland State Police for private detectives. They are also trained by the MVA on the policies and procedures associated with vehicle tag recovery.

"Maryland motorists are required by law to carry vehicle liability insurance in order to register and drive their vehicles. The tag recovery program removes uninsured drivers from our roadways," said Maryland Motor Vehicle Administrator Anne Ferro. "Before license tags are reissued to any motorists, all insurance obligations and violations must be satisfied."

The program is modeled after a similar program employed in the State of Florida. In Maryland, an ongoing tag recovery program that did not employ independent agents was suspended in November 1995 because of cost saving measures. "We are glad to be working with the Motor Vehicle Administration on this critical joint program. By reinstating the tag recovery program, the importance of compulsory insurance in protecting all Maryland citizens is reemphasized," added MAIF Executive Director David C. Trageser.

Marylanders should drive responsibly, and having liability insurance is one way of demonstrating that responsibility. It is estimated that roughly 5% of the 3 million motorists licensed to drive in Maryland allow their insurance to lapse and should satisfy the state's law before getting behind the wheel. Any time insurance coverage lapses, the tags on the vehicle must be returned to the Motor Vehicle Administration immediately to insure that the vehicle is not being driven without insurance. The MVA will impose heavy penalties including the possible loss of tags for failing to return tags promptly when insurance is canceled.

For further information, persons may call the Motor Vehicle Administration at 1-800-950-1682 and ask for the Vehicle Liability Insurance brochure.

Food For Thought

Here's how to get the flavor of baked beans without waiting. Saute a small onion, diced, in a little olive oil. Season with ketchup, molasses, Dijon mustard, Worcestershire sauce and a pinch of ground cloves. Add four cans of assorted beans and heat.

.Old-fashioned Waldorf salad was heavy with mayonnaise. The modern version pairs fresh young spinach leaves with thin-sliced apples. Add slivered almonds, sesame seeds and a light vinaigrette.

It's not too late to turn basil from the garden into pesto to last the winter. Basic recipe: add 2 cups basil leaves, ¼ cup pignoli nuts and a little oil. Buzz, then freeze.

Wash and dry other herbs—oregano, thyme, rosemary, etc... and tie into bunches. Hang in a cool, dry place until dried. Strip off stems and store in jars. Smells great!

Red Cross Holiday Tours To Include McComas House

This year's "Home for the Holidays" house tours, an event that benefits the local chapter of the American Red Cross, will include the home of Ralph and Lucy Burnett in Oakland, known as the McComas House. The tours will take place on Friday, Dec. 5, 4-9 p.m., and Saturday, Dec. 6, 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Constructed in 1901 for Henry Clay Sincell, a prominent Oakland merchant, the house is unique in several aspects. Its style is a marriage of Victorian and 20th century design, with a vast rounded asymmetrical front porch, giving the square building a distinctive appearance. The cupola on the roof is another recognizable feature.

The wood used in the construction of the house was almost entirely chestnut, including the unfinished attic. All the trim is Garrett County red oak, cut and shaped by hand.

The red oak staircase is the dominant architectural feature of the front hallway. Two rooms on the first floor are decorated with Tiffany glass and feature built-in red oak wall benches.

Henry Clay Sincell operated and owned the H.C. Sincell & Co. General Store, located at the present day Proudfoot's Pharmacy. He died in 1950 at the age of 79. Mr. Sincell's daughter Margaret married the son of Dr. McComas and lived in the home until her death in 1996. The house was recently renovated and is painted in colors popular at the time of its construction.

Tickets are $5 for the five-home tour and are available at Flowers By Webers, Arrowhead Market, and Proudfoot's, Englander's, Deep Creek, and Gregg's pharmacies. Articles featuring the other homes will appear in future issues of The Republican.

HISTORIC McCOMAS HOUSE TO BE TOURED - The Oakland home of Ralph and Lucy Burnett, known as the McComas House, will be among those featured in this year's "Home for the Holidays" house tours. It is located along Second Street in the town and is painted in colors popular at the time of its construction, circa 1901. See atory. Tickets for the fund-raiser, which will include five local homes, are $5 per person and are available at Flowers By Webers, Arrowhead Market, and Proudfoot's, Englander's, Deep Creek, and Gregg's pharmacies.

MRS. BROWN

Rated PG

While John Brown the abolitionist was making headlines here in the states in the early 1860s, another John Brown was doing so in England. Mrs. Brown, starring Judi Dench and Billy Connolly, is the true story of this rough-edged Scottish servant to Queen Victoria who was enlisted to aid the grief-stricken monarch after the death of her husband. At first put off by Brown's gruff informality, the queen soon comes around to see that he cares more about her than most of the others who surround her. As the two develop a close friendship, the royal family and servant staff become appalled, and the derisive and relentless press has a field day, dubbing the queen "Mrs. Brown." One can't help but notice the tragic similarity to recent events with the British royal family.

This movie probably romanticizes the relationship between Brown and Victoria, but Dench and Connolly deliver a powerhouse performance, showing the rapport that quickly developed between the two. Dench's Victoria has a full palette of pent-up emotions bubbling inside her like a pressure-cooker; one can feel the power of her anguish which she must keep concealed at all costs, for the sake of propriety. Connolly gives John Brown a deep sense of pride in his Scottish heritage and an unrelenting desire to do what's best for the queen, regardless of threats, mockery, and violence. Full of rich scenery, sets and costumes, with an excellent supporting cast, this is a touching period piece not to be missed. ★★★★★

A sweeping epic based on the true story of Austrian mountain climber Heinrich Harrer (Brad Pitt), who is taken prisoner when World War II breaks out as he is on an expedition on British (Indian) soil. He escapes and flees to Tibet, where he remains beyond the end of the war, becoming a friend to the young Dalai Lama (Jamyang Wangchuk). This is a beautiful film, ripe with spectacular landscapes and complemented by a majestic musical score by John Williams. Other musical elements which add to the atmosphere are the deep bass tones of the large Tibetan horns, and the recurring notes of Debussy's "Claire de Lune," solemnly rendered on a music box owned by the young religious leader. This theme excellently evokes the boy's loneliness in his isolation. Pitt is really not bad despite his "pretty boy" image and his uncanny resemblance to a young Robert Redford, king of the pretty boys. Directed by Jean-Jacques Annaud, it is not an edge-of-your-seat drama, because it is a true story. But it is a well-detailed look into the political struggle occurring during that period in China, a bit of history that is often glossed over in the U.S. because of our involvement in WWII. Excellently researched, excellently directed, excellently acted. ★★★★½

L.A. CONFIDENTIAL

Rated R

This is a 1950s comic-book style police drama, with two cops battling each other, themselves, and the system to find true justice. There is lots of wisecracking, 50s cliches and fistfights among the multitude of tough guys in this picture. There is almost no conversation that isn't punctuated with a right cross to the jaw. Starring Kevin Spacey, Kim Bassinger, Danny DeVito, Guy Pierce, and Russell Crowe, it is about a number of inexplicable murders associated to the local mob boss and his heroin operation. A prostitute that looks just like Veronica Lake, and a cop more interested in press coverage than actual police work. It is an intriguing whodunit, but nothing really unpredictable. Good work by Pierce and Crowe, though. ★★★

THE PEACEMAKER

Rated R

Those darned Rooskies. They're at it again, only this time they're selling their nuclear weapons to irate Bosnians bent on blowing up the U.N. Excuse me a moment. HEY, HOLLYWOOD! THE COLD WAR IS OVER! Think they heard that? I doubt it. In this first release from the newly formed Dreamworks SKG production company (a Spielberg/Katzenberg/Geffen venture), we see nothing different from all the other cookie-cutter action/adventure movies of the last 10 years. George Clooney does his patented hangdog charm; Nicole Kidman is woman, hear her roar. A sprinkle of emotion from each is thrown in as a formality, and is insincere. There is a touching flashback when the Bosnian terrorist (Marcel Iures) loses his wife and daughter in the war (thus sparking his desperate acts), but since there is no pre-establishment of their relationship, we don't feel much. Directed by Mimi Leder, the film has lots of yelling; lots of indiscriminate shooting in crowds; lots of stuff blowing up. Improbable, but exciting -- if you're into that. ★★★

KISS THE GIRLS

Rated R

Well, folks, sheep-cloning is continuing at full tilt. This taut psychological drama wants to be Silence of the Lambs, but unfortunately, no Anthony Hopkins. It is quite tense at times, though, and contains some excellent acting by Ashley Judd as a young woman abducted by a psycho and kept as a sex slave in his underground dungeon in the woods of North Carolina. Morgan Freeman is a detective whose niece is another of the numerous victims, and when Judd escapes, she helps Freeman solve the case. Freeman delivers an impeccable performance as the "wise old man"--you know, the same one he does in all his films--and Cary Elwes is also good as the detective, though his N.C. accent stinks. One thing that seems unnecessary are the ridiculous DTX sound effects (you hear a loud, sinister thud almost every time someone blinks), but generally a good, sweaty thriller about man's darker side. ★★★★

I KNOW WHAT YOU DID LAST SUMMER

Rated R

Cool soundtrack. Full of heavy metal covers of great oldies like Seals & Crofts' "Jasmine" and the Beatles' "Hey Bulldog." Oh, the movie? Well, it's the Gorton Fisherman and he's plenty ticked. A classic teenage slasher film, written by teenagers, directed by teenagers, acted by teenagers. Loosely based on the classic ghost story about the man with a hook. Stupid, but if you're 14 you may love it. ★

THE FULL MONTY

Rated R

America's love for British humor continues. In fact, I think its Britishness is perhaps the main appealing characteristic of this hilarious but rather average story. The actors (Robert Carlyle, Mark Addy, and several others) are also definitely not flashy movie-star types -- they're average guys, in every sense of the phrase. They play a group of out-of-work steelworkers who see that when the Chippendale dancers come to town they make a killing, with the local women lining up outside to see them strip. After a period of making fun of the Chippendale "poofs" (while standing in line at the job service office), they see the lucrative opportunity presented to them. Except, since they are not as pretty as the professional strippers, they're going to have to go for "The Full Monty." As each one of the group has his own fears and trepidations to overcome, they practice dancing to old disco hits in their abandoned steel mill. By the night of the big show, they have all made a journey of courage and hilarious self-searching. ★★★★

THE EDGE

Rated R

The vast majority of this adventure thriller is played out by Anthony Hopkins and Alec Baldwin, and that's what makes it an better-than-average picture. Both give gutsy and real performances, each in his own style, each with a well-developed character. Charles Morse (Hopkins) is a socially awkward millionaire who has learned never to trust anyone claiming to be his friend. He dabbles in trivia, and has recently found a book about survival in the wilderness. Robert Green (Baldwin) is an arrogant fashion photographer on a shoot with Morse's wife, played by Elle Macpherson, who has convinced her stodgy husband to come along. The two men are not particularly fond of each other, but are soon stranded together on a side trip, and must put aside their differences to deal with a common dilemma: how to avoid being EATEN BY A BEAR. And you thought you had problems.

Despite a few unnecessary and irresponsible oversights from author David Mamet, like bogus instructions on how to find the North Star, this starts out to be an excellent story. But near the end it begins to break down a bit. It made sense for Morse to be irrationally paranoid about his beautiful wife and his stacks of cash, but when all his pathetic fears turn out to be justified, the credibility is lost. However, this does allow for a good lesson in humanity, contrary to those usually taught by Hollywood. Hopkins is not a hero because he kills all the evil forces surrounding him, but because he forgives them. ★★★½

THE DEVIL'S ADVOCATE

Rated R

Despite a wooden performance by Keanu Reeves, this is still a thoroughly enjoyable film for those who enjoy an intelligent horror flick. In the tradition of Psycho and The Shining, it is interspersed with short, subtle images that are not always readily understandable at first. The use of computer animation and amazing special effects lend unsettling credibility to the many portentious hallucinations seen by those who are meant to see them. And a stellar acting job by Charlize Theron as Reeves's wife puts the film over the top. Theron is truly tormented as she becomes aware of the evil world her lawyer husband has gotten himself into. Al Pacino is also quite intimidating, as usual, in the second film which allows him the opportunity to say the line, "I'm just getting warmed up!" He really means it this time. The sets and settings are beautiful in a sinister way, and interesting cinematographic devices like time-lapse photography give an eerie other-worldliness to New York City. An incredible special effects sequence at the end, coupled with multiple plot twists, elevate what could be a silly, Beetlejuice-type movie into something much more disturbing. ★★★★

It is a world where genetic engineering has become the rule rather than the exception. Where parents are encouraged to pre-arrange their babies' genes to ensure the highest quality and least likelihood of disease or imperfection. It is a future world of 12-fingered pianists and electric cars, where a blood sample is all the ID you'll ever need, and all you'll ever be judged by.

Yeah, okay, but as with all future movies, there are things they didn't consider, and that's what brings the whole thing down. Vincent Freeman (Ethan Hawke) is an "in-valid," in other words, a natural baby not pre-engineered. And people like that are treated with prejudice and contempt among the "valids," and they are only given the janitor jobs at Gattaca, the apparent descendent of NASA, whose name is cleverly concocted from the four letters CATG, the beginning letters of the four acids that make up DNA. (No one explains why else the space agency would be called this--perhaps they are advertising their ridiculous prejudice.) But Vincent wants to be a spaceman, and he assumes the identity (complete with daily blood and urine samples) of one of the "valids" (Jude Law) who had a spinal injury and was unable to continue his stellar sports career. For some reason (it can't be money; Ethan has none), this guy is willing to bleed and urinate into bottles every day to help Ethan with his dream.

But what's most irritating is that, as usual, the producers seem to think that the future will be cold, sterile, and colorless, filled with Stepford wives (and husbands) engineered for intelligence and physical stamina. If genetic engineering were the norm, wouldn't parents want their kids to be artistic, fun-loving, likeable? If the chance of disease or frailty were removed, wouldn't there be more fun, more partying, more laughing? It's an interesting concept, but a dated delivery.

At least in this future world, the space agency is finally getting the funding it needs, launching several rockets a day. Despite its flaws, this is still a fascinating story, and adequate performances by Hawke, Law, and Uma Thurman, who plays Hawke's "valid" girlfriend who still loves him after she finds out he's the future equivalent to white trash. ★★★½ students. This will mean fewer state dollars, he said, decreasing the state per-pupil allotment by about $125,000. He noted that the decrease is most likely a result of a low birth rate year in 1992, the year in which most of the current kindergartners were born. The kindergarten class this year is down by 39 to 40 children, he said, which constitutes about three-fourths of the noted enrollment decrease.

Workout Set

Sponsored by the House of Hope and coordinated by Brenda's Body Shop, the Workout for Hope performances will feature exercise entertainment and dance routines by groups and solo performers from Brenda's Body Shop and the Southern and Northern cheerleader squads. A fall fashion show with models from kinderdance and Town and County Learning Center will be presented by Little Expressions, an Oakland infant and children's clothing store.

The first participatory workout of the evening will be the "Funhouse Fitness" segment, recommended for children over the age of two. The Pittsburgh Pirate Parrot will be the special guest for the Funhouse Fitness workout. The parrot has been entertaining fans at baseball and hockey games, grand openings, parades, and other community celebrations for nearly 20 years. "We are excited to have the Pirate Parrot coming to our Workout for Hope," said Brenda Brosnihan, event organizer. "He has attended past events and his interaction with the children is so much fun," she said.

"Boogie Wonderland" is the theme of the second participatory workout segment, which, as Brosnihan described, will feel "more like a dance party, though everyone will be exercising diligently. [Participants] will even have an opportunity to learn a hip-hop dance routine during the hip-hop workout," she stated.

The final workout segment will feature guest aerobic instructors Tina Miller, Jenna Gillan and Wendy Walker, all from Cumberland. "It's fun to attend these events and exercise with different instructors. It gives us a chance to experience a little different style and energy," said Glenda Newcomb, aerobic enthusiast.

This is the fourth fund-raising workout coordinated by Brenda's Body Shop, which raised over $11,000 in the first three workouts to benefit the American Heart Association. Brosnihan's 1985 "Dance for Heart," which raised over $4,000, earned her an award for the largest single event fund-raiser in Maryland.

Brosnihan attributes the success of these events to the dedicated students and members who attend Brenda's Body Shop, the participants from the community and the people who pledge money to support them. "The energy and enthusiasm of all the people who participate is truly inspirational," she said.

Any persons interested in participating in the workout may pick up a pledge sheet at Brenda's Body Shop. There is no admission to the event for spectators, but an open donation of money or a non-perishable food item for the House of Hope's food pantry will be requested at the door.

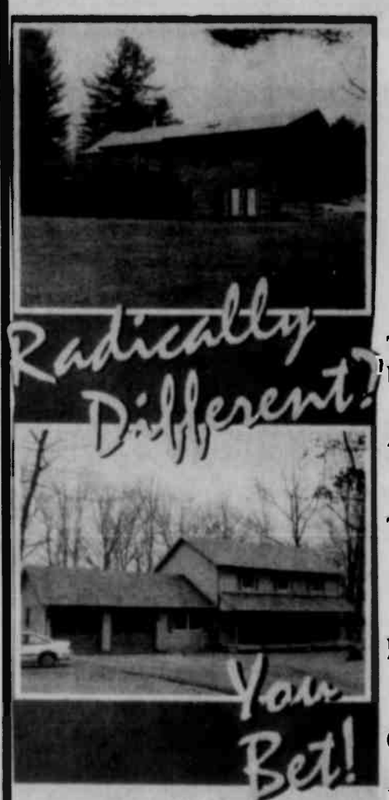
Introducing Panelcraft Building Systems
The House of Tomorrow is Here Today!
Cool When It's Hot, Cozy When It's Not!
Customer satisfaction is our #1 goal.
(Residential, Commercial, Churches—ICBO, BOCA & SBCCI Approved)
PANELCRAFT BUILDING SYSTEMS, INC.



These houses are built with Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs). Using SIPs requires less construction time and leaves the customer with a draft-free Energy Efficient Home at an affordable price!
At Panelcraft, these Panels go through a special bonding process to create a Structural Panel far superior to using just the insulation by itself in a conventional frame building.
The material used for the insulation is called Polystyrene, the same thing that is used for styrofoam coffee cups. Not only does 1/16 of an inch of Polystyrene protect your fingers from being burned from the scorching hot coffee, it also keeps them dry!
Now if only 1/16 inch will do this, imagine what 4 to 6 inches will do in your home to keep the warm and the dry inside and keep the cold and the dampness outside!
Oh! By the way all you carpenters and do-it-yourselfers, etc., no more itching and scratching and coughing while insulating a house!

WHILE IT MAY LOOK LIKE IT, THIS IS NOT A SCENE of any horrible tragedy. The "bodies" lying about in the yard of Mary Jane Berry and Robert Ulino are being made of straw, flannel shirts, old pants, and a variety of buttons, bows, caps, fake flowers, and other decorations. Alison Ulino, daughter of Mary Jane and Robert, has held a scarecrow making party for nine years, beginning when she was just 4. At that first party in 1988, three little girls made three scarecrows. This year, over 40 people came to the Mountain Lake Park home to make at least 25 of the interesting creations, many of which can be seen in yards throughout the county. Two of them have been placed at the Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home in Oakland. They are shown in the photo below right. A resident at the home who helped set up the display promptly named the two "Marbly" and "John." The annual straw-stuffing afternoon at the Ulino house is usually complemented by cider and doughnuts, and when everyone is finished with their "persona," they jump on a wagon for an authentic hayride. Dr. Paul Deal provides the transportation for this part of the day, and has done so for the past six years. "It's a lot of fun," said Mary Jane, who, with Robert and Alison, provides the refreshments and a great deal of the decorations that end up being scarecrow eyes, noses, ears, and hats.

MAKING THE MOST OF A FINE AUTUMN DAY late last month were about 40 folks at the home of Mary Jane Berry and Robert Ulino. They were the guests of the couple's daughter, Alison, who hosts a scarecrow making party each year. This year, several of the finished products were delivered to nursing homes and other locations as a gesture of goodwill and fall fun. Mary Jane is shown in the center of the photo, her back to the camera, as she talks with Alison, back right. The host family named their straw friend "Ford Prefect," in honor of the Douglas Adams' Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy books.

ance Group; Keyser Econolodge; Potomac Eagle Scenic Railroad; and American Trust Bank for their sponsorships and promotions.

A huge debt of gratitude is extended to the West Virginia State Police, the Mineral County Sheriff's Department, and the Keyser and Kingwood units of the West Virginia National Guard for an excellent job in directing the parking and traffic control operations throughout the festival weekend, October 4 and 5.

Above all, I wish to express thanks to all of the members and the represented organizations who comprise the Apple Harvest Planning Committee. Hats off to you! Your efforts were rewarded with another fabulous festival. Now, we focus on the next festival, which is set for October 3 and 4, 1998. God's blessings to all, and thanks again to everyone who had a part.

Grace and peace,

call me,'" he said.

After the morning press conference concluded, the Garrett group separated for afternoon activities. The children and parents headed for the Washington zoo and Yoder went to the White House for a reception.

At The White House

President and Mrs. Clinton were hosting a child care conference at the White House the day of the press conference. Yoder was invited to attend the afternoon reception along with about 100 or 150 other people who had been attending the conference.

After an announcement by Mrs. Clinton of the new child care initiative, and comments from a couple of members of Congress, the informality of the reception format permitted Yoder to meet and talk with those present, including the first lady.

At the suggestion of one of the other guests at the reception, Yoder said, the whole group sang "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Clinton in honor of her 50th birthday.

Bolivia Group Rasing Funds For Mission '98

In preparation for their annual mission work in Bolivia, a group of local volunteers is focusing efforts on raising funds this year's project.

Sponsored by Assembly of God churches and supported by many other local congregations, the group serves a variety of needs of the poor in rural communities of Bolivia. "This year's project is building a drug rehab center," Garland Maust, group member, explained. "Our goal is to raise $70,000 to do this," he added.

One fund-raiser recently undertaken provided a much needed service for others. The Mt. Top Assembly of God, Oakland, had been in search of a contractor to install one dozen windows in the brick walls of the church. "This was a very dark sanctuary," said Pastor Galen Hixon.

Hixon explained that he had previously been unable to arrange to get the installation work done. Then Hixon made an agreement with the Bolivia group to donate to their mission project the amount he would have paid a contractor to do the work on the windows.

The Bolivia group volunteers rallied. The construction expertise of the group members was well suited to the undertaking. In small teams, over a three-day period, about 12 workers accomplished the task. Showing up on the site as their schedules allowed, one worker would pick-up where another had left off, Maust said.

The windows and all related installation materials were donated by Lief Piper of Piper Building Supply, Oakland. Piper is also a member of the Bolivia group.

"There have been so many positive comments from the members of the congregation," Hixon said of the new windows in the church. "They really bring the outside inside," he said.

Other fund-raising efforts for the Bolivian objective are scheduled in the near future. These will include a spaghetti dinner, with silent auction, music, and a slide show, and, on a later date, a pizza sale. Group members are also looking into several other community projects similar to the work at Mt. Top Assembly of God Church.

Maust said that a group of about 24 volunteers will be traveling to Bolivia on Dec. 28 to begin the construction work on the rehab center.

AND THERE WAS LIGHT - The result of the work pictured here was a sunlight-filled sanctuary at the Mt. Top Assembly of God Church, Oakland. A dozen windows were installed in the church in exchange for a significant donation to some local volunteers, known simply as the Bolivian Group. Sponsored by the Assembly of God Churches, this group travels to Bolivia annually to build needed facilities. (see story)

Traffic Safety Program Hires Grant Director

The Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems (MIEMSS), Region I Office in Grantsville recently hired Diane Lee to serve as grant director. Lee will be responsible for using a grant that MIEMSS recently received from the State Highway Association's Office of Traffic and Safety to coordinate the highway safety grant, which supports activities including child safety seats, safety belts, alcohol awareness, and speed control.

"I believe the Community Traffic Safety Program activities will mesh well with current EMS activities in the region," Lee said, "because the ultimate goal of each program is safety." Lee, a former emergency medical technician, has been working in the highway safety field for almost four years.

Lee will also be assisting Region I EMS administrator David Ramsey in conducting MIEMSS activities throughout the region.

November To Be "Maryland Family Reading Montn"

Governor Parris Glendening announced this week that November will be Maryland Family Reading Month. He challenged parents to turn off their televisions for one hour each week to read with their children.

The governor also joined with Maryland Public Television this week to announce "Reading Across Maryland," an initiative to encourage children to read at least 10 books by the end of the school year.

"The love of reading is one of the greatest gifts you can give a child," Glendening said. "Reading can change a child's future and that is why I pledge to read to children in every jurisdiction in Maryland before the end of this school year."

The initiative is a joint effort of state agencies, including the Governor's Office for Children, Youth, and Families; the Maryland State Department of Education; MPT; and local libraries.

Comptroller Receives Award; Deadline Noted

The Maryland State Comptroller's Office recently received a "Service With a Smile" gold medal award from the National Unclaimed Property Holders' Liaison Committee, the association of businesses that are required to report unclaimed property to the states. "The award recognizes Maryland's Unclaimed Property Office for offering the best service in the nation to businesses that are required to report unclaimed funds," state comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said.

Lynn Hall, manager of the unclaimed property section in the Comptroller's Office, accepted the award at the National Association of Unclaimed Property Administrators' (NAUPA) annual conference in Nashville. Financial institutions and most other businesses are required to report funds that have been unclaimed for five years.

Goldstein noted that financial institutions and corporations with any type of unclaimed funds must report them to the State Comptroller's Office by October 31 each year. "Unclaimed funds include bank accounts which had no deposit or withdrawal activity in the last five years, unclaimed wages, contents of safe deposit boxes if the box rent is not paid for five years, unclaimed security deposits, and stocks and bonds," Goldstein said.

Businesses with questions about how to report unclaimed funds may call the unclaimed property section at 410-767-1700 in Central Maryland or 1-800-782-7383 from elsewhere.

this project will serve as the cornerstone to our downtown revitalization plan."

The Small Cities Community Development Block Grant is a Federal program administered by the Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development and the Maryland Department of Business and Economic Development. These grants are provided to jurisdictions throughout Maryland to improve housing, upgrade community infrastructure and help expand economic opportunities for the citizens of Maryland.

ASSISTING S.A.L.T. - Malissa Grean, treasurer of the Bethesda Youth Group of Bittingar, recently presented a check to Bill Halas, left, chairman of S.A.L.T. (Senior and Law Enforcement Together). The group is dedicated to reducing incidents of crime involving senior citizens through education on prevention methods. Seminars are provided to educate citizens on types of criminal activities that often target elderly people, including telephone scams and fraud. "This donation will certainly assist us in our program for the senior population in Garrett County," Helse said. Also pictured is Deputy Rob Corley, S.A.L.T. coordinator.

Hood College Freshmen Honor Local Teachers

Two Garrett County freshmen at Hood College have nominated local high school instructors as individuals most deserving of Hood's "Distinguished Teacher" award.

Suzanne Spiker, Frostburg, nominated Michelle Harman, a teacher at Northern Garrett High School. "She is a teacher and a friend," Spiker wrote. "She makes learning fun." Spiker is majoring in premedicine at Hood.

Dave Mayfield, a mathematics and physics teacher at Southern Garrett High School, was nominated by Abigail Nichols, Oakland. Nichols, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Nichols, is majoring in communications at Hood.

Hood asked each freshman to nominate a high school teacher who had contributed significantly to her intellectual development.

Harman and Mayfield will each receive a certificate of recognition and a letter of appreciation from Hood College president Shirley D. Peterson. Notification of the award also will be sent to the principals of Northern and Southern Garrett high schools and the superintendent of schools.

Hood College, founded in 1893, is a selective, private, liberal arts college with undergraduate and graduate programs. Located on a 50-acre campus in historic Frederick, Hood grants the bachelor of arts and the bachelor of science degrees in 25 major fields of study. The Hood Graduate School's part-time degree programs are available in seven major fields of study. Total enrollment at Hood is more than 2,000 students.

A Quiet Walk for a Quiet Talk . . .

It's time for a breather every now and then...a time when one can listen to birds sing, breathe fresh air, and crunch leaves underfoot. What an appropriate opportunity to have a peaceful communion with our Heavenly Father and to contemplate His reassuring power in our complex lives.

In Psalm 143:4-6 David says, "So my spirit grows faint within me; my heart within me is dismayed...I meditate on all your works and consider what you have done. I spread out my hands to you; my soul thirsts for you like a parched land."

Worship in your local church or synagogue each week and learn of God's power in your life; take the time to meditate upon our Creator in His world. Go for a quiet walk for a quiet talk with God.

WHAT, ME CELEBRATE?
November 2, 1997

Background Scripture:
Ezra 6
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 126:1-6

I truly regret that, with all that I have learned about following Jesus Christ over these many years, I have still not learned to celebrate as much or as deeply as is justified by God's providence and necessary for my own well-being. I'm learning, but it is not easy for me.

I understand the reasons for my difficulty in learning to celebrate. In my childhood and youth, the concept of "celebration" was rarely, if ever, mentioned in connection with worship. Worship tended to be somber and serious. Even if we sang celebratory hymns, we often managed to sing them with as little joy as possible. Somehow or other I got the idea that sobriety was worshipful; joy was not—no matter what the Bible said.

I was also raised in a culture where people practiced a tight control over their emotions, particularly the most positive ones. I hope I am not unfairly depicting the Pennsylvania 'Dutch' (Germans) as essentially somber people. It was as if they permitted themselves too much joy, life would come and snatch it away. A hearty laugh seemed an invitation to disaster.

EXCESS/OVERCONTROL

Later, when I saw some people give themselves over to abandon during their services, I was utterly frightened and revolted. I remember hearing people speak of these people as "getting happy" and the suggestion was that we couldn't have that. Their emotional excesses seemed to justify my emotional overcontrol.

All of this talk about my struggle with celebration is for the purpose of encouraging you to take a good look at your own life. Is joyous celebration a part of your spirituality? If so, good for you! And, if not, or if not and much as you think it ought to be, then why not?

And that brings me to another reason why some of us do not celebrate very much in our Christian discipleship. Lack of celebration, I have come to believe, is the result of a wrong focus of our spiritual consciousness. When we focus on ourselves exclusively, we cannot help but become somber in the light of our failures, sins, disappointments and obstacles. But, when we spend a sufficient amount of our attention, not on our problems but God's graces—what God is doing in and around us—we cannot help but celebrate. I would celebrate more often and more deeply if I concentrated less on my own needs and wants and more on the love and mercy of God. How about you?

TIME TO CELEBRATE

The exiled people of Judah had a terrible experience. Carried far away from their homeland, their monarchy destroyed and their temple in ruins, the people were aliens in a strange land. One could understand if the predominant key of their religion had become a somber one. But, now the temple was rebuilt; everything had come together to fulfill the prophecies that had seemed so fanciful. It was a time for a celebration and the celebration needed to be no less deep and wide as the sorrow had been.

"And the people of Israel, the priests and the Levites, and the rest of the returned exiles, celebrated the dedication of the house of God with joy" (6:16). The time of sad songs and desperate prayers was over. Even their observance of the Passover was a celebration. "And they kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with joy; for the Lord had made them joyful...." (6:22).

Life is an experience of both the solemn and the joyful. Like everything else, our spiritual lives and particularly our worship must strike a healthy balance. For me, that means taking more time to celebrate.

And you?

Winners Named In Grantsville's Nutrition Game

First grade teachers at Grantsville Elementary School face a difficult decision. Jill Evans, Kim Collins, and Rhonda Opel must figure out how to spend the $200 grant money awarded to the first grade classes as grand prize winners of the Choips! Campaign.

The four-week campaign was designed to encourage children to try new foods. Each Wednesday during the campaign, the school dining room featured a different menu item. When students selected that item, they received a surprise like a pencil or a fruit-shaped eraser. They also received a sticker called a Choip! (short for choice chip) that they placed on their classroom's Choices! poster.

At the end of the campaign, the class with the most Choips! won a $200 grant from the Maryland State Department of education. The money can be used toward an educational event or outing or for material for the classroom. The teacher and students will decide how to use the funds.

Grantsville Elementary announced the Choices! grand prize winners to kick off National School Lunch Week Oct. 13-17.

Peggy Garlitz, cafeteria manager at the school, said she and her staff were pleased with the program. "We were really excited to participate in this campaign. Studies say children perform better in school when they eat well. Our staff has worked hard to trim fat, sodium, and sugar from meals without sacrificing important nutrients and taste. We want the kids to eat well and do well in their classes," she said.

Schools across Maryland are taking part in the Choices! campaign. Choices! is part of an overall effort by local school systems and the Maryland State Department of Education to encourage children to try new foods and increase participation in the school meals program.

"School meals are packed with nutrients children need to do well in school," said Nancy S. Grasmick, state superintendent of schools. "If through campaigns like this one, we can encourage more children to eat a variety of foods, including school meals, more children will get the fuel they need to succeed in the classroom. At the same time, they will be developing healthy eating habits that will serve them well for a lifetime," she stated.

CHOIPS! Social Security Changes Noted

Social Security Commissioner Kenneth S. Apfel announced recently that Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits will increase 2.1 percent. The increase will begin with benefits that Social Security beneficiaries receive for December 1997, which will be paid in January 1998. Increased payments to SSI recipients will begin on December 31. The automatic cost-of-living adjustment is made annually.

"Today's news confirms that inflation remains under control," Apfel said. "Low inflation is good for America, particularly for many Social Security beneficiaries with hmited incomes."

For Social Security beneficiaries, the average monthly benefit amount for all retired workers will rise from $749 to $765. The maximum federal SSI monthly payments to an individual will rise from $484 to $494. For a couple, the maximum federal SSI payment will rise from $726 to $741.

Social Security and SSI benefits increase automatically each year based on the rise in the Consumer Price Index for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers (CPI-W) from the third quarter of one year through the corresponding period of the next. This year's increase in the CPI-W was 2.1 percent.

The automatic increase is the lowest since December 1986 when beneficiaries received a 1.3 percent increase and is the second lowest since the automatic adjustment became effective in 1975.

Oakland Star Chapter Meets, Honors Visitors

Oakland Chapter #67, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday, Oct. 21, at the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple in Oakland. Worthy Patron Ted Raynovich called the meeting to order and Worthy Matron Thelma Henshaw opened with a reading, "Things to be Thankful For."

Mrs. Henshaw greeted the following: Wilda Hile, Deputy Grand Lecturer; Juanita Bosley, Grand Representative in West Virginia to Idaho; Bill Greenwood, Grand Representative in Maryland to Indiana, Worthy Patron of Rebecca Arnold Chapter #57, Mt. Savage, and vice president of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association of Western Maryland; Past Matrons of other chapters; Past Matrons and Past Patrons of Oakland Chapter; officers and members of Oakland Chapter; and Masonic Brothers Ted Raynovich, Delmar Sliger, Reaford Purbaugh, and Bill Greenwood.

Mrs. Henshaw's closing was titled "There's Sunshine in a Smile," and refreshments were served by Lillian Reckner, Juanita Bosley, and Helen Henline. The next meeting will be November 4, which will be the official visit of the Deputy Grand Lecturer, Wilda Hile.

FSU To Host Two Schindler's List Survivors

Helen and Kuba Beck will speak on Wednesday, Nov. 12, at 7 p.m. in Frostburg State University Performing Arts Center's Recital Hall about the horrors of having lived through the Holocaust. More specifically, they will speak about the German businessman who saved them, and about 1,000 other Jews and non-Jews from death, Oskar Schindler.

"There should be more discussion and talk about it because too many people are now saying the Holocaust never happened," said Kuba in an interview with Larry Hughes for the Poughkeepsie Journal.

Schindler owned two labor camps: one in Krakow, Poland, and the other in Czechoslovakia. Schindler was able to save the Becks and others by compiling a list of names in order to transfer those on the list between factories. Hence, the infamous "Schindler's List." Kuba Beck remembers noticing Helen while they labored inside the camps, but it wasn't until after the war that they dated and married. They now have two sons and four grandchildren.

Speaking at Mississippi State University, to an audience comprised mostly of students, Kuba Beck recounted the horrors of a Nazi death camp commander who shot or hanged Jewish prisoners for the fun of it or had his two dogs maul them nearly to death before putting a bullet through their heads.

Helen Beck was only 15 when she was taken to the first of the labor camps, and Kuba Beck was 17. Mrs. Beck lost her parents and six of nine siblings during the war. Her husband, a retired IBM mechanical engineer, lost both parents and all of his siblings.

The lecture is free and open to anyone interested in attending.

FSU is committed to making all of its programs, services, and activities accessible to persons with disabilities. Persons may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, FSU Library, Room 228, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Ham Operators Participate In Disaster Drill

Several times a year, Garrett County's Amateur Radio Emergency Service (ARES) participates in various types of drills to hone its communications skills.

The scenario for the organization's most recent drill, held in early October, involved the aftermath of a hurricane that swept through the state of Maryland. Although it was pretended that roads were closed and power and telephone lines were down throughout Garrett County, amateur radio operators, also known as "hams," were able to maintain vital communications between Garrett Central (911), Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and various other disaster services across the state.

"Participating in regular drills is an assurance to the local and state agencies we serve that we have the adequate training and equipment to handle vital emergency communications in the event of a disaster," said Jerry Kee, the local emergency coordinator for the Garrett County ARES.

ARES is a volunteer radio communications service that provides disaster preparedness, emergency communications, and public service communications at no charge to all levels of government as well as nonprofit organizations. Comprised of about 25,000 members nationwide, ARES is responsible for organizing a pool of operators to provide primary or secondary communication links for these organizations as needed.

Kee noted that Amateur Radio and Citizens Band (CB) Radio are not the same. Unlike Amateur Radio, CB Radio is not regulated by the Federal Communications Commission.

Approximately 75 "hams" live in Garrett County, of which 10 are also ARES operators. Members of the Garrett County ARES are involved in the community, providing assistance with the Autumn Glory Festival, March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon, and McHenry Highland Festival, to help make public events safer through enhanced communications.

For persons interested in obtaining an amateur radio operator's license, administered by the FCC, a meeting has been set for November 14 at 7 p.m. in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Community Services Center. Although classes are available at no charge through ARES members, participants are responsible for the cost of the textbook and related course materials.

Nonprofit agencies and organizations requiring assistance in preparing for emergency communication needs may contact Jerry Kee at 301-334-2231.

Regular meetings of the Garrett County ARES organization are scheduled for the second Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Oakland City Hall building. The public is invited to attend.

ALA Offering Radon Test Kits

The American Lung Association of Maryland is offering two "do it yourself" home radon testing kits to Maryland homeowners. The short-term kit sells for $12 plus tax. The long-term kit sells for $22 plus tax.

With the short-term kit, homeowners test their indoor air with a special sampler for four to seven days, then mail the materials for laboratory analysis. The long-term kit provides the opportunity to test indoor air for three months to a year.

Radon is a colorless, odorless, and tasteless radioactive gas caused by the natural decay of uranium, which is present in most rock and soil. It enters buildings through cracks in walls or foundations and is found in all types of homes. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) studies have identified radon exposure as the second leading cause of lung cancer.

Radon gas contains radioactive particles that may get trapped in the lungs. These particles release small bursts of energy that may damage lung tissue and may lead to lung cancer. Some estimates claim that radon may cause as many as 14,000 cancer deaths per year. The risk of getting lung cancer from radon exposure is especially high for smokers and those exposed to secondhand smoke in the home.

For more information, or to purchase a home testing kit, persons may contact the American Lung Association of Maryland at 800-LUNG-USA.

HEALTHY FOODS were the focus of Pat Foley's third graders at Dennett Road School recently. Leah Miller, the student teacher, introduced the class to the carrot (Joseph Dever Jr.) and the apple (Gail Dever), who were visiting the school from the Garrett County Health Department to present a program on nutrition. Stacey Sanders, right, helped with the demonstration by placing the glass of milk in the proper place in the food pyramid.

Workshops Slated In Raising And Housing Rabbits

An introduction to the growing niche livestock industry of rabbit production for meat will be offered in two educational workshops next month, one in McHenry and the other in Kingwood, W.Va., according to the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service.

The classes can be taken either together or separately, and are appropriate for both those who are already raising rabbits through the Mountain Pride Cooperative who wish to increase their technical knowledge, and any persons who are considering entering the rabbit production industry.

Rabbit Cage Building, a hands-on workshop, is slated for Thursday, Nov. 13, at 7 p.m. in the shop area of the Technical Center at GCC. An experienced cage builder will demonstrate the principles of building quality cages at a reasonable price. During the workshop, participants will have the opportunity to build their own cages to take home.

There is a $45 materials fee for this two-hour workshop, which will cover the cost of materials needed to build a two-hole cage, one pair of special pliers, and two feeders. The finished cage will be able to house one breeding female and a litter in each half, or five growing out rabbits, and each participant will be able to take the cage and the pliers home for his/her own use in raising rabbits.

Reservations are required for this workshop and must be made by Friday, Nov. 7. Persons interested in further information may call Willie Lantz, head of GCC's agriculture program, at 301-387-3021.

The second workshop is titled Introduction to Rabbit Husbandry and is slated for Monday, Nov. 17 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the Preston High School Vocational Center in Kingwood. Two West Virginia University Extension agents, both with first-hand knowledge in rabbit husbandry, will discuss the elements of raising meat rabbits. Topics will include breeding, reproduction, feeding, nutrition, health, and facilities.

This workshop is free, but reservations are required and must be made by Monday, Nov. 10, by contacting William Shockey, Preston County Extension agent, at 304-329-1391.

CAC To Sponsor Annual Super Pantry Session

The Housing Department of Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., will sponsor the annual Super Pantry Session.

This workshop is a series of seven classes offering instruction on skills in parenting, nutrition, budgeting, and other areas. The classes are open to income eligible families who have not attended the workshop in the past.

The session will begin Nov. 13 at St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park. Anyone wishing more information may contact Tammy Thrift, AmeriCorps self sufficiency counselor, Garrett County Community Action, 301-334-9431, ext. 144.

ELDERLY URGED TO GET FLU SHOTS

Because statistics show that older people are twice as likely as younger people to get pneumonia or flu, the Public Health Service recommends an annual flu shot tor people over age 65, even if they are generally healthy. The cost of both pneumonia vaccinations and flu shots is covered by Medicare Part B (medical insurance).

Typically, shots are given in the fall or winter. The best time to get a flu shot is mid-October to mid-November. Medicare beneficiaries do not need a doctor's prescription or supervision to have this vaccination covered by Medicare Part B. Also, beneficiaries do not pay a deductible or co-insurance amount.

Medicare Part B pays the reasonable approved amount for either shot. If the cost exceeds the approved amount, the beneficiary is responsible for the difference.

Generally, the cost will be paid if the vaccine is provided at a doctor's office or by a hospital, skilled nursing facility, home health agency, rural health clinic, federally qualified health center, outpatient physical therapy provider, comprehensive outpatient rehabilitation facility, or health maintenance organization (HMO).

Medicare Part B pays for pneumonia and hepatitis B vaccinations and flu shots when the beneficiary is in the hospital, even though the hospital stay is covered under Part A (hospital insurance).

COVER STORY
Murder, She Wrote returns to crime scene

By Suzanne Gill
©TVData Features Syndicate

Angela Lansbury

After 11 seasons on the air and a peremptory cancellation, Murder, She Wrote is returning to CBS as a series of TV movies.

Angela Lansbury reprises her role as mystery writer and part-time sleuth Jessica Fletcher in Murder, She Wrote: South by Southwest, airing Sunday, Nov. 2.

"We've buried the hatchet (with the network)," Lansbury says. "I feel very confident that we can represent wonderful (ratings) numbers for CBS. And they welcome us with open arms."

South by Southwest, with the bulk of its action set aboard an eastbound train, certainly tips its hat to the master of suspense, Alfred Hitchcock. But where Hitchcock's action was spurred by the MacGuffm, an item of no particular consequence, South by Southwest adds urgency by connecting the murder to a breach of national security.

"We've had our work cut out for us to keep the tension and the excitement going for two hours," Lansbury admits. "We're concentrating more on mystery and less on simply having a body and figuring out who murdered that body.

"You've got to keep Jessica very much in the forefront, because the audience love to see her work out the crime and interact with all of these fascinating characters."

This time around, "these fascinating characters" include the murder witness (Mel Harris), an investigative journalist (Cliff Bemis), an FBI agent (Keith David) in charge of the case, a couple (Richard Riehle and Harriet Sansom Harris) celebrating their 20th wedding anniversary, and an embittered tennis coach (Elya Baskin).

Adding to the difficulties as well as the emotional burden of the project was the unexpected death of longtime scriptwriter Derek Marlowe. The movie is dedicated to his memory.

"He wrote a first-draft script," Lansbury says. "Then he went off with all of our notes ... to write the second draft, and he died. Poor, dear man." The job was completed by producer-writer Mark A. Burley.

The unintended collaboration is uneven and includes a dizzying final act. But Jessica Fletcher's fans are likely to be satisfied just to have their stylish, tireless heroine back after an 18-month hiatus.

"I know I became a role model for women of my age," Lansbury says, "and I hope I will continue to do so."

As for the much-talked-about Emmy Award that eluded her throughout the series' run, Lansbury is philosophical.

"Careers are not made by awards," says the four-time Tony and Golden Globe winner and two-time Oscar nominee.

Work has already begun on the next Murder, She Wrote movie. In the meantime, Lansbury is playing Emily Pollifax ("an elderly Indiana Jones") for an upcoming CBS movie. In April, she will begin filming a theatrical release with co-stars Vanessa Redgrave and Joan Plowright for director Franco Zeffirelli.

"I'm 72," Lansbury says, "but I'm still able to hold up my end and keep running."

IN FOCUS

Special Agent Dana Scully (Gillian Anderson) searches for the truth behind Special Agent Fox Mulder's (David Duchovny) apparent death in the season premiere of The X-Files Sunday, Nov. 2, on Fox.

In "Redux," Scully continues to investigate the case while battling the fatal disease she has contracted. Suspicions begin to arise that someone at the FBI might be responsible for giving her the disease.

Mitch Pileggi also stars as Assistant Director Skinner.

Gothic rocks L.A. in House of Frankenstein

By John Crook
©TVData Features Syndicate

NBC may have missed the Halloween TV specials (un)deadline, but the network gets the November sweeps off to a screaming start with House of Frankenstein 1997, a lavish two-part TV movie airing Sunday, Nov. 2, and Monday, Nov. 3.

Adrian Pasdar, Teri Polo and Greg Wise star in the horror movie, which takes its title from 1944's House of Frankenstein – a film that also featured a vampire, a werewolf and Dr. Frankenstein's creation.

But the resemblance stops there, as the new movie effectively crossbreeds the horror and cop-show genres.

As House of Frankenstein opens, Los Angeles Police Detective Vernon Coyle (Pasdar) is investigating a series of slayings dubbed the "Raptor murders." Grace Dawkins (Polo) barely escapes a mauling by a strange, wolflike creature, suffering only scratches.

Meanwhile, real-estate speculator Crispian Grimes (Wise), who operates the Gothic-themed nightclub House of Frankenstein, is scouring the Arctic for the frozen body of the Frankenstein monster.

The rest is best left to be discovered. Suffice it to say a professor (CCH Pounder, ER) convinces Coyle that a werewolf and a master vampire are behind the murders, and Coyle falls in love with Grace – who spends a lot of time staring at the moon.

Pasdar makes a cool cop, and Polo is smart and lovely. Wise nicely underplays his sinister power, and Peter Crombie (Joe Davola on Seinfeld) portrays a poignant monster. But it is Pounder's character who almost walks away with the movie.

Sunday and Monday on NBC, Greg Wise and Tari Polo star in House of Frankenstein 1997, a two-part TV movie that brings Gothic monsters to modern-day Los Angeles.

Pat Morita

Q: What was the last name of Arnold, the Japanese character played by Pat Morita on Happy Days? –Rick S., Westfield, Mass.

A: Takahashi. Arnold's real first name on the show was Mitsuo.

Q: I believe you erred when you said Steven Hill has been the Manhattan DA for the entire run of Law & Order. In the first episode, the DA was played by Roy Thinnes. –G.R. Miller, Judge Pro-Tem, Reedsport, Ore.

A: I stand corrected. Because Thinnes was a guest star, not a regular cast member, his name did not appear in any of the sources I checked on the show.

Q: What happened to Vicki Lawrence's morning show on Fox? Can't the network keep a show on? –"Fed Up With Fox" via e-mail.

A: After failing to properly promote The Vicki Lawrence Show, which replaced the oft-tinkered with and mismanaged Fox After Breakfast, the network apparently decided the morning show wasn't going to make it and pulled the plug.

Rumor has it that former After Breakfast host Tom Bergeron may be next in line to co-host ABC's Good Morning America if Charles Gibson decides to leave.

Q: I read a few weeks ago that actress Elisabeth Brooks, who recently passed away, used to appear on Days of Our Lives. What role did she play? –Edna Baragar, Fostoria, Mich.

A: Best known for playing the villainous Marsha in The Howling, Brooks played Theresa Harper on the daytime drama.

Q: I recently saw Jamie Luner on MTV's Loveline and I understood her to say they were preparing to do the third season of Savannah. Was the show canceled? –Amber L., Muncie, Ind.

A: Amber, evidently you caught a Loveline rerun. As reported here months ago, Savannah is history. Luner has joined the cast of Melrose Place.

Q: What happened to Redd Foxx? Is he still alive? –M. in Georgia.

A: The veteran comedy actor died of a heart attack on the set of his CBS sitcom The Royal Family on Oct. 11, 1991. He had filmed only seven episodes. Jackee then joined the cast and the show struggled through the remainder of its only season.

Q: What is the status of the Fox summer series Roar? –Randy Morningstar, Montgomery, Ala.

A: It's in limbo. Fox says it probably will air the few shows already filmed, but no one expects the network will return the low-rated show to its lineup on a regular basis.

A letter of commendation from the school and National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC), which conducts the program, will be presented to Bhatnagar by the principal.

About 35,000 Commended Students throughout the nation are being honored for their exceptional academic promise. "The Merit Program is extremely competitive," commented an NMSC spokesperson, "and the young men and women named Commended Students can be proud of their designation. NMSC honors scholastically talented students in an effort to encourage public interest in their achievements and to broaden their educational opportunities, as well as to credit their schools for the important role they play in their development. Christmas Chalet To Host Holiday Benefit Event

The Ronald McDonald House will benefit from the third annual "Homes for the Holidays" event, sponsored by Department 56, manufacturer of holiday decorations, and Christmas Chalet, Deep Creek Lake. The fund-raising effort will take place Nov. 1-9.

During this nine-day event Christmas Chalet will host a variety of holiday activities and seminars. A full-color holiday idea guide of gifts and decorations will be available to visitors.

During Homes for the Holidays, Christmas is offering Department 56's original Snow Village and Dickens Village series for home decorating of gifts. The sets include two lighted shops, accessories, trees, and snow.

Department 56 and Christmas Chalet hope to raise $1 million in cash and product donations for Ronald McDonald houses through this benefit event.

This year the Christmas Chalet will donate proceeds from the sale of an exclusive Ronald McDonald ornament to the Morgantown, W.Va., Ronald McDonald House. In addition, another donation will be raised through the raffle of "The House that Love Built," a limited edition, lighted village piece presenting Ronald McDonald houses. Ticket will be available through Nov. 9. The drawing will be held that day at 5 p.m.

"The holidays are a time of getting together with family and friends and celebrating, but it's important to remember those who need help," said Jan Shafer, owner of Christmas Chalet.

The annual open house at Christmas Chalet, located across from Uno's, will be held Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 1-2, to help kick off the Ronald McDonald benefit.

Oakland Police Arrest Man On Assault Charge

Oakland police, responding to a domestic complaint, found injuries to the victim, and arrested the accused.

The officer on the scene reported that on Oct. 7 at about 5:45 p.m. the 35-year-old victim had been arguing with her boyfriend, David Allen Smith. She reported that he grabbed her by the neck and pushed her against the wall, causing her to hit her head. Smith then left the house, the police stated.

Smith was found a short time later and arrested. He was released on an unsecured bond of $2,500.

Burglary/DOP

Oakland police responded to a complaint of breaking and entering Oct. 11 at 9:20 p.m.

When the officer arrived at the scene, he reported that he found a broken window in the bathroom, and a stone that had been used to break it. He also said there was blood found on the bathroom floor.

After further searching the house, the officer said he found Michael Paul Sliger lying on a bed. His right arm had two lacerations.

Sliger was arrested and charged with fourth degree burglary, trespassing, and destruction of property less than $300. He was later released on his own recognizance.

Ryan Recognized For Efforts In Special Education

Suzanne Ryan, M.Ed., a special educator from Mountain Lake Park, was recently awarded the Professionally Recognized Special Educator (PRSE) certificate for Special Education Teaching by The Council for Exceptional Children (CEC).

The PRSE designation is awarded to special educators who have demonstrated that they meet professional standards for practice in the field. PRSE recipients must have earned professional degrees or endorsements in special education, have at least three years' experience in their area of expertise, and follow CEC's code of ethics and standards of practice.

"CEC is proud to award the PRSE designation to deserving special educators," said Richard W. Mainzer, CEC's assistant executive director of professional standards and practice. "These special educators demonstrate their commitment to their profession and their students by meeting professional standards that result in effective practice in the field," he said.

CEC's PRSE program will play a major role in ensuring that students with disabilities receive quality instruction, according to Mainzer. Through the PRSE program, principals and others in hiring positions can identify those individuals who have met professionally recognized standards, thus ensuring that they have the knowledge and skills to provide effective instruction to the students in their charge. In addition, the PRSE program promotes quality special education practice throughout the nation by standardizing the knowledge and skills a professional special educator must have.

PRSEs are currently available in special education teaching, special education administration, and educational diagnosis.

Ms. Ryan is an Early Intervention specialist and service coordinator with the Garrett County Infants and Toddlers Program.

The Council for Exceptional Children, the largest international professional association for special educators, related service providers, and parents, works to improve the educational success of students with disabilities and/or gifts and talents. The council represents members serving more than 5 million students with disabilities and 2.5 million gifted students in the United States.

Critic's Corner

SEVEN YEARS IN TIBET: As much as anything else, this film is not only about history, but about redemption. It is the story of one man's journey from swaggering arrogance to staggering humility. As such, it is truly inspiring.

Brad Pitt stars as Heinrich Harrer, a famous Austrian mountain climber who has been elevated by the Nazis to poster-boy status for Aryan perfection. Such is his devotion to his own idealized view of himself that he wears an S.S. uniform on his wedding day. However, fate is not kind to him and he winds up in an English P.O.W. camp in India.

After several failed attempts, he finally manages to escape along with a friend, Peter Aufschnaiter (David Tbewlis). The two travel over mountainous terrain for two years before coming upon the city of Lhasa (the Mecca, as it were, of Tibetan Buddhism). Astonishingly, they are granted entrance.

Once there, Harrer meets and befriends the 14-year-old Dalai Lama. His followers believe him to be the reincarnation of their leader As such, he is to take over the sect when he reaches adulthood. An unlikely combination, Harrer and the Lama make a striking pair Harrer, in all his superior attitude, is a perfect antagonist to the Lama's overwhelming peace and strength of character. While Harrer is transformed into a good and decent human being, the Lama learns of the Western world, an invaluable lesson for one who will have to someday lead his people in very turbulent political times.

The cinematography is breathtaking as are the sets. Viewing this, you actually feel as though you are in the mountains of Tibet. The palaces and homes are nothing short of spectacular.

Best of all, the performances are top-notch. I smell Oscar in the air for this one. Pitt, Hollywood's own Golden Boy, proves why he's such a sought-after property. Boosted by a fine supporting cast, the result is nothing short of magnificent.

Just watching this movie will lift your spirits. Don't miss it.

SEWING TIP — I like to sew and find this works well for me.

I prefer to wash the fabric first so it is preshrunk. I take a little time to serge or zigzag the ends. That way, they don't ravel, so I save material. And at the cost of fabric, I find this is a major plus. Claudia O., Peyton, Colo.

Antiques

Perfume bottles shaped like Oriental men, soup tureens that look like huge shells and vases covered with human and animal heads were among the unusual designs produced by French porcelain manufacturers in the 19th century. When the rococo style was revived, the affluent demanded very elaborate porcelains.

Jacob Petit was one manufacturer who met the demand. His firm in Fontainebleau, France, made vases, clock cases, figurines, candlesticks and full sets of dishes.

Now, Petit's small perfume bottles encrused with three-dimensional figures as well as Oriental-inspired designs for figurines and decorative wares are in great demand. Pieces are marked with the blue letters "J.P."

One unusual soup tureen looks like a huge seashell. It probably was made to serve fish chowder or other fish soups at a large dinner party. The design must have been popular, a German factory made almost the identical tureen about 1910.

Leaf Disposal Tips Issued By Health Office

The Garrett County Environmental Health Office reminds homeowners that Maryland Air Quality Regulations prohibit burning of leaves in areas where collection is available.

Residents in areas where there are too many leaves to be collected or where no collection is available should investigate the options of using leaves for mulching, erosion control, and compost piles. It may also be possible to use mechanical shredding equipment or lawn mowers to chop up the leaves. These processes return needed nutrients to the soil, while efficiently eliminating the leaves.

The Garrett County Landfill will accept leaves at the rate of $30 per ton. The landfill will accept leaves from county homeowners for a fee of a penny and a half per pound ($1.50 per 100 pounds.) If the leaves are bagged, they must be emptied at the landfill site.

Most municipalities within Garrett County have some type of leaf collection plan this fall. The collection schedules may vary depending on availability of equipment and when most of the foliage has dropped. Residents are urged to contact their town hall for details. The health department advises that if leaf burning is conducted within town limits where leave collection is available, a notice of violation may be issued which could incur a fine.

Should collection be unavailable and other means of leaf disposal ineffective, leaves originating on the premises may be burned by householders. The fire may not be closer than 200 feet of the nearest neighboring residence and must not create a nuisance. Since the Health Department does not condone the burning of leaves due to the negative impact to air quality, burning permits will not be issued.

Additionally, DNR regulations require that burning be conducted between the hours of 4 p.m. and midnight if the burning location is in a wooded area or within 200 feet of a wooded area. A 10-foot wide fire break must surround the fire, and a responsible person should remain on the scene until it is completely extinguished. It is also important to contact Central Alarm at 301-334-1929 prior to burning leaves.

PASTOR MOVES; DEDICATION SET - Members of the Deep Creek Baptist Church will dedicate the new personage of their pastor, Donald M. Wilson, and his wife Joyce, in a special celebration this Sunday, Nov. 2, following the morning worship service. The new location, pictured above, is located about 600 yards west and south of the present personage, pictured below. Pastor Wilson and his wife have resided in the two-story stone parsonage, located along U.S. Rt. 219, for over 15 years. The decision of the congregation to relocate the parsonage was prompted by the need for more parking space at the church, located adjacent to the stone house, and the desire to have more space for children's activities and classrooms, which will be housed in the former parsonage. Church members invite all to attend the dedication service.

The program will be held at the Garrett County Extension Service office, located along Rt. 135, past Southern States (on the right). The first session will be 9:30-11:30 a.m. and the second will be 1-3 p.m.

DNR Receives Diversity Award For Second Time

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) recently received the Southeast Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies (SEAFWA) 1997 Diversity in Natural Resources Award. Maryland DNR also won this award in 1995.

This award is given each year at the organization's annual conference in recognition of the member agency that best exhibits outstanding commitment and creativity in increasing constituency representation in its workforce and programs. SEAFWA is composed of 18 states from the southeastern and central regions of the United States, along with Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The Maryland DNR was commended for demonstrating significant gains in workforce diversity from entry level to leadership positions, initiating innovative programs and strategies to reach a broader spectrum of its constituents, and excelling in training, education and public outreach on diversity in natural resource issues.

These advances were described as being particularly noteworthy considering the department's budgetary constraints. Since 1994, the percentage of minorities in the agency's workforce increased by 1.5 percent, even though the overall number of employees decreased by 16 percent.

"It is extremely gratifying to me as a resident of Maryland to know that we are moving toward a more diversified workforce in the Department of Natural Resources," said Dr. Larry Shannon of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and nomination committee member. "The intent of SEAFWA's Minority in Natural Resources Committee's diversity award is to foster increased diversity in the workforce, and Maryland has shown its commitment to this effort by winning this award for the second time in four years."

Programs noted for their particular importance to furthering diversity included the department's summer internship program; outreach programs creating career development opportunities for urban youth; partnerships with the University of Maryland Baltimore County and Morgan State University (a historically African-American institution); initiatives supporting the hiring of minority law enforcement officers; and the appointment of minorities to executive and management positions, and to boards and commissions.

GCC Workshop On Nursing As A Career Slated

"Nursing as a Career Choice," a special workshop focusing on careers in the medical field, will be presented at Garrett Community College on Thursday, Nov. 13, beginning at 1 p.m. in Room 305 of the Continuing Education Building. This workshop is free and open to the public.

Specific educational options in health care and the potential employment market related to each will be discussed by Jackie Snelson, MSN, CRNP. Snelson will also be examining the opportunities, demands, challenges, and rewards of work in the medical field.

Snelson teaches for the University of Maryland School of Nursing in the RN and BSN programs and is employed as a nurse practitioner by the Western Maryland Health Systems in Cumberland. In addition to a strong background in medicine, she brings a personal knowledge of health care needs and services in Garren County.

The workshop is sponsored by the New Dimensions Program, the New Horizons Program, and The Caring Connection Program of GCC under the direction of Barbara Frey. For additional information or to register, interested persons may contact Frey at 301-387-3071 or Virginia Jeffrey, intake/counselor specialist for the New Dimensions and The Caring Connection programs at 301-387-3103.

The New Horizons program is jointly funded by the Maryland State Department of Education and by GCC. Grant funds in the amount of $45,000 are made available to the New Horizons Program through the Division of Career Technology and Adult Learning, which is approximately 90% of the total program budget, with GCC contributing an additional $5,300, which is approximately 10% of the total budget. The Caring Connection is 100% funded by the Maryland State Department of Education in the amount of $20,000. The New Dimensions Program is 100% funded by the Department of Human Resources.

Firewood Buyers Advised By DNR

As temperatures drop, the demand for firewood rises. Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) project forester, Ernie Metz, cautions firewood buyers to be aware of what they are buying.

According to Maryland law, firewood must be sold on the basis of a standard cord, or a portion of a cord, "the amount of wood which is contained in a space of 128 cubic ft., usually specified as 8 ft. long, 4 ft. wide, and 4 ft. high." A cord is a volume measure arrived at by multiplying the height times the length of a stack, times the length of the sticks, all measurements in feet.

The law was designed as a consumer protection measure, to protect the fuelwood buyer from measurements such as "face cord" or "truck load" which vary in volume.

According to Metz, a firewood seller should also identify the wood by species groups and say if the wood is unseasoned (green) or dry. He added that a representation of two or more species groups shall indicate within five percent accuracy the percentages of each group.

The Weights and Measures Section of the Maryland Department of Agriculture is responsible for enforcing the method sale of commodities regulations. DNR Forest Service works cooperatively with that office to distribute consumer information to the public.

To obtain more information about purchasing firewood, persons may contact the DNR Forest Service at the Mt. Nebo Work Center at 301-334-3296. A listing of licensed forest products operators is available.

Dairy Producers Feeling Effects Of Price Fluctuations

Even if 60 years of government marketing orders have made milk pricing virtually impossible for anyone but dairy owners to understand, everyone knows that dairies today are suffering financially. Though milk prices have increased some this fall, overall prices declined significantly this year, leaving many producers throughout the country in economic distress.

To shoppers, the source of the industry's plight might not be obvious since retail milk prices have remained generally stable. Many problems are masked by the complexity of a market where prices can depend on everything from mathematical formulas developed under regional compacts to how many grilled cheese sandwiches school children are being served.

An added variable in the price formula is a recent shift in government policy. As required by one of the many deregulatory provisions in the 1996 farm bill, dairy farmers are slowly stepping away from government programs toward the often turbulent world of the free market.

In order to generate a voice for farmers under these changes, the American Farm Bureau Federation founded its Milk Order Reform Working Group is composed of dairy farmers from across the country. The group has helped Farm Bureau to better communicate farmers' concerns about the new milk pricing scenario to the Agriculture Department.

Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman has acknowledged that he is obliged to follow Congress's directive to dissolve price supports, but AFBF has worked with him to ensure that USDA is doing all it can to alleviate financial stress resulting from price fluctuations.

"Farm Bureau supports a market-oriented dairy program and will continue to encourage Secretary Glickman to use his administrative authority to promote programs that provide long-term stability to the U.S. dairy industry," said Richard Newpher, executive director of AFBF's Washington, D.C., office.

Farm Bureau has requested that USDA strengthen the dairy export incentive program (DEIP), which helps carve out international markets for U.S. dairy products.

"The DEIP program is essential to market development abroad, and dairy farmers rely on these markets," said Newpher.

So coveted is a share of the international dairy market that the United States recently filed a formal complaint with the World Trade Organization over unfair farmer subsidy practices by Canada. Canadians have increased cheese sales to Japan by more than 700 percent in the first six months of this year.

In addition to promoting trade, AFBF also has encouraged USDA to accelerate school lunch purchases of dairy products, and to promote work with private voluntary groups to include more dairy products in international food assistance programs.

Farming In Maryland.....

Correction

The article in last week's farm section about the Garrett County Farm Bureau Banquet llsted all of the nominees for directors instead of just the winners. Those receiving the winning vote were: Arthur Green, Accident; William Enlow, Friendsville-McHenry; Edgar Yoder, Grantsville-Bittinger; Jesse Harsh, Oakland-Red House; and Willard Broadwater, Swanton-Deer Park. The farm editor regrets the mistake.

Agriculture Takes Big Steps To Improve Water Quality

Saturday, Oct. 18, marked the 25th anniversary of the signing of the Clean Water Act. Since President Richard Nixon signed the law in 1972, America's agricultural community has taken giant steps toward improving and protecting the nation's rivers, lakes, streams and waterways.

The following is a list compiled by Farm Bureau of agriculture's contributions to protecting the nation's water.

Farmers and ranchers have taken positive steps to reduce non-point source pollution, including gains in input efficiency and erosion prevention. According to the National Crop Residue Management Survey, farmers reduced erosion by using no-till conservation on a record 42.9 million acres of cropland in 1996. Of the 290.2 million acres farmed in the United States last year, 103.8 million acres were worked using some form of conservation tillage.

The number of wetlands lost to agriculture activity has drastically decreased during the past 20 years. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, of the 141,000 acres of wetlands lost in the United States in 1995, only 15,000 were the result of agricultural activity. Commercial development accounted for 89,000 acres of lost wetlands in 1995. Farmers and ranchers have helped restore an average net gain of 69,000 acres of wetlands during each of the past 10 years.

In 1987, America's farmers and ranchers, along with other private landowners, entered into voluntary agreements with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to restore converted or degraded wetland on their property. According to the U.S. Department of Interior, more than 210,000 acres of wetlands have been restored.

Integrated pest management (IPM) practices have reduced insecticide use by 50 percent on major crops. At the same time, yields have remained steady or have increased. Insecticide use on cotton has been reduced by 74 percent over a six-year period. At the same time, cotton yields increased 27 percent.

Crop protection chemical use on corn, soybeans, wheat and sorghum was down 24 percent between 1982 and 1992. For these crops, insecticide use was down 21 percent, according to figures released in 1995.

The erosion rate by water on U.S. croplands has been reduced by 24 percent during the past 10 years. In 1982, the erosion rate was 4.1 tons per acre per year. Today, soil lost to erosion is down to around three tons per acre per year.

Crop residue management plans are now used on 62 percent of the nation's cropland. This practice leaves at least 15 percent of the soil surface covered with old stalks and leaves that dissipate raindrop impact and wind erosion. No-till soybean acreage rose dramatically from 2.2 million acres in 1989 to 16.2 million acres in 1996. No-till, one of three forms of conservation tillage procedures, can reduce erosion by 90 percent.

Modern farming practices and tillage techniques greater reduced erosion rates to levels below the natural regenerative rates for soil. Precise plant nutrition management plans, which utilize satellite maps and computers to match seed, fertilizer and crop protection applications to local soil conditions, have increased food production while creating less runoff and waste.

Corn/Soybean Yield Down

The 1997 corn for grain yield in Maryland is forecast to average 75 bushels per acre based on conditions on October 1, 1997. The yield is 64 bushels less than the 1996 record high yield of 139 bushels per acre. Corn for grain production, at 33.75 million bushels, will be almost 48 percent less than last year's production.

Soybean production amounted to 13.25 million bushels, 25 percent less than a year ago. Yield per acre is forcast at 25 bushels, 12 bushels less than the 1996 yield of 37 bushels per acre.

The United States corn production is forecast at 9.31 billion bushels, up fractionally from 1996 and the September 1 forecast. If realized, this will be the third highest corn production on record. Based on conditions as of October 1, yields are expected to average 125.8 bushels per acre, up 0.6 bushels from last month, but down 1.3 bushels from 1996. Acreage harvested and to be harvested for grain is forecast at 74 million acres, unchanged from last month. Soybean production is forecast at 2.72 billion bushels, down slightly from the September 1 forecast, but 14 percent above the 1996 production. The yield is forecast at 39 bushels per acre, 0.3 bushels below the September 1 forecast, but 1.4 bushels above the 1996 final yield.

The 1997 winter wheat yield in Maryland averaged 68 bushels per acre, 31 percent more than the 1996 yield of 52 bushels per acre and a record high for the state. Winter wheat production, at 14.6 million bushels, was 24 percent more than last year's production. Barley production amounted to 4 million bushels, 34 percent greater than a year ago. Planted acreage of oats at 15,000 acres, was up 67 percent from the 1996 acreage of 9,000 acres. However, the average yield for oats, was down two bushels per acre compared to the 1996 average yield. Rye yield was estimated at 21 bushels per acre, down 16 percent from the previous year's yield of 25 bushels per acre. Rye production was estimated at 63,000 bushels, up 26 percent from the previous year.

Prices Mostly Up In September

The prices received in Maryland and Delaware for crops increased from August to September for all items. However, wheat and barley declined and oats was unchanged. All livestock items were also up from August except broilers and they were down $0.015.

Maryland Dairy Industry Summit Set at Frederick

I would strongly recommend that all Garrett County dairy businesses become involved with the Maryland Dairy Industry Association. Our dairy neighbors in Pennsylvania and Virginia generally receive more than $1.00 more per hundredweight for their raw milk. Even though many of you sell your milk into Pennsylvania, you do not receive that extra money. Let's not forget that we are still part of Maryland and what's good for the Maryland Dairy Industry will be good for us. The following is a news release from the Md. Dairy Industry Association:

The Maryland Dairy Industry Association, organized only a year ago, has scheduled its inaugural meeting as an all-day event on November 18 in the Holiday Inn near Francis Scott Key Mall in Frederick. All interested persons are invited to attend, whether paid members or not, according to Myron Willhide, interim president.

A Carroll County dairy farmer, Willhide notes that the day's program will provide a taste of profitable management techniques, legislative outlook, computer knowhow and personal motivation.

All of this is aimed at helping dairy farmers and agribusiness people take heed of the ancient Greek axiom: " It's a bad plan that can't be changed."

Here's a rundown of speakers and topics:

* Brian Perkins, Ph.D., Dairy Tech Management Services, Inc., New Haven, Vermont
  "Feeding for Profitability"
  "Building Design & Remodeling"
* John B. Adams, Director of Milk Safety & Animal Health, National Milk Producers Federation, Arlington, Va.
  "National Outlook, Legislative & Regulatory Update"
* David M. Kohl, Ph.D., Professor of Farm Business Management, Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, Va.
  "Inventing Profit for Tomorrow's Dairy Farm"
* Bran Thompson of Bolivar, Md.
  Annual banquet inspirational speaker

Registration information for the upcoming Maryland Dairy Industry Association is contained in the November issue of the association's Udder Facts newsletter, now being mailed to dairy farmers throughout the state. The registration deadline is November 12. If you happen not to receive the newsletter and are interested in additional information, give me a call.

Beef Business--Did You Know?

Did you know...Research efforts aimed at improving the safety of beef products are ongoing? More than 5 million dollars has been invested by the beef industry over the past five years to develop technologies that eliminate food-borne pathogens in the beef chain. Examples include steam vacuuming, hot water rinses and organic acid rinses.

Did you know...U.S. cattlemen produce nearly 25 percent of the world's beef supply with less than 10 percent of the world's cattle population?

Did you know...By-products account for more than 10 percent of the value of a steer? Use of by-products keeps beef prices to consumers lower than they would otherwise be.

Did you know...The meat industry has been working hard over the last decade to bring leaner meat to America's dinner tables? Cattle are leaner than they use to be; in fact, beef has 27 percent less trimmable fat (at retail) than 10 years ago, but still is one of the most nutrient-dense foods.

VICE PRESIDENT AL GORE JOINS GOVERNOR PARRIS N. GLENDENING for an historic announcement which institutes a program which will reduce nutrient runoff into state rivers and streams. Vice President Gore and Gov. Glendening are pictured signing an agreement to provide $195 million in state and federal funds to pay Maryland farmers to create buffers between their fields and adjacent rivers and streams. Up to 100,000 acres of farm land bordering every permanent river and stream in Maryland could be included in the program.

Soybean Growth Halted By Frost

During the week which ended on October 26, frost on October 23 halted soybean growth. Corn and soybean harvests were active until showers late in the week.

Corn harvesting was still making gains, but was still well below the previous and five-year averages.

Soybeans shedding leaves almost reached its end and followed closely to its previous and five-year averages. Soybeans harvested continued along and was ahead of the previous year and five-year averages.

Wheat planting was on course with the previous year average but behind the five-year average. Wheat condition was 7% very poor, 7% poor, 12% fair, 69% good, and 5% excellent.

Barley planting increased 19 points the previous week and was ahead of the previous year and five-year averages. Barley condition was 2% very poor, 8% poor, 11% fair, 68% good, and 11% excellent.

Rye seeding continued to make progress. Rye condition was 4% very poor, 3% poor, 20% fair, 64% good, and 9% excellent.

Sorghum harvesting advanced last week and moved ahead of the previous year and five-year averages.

Pastures were 3% very poor, 16% poor, 34% fair, 36% good, and 11% excellent. Hay supplies were 25% very short, 37% short, 37% adequate, and 1% surplus.

There was an average of 5.1 days suitable for fieldwork. Topsoil moisture was 10% very short, 16% short, 67% adequate, and 7% surplus. Subsoil moisture was 21% very short, 29% short, 49% adequate, and 1% surplus.

Maryland's crop progress for the week which ended October 26, listing the percentages for this week, last week, last year, and the five-year average from 1992-1996, in that order, is:

Corn, harvested for grain, 61, 45, 80, and 74. Soybeans, shedding leaves, 93, 85, 95, and 94; harvested, 40, 22, 33, and 38. Sorghum, harvested, 47, 24, 43, and 43. Barley, seeded, 85, 66, 79, and 83. Rye, seeded, 67, 58, 62, and 62. Wheat, seeded, 43, 29, 43, and 51. Sorghum, harvested, 47, 24, 43, and 43. Apples, harvested, 87, 78, 76, and 85. Alfalfa, 4th cutting, 95, 86, 97, and 96; 5th cutting, 40, 31, 62, and 51. Other hay, 4th cutting, 79, 77, 79, and 65.

CHARLES "Wade" FRAZEE

He was a "king" in our lives;
A "wiseman" who chose his words and looked beyond the surface;
A "rock", sure and solid;
Honest, selfless, strong, humble, trustworthy, fair.

No, not a "perfect" man - but a" real" person
A loving husband, father, and grandfather,
Taking great pride in each of us;
Believing his purpose in this life was to help his family -
And he did!

He did not see himself as a "smart" man, or exceptional in any way;
But then he could not see himself through our eyes.
Now that he has stepped through the heavenly gates into the presence of our God,
We trust that he will be pleased when he realizes how he helped us to be stronger,
Teaching us never to give up,
And that he is a part of our lives that will never fade!

Greatly missed, but lovingly remembered by
His wife Beverly, & Children & Grandchildren Cheri, J.R., Jason, Vicki, Bobby, & Jessica

Flowers were placed on the altar in memory of the bride's grandparents, Lawrence Snyder and Charles and Margaret Crawford; and the groom's grandparents, Ward and Dorothy Stone and John Ponek.

The bridal assistant was Mary Ann Metheny, Bruceton Mills, W.Va.

A reception followed, with a buffet dinner at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints Social Hall, Cheat Lake. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with garland, swirls, hearts, royal blue and white roses, and two matching heart-shaped side cakes. The cake was cut and served by Jo Watts, aunt of the groom, and Kelly Wargo, friend of the bride and groom.

Music and light show were provided by DJs from Dougger Music of Mannington.

The bride's parents hosted a cocktail party at the Hampton Inn Hospitality Room following the reception.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Maryland Mining Program will submit an application to the U. S. Department of the Interior, Office of Surface Mining, for the funding of abandoned coal mine reclamation projects. The funding will be in accordance with Title IV, Section 405 of Public Law 95-87, Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977.

Qualification for Federal Funding under Title IV is contingent on an approved State Surface Coal Mining Regulatory Program and a State Abandoned Mine Lands Reclamation Plan. Maryland has received Office of Surface Mining approval of both programs. Project funding will originate from the Abandoned Mine Reclamation Fund, administered by the Office of Surface Mining.

It is the goal of the Maryland Abandoned Mine Reclamation Program to promote the reclamation of abandoned coal mine areas in Maryland that have been left in an inadequately reclaimed condition and endanger the safety of the public, degrade the quality of the environment, and/or diminish the beneficial use of land and water resources.

Comments are solicited on the relative priority of the projects listed below and/or any other abandoned mine problems in the Maryland Coal Region. The Bureau of Mines requests information from the public concerning abandoned mine problems that pose a potential threat to the public health and safety or severely degrades the environment.

Man Sustains Critical Injury In Car Accident

The report filed with Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, said the Andrew Raymond Yoder, 22, Accident, was southbound on Springs Road about 9:30 a.m. when his vehicle hydroplaned and struck a utility pole.

Grantsville VFD and Northern Rescue Squad responded to the scene and Yoder was transported by the rescue squad to Cumberland Memorial Hospital. Yesterday he was reported to be in critical condition.

Police reported that road conditions and speed contributed to the accident. Investigation is continuing.

Two Car Collision

On Saturday at 9:39 a.m., police reported an accident on Route 219 at Lake Shore Drive.

The report stated that Carroll D. Reams, 45, Oakland, was stopped in the northbound lane of Route 219 waiting to turn left onto Lake Shore Drive.

Charles F. Graham, 61 McHenry, was northbound on Route 219 when the vehicle in front of his passed the Reams vehicle on the right. Not seeing Reams's vehicle stopped in the lane, Graham struck it in the rear.

Police charged Graham with failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision.

Deep Creek VFD and Southern Rescue Squad responded to the scene and the squad took Reams to Garrett Memorial Hospital where, he was treated and released.

Theft From Car

Police reported that on Friday evening an unknown suspect or suspects broke a car window and removed items from within the vehicle.

The owner of the 1990 Mitsubishi, Erin A. Metheny, had left her car parked on a lot across from Uno's Restaurant between 4:45 and 11 p.m. It was reported that a large rock had been thrown through with window on the passenger side and the victim's purse containing cash and a bank card had been removed.

The vehicle sustained damage to the door as well as the window on the passenger side.

IN THE GRIP OF FROST - The brilliant leaves of autumn lost much color this week and millions fell in piles on the ground as a gusty cold wind assailed them. The first significant snowfall of the season came Tuesday, with many Garrett residents waking to find their decks and cars dusted with the white stuff. Even though the winter season is officially five weeks away, most local residents know that now is the time to bring in wood, check the tread on those tires, and pour in the antifreeze. Furnaces are kicking on regularly now, making the air dry and sneezing common. The grass is still green, but a few more frosts and it will be forced to sleep, lying dormant under the snow surely to arrive. Photo by John McEwen.

Police Arrest Youth In April Shooting Case

A Garrett County juvenile was arrested Wednesday and charged in a drive-by shooting incident that occurred in April.

The report from Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, stated that the 16-year-old was charged with three counts of assault, three counts of reckless endangerment, disturbing the peace, and destruction of property.

The accused has been released to juvenile services officials pending trial.

The shooting had originally occurred on April 10, 9:10 p.m., at the residence of Lawrence Lower, Finzel Road, Frostburg (GC). The report described a small light colored car which drove by the residence and from which a passenger shot two shotgun slugs that struck the garage.

Police stated that the driver and the vehicle have not yet been located. Anyone with information on this crime is asked to contact the police barrack at 301-387-1101 or 301-895-1101, or to anonymously call Crime Solvers at 301-334-1975.

Sanders Named As Interim Sheriff By Gov. Glendening

Governor Parris Glendening this week appointed Paul Richard ("Dick") Sanders as the interim sheriff for Garrett County. Sheriff Sanders will serve in the position until the General Election in November 1998. He replaces Randy Sines, who resigned in September after being convicted of misconduct in office.

"Sheriff Sanders has spent his entire career in law enforcement, including 26 years with the Maryland State Police," Glendening said. "He has the experience and training required to serve the citizens of Garrett County well during this interim period."

Sanders joined the state police in 1961 and held supervisory positions in Allegany and Garrett counties from 1977 until his retirement in 1984. He was named chief deputy sheriff of Garrett County in 1994.

The Garrett County Commissioners were unanimous in their support of Sanders, according to Commissioner Gary Fratz.

"We beheve Dick Sanders brings professionalism to the sheriff's office because of his long and stable experience in law enforcement. We appreciate the governor's confidence in Dick and we support his decision," Fratz said.

Oakland Mayor Asa McCain added his comments of support for the governor's choice.

"Dick Sanders has an excellent knowledge of the community in general, and the legal community in particular," McCain stated. "As a former state police official. he has the experience and maturity to give direction to the sheriff's office. I am confident that he will work positively to strengthen the department."

Sanders stated this week that he was elated when he was informed of Glendening's decision.

"I don't know how to describe how I feel," the new sheriff said. "But I do want to thank my family and friends for all the sup-

Blaze Destroys Grantsville Area Mobile Home

A mobile home located at 4356 Chestnut Ridge Road near Grantsville was destroyed by fire last Thursday evening, the cause of which is still undetermined.

Approximately two dozen volunteer fire fighters from the Grantsville and Salisbury fire departments responded to the residence of Scott Sechler, 25, at 8:02 p.m. and found the 14x70-foot mobile home fully involved in flames. Sechler and the other residents of the home, Sherri Yommer, 22, and Christian Sechler, 3, were not at home at the time.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor, who saw the glow from the blaze and called 911. The structure and its contents were destroyed and the total loss was estimated by Bruce A. Shafer, deputy fire marshal, to be $20,000. Sechler reportedly has insurance on the structure.

Fire fighters brought the fire under control in about 30 minutes, Shafer said. They remained on the scene for approximately three and one-half hours. Also responding was the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Shafer said that, while the origin of the fire is still undetermined, foul play is not suspected at this time.

Oakland Man Charged With Rape, Assault

An Oakland man was arrested by Garrett County Sheriff's Office investigators late yesterday afternoon on various sexual offenses.

David Allen Smith, 31, Green Street, is accused of raping a Mtn. Lake Park female. Smith faces charges of second-degree rape, third- and fourth-degree sex offenses, and second-degree assault, stemming from an incident that reportedly occurred early in the summer. According to the sheriff's report, Smith reportedly admitted to having sex with the alleged victim, but he claimed it was consensual. Smith is currently incarcerated on a $25,000 bond.

In other sheriff's news, a second reported truck theft is currently under investigation. After receiving a report of a theft of a pickup truck last week, which was subsequently recovered in West Virginia, deputies are seeking leads in a theft of a rollback truck from a business on Route 219 just north of Oakland.

A white 1989 Ford rollback truck was discovered missing from Glotfelty Enterprises as employees arrived for work on Monday morning. It had reportedly dropped off for repairs there the day before. The rollback truck, valued at $13,500, is described as white with no markings, with an 18-foot aluminum bed, and bears the Maryland license plate b36524.

In other recent theft activity, a welder was taken from a storage room at Yough Glades Elementary School sometime early this week. Missing is a Snap-On brand Mig Welder, 110 volts, valued at $1,500.

Two Area Men Convicted For Sexual Offenses

Two area men were each convicted in last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings on sexual offense charges stemming from separate incidents.

Jamie Wayne Slaubaugh, 24, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a fourth-degree sexual offense and Judge Ralph M. Burnett handed him a 90-day suspended sentence, levied a $100 fine, and placed him on one year of supervised probation. The charge had resulted from Slaughbaugh's May arrest by sheriff's deputies after they were made aware of allegations accusing him of improperly touching a juvenile in a series of incidents reportedly going back over the past five years. Additional charges of second-degree assault and third-degree sexual offense against Slaubaugh were not prosecuted by the state's attorney's office.

In a separate hearing Donald Joseph Ringer II, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, plead-

WALKING FOR THE STATION - Seventh graders at Southern Middle School recently held a walk-a-thon, raising money to help the town of Oakland purchase the historic train station. They presented their check for just over $400 to Mayor Asa McCain. He in turn presented a collectible ornament of the train station to the student who raised the most money, Megan Bernard ($79). Teacher Sue Harkins, who organized the fund-raiser, also noted that the Garrett 6 Cinemas donated four free movie passes to students who raised the next highest cash amounts. Pictured in the front row, left to right, are A.J. Bender, Nathan Swartzentruber, Geoff Tressler, Zachery Rhodes, and Tony Cerrito. In the second row, same order, are Megan Bernard, McCain, Amber Bernard, Theresa Lucas, Lisa Thomas, Kristian Cosner, and April Long.

SANTA'S LITTLE HELPERS seem to be at work early in Oakland. The decorations are going up before the bad weather arrives. They are being lighted to test them, Mayor Asa McCain explained, but then they will remain dark until the Christmas season is in full swing. (See Town Hall news.)

Health Planning Town Meeting Slated Thursday

Local health issues will be the main topic of discussion at a Maryland Rural Health Association Town Meeting, scheduled for next Thursday, Nov. 13, at the Will O' the Wisp from 7 to 9 p.m. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The meeting is being sponsored jointly by the Garrett County Health Planning Council and the Maryland Rural Health Association. Both Senator John Hafer and Delegate George Edwards will be available to present information on upcoming health legislation and to answer questions.

The overall health of Garrett Countians is of interest to many people, as evidenced by the success of another recent meeting sponsored by the Health Planning Council. The meeting, dubbed "Community Health Planning: Alternative Futures for Garrett County," was co-sponsored by the Garrett County commissioners and was attended by 96 people.

"We are still compiling the information discussed a the October 16 meeting," said Joyce Bishoff, Health Planning Council president, "but one recurring theme was the importance of being proactive and being involved in local planning. We can sit back and let 'them' do things to us, or we can take charge and be an active participant in the process."

The Community Planning Meeting was attended by people representing all traditional health care arenas, as well as many representatives from businesses and other local organizations. Preliminary results from the Community Planning Meeting will be presented at the Town Meeting, along with other pertinent health topics.

Commissioners Note Meeting Date Change

The Garrett County Commissioners have announced that next week's regular public Tuesday meeting will be changed to Monday, Nov. 10. The date has been changed because Veterans Day is Tuesday, Nov. 11, and the office will be closed.

For more information about the meeting, persons can call the officials' office at 301-334-8970.

A&A Realty Joins Long & Foster

Long & Foster Real Estate, Inc., the largest real estate firm in the five-state Mid-Atlantic region, has announced the merger of the local agency A&A Realty with its firm.

Prior to merging with Long & Foster, A&A Realty had two sales offices, one in the Deep Creek Lake area and a second office on U.S. 219 South in Oakland, as well as a seasonal resort sales office at Alpine Lake Resort, W.Va. A fourth location along U.S. Rt. 219 (Garrett Highway) in McHenry houses the Vacation Rental operation as well as full service property management. All offices will remain open and will become Long & Foster sales and rental offices. Karen Myers, the former owner of A&A Realty, will join Long & Foster as the sales manager of both sales offices, along with all of the 29 sales associates.

"We are excited about joining the Long & Foster family," said Myers, the founder and owner of A&A Realty. "To compete in the next millennium, our associates need the deep resources and substantial opportunities available through a strong and innovative company like Long & Foster. This change in direction for A&A Realty allows us to take advantage of the many changes taking place in the real estate market since the beginning of the '90s.

"I have a great deal of respect for Long & Foster and I am thrilled about the incredible support the firm will offer our sales associates," she said. "The association with Long & Foster will benefit the community at large and will provide our agents with the most sophisticated support services."

"Both A&A Real Estate and Long & Foster enjoy impeccable reputations. The professional and personal service provided buyers and sellers will continue and the A&A sales associates will enjoy the benefits that a large and diverse company can offer." said Jack Queen, Long & Foster's executive vice president/general manager for Maryland.

Long & Foster first expanded its Maryland operation westward to Allegany County in 1992 and further expanded by acquiring BGS&G Real Estate in Cumberland in May of this year. The merger with A&A in Garrett County expands Long & Foster's real estate business throughout the entire state of Maryland to the farthest western point. Long & Foster is the largest real estate company in the fivestate Mid-Atlantic region, with 65 of its 116 sales offices in Maryland.

The remaining sales offices are in Washington, D.C., Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, and West Virginia. Long & Foster's 5,500 sales associates sold 50,000 properties totaling $8.2 billion in real estate in 1996.

The activities and offerings planned include free refreshments, holiday music and decorations, complimentary photos with Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, 10% discounts on selected merchandise and services throughout the town, door prizes, children's activities, contasts, and - mini-events for all.

Participating businesses will be open to visitors during regular business hours, although the "Old-Fashioned Grantsville Christmas" activities will be held during the hours of 1-4 p.m. on both days. Customers will have the opportunity to cast their votes for their favorite Grantsville business, with the winner receiving an engraved plaque in recognition of his or her outstanding customer service throughout the year. (Votes will be limited to one per person per visit. Ballot forms and a designated box will be available at participating locations.)

The Spruce Forest Artisan Village will feature a variety of activities during the event, celebrating its 12th annual Christmas in the Village. Some of the highlights will include 1,000 candle luminaries along the pathways throughout the village campus and historic 1813 Casselman Bridge, 10 demonstrating artisans in heated log cabins, schoolhouses and other rustic structures, door prizes, complimentary refreshments, raffles, entertainment, and evening concerts in the 1903 Village Church.

A live nativity scene will be staged each evening, and bedtime stories and hands-on cookie art will be taught in the 1825 Compton School. A contest titled "My Favorite Stuffed Animal" will take place, and Christmas strolling musicians will be on hand.

Admission to the Artisan Village for the festival will be free. (Donations will be accepted at the entrance bridge or in the Village office.)

"Spruce Forest is celebrating its 30th anniversary this year, so this event and the 'Old-Fashioned Grantsville Christmas' will cap off a full year of scheduled arts and heritage programs and activities," said Trish Morgan, village administrator.

Numerous businesses have signed up to take part in the event, and the film for the Santa Claus pictures will be donated by the American Trust Bank, Butler's Carpet, the Diesel Institute of America, and MuttWorks.

For more information about the "Old-Fashioned Grantsville Christmas" and the Spruce Forest Christmas in the Village activities, persons may contact Ms. Morgan on weekdays at 301-895-3332.

Hunter Injured After Falling From Tree Stand

An Elk Garden, W.Va., bowhunter suffered a fractured pelvis and left wrist after he fell nearly 30 feet from a tree stand near Gorman Wednesday afternoon.

William Allen Hartman, 56, was securing his stand in a tree off Chisolm Road near Route 560 around 3:30 p.m. when a limb broke, sending him falling to the ground. When he didn't return in a timely fashion from the hunt, Hartman's son began searching for him and located Hartman at approximately 10 p.m. last night where he fell.

Units from the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad, Gorman Volunteer Fire Department, and Natural Resources police responded. The Maryland State Police medivac helicopter, Trooper 5, was called to transport Hartman to Cumberland's Memorial Hospital, where he remains in high level care accordmg to a Department of Natural Resources spokesperson.

Use of Nonprescription Eye-Drop Medicines

Two conditions that often respond to nonprescription eye drops include an insufficiency of tears (dry-eye syndrome) and inflamed or irritated eyes. Ingredients in such products include agents for itching such as camphor and menthol, decongestants such as phenylephrine, and astringents such as zinc sulfate to reduce local edema and irritation.

Proper use of eyedrops is essential. When using this type of medicine you should, according to Dr. Dorothy Smith in Understanding Prescription Drugs:

•Wash your hands with soap and water before beginning.
•Do not touch the dropper against the face or other surface.
•Tilt your head backward and look up at the ceiling.
•Gently pull down lower lid of the eye to form a pouch.
•With the other hand, place the correct number of drops into this pouch, and close your eyes.

Alternate Method:

•Lie down on your back and close your eyes.
•Place drops on the closed eyelid in the comer of the eye nearest the nose.
•Blink your eyes and tilt your head slightly to the outside.
•Wipe off remaining drops with a clean tissue.

Sara Sincell President Of Lutheran Youth

Sara E. Sincell, Mtn. Lake Park, is currently serving as president of the West Virginia-Western Maryland Synod's Lutheran Youth Organization, after having served as its treasurer the previous year. She was elected president at the LYO's National Youth Gathering, an event held in New Orleans this past summer that involved nearly 40,000 Lutheran youth from around the nation.

The West Virginia-Western Maryland Synod of the Lutheran Church in America includes approximately 60 congregations and 16,000 baptized members.

Sincell is a senior at Southern High School, where she is vice president of the Foster D. Bittle Chapter of the National Honor Society and serves as treasurer of her class. She has been a member of the SHS marching band, Winter Guard, cheerleading squad, and track and field team.

She is a participant in the School to Work program this semester, through which she is taking dance and voice instruction at Frostburg State University and also working for the Ecumenical Youth Ministry (EYM) office in Oakland. As a member of EYM, she has participated in numerous musical programs, and had a lead role in last spring's production of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat.

She is an active member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, the Garrett Choral Society, and the Garrett County Manta Rays swim team. She is a certified life guard and operates a swimming school during the summer months with her brother Matthew, who served as the LYO president last year.

Sara, who is a daughter of Don and Suzie Sincell, plans to attend college next fall and major in musical theater.

port they have given me, and all those people who wrote to the governor on my behalf, or just gave me a kind word. I am going to keep on doing my very best to make the sheriff's office run smoothly and efficiently for the people of Garrett County."

Sanders also mentioned that he felt the governor's interview process was professionally handled.

"I was impressed by him." Sanders said. "He came out from behind his desk and just sat and talked with me. He put me at ease. I know he was truly dedicated to making a good decision, and it wasn't easy for him."

Other people up for the position included Harland Tichnell, former county chief deputy, who was the first choice of the Republican Central Committee (Sanders was the third). Second in line from the committee was Bill Ferry. Democrats considered included Charles Nolan, Chester Sines, and David J. Martin.

Major Elected Vice President Of Dravo Corp.

Dravo Corporation, Pittsburgh, announced this week the election of John R. Major, Deep Creek Lake, as vice president and chief operating officer.

Having served in a variety of senior management positions during his 12 years with Dravo, most recently as vice president of administration, Major will be responsible in his new position for Dravo's activities in the areas of plant operations, sales, engineering and projects, purchasing, and geological/environmental services. He will report to Carl A. Gilbert, Dravo's president and chief executive officer.

In announcing these changes, Gilbert said, "John Major has distinguished himself in the operational areas key to our ability to successfully implement our long-term plan, and I am confident that in his new position he will make an even stronger contribution to our long-term success as a company. By shouldering a significant portion of the responsibility for our day-to-day operations, he will allow me to concentrate more of my time and efforts on the work being done at our Technology Development Center.

"We have assigned a high priority to the commercialization of our lime-based environmental technologies, and face a number of exciting opportunities in this regard," Gilbert continued. "Today's organizational changes will allow me to become more involved in our activities in this very important area, and ensure that our efforts are consistent with and ultimately advance Dravo's long-term strategic interests."

Major, 53, joined Dravo in 1985 as director of human resources. Earlier in his career he held senior management positions in personnel and operations management with Limbach Constructors, Inc., and Thrift Drug Company.

Elected Dravo's vice president of administration in 1989, Major has been responsible for the company's activities in the areas of human resources, real estate, risk management, quality management and ISO-9002 certification, and information systems. Active in the affairs of the National Lime Association (NLA), Major has served for the past two years as chairman of the NLA's Regulatory Committee.

A 1966 graduate of Michigan State University, Major served as a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy. He resides with his wife Sandy.

Men Convicted

ed guilty to a fourth-degree sexual offense. The charge stemmed from his March arrest by sheriff's deputies after they were made aware of allegations accusing him of improperly touching a juvenile in a reported one-time incident. Ringer was handed a 90-day suspended sentence, fined $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation. An additional charge of second-degree assault against Ringer was not prosecuted.

In other district court news, an Accident woman who had been arrested by state police in March on drug charges appeared before the judge for trial.

Judy Jean Bevans, 33, pleaded guilty to obtaining a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) by fraud. That charge stemmed from allegations that she had fraudently obtained prescription medication by submitting double prescriptions for medicine from differing pharmacies in the county. She also pleaded guilty to a charge of marijuana possession, which had reportedly been discovered when state police executed a search warrant at her Teaberry Lane residence.

Bevans was handed a 90-day suspended sentence, fined $100, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. Additional charges of possession of a controlled dangerous substance and possession of drug paraphernaha were not prosecuted.

James Ptomey, 28, Oakland, was found in violation of probation which stemmed from an earlier bad check conviction. His probation was revoked and his original incarceration sentence of one year was reimposed, with all but six months suspended.

Charges of marijuana possession and possession of drug paraphernalia faced by Karolyn Sawyer, 36, Newark, Del. were placed on the stet docket, meaning that the court may recall the cases for trial within the next 365 days if it deems necessary. The charges stemmed from Sawyer's July arrest by Department of Natural Resources rangers at Swallow Falls State Park for allegedly smoking marijuana at a campsite.

All charges stemming from an altercation near Swanton that involved five individuals were placed on the stet docket. The July incident was allegedly the result of an ongoing dispute among the subjects, four of whom were arrested and one who was served with a criminal summons by the sheriff's office.

Charges of three counts of second-degree assault, one count of trespassing, and one count of disorderly conduct against Dan Tichinell, 21, Swanton, were placed on the stet docket, as were charges of one count each of second-degree assault, trespassing, and disorderly conduct against Rodney Wayne Tichinell, 19, Jacksonville, N.C. Charges faced of four counts of second-degree assault and two counts of reckless endangerment faced by Vernon Virts Jr., 44, Swanton, were placed onto the stet docket, as was a charge of second-degree assault against Terry Park. A charge of second-degree assault stemming from a criminal summons issued to Angie Park, 27, Swanton, was also placed on the stet docket.

GRAVE MARKER DEDICATED - Members of various local veterans groups gathered October 24 at a remote location on the eastern slope of Big Savage Mountain above Westernport to dedicate a new marker for the grave of Daniel Reckner, a Revolutionary War soldier whose body is buried on what was once his homestead. Reckner, a native of Pennsylvania, was born in 1759 and died Nov. 8, 1829, or 168 years ago this Saturday. Reckner enlisted in the Continental Army at Allentown, Pa., in 1778 and served for three years as a private in Captain William Oldham's Company of the 5th Pennsylvania Regiment. He fought at the battles of Brandywine and Monmouth. He and his wife Sarah were the parents of 11 children, and some of his descendants still reside in Garrett County. In the photo above, foreground, from left, are Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, members Martha Kahl, registrar; Wilda Sanders, chaplain; and Lillian Reckner, acting regent and a widow of a descendant of Daniel Reckner. Mrs. Kahl is also a seventh generation descendant of Reckner. Below, Mrs. Kahl's husband Randall, historian for Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, Oakland, places a flag on the grave. Speakers included Richard Deitke, also a descendant of Reckner; Michael Gregory, manager of Savage River Complex; Carl Rebele, VFW member and Korean War veteran; and Jim Seedera, commander of Post 71. Other organizations represented at the dedication were American Legion Victory Post 155, Westernport, Kelly Mansfield Post, Piedmont, and Post 214, Grantsville; the Garrett County Historical Society; and the Allegany County Genealogical Society. Rev. John Grant of the GCC Pipes and Drums provided music. The original graveatone is also visible in the photo below. Richard Deitke and Martha Kahl spearheaded the effort.

The Best Choice...

Governor Parris Glendening has proven over and over again how political he is, particularly when it comes to political appointments (remember the canning of Marshal Rickart?). However, he made an appointment this past week for which we extend our thanks.

Despite the fact that Dick Sanders is a registered Republican, despite the fact that he was the third choice on a list of names submitted by the Garrett County Republican State Central Committee, and despite the fact that Sanders was chief deputy to a sheriff who pleaded guilty to misconduct in office, Gov. Glendening has named him interim sheriff anyway, and we are extremely pleased about that.

We are not saying that many of the others who were either recommended or applied for the job were bad choices; we are saying that we believe Dick Sanders is the absolute best choice. Sanders had an impeccable record in his career as a Maryland State Police officer, and has never demonstrated anything but straightforward, honest, fair, consistent, courteous, morally sound conduct, not only toward the deputies and staff of his office, but also to the public he serves. There is also no evidence whatsoever that he was aware of the financial dealings of his predecessor.

Along with the governor, we also thank our Garrett County commissioners, who likewise believe in Sanders and, in a press release from Glendening's office this week, publicly announced their unanimous support of his selection. We remain puzzled as to the order of choice submitted by the GOP State Central Committee.

We are confident that Sheriff Sanders will quickly prove that he is an excellent choice for this extremely important job, and that when election time rolls around a year from now, he will have convinced the majority of the voting public of that fact.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

From the Shriner who overturned his car while parading in Oakland Saturday, Oct. 11, during the Autumn Glory Festival, I would like to thank all the people who assisted me in getting my car uprighted and getting it started again.

Also I would like to thank the doctor who came out and cleaned and bandaged my elbow. I was just a little too shook up that day to get any names.

Again, a big thank you to all of you.

Sincerely,
John Canfield,

To the Editor:

In reference to this year's Trick or Treat schedule for Oakland, Mtn. Lake Park, Loch Lynn, and Deer Park, my first question is, what was the reason for three different nights of Trick or Treat? The biggest question is, why isn't Trick or Treat held on the most logical night--Halloween? Halloween fell on a Friday night this year, the perfect night for Trick or Treat, with no school the next day. I want to understand why so many different nights were scheduled for areas so close together. This created so much confusion for so many people.

From our personal experiences, this Halloween was not as fun for our daughters. Our area can be considered either Oakland or Mtn. Lake Park, even though we have an Oakland address, and to us, it is Oakland. When we took our daughters out to Trick or Treat we found that some in our area were prepared for Wednesday night Trick or Treat and some participated on Thursday night, while others thought it was on Friday (after all, Friday was Halloween!).

We had Trick or Treat at our house on Wednesday night and welcomed everyone, even though we knew most were not from our area, and we have regulars that we know that are not but look forward to seeing each year. Then on Thursday we discovered that we had more in our area out to Trick or Treat and luckily we had extra candy, so we participated again and let our daughters go to houses they had missed the night before. Thursday night Trick or Treat made it very hard for those that wanted to participate in the parade down town because of the close timing.

I welcome any children to my house on any night of Trick or Treat. Our daughters look forward to going out to Trick or Treat. I would just like to understand the reason behind so many different schedules and times, and most of all, why not celebrate a holiday on the actual day?

To the Editor:

Can you imagine what it would be like to be discarded and while cold and hungry with no home, shelter, or food and to be hit by a car or truck? This is what happened to the little dog found on 1-68.

Fortunately, two kind people saw the dog on the median strip on I-68 and stopped to get it "before it got hit" and found the little dog suffering, cold, and very hungry. (A member of the veterinary staff said she had been on her own a long time.)

These people took the dog to Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop to find out if they knew anyone looking for a dog like this. No one knew. Of course not; abandoned-animal owners sneak around dropping off animals. We do have an animal shelter!

The lady at the truck stop called me and the kind people took the little dog to a local veterinarian.

The dog was relieved of pain and x-rayed. The veterinarian remarked that even in pain she wagged her little tail.

It took a long surgery, including pins and wire, to repair the pelvis and hind leg. Fortunately she had no other problems and seems healthy otherwise.

I gave my consent to do this, as I could not stand to see her suffer, and I didn't think she deserved to die without knowing someone cared. All animals do have feelings, you know!

The people who found the little dog are considering adopting it, but they, like the Humane Society, cannot afford a large medical bill. Even with the discount and all the veterinarian gives us, it is still a large bill. He is a great friend of the Humane Society and does a lot for us, but cannot afford to donate the total bill. He will let us make payments, but we will need help to do that.

We get no county, state, or federal funding and we depend on donations and fund-raisers. Please help us pay this little dog's medical bills by sending a donation--large or small--to Humane Society Treasurer, 1124 Mary Drive, Oakland, MD 21550.

This little dog needs to know there are caring people in the world and that she will never have to suffer again.

Gratefully,
Bernadine Friend
Executive Director
Garrett County Humane Society, Inc.

P.S. This bill also includes spaying and shots.

Congratulations to Jane Avery on her Halloween exhibit. She has been an asset to Garrett County in many ways: a good, interesting teacher who loves to work with children and teenagers; an avid drama teacher who brings good drama to the county, much at her own work and expense; and not least of all, a teacher of good morals.

To the Editor:

For the past four months, the Civic Club of Oakland has been working with the Head Start Program in Accident. All our children are grown and our grandchildren well on their way, so we thought it would be fun to visit the center and read, tell stories, or bring along some little projects for the children to do.

This month a fire safety program was planned. Pat Bowser, an active firefighter and member of Northern Rescue Squad, agreed to help us out. The children are very young and we didn't know how they would respond. With patience and understanding, Pat held their attention. As they sat watching her put on all that cumbersome gear, their eyes were wide. Each little person had the opportunity to try on the hat and mask and look at him/herself in the mirror. Having just returned from a tire in Friendsville, Pat had to be tired and probably the last thing in the world she wanted to do was climb in and out of all that equipment, but she did it cheerfully.

During our visit we also met a group of young high school girls who work with the children as part of a child care program offered through the school. When we arrived, each little person was occupied and happy being held or read to by a student.

It can't be an easy task for the directors to see that each child is kept busy and happy, but somehow they expertly manage to accomplish this, and the children learn at the same time. We left to the aroma of something delicious being prepared for lunch.

We are fortunate to live in Garrett County. Our volunteers are actively working for a better community, community programs are well run, our schools are educating our youth to the realities of the world they live in, and we are surrounded by beauty and wildlife all year round. Much to be thankful for.

I don't know if "it takes a village to raise a child," but here in Garrett County we are way ahead of the times.

To the Editor,

As a member of the Board of Directors of Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., I wholeheartedly agree with your editorial comments on October 23, 1997, regarding Duane Yoder and his team. They have created a treasured organization to help serve the residents of Garrett County.

In the past several years, as a volunteer and consultant to non-profit organizations, I have had the privilege to observe literally hundreds of organizations throughout the United States -- from those in our inner cities to those in rural areas, such as Indian Reservations, the Appalachian mountain communities of Kentucky and West Virginia, to self-help groups in the Mississippi Delta. Each time I return from one of these trips, I marvel at how fortunate we are to have such a well-run, enterprising, and strategic organization as Community Action in our own backyard.

While other organizations are struggling for a sense of direction, under Duane's leadership Community Action has flourished. Duane is a unique individual bringing to his task a combination of compassion, intellectual discipline, drive, integrity, and a conviction that we, as a community, need to provide a hand up to neighbors who are less fortunate.

Community Action deserves all the praise and resources the county can muster.

Sincerely,
Dick Staufenberger

HOW TO DEAL WITH CHINA

The president of China has gone home, and he certainly should be pleased. After all, he is "the butcher of Tiananmen Square," having given the orders for tanks to fire upon students in 1989. Jiang Zemin presides over the persecution of Christians, forced abortions, slave labor camps, and President Clinton looked as pleased in Jiang's company as I have seen him.

Whether legally or illegally, we know that China has successfully influenced American policy toward her. The evidence was President Clinton's big smile with Jiang every time they appeared together. Those are official smiles for our best allies, not for the presiding officer of the biggest tyranny in the world.

President Clinton and others in Washington are guilty of what George Will said Reagan was guilty of 15 years ago: They love commerce more than they hate communism. There is a difference between then and now. Fifteen years ago there remained a true idcological difference. The Maoist version of communism is now as dead in China as other forms of communism are dead everywhere else in the world (with the exception of Cuba).

The Chinese leadership has, step by step, eliminated the system of political belief called communism, but it has retained the totalitarian form of government which communism (and fascism) gave the world during the 20th century. In other words, the Chinese government has to do now with one thing, power. And them that's got it plan to keep it.

They pay an enormous compliment to Christianity which the secularists in the U.S.A. should take note of. The Chinese leadership clearly believes that Christianity in and of itself as a religion undermines tyranny. They believe the simple practice of the Christian religion promotes democracy. They are, as a matter of history, correct.

The practitioners of Christianity certainly do go wrong, and do very undemocratic things. When they do so, however, they contradict their faith. It is the Christian religion that has given us the ideas of equity before the law, human rights, and the idea of democracy. It is atheism which has given tyranny and genocide and nothing else--under communists and nazis alike--in this century.

Jiang Zemin, perceptive man that he is, knows that to hold down the 1.2 billion people of his multi-nation state, he has to prevent Christianity from getting a hold on them. He also knows that if he trades with the U.S.A. and helps us with North Korea and a few other things, he will win the tacit support of our leaders to do whatever he wants, as he says, "internally."

What about that trade which we are so eager to engage in? We are going to sell China the technology which will enable her to be the dominant world power in the 21st century. President Clinton is indeed building a bridge into the 21st century. Unfortunately, he is building it for the Chinese.

There are some things that each of us can do to stand up to Chinese tyranny. We can and should write and call our U.S. senators and members of Congress. When they come to visit our communities we should ask them where they stand on China, and we need to make clear where we believe they need to stand on China.

We can also vote with our pocketbooks. We must resist the temptation to buy cheap goods from China. All we need to do is remind ourselves that the cheap Chinese teddy bear may have been made in a slave camp. Do we want such tainted goods in our homes?

The United States of America has two choices in relation to China. We can take them on 1) sooner or 2) later. Take them on we must, unless we are prepared to take orders from Beijing for the next century. I prefer to take them on now, while we still can.

----, A Four-Letter Word
by Melodee Hill

I certainly was hoping to get through my columns without resorting to four-letter words, or using disturbing, controversial words, but it seems I'm left with no choice in the matter. I'm going to have to use the S-word. SNOW. There, I said it and I won't take it back! It is probably inevitable that we will hear this word at least once a day and more likely 10 times daily until spring, which I reckon around these parts will come sometime between July 1st and July 3rd and will be over by July 4th. We usually brush the icicles from our noses after the picnic but before the fireworks. Then people start to speculate about what sort of winter we will have this year.

As the end of August rolled around, I noticed that people were starting to talk about you-know-what (that word, again). Of course, everyone is always talking about the weather because, like the bears' porridge, it almost never seems to be just quite right. It's either too hot, too cold, too damp, too dry or just too doggone impertinently beautiful. Day after day after day of beautiful weather gets to be rather boring, I've heard, and it makes the grass grow faster.

We were very fortunate this summer (July 23rd through August 7th), to have been graced with some very gorgeous weather. Brilliant days of dazzling lights and darks sharp enough to make your eyes ache. Colors so rich and thick it felt as though a deep breath would draw the color right out of the flowers and the trees. And the sky was such an indescribable blue that I won't even try to describe it because it was, well, indescribable. Those are the days you carry around with you, polishing them in your memory. Conjuring up their brilliance and light to warm and comfort you on some cold, dark, February morning while you scrape and shovel.

Lately, I've been involved in, or overheard (I can be sooo nosy), several conversations about the weather and in almost every one of them the "Elvis" of the weather world has been the hot (or cold) topic. Of course I'm referring to the ubiquitous and dreaded "El Niño" weather pattern. To hear people talk, by the time winter is over, El Niño will be blamed for every unusual occurrence from two-headed goats back through the Kennedy assassination. We will probably feel the influence of El Niño sometime after Christmas. In fact, this annual pattern of warm ocean conditions was named El Nino, or the Christ child, by 19th century fishermen of northern Peru because of its occurrence around Christmas. Why they didn't name it "El Santa" or "El Rudolpho" is a mystery to this day.

Usually, El Nino is mild-mannered and well-behaved, but every few years he throws a tantrum and no one knows what to expect. These unpredictable episodes have gained worldwide attention during the 20th century, because El Nino has adversely affected the weather as far away as Asia and North America. These tempestuous anomalies have become the subject of media speculation, much like Newt Gingrich's occasional outbursts, akin to poking a sleeping grizzly with a long—very long—stick.

That reminds me of another famous, unimpeachable weather icon. The Willard Scott of the Lepidoptera workl (only with more hair): the omniscient, brown and orange woolly bear caterpillar. Depending on whom you talk to, the amount of brown hairs versus the amount of orange hairs on a woolly bear predicts a mild winter (there's no such thing), a horribly cold winter with lots of snow, or what teams will make it to the Super Bowl. Not the Cowboys, again! Anyway, it seems pretty hard to put any sort of faith into a weather prognosticator that spends most of its time out on the highway underneath car tires either smashed flat or being blown from one side of the road to the other like a tumbleweed.

If, for some reason, I can't look out the window to see what the weather is (and if I can't look out the window, I have bigger problems than the weather!), I listen to the radio, where, more often than not, some guy who doesn't even have a window to look out of will tell me what the weather is supposed to be. Then I can spend the rest of the day complaining that it isn't.

Food For Thought

Balsamic vinegar isn't really vinegar at all, but a condiment. Instead of fermenting the basic grape juice into wine, it's simmered slowly to concentrate flavor and caramelize the natural sugar. Only then is it allowed to ferment.

Use balsamic vinegar for light braising of browned chicken breast and in salad. The finest balsamics are often spooned over fruit.

The biggest news in "sandwiches" is the roll-up, assorted fillings spread on a flat, bread-like food and rolled into a handy package. Use thin lahvash or pita from the Middle East, or large flour tortillas from Mexico, and have fun concocting toppings.

Some favorites: grilled chicken with guacamole and tomato, goat cheese, red pepper and mushrooms, or hummus with Greek salad.

What's better than fruit-flavored yogurt? Adding your own fresh fruit to plain yogurt. Most commercial fruit flavors are made with jam, which adds about 8 or 9 tsp sugar per cup.

Love Of Couple Married 57 Years Remembered As 100th Approaches

by Joseph T. Glotfelty Jr. and Mary Sincell McEwen

One century ago, on Nov. 9, 1897, two Garrett Countians pledged their lives to one another. She was Carrie Lelia Browning, born in 1870, the daughter of Stephen and Margaret Ellen Casteel Browning and great-granddaughter of Meshach Browning, one of the earliest settlers of Garrett County. He was Joseph Thaddeus Glotfelty, born in 1866, the son of Adrian and Sevilla Frantz Glotfelty and grandson of William and Esther Livengood Glotfelty, also early settlers of the county, whose farm of over 800 acres now lies beneath the waters of Deep Creek Lake.

The couple forged a life together, rearing their children, maintaining their home, and remaining at one another's side for over 57 years. Their lives were intertwined with many early inhabitants of the mountaintop county.

On her father's farm, south of Oakland, Carrie acquired an early love for horses -- especially fast ones that she liked to ride. As she grew to be a young lady, the image of her riding sidesaddle, wearing her Victorian-style riding habit, became a frequent sight. Nell Browning (later Mrs. Andrew Helbig) was one of her riding companions.

The Adrian Glotfelty ("Gladfelter" in its original Swiss) family moved from near Accident to Underwood when Joseph was a teenager. Carrie was 12 and Joe was 17 when they first saw each other at the Underwood church, where they attended services with their families. They became friends, and friends they would remain for some years and many experiences before falling in love.

Joe worked on his father's farm until 1888, when he, 21, and his friend, Lee Cornwell, decided to go to Montana and make their fortunes. Before leaving, they rode the train from Oakland to Terra Alta, just to see what a ride on the rails would be like. Then the boys struck out for the wild west.

Meanwhile, Carrie engaged in the local events of the day, taking part in ice cream socials, cake walks, spelling bees, sled rides, revival meetings, barn dances, quilting parties, apple butter making, picnics, and fiddlers' contests. She was often a guest at the elegant Glades Hotel balls.

The young woman became a teacher at the one-room school of Fairsweep. Etiquette and good manners were key components of the teacher's curriculum. To her former students, who became her neighbors as time passed, she was always known as Miss Carrie. Throughout these years, she remembered Joe Glotfelty, the handsome boy with light curly hair. He had worn kid gloves, and this had greatly attracted and impressed the young Carrie.

In Montana, Glotfelty and Cornwell experienced the difficult work of ranch hands. They homesteaded in Valla County, Montana, in 1891. However, the western life apparently grew stale for Glotfelty and, in 1897, he sold his interests in Montana and returned to Garrett County. He simply could not forget that pretty girl back home who rode her horse so fast.

The scene of the November 9, 1897, wedding of the young couple was at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Carrie and the now returned Joseph stood on a large rug made of the hides of nine gray wolves the groom had shot out west. They exchanged vows of marriage, with Rev. J.H. Davis performing the noon ceremony. The event was held in the presence of nearly 80 relatives and friends.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Bell, Nellie, and Jennie Browning, Oakland. The groomsman was William Glotfelty, Accident, cousin of the groom.

The bride was attired in a costume of white silk with chiffon ribbon and pearl trimmings, and white gloves and slippers. She carried a bouquet of white rose buds. The bridesmaids wore dresses of white organdy over either pink, yellow, or green, with ribbon trimmings to match, and white gloves and slippers. The girls carried bouquets of pink, yellow, and red roses, respectively.

The groom wore a Prince Albert suit of black broadcloth and a boutonniere of white rosebuds. The groomsman wore the conventional black suit with a boutonniere of red rosebuds.

The bridal march, "Lohengrin," was played by Dr. J.G. Robinson. After the ceremony, the guests were served a bountiful dinner of all good things of the season.

After dinner, the bridal party departed for Oakland and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Newman. They later all left for cities in the east on the evening train.

After an extended wedding tour, the young couple returned and made their home with the bride's parents. Before consenting to marriage, Carrie had requested that her fiance promise to never ask her to move from the farm where she had been reared and had experienced such a happy life. He made and kept that promise.

In fact, the young husband went on to make extensive improvements to the Browning farm and bought adjoining properties to enlarge the farming operation. In 1907, both Mr. and Mrs. Browning died and Carrie assumed full responsibility for all work at the home, including the management of her acre-sized vegetable garden. She also operated a dairy produce market for special customers, delivering products in Oakland once a week by horse and buggy. In the operation of her garden, she relied greatly on information in the Hagers-Town Town and Country Almanack, using the edges of the pages for notations of importance and record.

Joe became a member on the local education board, serving in that position for several years.

The couple had three children, Margaret, Eleanor ("Nellie"), and Joseph Jr. (Their son is the last surviving member of his immediate family and resides in Silver Spring with his wife Dorothy (Rausch) Glotfelty.)

John William Kimmell, a well-known local poet of the early 1900s, wrote a tribute to Joe and Carrie titled "In a Beautiful Maryland Glade," which was included in his booklet of poems Memories and Moods, published by The Democrat newspaper office in 1949. (See sidebar.)

In the Thursday, Jan. 13, 1955, issue of The Republican, there is a notice of the death and the rites of J.T. Glotfelty. In her copy of the 1955 Almanack in the Jan. 5 page margin, Carrie wrote simply: "Joe left me today."

After the death of her husband and soulmate, Carrie left her beloved farm and shared her son's home with him and his wife until her death on Nov. 5, 1968. She was 98. Her remains were interred beside her husband's and parents' in the Oakland Cemetery.

In the spring and summer, a variety of flowers planted and cared for by Carrie still bloom on the Glotfelty farm -- the place where she and Joe loved one another for over half a century.

In a Beautiful Maryland Glade

A compliment to Joe and Carrie Glotfelty
by John William Kimmell (1868-1949)

In a beautiful Maryland Glade,
Where by honest toil and inherited thrift
Each measured stroke was laid.

Where once those swamps of bog and muck
Their plowshare turns the sod,
And waving fields of golden grain
In the autumn breezes nod.

The farm house stands among the shades
Where once hammock was outspread,
While childish laughter rang below
And birds sang overhead.

But the children since have grown up
No childish laughter rings.
Still among the boughs of apple wood
The robin red breast sings.

Though Joe and Carrie, hand in hand,
Have climbed the hill together
We find them now as in the past
Still clinging to each other.

And in the years still looming up
May joy be theirs forever
And bind them in a bond of love
That naught but death can sever.

Been There, Done That, Can't Remember

GC Seniors Not Resting On Laurels, Or Anything Else, For That Matter

By Peggy Santamaria

Growing older in Garrett County may have taken on some new meanings. "Who said getting older meant slowing down and resting on your laurels?" asked Adina Brode, director of the Area Agency on Aging of Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc.

Groups of senior citizens in Garrett County are getting involved in a variety of activities sponsored by the AAA. These undertakings enhance physical, mental, and social well being, Brode explained. "These people are demonstrating that you don't need to break out the rocking chair just because you reach retirement age," she said.

At sites all around the county older residents get together several time each week for lunch and socializing. From these get-togethers all kinds of other activities develop.

Plans for a theme for this year's Autumn Glory Festival float were brainstormed over a senior luncheon in Friendsville. The theme conceived by this group was "Been There, Done That, Can't Remember!" And in what Brode described as a spirit of good humor and fun, county seniors built a float and climbed aboard, decked out in tie-dyed shirts with the traditional country garb. They became "The Autumn Glor-ees."

Staying physically fit has been noted as an important part of a healthy lifestyle. AAA creates programs to allow seniors citizens to get the exercise that can contribute to better health.

AmeriCorps members Bette Joe Hudnall and Darla Friend, who work with the AAA, develop and implement plans for fitness activities for seniors. This year water aerobics classes were introduced on the AAA agenda as a result of their efforts.

This water activity takes place at B&R, Lakewood Resort, McHenry, two nights a week. The water aerobics/ exercise sessions are open to people age 50 and over. "We are including people 50 and up in some of our ac-tivities, and 55 and up in others. We want more peo-ple, as they are aging, to find out about the opportunities open to them through the agency," Brode said.

Some of Garrett County's seniors can be found in Towson each year participating in the Senior Olympics. The mountain air may engender some winning attitudes in these folks, because they can really bring home the gold. In the 1997 events three representatives from the county competed.

Mary Sutcliff, 69, Deep Creek Lake, won gold and silver medals in the 5K and 10K cycling events. She then took a gold, a silver, and a bronze in swimming.

Dick Good, 67, Accident, won the silver medal in the 1500 meter race/walk and the bronze medal in the 10K race.

Earl Wentz, Accident, won a gold medal for the 100 meter and the 200 meter races.

Not everyone has the stamina and ability of these athletes, so some less strenuous activities are also offered. From square dancing to flower arranging, the level of activity varies according to the needs and interests of the program participants.

Taking advantage of the peak of the autumn season, a group of seniors from the Friendsville senior nutrition site arranged a tour around Deep Creek Lake to take advantage of the mild weather and colorful foliage.

The pontoon boat on which the seniors cruised the lake was made available courtesy of Bill's Marina, Deep Creek Lake.

The AAA also offers educational opportunities and information and assistance to all seniors citizens. But many older county residents join in the programs offered for socialization.

Through the creative efforts of staff at AAA, Garrett County seniors can link up with others who have interests similar to their own. The AAA strives to provide opportunities to keep the body and mind fit through movement, education, and social interaction, Brode explained. "Thanks to the involvement of AmeriCorps, the AAA is working diligently to improve its offerings and increase programs of interest to more active seniors," Brode stated.

Chas. Ecker To Run For Governor

Charles I. Ecker, Ellicott City, has announced his candidacy for governor of Maryland in the 1998 election.

Ecker is currently completing his second term as Howard County executive, and while in this position has helped make Howard's school system one of the most respected in the nation, according to his press release.

He is a Republican and will be vying for the office against Ellen Saurbrey. He said he plans to engage in a "healthy debate on the issues that are important to Marylanders." He said his campaign will be based on his "record of achievement, his ability to reach out to all, and deliver a brighter future for the state of Maryland."

In his announcement speech, he stated that Maryland is in need of a better business image, a more trained workforce, and better relationships between counties.

Before becoming a Howard County public servant, Ecker was an educator for 36 years.

"Down-sizing" is a relatively new term in the late 20th century, and this movie is about the kind of frustration that can result from it. But it's also about the frustration caused by the love-hate relationship between the movie industry and the media. In this tragic comedy, John Travolta plays Sam Baily, a slow-witted but honest museum guard who loses his job because there just isn't enough money to pay him. He goes to talk to his boss about this, packing a weapon meant simply to make her "listen." He doesn't realize there is 'a group of school children in the building, and when the gun accidentally goes off, wounding Sam's friend and partner, he suddenly finds himself in over his head, with the children as hostages. Enter ambitious newsman Max Brackett (Dustin Hoffman), who was in the building planning a minor news story about fund-raising. Max sees that he has stumbled upon a story that could make his lagging career take off, and he begins coaching Sam on how to be a terrorist.

Overall, the film is excellent, with an absolutely flawless performance by Travolta. He is troubled, distracted, comical in his ineptness amidst a media event that gets him on Larry King Live and The Tonight Show. Sam's frustration and his lack of vocabulary to express it are beautifully portrayed. I love director Costa-Gavras's choice to leave in (or to engineer) mispronunciations and slips of the tongue by all the characters as they go for days with no sleep. Hoffman is calm, quiet, but absolutely determined to run this show; a subtle calculation permeates his character. The film establishes a palpable tension very early on; this falters at times, but generally remains. Blythe Danner and Mia Kirshner give good performances as the museum curator and Max's assistant, respectively; Alan Alda is typically bland as the network anchor.

But here's where I have trouble being objective. The anti-media bent of this film is also comical, though not meant to be. The bloodthirsty press is stereotyped so badly that the entire film loses credibility. Max is so driven to revive his career, he will stop at nothing, including endangering the lives of the children. What's more, the huge press corps that follows the story from outside the museum is like a pack of hungry sharks, launching into a feeding frenzy every time there is the slightest development. They trample flowerbeds, they edit tapes to turn words around, and when two of the children are released as a goodwill gesture, the reporters practically run them over to "get the story." All of this is capped by the transformation of Max's young assistant, who goes in a few days from a thoughtful human being to the leader of the wolfpack, actually reveling when something tragic happens. This is silly and unrealistic.

Another problem I noticed was that although the children were held hostage for at least three days, they seemed completely unconcerned, actually having quite a good time. Sam means them no harm, and he does whatever he can to make them comfortable, but still there is never once a crying child during this shotgun-armed, parent-less siege.

Go to see it for the acting, for the laughs, for the thought-provoking quality. But please disregard the stupidity. ★★★★

STARSHIP TROOPERS

Rated R

Well, the Thanksgiving turkey has arrived early. I'm not even going to mention the actors' names in this pathetic attempt to re-create Robert Heinlein's popular 1959 sci-fi story. They're going to hve to be embarassed by their participation anyway. It's bugs, folks, lots and lots of bugs. Big ones, ranging in size from horse to house. They live on another planet, on the other side of our galaxy, and they have it in for us Earthlings. So what should we do? We'll form a humongous army of shallow, inept brats to go and shoot at them with everyday, run-of-the-mill, 20th century weapons that have little effect. We have the technology to get rid of their whole planet, with our huge fleet of starships and nuclear capabilities, but instead we'll choose to engage them on the surface, hand-to-claw, taking countless casualties and soaking their planet with gore.

Actually, the special effects aren't bad, but it's obvious that the entire budget was used for them at the expense of actors, writers, and directors. Vast amounts of material lifted practically verbatim from such classics as Star Wars and Alien, so much so that I would think lawsuits would be in order. If not from other filmmakers, then from viewers who go to see the show. But maybe this could turn into a cult film like Rocky Horror. Just take along a big can of RAID. ★

RED CORNER

A little tip: don't get too friendly with any Chinese babes you meet in Beijing. I tellya, they're nothing but trouble. The differences between our culture and that of mainland China are underscored in this excellent film written by Robert King and Ron Koslow and directed by Jon Avnet. The film starts with a high-tech fashion show featuring runway models showing off the latest in occidental clothing. American businessman Jack Moore (Richard Gere) is watching the show, celebrating after having closed a satellite deal with the Chinese Ministry of Radio, Film, and Television. But when he gets involved with one of the models, he never expects to be awakened by police officers arresting him for the girl's murder. Gere is rivetingly intense in his portrayal of a man who falls through the cracks of international diplomacy.

I feel, however, that his character is somewhat muddled by the script. At the beginning of the film, he appears as a suave, almost sleazy businessman, pulling the wool over the eyes of the naive Chinese. Exactly the kind of American stereotype that is despised by that conservative government. But as the film progresses, he becomes a little lamb, unjustly persecuted by the evil Chinese and neglected by the sidestepping American embassy. Moreover, Yuelin (Bai Ling), Moore's court-appointed attorney, suffers a similar fate. She comes on as a tough-as-nails defender, assigned to defend a morally bankrupt American, someone about whom she should not care a whit. Certain that he is guilty, she insists that he plead that way, explaining that those who do so are afforded more leniency by the court. But eventually she comes around to the point of putting her career on the line and going up against the well-established male-dominated system, all for his sake. This is explained with a teary story she tells about watching her father being persecuted and doing nothing--vowing never again to remain silent in the face of injustice. But still, it seems unlikely that a young, female attorney in such a conservative country, defending a decadent American, would pick this case to stand up against the "good old boy" network of the Chinese legal system.

The acting on the part of Gere and Bai Ling is excellent and the growing relationship between them touching, but the script seems uncertain at times about how they should be portrayed. Lots of exciting action, though, including an unlikely but well-shot chase scene. ★★★★

FAIRY TALE: A TRUE STORY

Rated PG

This romantic tale, directed by Charles Sturridge, has some interesting special effects and some nice moments. It is a cute, whimsical story about two girls, Elsie Wright (Florence Hoath) and Frances Griffiths (Elizabeth Earl), who discover and befriend a community of fairies, and photograph them. When the photos come to the attention of the press, a media circus ensues, involving such famous personalities as Harry Houdini (played by Harvey Keitel) and Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes (played by Peter O'Toole). These are all warm and heartfelt performances, as is that of Elsie's mother, played by Phoebe Nicholls.

Unfortunately, there are a few elements which tend to undermine the potential success of this film. One is the fact that for such a light-hearted subject, the director chose a terribly dark and dismal presentation. The settings are dreary throughout, and even when the girls are frolicking with their tiny friends in the woods, there is an almost Dickensian grimness. This is not without reason. Both girls have lost cherished members of their families and Elsie's household is clutched by grief. Still, it would seem that their (and our) spirits could be lifted by their friendship with the fairies, but only Earl is allowed to portray Frances with a reasonable whimsy.

Secondly, although the film credits a long list of actors who play the fairies, we hardly ever see them on film, and there is virtually no characterization whatsoever. The girls call to them by name (implying that they have spoken), but we never witness any conversations; only swarms of dragonfly-like creatures flitting by and an occasional close-up of one or two of them. Perhaps the author wanted to preserve the sense of mystery associated with these creatures, but frankly, this film could have used a little more fairies and a lot less gloom. There is an intriguing sequence in which three pivotal events are happenning simultaneously, but I'm afraid it's too little too late. ★★½

In other sheriff's news, a Swanton man was arrested on Friday on charges of child abuse, third-degree sex offense, and battery.

According to the police report, during the course of a party on the evening of Oct. 25, Michael Milton McRobie, 39, allegedly grabbed a juvenile by the throat with both hands and began to squeeze. After that, he allegedly moved his hands to the chest of the alleged victim while reportedly attempting to either lick or french kiss the victim's face. McRobie, who reportedly admitted to being intoxicated, stated that he was only asking the juvenile to smell his breath during the incident, and claimed he had never touched the juvenile with his hands as was alleged. After his arrest, McRobie was subsequently released on a $10,000 bond.

In an unrelated incident, a Swanton woman is facing charges of child abuse and battery after her arrest on Friday. Sheila Ann Hardesty, 35, reportedly struck a juvenile during an altercation on Oct. 23, reportedly leaving marks on the alleged victim's face. After her arrest, Hardesty was subsequently released on her own recognizance by the court commissioner.

An alleged domestic assault resulted in the arrest of an Oakland man on Nov. 1. According to the police report, during the course of an argument Harold Dean Michaels, 45, allegedly kicked his wife, leaving a mark on her leg. Immediately following the incident he reportedly departed the scene taking two rifles and ammunition with him. Deputies located Michaels and the rifles a short time later, and placed him under arrest, charging him with second-degree assault. The court commissioner subsequently released Michaels on his own recognizance.

Finally, Charles Friend of Oakland, whose age was not available, was arrested and charged with public intoxication on Nov. 1. Friend was taken into custody after he was stopped at 5 p.m. while walking down the middle of Hutton Road in front of the old Carnation Milk processing plant.

Runnin' Rams Win Regional Title; Favored In State Meet

As expected, the Southern High School boys' cross country team coasted to its fifth consecutive Class 1A West Region championship Friday afternoon at Clear Spring High School, and will be the favorite team in this Saturday's annual Maryland State Championship race hosted by Hereford High School.

The Southern girls' team, alao the defending West Region title holder, finished second to Allegany in Friday's meet, as the Campers converted to a 1A school this year. Nonetheless, the Southern girls qualified for Saturday's state meet as a team and will also be among the favorites. The Southern girls are also the defending state champions.

The status of a brother-sister pair, however, will affect the chances of both teams, in a positive way for the Southern girls and in a negative way for the Southern boys.

Daniel Sincell, who led the SHS boys all season and who placed second in Friday's regional championship, will not be competing in Saturday's state meet. Sincell tore a ligament in his knee in a freak accident the evening following the regional meet and is now facing surgery.

Meanwhile, Daniel's sister Angie, who has led the Southern girls in most of their races this season, went into the regional meet having just had influenza and consequently did not have one of her better performances at Clear Spring. Instead of leading the team and finishing among the top five runners, she placed 17th and behind three of her teammates. A typical effort by Sincell probably would have placed the Rams first instead of second.

Angie Sincell is healthy this week, however, and therefore the Rams are expected to pose a strong challenge to Allegany, and every other team at the state meet, for the 1A title.

Southern's top finisher was Amy Snyder, who finished sixth in 20:49.4, while Erin Hoakcraft was 10th (21:19.0). Southern boys' coach Carl Booth was upset about Sincell's season-ending injury, but still confident of his team's chances for a fifth straight Maryland 1A championship.

"If I could wave a magic wand and make Dan better, I'd do it in a second," Booth said. "He's such an outstanding young man, and he's the leader of this team. All of the other boys love him and really look up to him.

"But, they now have something else to run for this Saturday besides the state title, and I can tell you, I wouldn't want to be running against them," he said. "They are more determined than ever."

Booth plans to move sophomore Ted Wolf up to fill in the spot left vacant by Sincell. Each team in the state meet, as with the regional meet, fields a seven-runner squad, with the placings of the top five used to calculate the team finish.

Louis Newcomb, coach of the Southern girls' team, said that any one of six teams could capture the state title, but he believes that Allegany will pose the biggest challenge for the Rams.

"Allegany is the one we want to catch," he said, "but Glenelg, Hereford, Brunswick, and Smithsburg are all strong too."

The SHS girls tied with Smithsburg in an earlier meet this season.

Newcomb said that all of his top runners are healthy this week, including Angie Sincell, and while he tentatively plans to run the same seven girls who competed at regionals Saturday, there are at least three other runners who could possibly take a spot. They are freshmen Anissa Jamison and Katie Moomau and junior Keri Strubin.

The boys' 1A race is slated to get underway at 2 p.m., and the girls' 1A race will follow at 3 p.m.

All MSA Players Invited To Awards Night At GCC

The Mountaintop Soccer Association (MSA) will hold its annual awards night for all those who have participated in this season. The event will be held at Garrett Community College on Nov. 12, with three time slots for the various age groups.

The under-6 and under-8 teams will meet in the GCC auditorium at 6 p.m. Those in the under-10 teams will meet at 7:30 p.m., and those in the under-12 and under-15 teams will gather at 8:15 p.m. All soccer players are encouraged to wear their soccer shirts to the event.

"This is a great opportunity to recognize each team player at the conclusion of a great 1997 soccer season," said Ron Petrella, MSA president.

Rams Netters Fall To Allegany In Playoff Opener

Southern's volleyball team stumbled in its opening-round matchup against Allegany in the Maryland Class 1A Western Region volleyball playoffs.

Elizabeth Paesani paced the Rams with eight points, but it was not quite enough in the face of 17 points and three kills by Allegany's Erin Hohing and 11 points with two aces by Melanic Reichert. The Campers' Cassie Murray had 12 kills and eight blocks while Tracey Little had 11 kills and seven blocks.

The game scores were 15-7, 15-2, 13-15, and 15-4. The 3-1 loss brought a close to the Rams 1997 season with a 4-11 mark overall.

Young Laker Squad To Open Campaign At Classic Tourney

The Garrett Community College men's basketball team will open its 25th anniversary season this Friday, Nov. 7, at the Classic Tournament, hosted by Community College of Allegheny County-South Campus. On Friday the Lakers will take on host CCAC-South at 8 p.m., and Saturday they will match up against CCAC-North campus at 1 p.m.

In 1972, under the direction of Coach Denny Fearnow, Garrett Community College fielded its first intercollegiate men's basketball team and posted a 6-13 record. Members of the inaugural team included current Laker head coach Dennis Gibson and assistant coach Dave Martin. Over the past 25 years Garrett has produced 19 winning seasons, three All-Americans, a Maryland JUCO Championship title, a Region XX (Div. II) Championship title, and a sixth place finish in the NJCAA National Tournament.

The squad returns three players from last year's 19-12 team: Jerome Adams, Jimmy Pamepinto, and Ricky Berkley. Lance Loya returns after sitting out a season because of a medical red shirt. Rounding out the team are nine newcomers: Lionell Sewell, James Washington, Robert Wheeler, Brandon Jackson, Michael Fields, Chris Rhodes, Josh Bunnell, Eric Papcun, and Timmy Pitcher.

The Lakers will miss the play of VaShawne Gross, who averaged 21 points per game last season, ranking him sixth on GCC's all-time single season scoring list, but his leadership will be present in the role of student assistant coach.

Jerome Adams of Northern (Calvert County) High School was the second leading scorer, averaging 17.3 points per game last season for the Lakers, and he connected on 103 of 255 three-point goals for a 40.4% average. While at Northern, he averaged 18 points, five assists, and four steals per game for Coach Rick Weber, and was named to the Washington Post All-Metro First Team.

Sophomore guard Jimmy Pamepinto is another player in a long line of Southern High School's top competitors to play for the Lakers. Pamepinto led the Lakers in free throw shooting last season, hitting 25 of 32 for a 78.1% average, which placed him ninth on Garrett's all-time list. His credits include selection to the Southern Snowball Classic and Western Maryland All-Star Classic Tournament teams, and he was a first team All Western Maryland Interscholastic League pick.

Ricky Berkley is the first product of Meyersdale Area High School to play for GCC. He is a quick, active player who saw action in 28 games last season for the Lakers in the back-up role at the two guard position and as a defensive stopper. Berkley, under Meyersdale's head coach Bill Wiegle, averaged 12 points, 5 rebounds, and 7 steals per game and led Somerset County in steals his senior season.

Chestnut Ridge High School (Pa.) standout Lance Loya played in 29 games as a freshman during Garrett's 95/96 season and returns after missing a season because of a knee injury suffered in the off-season. Loya, a 6'2" guard, is the all-time assist leader and record holder for the most charges taken (33) for high school coach Mark Clevenger. He will see time in all three guard positions.

Lionell Sewell and Timmy Pitcher, both of Calvert High School, are preceded by a long line of Calvert High players to attend Garrett, including Laker standouts Bruce Boldley, Kenny Gross, Ronald Rhodes, and VaShawne Gross. Sewell and Pitcher helped lead Coach Bill Stewart's team to a 22-5 record and third place finish in the Maryland State Championship tournament. A starting point guard, Sewell averaged 15.5 points, 6.2 rebounds, and 7 assists per game and was voted All-County and Second-Team All-Conference. As Calvert County's Most Valuable Player and First-Team All-Conference Selection, Pitcher averaged 17 points and 4 rebounds per game. He led his team in three-point shooting and was a Washington Post All-Metro Honorable Mention Selection.

James Washington, a red shirt transfer from Hagerstown Junior College, helped lead his Forestville High School team to a 1A Championship at Cole Field House in 1995 and semifinal finish in 1996. He was an All-Prince George's County selection who averaged 20 points, 6 rebounds, and four assists per game, and was also a McDonald's All-American nominee.

A 6'6" center from Scotland High School (Pa.), Robert Wheeler was a contributing member for the Pennsylvania 1A State Championship team in 1995. He was selected to the Mid-PA Conference all-star team, and averaged 11 points and 12 rebounds per game.

Brandon Jackson, a Martinsburg High School (W.Va.) standout, was an AAA All-State Honorable Mention selection and guided his Bulldog team to a 16-6 record for Coach Vic Holmes. With his excellent defensive quickness and explosive scoring ability, he averaged 11 points, 5 rebounds, 4 assists, and 3 steals per game.

The second leading scorer in Allegany High School history, Michael Fields is the sixth Area Player of the Year to attend Garrett. He averaged 20 points, 5 rebounds, and 4 assists per game for Coach Toby Erich and was selected First-Team All-WMIL and All-Area.

Frankfort High standout Chris Rhodes led Coach Tim Foley's team in scoring, averaging 14 points and 10 rebounds per game. His accomplishments include a Sectional All-Tournament team selection.

Josh Bunnell was a member of Coach Tom Gutshall's Tucker County High School team that finished third in the West Virginia AA State Championship tournament, and led the team in scoring, averaging 16 points per game. Bunnell was selected to play in the prestigious Beckley 1A/2A versus 3A all-star game, and the Charleston North/South game. In addition, he was named Second-Team All-State.

Eric Papcun poured in 24 points and 12 rebounds per game to lead Forest Hills High School (Pa.) to a quarter-final win in the 1996 Pennsylvania State Championship Tournament. He was a Keystone State Bronze Medal winner, named First Team Laurel Highlands All-Conference, and a Big John Riley Classic invitee.

"It is honestly too early to make a prediction on our season outlook," remarked Gibson. "We are too physically small to compete inside against big teams, but our players are athletic and quick. I do like the work ethic and attitude of this team, but they are very inexperienced. No doubt I am 'riding the fence' about our season until I see how we play in games where the score counts. I can tell you this, with our guard play and the return of Jerome Adams at point guard, we will be very exciting to watch."

Mistake-Prone Rams Whipped By Campers

While many local fans thought the Southern Rams would stay close to, and possibly upset, the Campers of Allegany last Friday night at Greenway Stadium in Cumberland, the Campers took advantage of some early mistakes by the Rams, struck fast and struck hard, and coasted to a 42-0 shutout. It was one of the largest margins of defeat ever sustained by Coach Tom Woods and his staff, and it also eliminated all hopes for the Rams (4-4) to slip into the regional playoffs.

The major nemesis for the Ram defense was senior fullback David Miller, who scored touchdowns the first two times he carried the ball. He finished the first half with 167 yards and four touchdowns on 19 carries. Coach Tim Kane benched him for the entire second half, presumably to keep him healthy for the Campers' big annual clash with Fort Hill this Saturday afternoon.

Miller and the Camper offense wasted no time taking the lead for good, as the Rams kicked off to start the game and Allegany took possession on their own 40 when the kickoff went out of bounds. Miller took the handoff, was aided by a block by guard Ian Iliff, and raced 60 yards for a touchdown with just 13 seconds expired. Peter Angman kicked the first of six straight conversion points for the evening to give the Campers a 7-0 lead.

The Rams fumbled the ball away on their first possession, giving the Campers possession on Southern's 20 yard-line. Miller again took the first handoff of the one-play drive and raced down the right sideline behind guard Chris Golliday for his second touchdown. With Angman's conversion kick, it was 14-0 less than two minutes into the game (10:14).

Southern was unable to move the ball on its next possession and had to punt, giving the Campers the ball on their own 42. A pass interference call moved the ball to Southern's 42, and Miller carried the ball again, this time for 36 yards to the Ram six. The run gave him 116 yards on just three carries, and he capped the drive a few plays later with a two-yard touchdown run with 1:14 left in the first quarter.

An interception of a Chad Warnick pass by linebacker Chris Appel early in the second quarter set up Allegany's next score, as Appel returned the ball from the 18 to the Ram two-yard line. A holding penalty moved the ball back to the 10, but Ronnie Carr took a pitch to the right and reached the end zone. Angman's kick made it 28-0.

Another fumble ended the Rams' next possession, giving Allegany the ball on the Southern 36. It took the Campers 12 plays, but they were again successful, as Miller scored on a fourth-down dive from the one-yard line late in the quarter. Angman's conversion gave the Campers a commanding 35-0 halftime lead.

It was still another Ram fumble that set up the Campers' final touchdown, with Golliday recovering the ball on Southern's 38 in the third quarter. Seven plays later, Adam Schmitt scored on a 22-yard run and Angman booted his sixth extra point of the evening.

The Campers, who threw the ball only one time in the entire game (incomplete) finished with 272 yards of total offense, compared to 115 for the Rams.

"We got off to a horrible start and never recovered," stated Coach Tom Woods. "Our opening kickoff going out of bounds sort of set the tone. They scored on their first play from scrimmage, we fumbled the ball away, and they scored on their second play from scrimmage. Good teams will always capitalize on their opponents' mistakes, and they certainly did that."

Woods said that his team has been "out of synch" for the past several weeks. "The week off before the Bishop Walsh game was not good for us," he said, "and because of injuries, we have had to use several different line-ups over the past couple of weeks. We just weren't prepared to play Allegany."

Woods said that his players have put Friday's loss behind them and have had a "great" week of practice getting ready for the Northern Huskies.

"We will also be almost full strength this week," he said, noting that Tommy Diehl and Nick Dolan, who missed the Allegany game with injuries, are back in the line-up.

"We really need a win this week for impetus for our winter program," Woods said. "We have a very young team, and it will really help them if they can finish with a winning season."

Woods knows that defeating the Huskies will not be an easy task, as he believes the two teams are relatively equal this year.

"Phil Carr has done a very good job in his first year," Woods said. "He's kept the good things they've done over the past several years and he's created some new things that have really worked well."

Woods believes the Huskies' best offensive weapons are senior running back Jimmy Green, quarterback Scott Sisler, back Jeremy Hoover, fullback Joey Wilhelm, and lineman Gary O'Brien.

"Green is one of the better backs in the area; Sisler has shown very good leadership and he throws the ball deep very well, which has us concerned; Hoover is a good multi-purpose type of player who runs and blocks well; Wilhelm is a tough, hard-nose runner, even though he's not very big; and O'Brien is the mainstay on their offensive line.

"Their ability to run with an unbalanced line has really paid some good dividends," he said.

Defensively, Woods believes their top performers are Matt Houser at safety, Coty Sisler at linebacker, Hoover, and O'Brien.

"Houser also poses a real threat with his kicking," Woods said. "We believe our punting ability is similar, but they definitely have a better kicking game."

Like Coach Carr, Woods believes Friday's game could be an offensive display with many points put on the board by both teams. "Both offenses have had success this year, while our defenses have had some problems," he said. "I think the winner of the game will be which defense has the better night."

The Huskies have averaged just over 30 points per outing in their last three games.

"The real wild card for them, though, is Jimmy Green," he said. "He is so quick, and poses a real threat to score every time he gets the ball."

Woods said that the rain that is predicted for Friday will also play a factor, with the greater potential of turnovers. "I think we may have a slight advantage in the rain because of our bigger physical size," he said.

"I know that, on the weeks that we have good practices, we play well in games, and the kids have practiced very hard this week," Woods said, "so we believe they are going to play much better Friday night."

Friday's kickoff at Husky Stadium is set for 7:30 p.m.

Still further concerns are the Huskies' week off, and the calibre of the Ram coaching staff.

"With a week off, you never know for sure how that will affect your team," he said. "Southern had a week off and then just barely got by Bishop Walsh. We just might be a little rusty.

"Plus, Tom and his staff are always so well prepared," he added.

Carr said that fans will see little change in the Huskies' game plan. "There just aren't many secrets about what we will try to do, and we don't expect them to have any significant changes in their game plan," he said. "We will try to exploit a few things we saw, particularly last Friday when they played Allegany, but there will be few changes."

Carr said that he believes the game might feature a large number of points. "They've moved the ball well almost all year, but have had some trouble holding some offenses, which also describes us pretty well, so I think it could be a high-scoring game," he said, "unless the rainy weather that is predicted for Friday causes a lot of mistakes."

Carr said that his team is healthy, with the exception of defensive end Nathan Resh, who is sidelined with a shoulder injury that will probably require surgery. Resh missed several games because of an appendicitis.

"The outcome will come down to who makes the fewest mistakes and which team wants most to finish with a winning record instead of an even record," the first-year head coach said. "We're really anxious to play."

Friday's kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m., and it will be Senior Night for the Huskies.

Huskies Anxious To Host Rams For Bragging Rights

The bragging rights of Garrett County high school football will truly be up for grabs Friday night at Northern High School's Husky Stadium, when the Southern Rams and host Huskies take the field for their annual gridiron clash. It will be the final game of the season for both squads, as neither will be advancing to the playoffs, and both teams will enter the contest with 4-4 records.

"We've told our kids that this will be our playoff game for the season," Northern coach Phil Carr said, "and I'm sure Tom Woods (Southern coach) is saying something similar to his team."

The Huskies' hopes for a West Region 1A playoff spot were dashed Friday before last when they were edged by Petersburg, while the Rams watched their chances for the playoffs evaporate last Friday night in Cumberland when they were defeated by Allegany (see separate story).

"This is about as even as we have been in many years," Carr said, "and our kids are really itchin' to play. They're really focused, and we've had the best two weeks of practice of the entire season."

Carr knows precisely what to expect from Coach Woods and his staff, not only because he has seen them play several times, but he also played four years against Woods's teams when he wore a Husky uniform.

"The key for us will be to try to stop their running game," Carr said. "It's as simple as that. Coach Woods always has a strong running game. It'll be off-tackle, off-tackle, all night long. So we've really been working on that this week.

"If we can control their running game, it will force them to throw the ball," he said, "and just like us, they don't like to throw."

Carr is concerned about containing Ram quarterback Chad Warnick. "We have to try to keep him from getting outside," he said, "plus Jason Weaver and Josh Bosley are also very good backs."

Carr said he is also concerned about the physical size of the Rams, noting that they are "somewhat bigger" than the Huskies.

Lakers Advance To Tournament Finals, Take Runner-Up Trophy

The Garrett Community College women's volleyball team made it to the finals of the Maryland JUCO Region XX Tournament last weekend before being defeated by Hagerstown Junior College in the championship match. The defeat brought an end to the Lakers' season as they finished with an overall record of 30-10 for the year.

Several GCC standouts took individual season honors as Mindy McCarty was named to the first team All-Region, Erica King was named to the second team, and Andrea Barrick received honorable mention. Alexis Nogle, McCarty, and King were each named to the All-Tournament team at the conclusion of the final match.

GCC had gotten off to a fast start as the two-day tournament opened on Saturday by defeating Cecil Community College in its first match 15-11, 15-1. Andrea Barrick led the Lakers with 16 service points and six aces. Alexis Nogle was 14-for-14 on service with one ace, while Sindy Niner contributed five points. Mindy McCarty and Erica King led the attack with 15 attacks each and eight and seven kills respectively. Erica McBride added four kills in six attacks.

The win moved GCC up to the second round of the winner's circle, where they were turned back by Frederick Community College 15-11, 4-15, and 7-15. Nogle served for 16 points with three aces in the losing effort, while McBride served for 11 points and Andrea King added eight. McCarty again paced the attacks with 15, and McBride tallied 14, while King put up a solid wall on defense by going 6-for-6 on solo blocks.

The Lakers moved to the loser's bracket after the loss, where they defeated CCAC-North 15-7, 16-14. Niner and King tallied identical stats from the service line as each went 8-for-10 with one ace apiece. Four solo blocks by Barrick and 26 sets and nine assists from Nogle rounded out GCC's team effort in the win.

Garrett's next victim was Charles Community College, who fell prey by scores of 15-7 and 15-8. Barrick and King held the line on serves with 13 combined points, while McCarty had 14 attacks and King added 13 attacks. Nogle had 26 sets and eight assists.

The opening-day action ended with the Lakers going up against Frederick in the loser's bracket championship, and GCC avenged the earlier defeat by beating Frederick 15-13, 15-8. Barrick had 15 points with two aces and Nogle had 11 points with one ace. McBride served for nine points with two aces and McCarty was 22-for-27 on attack with eight kills. McBride had 16 kills, King had 14 kills, Nogle had 38 sets and McCarty set 32.

The next day's championship match pitted the Lakers against Hagerstown, but GCC came up short by scores of 4-15, 11-15, and 11-15. Nogle's 14-for-14 service tally, with 40 sets and 13 assists, led the Lakers, while McBride and Barrick each served for 10 points. McBride was also 18-for-18 on attack with six kills, King had 14 attacks with five kills, and McCarty was 14-18 also with five kills plus 27 sets and eight assists. King had six solo blocks and Barrick had four.

"It was a very disappointing loss, [especially] after hard work and determination brought us through the loser's bracket to the championship game," Lakers' head coach Margaret Quinn commented after the match. "HJC capitalized on our mistakes, as 11 service and 59 passing errors foretold the outcome, [but over the course of the season] our student-athletes represented GCC with honor and distinction."

GCC president Dr. Stephen Herman also praised the team, saying, "I am so pleased that the women took runner-up honors in the Region XX championships. They had a great season, and showed great heart and great ability all year long. The college is justly proud of them," he concluded.

Huskies Set To Host Undefeated Mt. Savage In Playoffs Tonight

In what promises to be a hard-fought grudge match, Northern's volleyballers will host Mt. Savage in a Maryland Class 1A Region semifinal match tonight. The 13-1 Huskies and the 16-0 Indians, the two best teams in the region, will clash beginning at 7 p.m. at the Huskies' Igloo in Accident.

After sweeping Hancock 3-0 in a quarterfinal match Monday night, Northern will be out to avenge its only loss of the season, which came at the hands of the Indians at Mt. Savage last month. Mt. Savage went on to take the regular season Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship. The Indians swept Clear Spring in three straight games in their quarterfinal Monday at Mt. Savage.

At Hancock Monday evening, Northern's Jenni Stephens and Laurel Wolf each served for 12 points in the 15-6, 15-5, 15-11 victory. Stephens and Wolf also led the Huskies in attacks. Hancock's Amanda Bingaman and Amanda Fleming had five kills apiece.

Tonight's match at Northern carries a storied rivalry with its history, and pits the only two teams from Garrett and Allegany counties to have won state volleyball championships in the past.

Savage River Range Slates Sight-In Day

A free sight-in day for legal firearms will be held at the Savage River shooting range on Saturday, Nov. 15, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. The 10-lane range is located on the east side of New Germany Road, five miles south of the entrance to New Germany State Park.

A Department of Natural Resources (DNR) State Forest and Park ranger will be available during this time to serve as a range officer. Several qualified volunteers will also be available to assist shooters in improving their marksmanship and fine-tuning their weapons. Donation will be accepted to make various improvements to the range, and light refreshments will be served throughout the day.

The DNR hopes that interested shooters take advantage of this event to improve hunter safety and proficiency in the field this season. Any further questions should be directed to the Savage River Headquarters at 301-895-5759.

OK, WE KNOW THAT YOU KNOW that this picture wasn't shot last week, but Big Guys Pizza of Midland, winner of the Tri-County Women's Softball Championship, just got this photo in to us recently. Big Guys Pizza defeated Glass Unlimited of Oakland in the championship games with scores of 22-11 and 10-1 on the field at Broadford Park. Pictured in the front row, left to right, are statistician Monica Kent, Jen Brandy Smith, Deidre Waites, Sparky Arbogast, Tracy Douthitt, and Julie Hoffmen. In the back row are Amy Patterson, Dawn Sloan, Cass Lashbaugh, Mindy Kirkwood, Jeanette Johnson, Tammy Long, and coach Monica Johnson. Not pictured are Jill McGowan and Jody Pebbles. Big Guys Pizza went 30-2 for the regular season and 5-1 in the playoffs.

Maryland's Junior Hunter Season Set For Nov. 15

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin reminds Maryland's outdoor enthusiasts that the one-day, statewide junior hunter deer season will be held Saturday, Nov. 15.

"This special youth deer hunting season provides an opportunity for young people to receive the undivided attention of an adult willing to pass on hunting techniques, safe gun handling skills, and the enjoyment of hunting," Griffin said. "This special day promises safe, effective, and ethical hunting for Maryland's next generation of deer hunters."

This will be Maryland's third Junior Deer Hunting Day, with participation increasing each year. In 1996 young deer hunters took 1,400 deer, compared to the 1,028 deer harvested in the inaugural 1995 season. The 1997 harvest should approach 2,000 deer if weather conditions are suitable for hunting.

One change this year in the Youth Hunt regulations will allow young hunters to take an antlerless deer statewide without an "antlerless deer permit" on the youth hunt day (Nov. 15, 1997). Young deer hunters will not need an antlerless deer permit to take antlerless deer in Allegany County (Zones 1 and 2), Frederick County (Zone 1), Garrett County (Zones 1 and 2), and Washington County (Zone 2). However, if the youth takes an antlerless deer on Nov. 15, and has successfully obtained an antlerless deer permit, the antlerless permit will no longer be valid for the regular firearms and late muzzleloader seasons.

Maryland law requires hunters to be trained in hunter education and safety. Graduating a responsible, knowledgeable and safe hunter is the goal of Maryland's Hunter Education Program, Griffin said. During the past five years, nearly 40,000 participants have completed this course.

"Outdoor recreational activities such as deer hunting require a learning period. Young deer hunters learn about deer behavior, safe firearm handling, and effective hunting techniques from older, experienced deer hunters. These experienced parents, relatives, or friends help the young deer hunter to enhance and apply the knowledge learned in Maryland's Hunter Education classes," said Griffin.

Junior hunters who want to participate in the November 15 deer hunt must: 1) possess a Maryland resident junior hunting license; or 2) be younger than 16 years of age and be exempt from Maryland hunting license requirements; or 3) be younger than 16 years of age and possess a Maryland nonresident hunting license.

Junior hunters must be accompanied in the field by a person at least 21 years of age who possesses a valid Maryland hunting license or is exempt from Maryland hunting license requirements. The adults must be unarmed; they cannot carry a firearm, bow, or any other hunting device.

Each young hunter who deer hunts on November 15 is entitled to receive a specially designed arm patch. These iron-on patches are available on November 15 at all Maryland official deer checking stations located throughout the state. The Chesapeake Chapter of Safari Club International donated the funds to purchase the blaze orange and black patches.

Maryland provides over 250,000 acres of public hunting lands. For information concerning public deer hunting opportunities, local persons may contact the Mt. Nebo Wildlife Management Area at 301-334-4255.

Garrett County Trail Guide Now Available

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the Maryland Office of Planning have announced the publication of the Garrett County Trail Guide.

Designed for the hiking or biking enthusiast or anyone who enjoys visiting Maryland's DNR State Forest and Parks system, the trail guide provides a brief history of Garrett County, historic points of interest, including the National Road, and detailed fold-out sections of local trails. The guide is designed to be used outdoors, and conveniently fits into one's coat pocket, backpack, or carrier on a bicycle.

Using computerized equipment, the trail guide was developed in cooperation with a local committee which included citizens, representatives from the Adventuresports Council and Garrett County Office of Economic Development, and staff from DNR's Resource Planning Program, the State Forest and Park Service, and the Maryland Office of Planning.

Funding for the project was provided by a $12,000 matching grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC). The first printing of the guide is free; therefore, copies are limited to one per person or family. Copies of the trail guide may be obtained from the Deep Creek Lake State Park (301-387-4111); Herrington Manor/Swallow Falls State Park (301-334-9180); Potomac/Garrett State Forest (301-334-2038); and Savage River State Forest (301-895-4353).

Persons who have questions concerning the trail guide may call the DNR Resource Planning Program at 410-260-8402 or the Maryland Office of Planning at 301-777-2158.

These words labeling a boxed item can bring chills to the spine! Remember the red tricycle...the one which nearly wasn't put together in time for the birthday party? How about that late Christmas Eve when a good night's sleep was traded for a doll house which could not remain "under construction" beneath the tree on Christmas morning?

To complete any task like this you have to read the instructions, interpret them, and assemble the object at hand one piece at a time.

God has given us instructions...very clear instructions for a beautifully designed life. They are found in the Bible...and abundant interpretation is available. Yet, some assembly is required...at your chosen house of worship each Week.

BEGIN NOW. GET IT TOGETHER!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

IN OVER YOUR HEAD?

November 9, 1996

Background Scripture:
Ezra 9:1 through 10:17
Devotional Reading:
Deuteronomy 6:1-9

You probably have never heard a sermon on Ezra 9 and 10 and you are not ever likely to do so. Why? For one thing, because the situation in these two chapters seems utterly irrelevant to our own situation today.

Who today can relate to Ezra's violent reaction in learning that many of the men of Israel have taken foreign wives? Ezra is more than a little upset: "When I heard this, I rent my garments and my mantle, and pulled hair from my head and beard, and sat appalled." And when he calls upon God in prayer, he says: "Oh my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift my face to thee, my God, for our iniquities have risen higher than our heads, and our guilt has mounted up to the heavens" (Ezra 9:3,6).

Reading that, I just could not relate, either to the reason for his concern or the depth of his response. Inter-religious marriages can certainly cause some problems, but do they call for that kind of response?

Ezra also raises a concept which waves a red flag to many of us: "the holy race has mixed itself with the peoples of the lands" (9:2b). Generally, not only do we as Christians not think of ourselves as a "holy race," but even the suggestion of this concept seems out of place in the day in which we live. I bristle when it seems that Ezra is saying that the "holy race" of Israel has been polluted because of intermarriage with other races not so holy.

ADULTERATED FAITH

After some consideration, however, I can understand Ezra's point of view. The problem is that the faith of Israel has been adulterated with the religious influence, practices and values of these pagan peoples. The intermarriage between these peoples has materially weakened and perverted the faith of Israel. And with that concern I can identify very well. The problem is not with the foreign wives per se, but with the destructive influences they have introduced to Jews returned from exile.

Actually, this is a very real and current problem for Christianity. Not because of intermarriage necessarily, but for a number of reasons I see Christianity as having been seriously watered down with ideas, values and practices which, apart from our professions of faith, render it often indistinguishable from the rest of society. At work, in the market place, in our citizenship, in our community life, in our families, what is there in the way that we live that marks us and our church as 'Christian' as distinct from the secular world?

Does the way we do our daily work or practice our profession make us any different than the way that others do? Do we run our churches according to Christian values or by the values of the market place? Does our response to "the least of these my brethren"—the hungry, the poor, the naked, the lost, the prisoners—reflect the gospel of Jesus Christ or the philosophy of our political party? Do our churches incarnate the true differences between the Church and religious clubs?

WHAT WE MUST DO

If in any way you share the belief that, like the people of Israel in Ezra's day, "our iniquities have risen higher than our heads," he has shown us what we must do about it. Ezra's prayer of confession and contrition is one of the great prayers of the Bible. Ezra does not make any alibis, but states plainly that "our guilt has mounted up to the heavens." We are told that "a very great assembly of men, women and children, gathered to him out of Israel" and "they wept bitterly."

But neither Ezra, nor the people who came to hear him, were willing to let it go at being sorry. Ezra challenged them: "Therefore let us make a covenant with God to put away all these wives and their children..." (10:3). Beyond feeling penitent the people were called to make a covenant that would produce results. I am not suggesting for one moment that we, too, ought to "put away" our spouses and children. Our situation is different and the solution most certainly is different, too.

So, beyond feeling sorry, what should we do when, as individuals and as churches, we are into the way of the world over our heads?

BITTINGER NEWS

CHURCH NEWS

Cherry Glade Mennonite Church held a special Sunday evening service, at which any person could ask any question to any pastor. According to Ida Maust, it was a "great and informative" evening.

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish celebrated "All Saints Sunday" services Sunday morning. Time of services are: at St. John's Lutheran, Meadow Mountain, 8:45 a.m.; Emmanuel Lutheran, Bittinger, 10 a.m.; and Zion Lutheran, Jennings, 11:30 a.m. The Rev. Mark Klawonn is pastor of the parish. A welcome is extended to anyone who would like to attend any service.

Abby Nicole Collins, daughter of Kim and Doug Collins, was received in Holy Baptism at Emmanuel. New members received by transfer of membership from other churches were Doug Collins and Larry Robey.

"Salt and Light," a singing and drama group from Rosedale Bible Institute, Irwin, Ohio, will present a program at Cherry Glade Mennonite Church on November 9 at 7:30 p.m.

STINGERS WIN

The Railey Realty "Stingers" soccer team finished the regular season undefeated and won the Mt. Top championship on Saturday at Friendsville. Team members from Bittinger include: Matthew Bass, Brent Housley, Torrey Poholsky, Scott Pusateri, and Claire Sussman. They are coached by Sam Housley and Lenny Poholsky.

The team celebrated its victory by trouncing the coaches with a mud bath. The parents of the team report that they are happy the season is over, as the past few weeks have been cold and wet. The Soccer Awards Dinner will be held on November 10 at Garrett Community College.

TEA, ART SHOW

Joan Sussman visited Carol Calhoun of Windrush Gallery, Friendsville, to discuss the early plans for a special Christmas Tea and Group Art Show, to be held Saturday, Nov. 22, from 4 to 8 p.m., at the gallery in Friendsville. The intent of the show is to allow the public to meet with local artists and do early gift shopping. Sussman plans to include watercolor paints of scenes of yesterday, landscape painting of all seasons, floral, wildlife, horses, Bible scenes, and fantasy scenes. She stated that this will be a good chance for the artists to launch the Christmas season and for all "to spend a pleasant and relaxing evening."

PERSONALS

Many children of the Bittinger area costumed up and made the rounds of their neighbors "Trick and Treating." Especially exciting was visiting the Southerly and Buckel area, near the peat bog, where they encountered the "Swamp Monsters."

Kenneth and Audrey Zehr, Harrisonburg, Va., were weekend guests of Katherine Bowser. They visited a number of other friends and residents of the area. Kenneth is a former pastor at Glade Mennonite Church.

Sunday dinner guests of Ida Reckner were Jim and Donna Glotfelty, Thomas and Cheryl Glotfelty and sons Tom and Timmy, Julius and Karmen Carey, and Lillian Reckner.

Barry Glotfelty, Frederick, visited his mother, Ruth DiPaolo, and his sister, Joan Sussman, and family Sunday afternoon. Also visiting the Sussmans on Sunday were Courtney Englar, as well as Mike Vokel and his daughters, Megan and Sara. Meredith Sussman spent Saturday night with the Vokels.

Gary and Sharon Buckel and daughters Leslie and Candy, and Rose Buckel were Sunday dinner guests of Sharon's parents, Harold and Mabel Griffith, Friendsville. Leslie and Candy, students at Frostburg University, spent the weekend home with their family.

Charlotte (Maust) and Phillip Tice moved into a new rental home along Rock Lodge Road this past weekend. They will enjoy more space for their four children and being close to her parents, Ehner and Ida Maust.

Ruth DiPaolo attended an afternoon of fellowship and music at the home of David and Irene Eyer at the Lake for GLAF and GCAC board members. Dr. David Sheetz and Susan Peterson were the guest musicians.

Claire Sussman was a Friday evening guest of her friend, Carrie McKeever, in McHenry. They attended the Halloween Dance at Northern Middle School Friday night.

Lea Stanton and roommate Allison Searles, students at Frostburg State University, spent the weekend with Lea's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stanton.

Saturday overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Buckel were his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. David Buckei, Kentucky. Leslie and Candy Buckel, Frostburg State University students, were Sunday morning guests of their parents. Mrs. Rose Buckel was also a guest when Sharon and Gary entertained with a Sunday morning breakfast for all their guests.

Bill Stanton, Columbus, Ohio, and Lucretia Stanton were Sunday lunch guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Southerly and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Buckel, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Montgomery, Shane Buckel and Aaron Stanton attended the WVU/Va. Tech football game at Morgantown on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Southerly and sons visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Resh Sunday following church.

Saturday afternoon guests of Joan Sussman were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Schlosnagle, Accident, to get a final touch for their costumes for the GLAF Benefit Party.

Michelle Geis, student at Virginia Tech, Blacksburg, Va., spent a recent weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Housley and Brent. Michelle is majoring in interior design, following in the footsteps of her mother Ellen, who is a local designer.

The weather was truly miserable in Bittinger over the weekend and kept many people indoors. The drab days with rain and drizzle made some people look forward to some snow, which brings some bright light and covers up the mud and soggy leaves. Many Steeler fans were happy to stay inside and watch their Steelers go on to victory.

The social scene this week in Bittinger was a quiet one. No one worked up much enthusiasm for the World Series. Nine out of 10 in an informal poll said, "I don't really care this year because the Pirates or Orioles are not involved." Over half the people polled were going to root for the Mariners. Sally Poholsky and Joan Sussman were especially going to root for the Mariners as they are big fans of Jim Leyland, former manager of the Pirates. The Cleveland Indians gained some support because they have long struggled for the championship.

Claire and Caitlin Sussman were Saturday overnight guests of their friends, Meagan and Amy Shaffer, in McHenry. Meredith Sussman and Emma, Scott, and Matthew Bass spent Saturday evening with their grandmother, Ruth DiPaolo. Meredith and Emma were overnight guests.

NEW MEMBERS ON BOARD - Two new board members were elected at the annual meeting of the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library held recently. Pictured here are Gretchen B. Shaffer, left, and Joyce Schroyer as they prepare to begin work on behalf of the library system. Introducing Panelcraft Building Systems

The House of Tomorrow is Here Today!
Cool When It's Hot, Cozy When It's Not!
Customer satisfaction is our #1 goal.

PANELCRAFT

These houses are built with Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs).
Using SIPs requires less construction time and leaves the customer with a draft-free Energy Efficient Home at an affordable price!
At Panelcraft, these Panels go through a special bonding process to create a Structural Panel far superior to using just the insulation by itself in a conventional frame building.
The material used for the insulation is called Polystyrene, the same thing that is used for styrofoam coffee cups. Not only does 1/16 of an inch of Polystyrene protect your fingers from being burned from the scorching hot coffee, it also keeps them dry!
Now if only 1/16 inch will do this, imagine what 4 to 6 inches will do in your home to keep the warm and the dry inside and keep the cold and the dampness outside!
Oh! By the way all you carpenters and do-it-yourselfers, etc., no more itching and scratching and coughing while insulating a house!
Panel homes have withstood earthquake activity where others crumbled.
If you would like to know more about Panelcraft and why SIPs are one of the fastest growing building techniques in the industry, call or write:

Tax Relief Act Set To Benefit College Students

The Tax Relief Act of 1997 will provide new ways to help students pay for higher education beginning this coming year, according to Garrett Community College and the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC). Both the HOPE tax credit and the Lifetime Learning credit will be available to eligible students beginning in January.

According to information recently released by the AACC, the HOPE tax credit applies to the first two years of post-secondary education begun after Dec. 31 of this year. An eligible student can receive a tax credit of up to $1,500 for qualified tuition and fees paid in 1998 for education starting in that year.

Restrictions on the HOPE tax credit set maximum income levels, and students who have been convicted of a felony for the possession or distribution of a controlled dangerous substance are ineligible. Students who receive other forms of financial aid such as a Pell Grant will have the amount of their eligibility for the HOPE credit reduced by the amount of aid they receive.

While the HOPE tax credit has been developed especially for students at community colleges or others in the first two years of post-secondary education, another provision of the Tax Relief Act, the Lifetime Learning credit, applies to college juniors, seniors, graduate students, adults returning to college and students attending less than half-time.

4-H Club News

COVE KIDS
by Rachel Schmidt, Reporter

The regular meeting of the Cove Kids 4-H Club was held on October 14 at St. John's Lutheran Church in the Cove near Accident. The meeting was called to order by Beth Long, vice president. The pledges were led by Josh Tackett and Lindsay Swearman. Roll call was answered by naming a fall activity.

In September the group had a hay ride and hot dog roast. It was reported that John Schmidt bought Beth Long's lamb that was donated back to the club by The Republican newspaper. Several club members visited Debbie Stemple and presented her with a fruit basket.

The club voted to purchase four food shares to donate to families during the month of November. Our Christmas dinner will be held on Thursday, Dec. 11, at 6:30 p.m. at St John's Lutheran Church.

Melissa Collins demonstrated how to work a puppet. She showed us how to move the mouth and hold a puppet correctly. Melissa did this same demonstration at the Garrett County Fair and was told that hers was the best demonstration all week and that she should model for others how to do a perfect demonstration.

Rachel Schmidt demonstrated "How Age and Activity Affects a Dog" for her Veterinary Science project. She showed how the heart rate changes when a dog runs, rests, and plays.

The next meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 13. Melissa Collins will have the refreshments.

Spaghetti Dinner, Silent Auction, Music Event Noted

A spaghetti dinner with some additional attractions is being planned as a fund-raising event to benefit the Bolivian Mission Project. A silent auction, music, and a slide show will also be provided to entertain those who attend the dinner.

Pleasant Valley Community Center will host this affair on Saturday, Nov. 15, 4-8 p.m. Items for the silent auction will be displayed and those wishing to bid may do so by noting an amount on the card beside the item. Bidding will continue until 7:30 p.m.

Dinner will be served until 8 p.m. with a gospel hymn sing beginning at 6:00 and continuing until 8:30 p.m. Featured singers for the evening are Karen Scheermesser, Harrisonburg, Va., Steve and Erica Lewis, Oakland, and Heaven's Mountain Band, Oakland.

Members of the Bolivian Mission group hosting this activity are volunteers sponsored by the Assembly of God Churches and supported by interdenominational efforts. They travel to Bolivia annually to assist in poor, rural communities.

The current focus of fund-raising is the planned construction of a drug rehabilitation center in a Bolivian community. The goal of the drive is to raise $70,000. The proceeds of the spaghetti dinner, gospel hymn sing, and auction will benefit this fund.

The cost of the dinner will be $5 for those age 11 and older, $3 for children ages 3-10, and children age 2 and under will be free.

Anyone wishing more information about this event, directions to the community center, or to order meal tickets may call Connie Skipper at 301-387-5227, Karen DeWitt at 301-334-4498, or Suzie Fike at 301-334-4840.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS recently made a donation to S.A.L.T. Grand Knight John Toston of Oakland Council 1771, left, is pictured as he presented the check to Bill Heise, chairman of the Garrett County branch of Seniors and Law Enforcement Together. The funds will be used in the efforts of the organization to reduce crimes against the elderly.

THANK YOU!

The Gorman VFD would like to announce the winners of our ticket drawing on October 26, 1997, at our annual Buckwheat dinner. We had two winners, each one-half of hog donated to us by Doug Fitzwater, and they were Richard Alt of Petersburg, WV, and Bill Bever of Swanton, MD. The other hog donated to us by Doug was used in sausage for our dinner. Again, we thank everyone who helped us make our annual dinner a huge success, especially Doris, who prepared the cakes for us and a very fine job she did. Also, thanks to the Steyers Brothers and Mr. Dixon for donating the pure maple syrup for our cakes. Again, thank you everyone who volunteered and/or donated in any way to help us in return help our commuity.

COVER STORY

ABC's Into Thin Air falls short of a lofty goal

By Suzanne Gill
©TVData Features Syndicate

Peter Horton

In a world full of creature comforts, some people long for life-and-death challenges. On a planet crowded by 5 billion people, many long to be known as individuals.

Perhaps these are a couple of reasons why dozens of people attempt to climb Mount Everest each year: not only because it is there, but also to show that they are, too.

On May 10, 1996, journalist-climber Jon Krakauer stood on top of the world, but he returned from Everest devastated by the experience.

"Attempting to climb Everest is an intrinsically irrational act – a triumph of desire over sensibility," he writes in Into Thin Air, his memoir of the expedition, which has been adapted into the TV movie Into Thin Air: Death on Everest, airing Sunday, Nov. 9, on ABC.

Forty-four years after Edmund Hillary made his historic ascent, Everest is littered with abandoned equipment and the bodies of those who thought they were prepared to survive Earth's most unforgiving mountain, whose altitude causes brain swelling and hallucinations and on which snowstorms blow up in minutes.

An experienced climber attempting Everest is audacious enough, but there is no gatekeeper at the foot of the Himalayas, and anyone with $65,000 can find a way onto the mountain, often compromising the safety of everyone in his climbing party in the process.

Tragedy struck Krakauer's party, a group of 49 that included organizers, Sherpas and paying clients. Mistakes were made and risks were taken that might have gone unpunished at sea level, but at 29,000 feet there was a heavy price to pay.

Krakauer's account of the events was originally published in Outside magazine, which paid for his expedition to Everest. To help exorcise the demons that clung to him, he wrote his accessible book.

The fatal flaw in Robert Avrech's screenplay is that he retains the book's narrative viewpoint, looking back on events rather than head-on as they unfold.

Christopher McDonald (Veronica's Closet) plays Krakauer, with Peter Horton (Murder Live) as Scott Fischer. Nathaniel Parker portrays co-leader Rob Hall, and Jeff Perry (Nash Bridges) plays Doug Hansen.

To a laudable degree, executive producer Bernard Sofronski and director Robert Markowitz cast actors who resemble their real-life counterparts, and they filmed with a cast and crew of 150 at an elevation of 11,000 feet in the Austrian Alps.

But this realism is confounded by a gaggle of unsympathetic characters.

Rushing headlong toward the disaster at its climax, the film begins by telling how many will die and how preventable this tragedy was.

It skips such exposition as Krakauer's qualifications and focuses on the other characters' faults, except in the case of Hall, the film's tragic hero.

Spread out on the mountain, the climbers' parka-covered figures are indistinguishable, and with its 20-20 hindsight, the voice-over narrative is studied and detached. Almost every rule of tragic drama is broken.

IN FOCUS

Christopher Reeve shares his thoughts about living with a physical disability in "What Are You Staring At?," a special edition of Nick News airing Tuesday, Nov. 11, on Nickelodeon.

Reeve and journalist John Hockenberry, who was paralyzed in a car accident, join a panel of children to discuss what it is like to be physically challenged or to have a friend or family member with a disability.

The program is hosted by Linda Ellerbee.

Hayley Mills

Q: My husband says that Donna and Hayley Mills are sisters. I find that hard to believe. Are they related at all? –Mary, Colorado Springs, Colo.

A: No, the two are not related. Hayley, who currently is touring the United States in The King and I, is the sister of Juliet Mills, who starred in the 1970-71 ABC sitcom Nanny and the Professor. They are the daughters of Academy Award-winning actor John Mills (Ryan's Daughter) and playwright Mary Hayley Bell.

Q: I've been seeing a lot of hype for the "all-new" game show Pictionary, starring Alan Thicke, but I seem to recall the same game show airing a few years ago starring Vicki Lawrence. Am I imagining things? –Zach via e-mail.

A: No, Lawrence hosted a 1987-89 NBC game show called Win, Lose or Draw, which, in the words of Total Television author Alex McNeil, "resembled the home game of Pictionary." The late Bert Convy hosted a 1987-90 syndicated version of the same show.

Q: Who was the first Superman in the movies? Someone recently told me it was the father of Christopher Reeve, who later played the role himself. –C. Bernard Brown, Saint John, N.B.

A: Kirk Alyn, who was the first live-action man of steel in 1948's Superman serial, is not related to Reeve.

I'm sure that the rumor you cite stems from persistent confusion over the fact that, before Reeve, the best-known Superman was actor George Reeves, whose last name, coincidentally, is very similar.

Q: What relation is Jake Busey to Gary Busey? The resemblance is remarkable. –Lamonica via e-mail.

A: Jake is Gary's son.

Q: What was the name of the Lindsay Wagner TV movie in which a woman was saved from a near-death experience in a swimming pool, only to be haunted from that point by dark spirits? –Kris Gross, Fostoria, Ohio.

A: From the Dead of Night (1989).

Q: My sister has been arguing that Anjelica Huston and Whitney Houston are half sisters. Would you please straighten her out? –Nell, Agana, Guam.

A: They're not related.

Q: A friend of mine was an extra in a Claire Danes movie called Polish Wedding, which was made in Detroit last year. Do you know when the movie will be on TV or in theaters? –Debbie Z., Ypsilanti, Mich.

A: As of this writing, Polish Wedding will open in theaters next March. Danes stars with Gabriel Byrne and Lena Olin.

A commuter story line for Law & Order, Homicide

By Suzanne Gill
©TVData Features Syndicate

Fans of NBC's no-nonsense crime dramas will be treated this week to the second crossover story line in as many years. "Baby It's You" begins Wednesday, Nov. 12, on Law & Order and concludes Friday, Nov. 14, on Homicide: Life on the Street.

Both series are taped on the East Coast, in the cities where they are set.

"Both series stand alone quite well," observes Rene Balcer, the West Coast-based executive producer of Law & Order. "But it is interesting when we can have the characters mix it up."

The story begins as Detectives Briscoe and Curtis (Jerry Orbach, Benjamin Bratt) investigate the death of a 14-year-old fashion model in New York. The trail leads to the victim's home in Baltimore.

"This time I wanted it to be different, not just a story that we have our cops investigate, followed by a trial, with a thread left undone (that takes it) to Baltimore (for Part 2)," Balcer says.

"I had the idea of (New York prosecutor) McCoy (Sam Waterston) trying the case in Baltimore, in unfamiliar territory."

Jurisdictional disputes are a natural consequence of the crossover – on both sides of the camera. NBC may think of them as sister dramas, but the series remain rivals. Balcer sums up their latest collaboration with the wary enthusiasm of a United Nations diplomat.

"For the writers, it gives us something new to chew on. For the critics, it gives them something new to write about. For the network, it gives them a new angle to promote. It keeps everybody happy."

And if not happy, at least entertained.

Actors who also are World War II veterans include Charles Durning and Rod Steiger.

Two U.S. presidents are buried at Arlington National Cemetery: William Taft and John F. Kennedy.

Birders Offering Scholarships For Audubon Camps

Teachers, park rangers, camp counselors, and others who work with youth may want to compete for summer ecology or ornithology scholarships offered by the Maryland Ornithological Society (MOS). Applications are now being accepted and must be submitted by January 31, 1998.

Bob Rineer, MOS president, urged those who work with youth to apply for a scholarship that could send them to National Audubon Society camps or workshops in Maine, Connecticut, or Wyoming. Said Rineer, "MOS has received many letters from former recipients about their valuable experiences at these summer workshops. If you work with youth nature education, you will not want to miss out on this opportunity to learn more about ecology, conservation, and natural history through field study and instruction."

The MOS grants cover the cost of tuition, room, and board for an intensive six to seven days of study. Seven ecology and two ornithology scholarships will be awarded in 1998.

Applicants must be at least 18 years of age and work with young people in nature education. Although they need not be members of MOS, applicants must be endorsed by a member or chapter. Each candidate must provide a written statement about how the Audubon experience will help them develop in young people an appreciation of the wild heritage and a sense of responsibility for the care and quality of natural resources. Applications must also include two or more letters from people who know the candidate's interests and activities. Candidates are also encouraged to submit a current résumé.

MOS, the premier bird conservation organization in Maryland, has sent many youth leaders to these sessions over the last several years. Winners of 1997 MOS scholarships came from Baltimore, Cecil, Montgomery, Prince George's, and Worcester counties. "Aside from the unique educational experience offered, workshops and camps are situated in some of the most beautiful parts of our country and provide invaluable contacts with others in the field of nature education," Rineer said.

Those interested should send cover letter, written statement, résumé, and letters of reference to Isa Sieracki, Chair, MOS Scholarship Committee, 792 Everist Drive, Aberdeen, MD 21001. Additional information regarding the various Audubon summer programs can be obtained from the Registrar, Audubon Camps and Workshops, 613 Riversville Road, Greenwich, CT 06831.

Scout Leader Idea Sharing Pow Wow Set

The Potomac Boy Scout Council will host a safari theme Pow Wow Dec. 6, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Westernport Elementary School, Westernport.

This event will provide a forum for trainers and leaders to share ideas for den and pack program activities. Each leader will be able to choose from a variety of sessions scheduled. "Make and Take" projects will also be offered.

There will be a midway set up featuring ideas for den and family games, gathering-time activities, and displays of pack crafts. Leaders are asked to bring craft samples and copies of skit and ceremony ideas to share at the "trading post."

Leaders will participate in the ceremonies, games, songs, and program activities. There will also be literature available for sale.

A blue and gold luncheon will be held during which Family Pack Night ideas will be discussed. The cost is $8.

Information letters and registration forms will be mailed to registered leaders. Prizes will be given for early bird registration.

Anyone wishing more information may contact the Potomac Council at 301-729-1300.

Yommer, Resh Families Meet

The 15th annual Yommer-Resh reunion was held recently at Grantsville Park, with approximately 85 persons in attendance from the states of Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Georgia.

Persons receiving awards were: Dorothy Burow, Grantsville, eldest woman present; Homer Butler, Jefferson, Ohio, eldest man present; Kayla McKenzie, Meyersdale, Pa., youngest girl present; Bradley Hoyman, Grantsville, youngest boy present; and Cathy Slaney, Georgia, traveled the farthest. Other prizes were awarded to the winners of various games.

The 1998 reunion will be held the third Saturday of August at Grantsville Park.

State's Healthy Economy Keeps Pace With National Growth

"Recently released figures show that for the first three quarters of 1997, total employment in Maryland gained about 2.2%, keeping pace with the national average. Maryland employment has shown its greatest growth in business services, such as computer and personnel services and communications, including new technologies. Construction has also been a growth area, reflecting commercial construction activity," State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said in remarks to the Cecil County Chamber of Commerce today, October 30.

"This growth is reflected in the local income tax that our office collects for the 23 counties and Baltimore City at rates set by the local officials. Our office is finishing up the distribution of local income tax revenues for tax year 1996, accounting for returns filed with extensions, and those numbers show steady economic growth in Maryland. For tax year 1996, our office has sent about $1.8 billion to Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City in local income tax revenues, a 7.8% increase over what we returned the previous tax year. State and local income tax revenues have benefited from job and wage growth as well as from the overall rise of the stock market, which has led to a growth of well over 20% in capital gains reported by state income taxpayers in each of the past two years," Goldstein said.

Garrett County's share of the income tax for 1996 increased 6.23%.

The comptroller pointed out that Maryland is also in a better situation than the rest of the nation when it comes to federal employment. "While federal employment in Maryland has been declining, the rate of decline has been lower than at the national level for the past year," he said. "This is in large part because of the relocation of civilian and military personnel from other states to the Patuxent River Naval Air Base in St. Mary's County.

"Maryland is in good economic shape. And, just as importantly, we are laying the foundation for a bright business future with the growth of high-tech industries and with a balanced economy that doesn't depend on just one employment sector for its success," he said.

GCC Exhibition Features Local Woodcarvings

The Bausch and Lomb Art Gallery of Garrett Community College is featuring an exhibit of wood sculptures by Grantsville-area artist Dennis Ruane. The show is open to the public from tomorrow, Nov. 7, through Nov. 25, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and during special events on weekends. The public is invited to an opening reception planned for this Saturday, Nov. 8, from 8 to 10 p.m.

This show, which marks Ruane's twentieth year as a woodcarver, will include a collection of nearly 30 recent pieces, including a special collection of new and unusual treenware pieces carved from trees.

Ruane's style has been described as "contemporary [while] it often hints at his folk art roots." He specializes in hardwood sculpture using woods native to this area, and his repertoire includes a wide range of subjects, often depicting the wildlife of the Allegheny mountains. While the greater portion of his time is involved with large projects, he still fashions about 1,000 pieces of treenware a year.

A native of Hopwood, Pa., Ruane began carving while a graduate student at the University of Wisconsin in Madison in the late 1970s. His early influence was American folk sculpture and folk art in general, which led him to explore an interest in wooden bowls and spoons made from sections of trees. Two years after first taking up the hammer and chisel he began selling his spoons in a Madison shop and shortly thereafter ceased his nutritional science studies and began carving for a living.

An invitation from the Penn Alps Artisan Village in Grantsville brought Ruane back to this area, and he has lived in Garrett County for the past 12 years. He owns his own studio at the Fuller-Baker log house in Grantsville.

THE WOODCARVINGS OF DENNIS RUANE will be featured in an exhibit at Garrett Community College's Bausch and Lomb Art Gallery throughout November. An opening reception is scheduled at the gallery for this Saturday, Nov. 8, from 8 to 10 p.m., where the public is invited to come and meet the artist. Pictured are two of the Grantsville artist's works, both carved from logs cut from local trees. Above, two dancers are captured in motion in the wood medium, while below an owl maintains a vigilant watch from his perch, perfectly still, exactly as an owl in nature would be as he scanned for a field mouse supper from high above.

Q. My grandparents were from Turkey. When they died, they left me an old doll with a wooden face. It's a man dressed in a native Turkish costume. I think he's made from papier-mâché. He is marked "Ertugrul O Zsoy Turk El Isleri Ataturk Bulwari." Is this a one-of-a-kind thing? Are there more like it?

A. There probably are more like it. The mark you describe was used on dolls made in Turkey in the 1930s.

Q. Do you have any information on the age or value of a Mira music box my family inherited? It came with 52 metal tune-sheet discs, and it is in working order. The pamphlet with it is signed by the maker, Mermod Fréres.

A. Your family inherited something of value! Fréres made fine music boxes in Switzerland at the turn of the century.

The Miras are the size of cabinets, not like the tabletop music boxes we think of today. One sold recently for $7,400 — with just one of the metal discs. Yours likely would sell for much more.

Q. My mother collects aluminum baskets. She has several marked "Everlast Hand Forge." What is their value?

A. Aluminum baskets made by Everlast Hand Forge in the 1940s and '50s sell for about $30. There is a new interest in aluminum gifware items.

Home Tips

HANDY MEALS — As a widow living far from my children, I really appreciate it when my daughter comes to visit. Each time, she brings a cooler full of frozen meals.

When she prepares her family's meals, she puts a portion aside for me. I just pop them in the microwave after thawing. Lilly M., Jackson, Miss.

BATTERY KNOW-HOW — Many people don't know that by investing in a cheap battery checker, they can cut battery purchases by 30 to 40 percent.

If your battery-operated unit uses multiple batteries and has a motor in it, it will drain the energy from one battery first then quit because there is not enough voltage to continue to run the unit.

At this point, most people discard all the batteries and replace them. However, if they had checked the batteries first, they would have noticed that only one battery had discharged and needed replacing. Frank G., Hagerstown, Md.

BISCUITS — I cut both ends out of a can of mushrooms and use the can to cut my tea biscuits. They are a nice size — not big and not too small. Rita C., Flower Mound, Texas

COOKING SPRAY — Apply non-stick cooking spray to plastic wrap or foil. Then wrap iced desserts. The spray will prevent icing from sticking when unwrapped. Jane V., Lake Wales, Fla.

PAINT TIP — Before I start painting any room in the house, I open the gallon container and with a hammer and nail, punch holes along the rim of the can so the paint will run back inside instead of outside the can. It works great! Edna L., Youngstown, Ohio

CONSIDERATE NEIGHBOR — When going into the grocery store, it's nice to take a cart in with you from the parking area. Or, you can offer to return one that someone is unloading. Others may catch on and do the same thing. Maria D., Rochester, N.Y.

Eleanor Roosevelt: First Lady of the World

Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, born in 1884, was the daughter of Teddy Roosevelt's younger brother Elliott and society beauty Anna Hall. She grew into a homely, serious girl. Her disappointed mother remarked, "You're so plain that you have really nothing to do except be good."

Eleanor devoted her life to doing good, the October issue of Biography magazine recounts. Her mother died of diphtheria when Eleanor was 8. Two years later, her adored father, forever in the shadow of his famous brother, died of drink. At 15, Eleanor entered a girls' boarding school and blossomed, absorbing the headmistress' ardent belief in service to others.

Returning to New York in 1902, she volunteered to teach poor immigrant children. After a brief courtship, her dashing cousin, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, proposed. Eleanor quit her job and had six children. She was a dutiful but indifferent mother, supporting FDR's rising political career

In 1918, she found a packet of love letters to her secretary in Franklin's suitcase. The marriage survived in name only as they moved to separate bedrooms and lives. In 1921, FDR contracted polio. While he spent much of the next decade rehabilitating, Eleanor grew active in a range of progressive causes.

When he became Governor of New York, Eleanor was his legs, tirelessly crisscrossing the state to inspect prisons, public-works projects and hospitals. FDR's presidency — and the Depression — further expanded the first-activist First Lady's influence. Liberals adored her Anti-Eleanor pins including "Who Elected Her?" became a Republican fixture.

After FDR's death in his fourth term, her work continued. President Truman, calling her "first lady of the world," appointed her to the U.N. She advised President Kennedy on creating the Peace Corps. In her seventy-ninth year, she died of TB — a woman born to wealth and wed to power who dealt with life's tragedies and disappointments through service to others.

Mattingly Home On Red Cross Holiday Tours

The Garrett Highway home of John and Tammy Mattingly will be among those included in this year's Home for the Holidays house tours, a fund-raiser for the local chapter of the American Red Cross. The event, which includes five local homes, will take place on Friday, Dec. 5, 4-9 p.m., and Saturday, Dec. 6, 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The contemporary house was built in 1989 and the Mattinglys refer to it as a "country home with some modern touches." The ranch-style dwelling will be decorated for the Christmas season, with several trees throughout.

The house is located along Rt. 219 south, just over a mile from the Oakland intersection. It is on the left, across from Monte Vista Road. The house is situated atop a hill, which provides for a spectacular view of the Garrett County countryside throughout each season.

"Our home does not have the history that many homes in past tours have had, nor it is a fancy home," the couple stated. "It is simply where we live and raise our family, and we invite you to come share a little of your holiday with us."

Tickets are $5 for the five-home tour and are available at Flowers By Webers, Arrowhead Market, and Proudfoot's, Englander's, Deep Creek, and Gregg's pharmacies. The proceeds will directly benefit the local chapter of the Red Cross.

Articles featuring the other homes will appear in future issues of The Republican.

MATTINGLY HOME TO BE ON RED CROSS TOUR - The home of John and Tammy Mattingly, situated along Garrett Highway just outside of Oakland, will be among those in this year's Red Cross Home for the Holidays tours, slated for the first weekend in December. See story.

The sale will be held in the lower level of the church across from Southern High School on Church Lane.

RoadRunners Set Free Community Lunch In Crellin

The Roadrunners, the planning group for the Crellin, Rosedale, and Hutton communities, with assistance from AmeriCorps at the Garrett County Health Department, will be hosting a free lunch for residents of Crellin, Rosedale, and Hutton on Saturday, Nov. 15, at 12 noon in the Crellin Community Building.

All residents of these three towns are invited for an afternoon of "food, fun, and community building." Drawings will be held to give away three frozen turkeys with fixings of cranberry sauce and croutons. There will also be a pumpkin pie cakewalk, where participants will have the opportunity to win free pumpkin pics as well.

"This program is part of AmeriCorps at the Garrett County Health Department's effort to provide communities with safe, fun and secure alternative activities and prevent alcohol, tobacco, and drug abuse," said Michael Gibbons, AmeriCorps resource person for the Health Department's prevention grant programs. "AmeriCorps will be working with the Crellin, Rosedale, and Hutton Community Planning Group, and other existing community groups, as well as assisting in the formation of new ones by offering funding and support," he said.

For more information about the upcoming lunch and other AmeriCorps community-building activities, interested persons may contact AmeriCorps at the Garrett County Health Department by calling 301-334-8122.

Red Ribbon Week Alerts Students To Many Dangers

National Red Ribbon Week was recognized in Garrett County schools last week through a variety of programs. Though the vehicle differed from school to school, the message remained the same -- one must remain alert to dangers and side effects that can result from use of drugs and alcohol.

At Northern High School the program was coordinated by Joanny Martin and the other members of the Maryland Student Assistance Program team. The culminating activity for the education and awareness week was one that students greeted with cheers and laughter. The theme of the week had been "Steer Clear of Drugs" and the final event took the form of a wagon race on the track, with guest announcer John Braskey, Adventure Sports DNR Liaison.

NASCAR driver Jeff Thomas displayed his race car at the track. He spoke to the students about the need to keep a clear head when behind the wheel of any vehicle. Cumberland Raceway owner Ben Evans also addressed the students on the dangers of drug and alcohol use. "NASCAR has a zero tolerance for drug use," he told them.

To make the event a true race, flagman Tom Martin of Cumberland Raceway showed the students the flags used on the race track and also spoke about the need to remain alert at the wheel.

Each class at NHS, grades 9-12, and teachers entered a decorated wagon and a team. Each wagon had one rider and one puller dressed in coveralls. There were three pit-stops around the track, where new riders and pullers took over, after an exchange of cover-alls.

It was noted by several spectators at the second pit-stop that the teachers were allegedly cheating. It was reported that the waiting puller for the teachers' team was already dressed in coveralls and did not exchange garb with the previous puller.

It was a race to the finish with crowds cheering. The checkered flag came down as the senior class winning wagon crossed the finish line, ending the Steer Clear of Drugs NASCAR racing event and Red Ribbon Week at Northern High.

Pandora's Box Teen Health Theater, sponsored by AmeriCorps at the Garrett County Health Department, took their show on the road for Red Ribbon Week.

Traveling to five county elementary schools, the cast of Pandora's Box, consisting of Northern and Southern high school students, performed skits written and directed by the group's members. The message conveyed by the actors underscored the health hazards and risks in alcohol use and cigarette smoking.

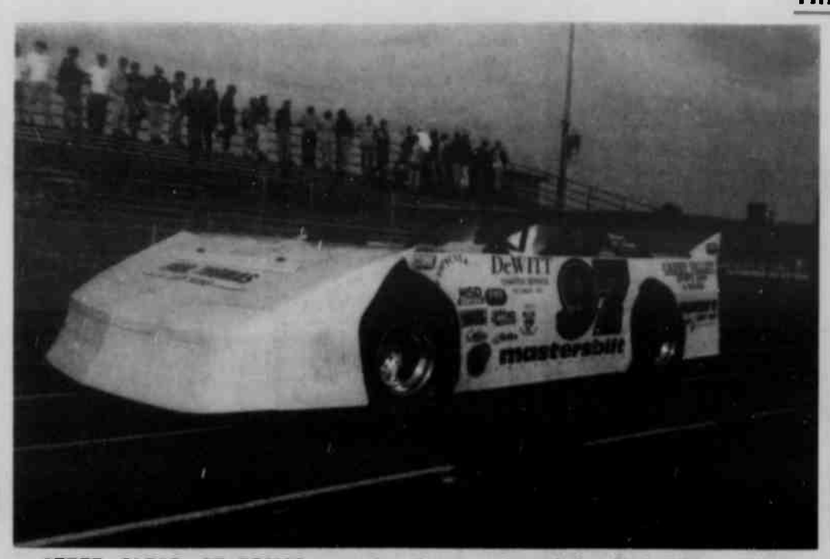
Jill Holler, director of the theater project, said she felt the red ribbon production was a success. "The kids enjoyed the comedy in the skits, but they also seemed to hear the messages," she said. She also said the high school student actors provided good role models for the younger children.

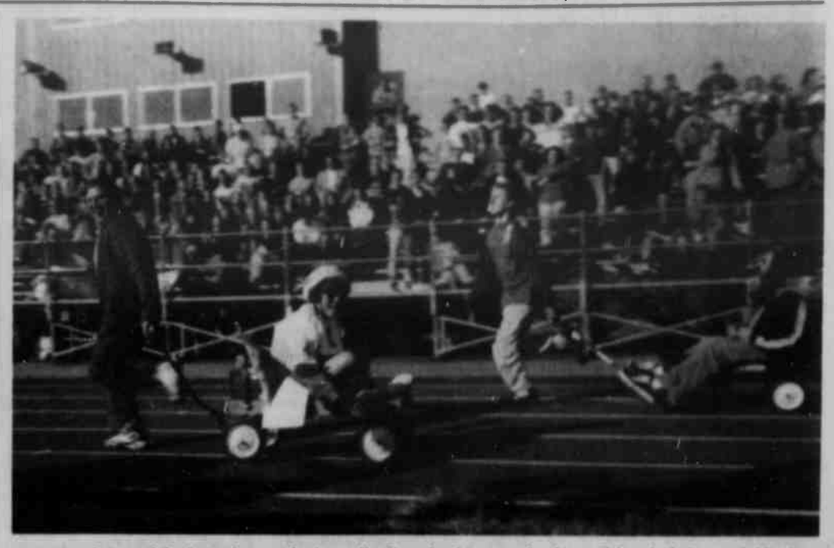
During Red Ribbon Week at Southern High School, a health department display provided information to students during lunch periods each day. Tables were set up with hand-outs and information on topics, including explanations of the Maryland zero tolerance law for underage drinking.

Bottles were displayed that looked, at first glance, to be beer or liquor bottles. Actually, the labels named various effects that alcohol abuse can have on the consumer including, pneumonia and malnutrition.

Key rings were available in which a quarter can be stored. This is to remind a person that if he or she has been drinking, to call a friend for a ride and not to drive.

These varied programs, created this year by health professionals and educators, all served to reinforce the message of hidden dangers in drugs and alcohol.





STEER CLEAR OF DRUGS was the theme selected for Red Ribbon Week at Northern High School. The culminating activity of the week was the creation of a NASCAR raceway on the school track. The driver of the amazing vehicle pictured above is Jeff Thomas, who spoke to the students about keeping a clear head when driving. He took his car for a lap around the track before the main event. Not quite up to the standards of Thomas' car, the 10th graders' entry in the Red Ribbon NASCAR event, pictured below, is ready to roll. Car designers Audrey Friend, left, and Marissa Ryan posed for a picture before the racing event took its toll on their artistry. When flagman Tom Martin waved the start of the relay event, wagons powered by students and teachers, pictured right, roared down the track. There was a rumor that the team of teachers, pictured in the foreground, cheated. Could it be true?

THERE'S A HIDDEN MESSAGE HERE - As part of an instructional component of Red Ribbon Week, information on dangers related to alcohol abuse are discussed with Southern High School students by Garrett County Health Department outreach workers. The bottles being examined may look like standard beer bottles, but they are labeled with names of health risks associated with abuse such as pneumonia and malnutrition. Left to right are students Missy Simmons and Jaramiah Johnson with Gail Dever and David Hauger of the health department. Pictured below is another method of sharing insights into hidden dangers. Taking the stage in original skits, Northern and Southern High School students, who are members of Pandora's Box Teen Health Theater, informed Broad Ford Elementary School students of risks involved in the use of alcohol and tobacco. The skits were humorous in part, but the message was deadly serious. (see story)

Major Initiatives Address Pork Production/Environmental Concerns

The National Pork Producers Council (NPPC), in cooperation with the National Pork Board, is launching two innovative programs designed to address the environmental challenges facing pork production throughout the nation. The programs will help carry the industry into the 21st century.

The On-Farm Odor Management Assistance Program is designed to identify specific on-farm odor problems and suggest appropriate engineering, biological or other management solutions. NPPC will work with state pork producer associations to provide timely and beneficial information and assistance to pork producers on odor abatement strategies. "In this way we hope to alleviate odor problems associated with pork production through industry-wide understanding and the use of effective management practices," said NPPC president Jerry King, an Illinois pork producer.

Under the program, an army of environmental experts will be established. It will be composed of various experts, such as active and retired Natural Resources Conservation Service environmental engineers, Extension Service Ag Engineers and private engineers. A team of experts will visit and document deficiencies causing odor at all pork production operations requesting such assistance. With the producer's permission, the visiting party will offer appropriate remedies for minimizing odor.

Participating producers in the On-Farm Odor Management Assistance Program will be informed of what they must do to secure federal/state cost sharing or incentive funds, where applicable. In some instances, private certified engineers may be used to assist and design appropriate solutions. In those situations, NPPC will pay for the private certified engineers' time to provide the needed services.

The On-Farm Odor Management Assistance Program will begin this fall as a pilot project in North Carolina, Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota, then rolled out nationally in 1998.

NPPC will also provide needed funding for experimental or demonstration practices on those operations where all pork producers could benefit, King said. The program is expected to cost $1.5 million.

NPPC and the National Pork Board have also announced an Odor Solutions Initiative to identify manure management methods that minimize odor in all types of sustainable pork production facilities through technology or management modifications. The program will be launched in 1998 and is expected to cost $3.5 million.

"We believe the technology exists today to minimize pork production odor at existing facilities, but for a number of reasons it has not been widely employed," said King. "The purpose of the Odor Solutions Initiative will be to identify and reward individuals for bringing practical, economical and sustainable technology forward. Once it is identified, then it will be the job of NPPC in cooperation with the Pork Board to get that information out to all pork producers," King said.

The call for entries in the various categories of the Odor Solutions Initiative will be announced early in 1998.

Genetic Traits Identified In Nat. Pork Study

Pork producers now will have access to genetic information that will assist them in making selections in their hog breeding programs, resulting in higher-quality pork products for consumers.

Results of the extensive Terminal Line Genetic Evaluation Program conducted by the National Pork Producers Council were released this spring. This is the first unbiased study of genetic lines of this scale ever done in the U.S. pork industry.

The purpose of this checkoff-funded research project, initiated by producer leaders in 1990, was to evaluate 40 production traits of genetic breeds and lines for producers to use in raising crossbred market hogs.

"The results will assist producers in finding combinations of breeds and lines that will improve their herds and produce desired pork products in the most cost-effective way," said NPPC Director of Research Rodney Goodwin, Ph.D.

Carcass traits have important significance to producers since packers are buying market hogs based on backfat thickness. Backfat measurements were taken at the tenth rib and at the last rib. The sire hnes that ranked highest in the study for carcass lean percent were Danbred, Hampshire, and Newsham Hybrid.

"This research also provides information on genetic traits that influence meat quality, nutritional content, and eating quality traits that are important to consumers," Goodwin said.

Juiciness of pork, a key characteristic to consumer preference, is influenced by intramuscular fat content. The highest rated sire lines for intramuscular fat content were Duroc and Nebraska SPF Duroc. Another trait that influences eating quality in pork is tenderness. Sire lines producing the most tender loin chops were Berkshire, Danbred, Duroc, Hampshire, and Nebraska SPF Duroc.

The Terminal Line Genetic Evaluation Program involved tracking more than 3,300 pigs from conception through slaughter. The pigs had a 1.9 pound average daily gain and a feed efficiency of 3 pounds.

More than 500 producers participated in the project. Semen was collected from 795 boars representing 11 seedstock populations. The pigs were produced in 1993, with 188 commercial producers in 16 states artificially inseminating more than 4,400 sows.

All pigs selected for the final phase were commingled at 16 days old using Segregated Early Weaning (SEW), which standardized health among all of the pig populations, said Goodwin. All pigs selected for SEW were pseudorabies-negative and free of regulated diseases. NPPC used SEW sites in Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, and North Carolina.

Pigs were fed finishing diets to maximize lean gain that were formulated and analyzed by industry nutritionists. Two finishing facilities located in Minnesota and Illinois were used for the project. All pigs were slaughtered in Minnesota or Iowa.

A book containing the Terminal Line Program Results is available from NPPC for $15. To purchase the book, those interested may send a check payable to NPPC to: NPPC Order Department, National Pork Producers Council, P.O. Box 10383, Des Moines, Iowa 50306.

Kling To Travel To Kentucky For Livestock Expo

Brandon Kling of Grantsville, son of Dr. Ron and Linda Kling, has entered his Holstein in the Dairy Cattle Division of the 24th Annual North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE) in Louisville, Ky. His entry will join more than 19,000 others that take part in the world's largest purebred livestock show. Dates for the giant expo are November 8 through 21.

Producers from across the United States and Canada bring their livestock to the Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center, Louisville, to compete in one of eight expo divisions: dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep, swine, dairy goats, Quarter horses, draft horses and llamas. Winners will share in more than $500,000 in premiums and awards.

The NAILE serves as host for a number of livestock industry-related events including: Eastern National 4-H Horse Roundup; Youth, Junior College and Senior Collegiate Dairy Judging Contest; National Collegiate Livestock Judging Contest; National 4-H Livestock Judging Contest; Junior College Livestock Judging Contest; National 4-H Poultry & Egg Conference and the North American Stockdog Trials. The NAILE is home to the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) Great Lakes Circuit Rodeo Finals and the site of numerous livestock association annual meetings and events.

The NAILE is produced and sponsored by the Commonwealth of Kentucky and the Kentucky State Fair Board. It is held annually at the Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center.

Virts Named To Replace Riley As MDA Secretary

Governor Parris N. Glendening announced last week the appointment of Dr. Henry A. Virts as the next secretary of agriculture for Maryland. Dr. Virts succeeds Lewis R. Riley, who is retiring to spend more time with his family on their farm in Wicomico County.

"It is with regret that I accepted Lewis Riley's resignation, but I understand his need to be with his family. He has been a tremendous asset to agriculture and the administration during his six years at the department," said Governor Glendening.

"Dr. Virts has been serving as deputy secretary, and I am confident he will continue to be a strong leader for the agricultural community," the governor said. "He understands agriculture, he is familiar with departmental policies, and he is extremely talented in working with people."

Governor Glendening said Secretary Riley would remain in his current position through Thanksgiving.

"My wife's deteriorating health has made this decision for me," said Secretary Riley. "It is a decision that my family and I have been wrestling with since last spring. I will always value my experience in government and all the people I've met along the way. I know Dr. Virts will serve the industry well, and this continuity will keep the department moving ahead on its initiatives."

Governor Glendening's selection of Dr. Virts was praised by longtime state comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, as well as other well-respected agricultural leaders.

"Dr. Virts is an outstanding public servant who has been dedicated to Maryland agriculture. You wouldn't find a better individual. I support his selection wholeheartedly," said Goldstein.

"Dr. Virts's appointment is a very good move," said the Honorable James E. 'Doc' McClellan, former state delegate from Frederick and a member of the Frederick Agricultural Society. "Secretary Riley will be difficult to replace, but Dr. Virts can definitely do the job."

"I am very pleased that Governor Glendening has selected an individual with strong agricultural ties," said Myron Wilhide of the Maryland Dairy Industry Association.

"Dr. Virts is the perfect choice right now because he offers continuity in the face of controversy," said Jack Miller, former longtime public relations director of the Maryland Farm Bureau.

"Bud Virts is an excellent selection, particularly because he gets along so well with farmers and with farm groups," said Wayne McGinnis, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Land Preservation Program and a longtime Baltimore County farmer.

Dr. Virts earned his veterinary degree from the University of Georgia in 1956 and had a private veterinary practice in Southern Maryland for 28 years. He represented veterinary medicine on the Maryland Agricultural Commission, an advisory group to the secretary, for 10 years prior to his employment with the department. He served at the Maryland Department of Agriculture as the state veterinarian for five years.

In 1994, Dr. Virts was appointed deputy secretary of the department by then governor William Donald Schaefer. Dr. Virts resides with his wife Nancy at Trent Hall, a family farm located in St. Mary's County.

"Lew Riley has been an exceptional leader for agriculture during his 30 years of government service, and he will be greatly missed," said Dr. Virts. "It is a challenging time for Maryland agriculture. I look forward to continuing our work together with the agricultural community to further our efforts to protect the consumer and the environment, and to promote Maryland's agriculture."

BY GOD'S GRACE MINISTRY

Grantsville, MD

Dear friend, neighbor, fellow citizen,

I hope by this communication to share with you what I believe to be the most important aspect of life for your personal happiness and the success of your family, home, community and nation.

There are so many truths in the Bible, facts that give me joy and peace. By the acceptance of these facts I have a very real relationship with God. The fact of God's love and grace as revealed in Christ Jesus is beyond mere human comprehension. The Bible says, "But the spiritual man has insight into everything, and that baffles the men of the world, who can't understand him at all. How could he? For certainly he has never been one to know the Lord's thoughts, or to discuss them with him or move the hands of God by prayer. But strange as it seems, we Christians actually do have within us a portion of the very thoughts and mind of Christ." 1 Corinthians 2:15-16.

Jesus said, "There is no eternal doom awaiting those who trust him to save them. But those who don't trust him have already been tried and condemned for not believing in the only Son of God. Their sentence is based on this fact: that the Light from heaven came into the world, but they loved the darkness more than the Light, for their deeds were evil. They hated the heavenly light for fear their sins would be exposed and they would be punished. But those doing right come gladly to the Light to let everyone see that they are doing what God wants them to do." John 3:18-21.

As a young man I experienced the truth of God's forgiveness. And as I continue on life's journey I experience a constant need for appropriating the truth to my life. I became aware of this truth when I discovered I could not handle my fallen nature and could not live a life good enough to reach God's standards, because God said, "You must be holy for I am holy." 1 Peter 1:6. You see, I tried to come to God as a saint and not as a lost sinner .

"God paid a ransom to save you from the impossible road to heaven which your fathers tried to take. And, the ransom was not mere gold or silver, as you very well know But he paid for you with the precious life-blood of Christ, the sinless, spotless Lamb of God. God chose him for this purpose long before the world began, but only recently was he brought into public view in the last days as a blessing to you." 1 Peter 1:18-20. In Paul's letter to the Christians at Ephesus he wrote, "Because of his kindness you have been saved through trusting Christ. And even trusting is not of yourselves: It too is a gift from God. Salvation is not reward for the good we have done, so none of us can take any credit for it. It is God himself who made us what we are and given us new lives from Christ Jesus and long ages ago he planned that we should spend these lives in helping others." Ephesians 2:8-10.

Jesus said, "I say emphatically that anyone who listens to my message and believes in God who sent me has eternal life, and will never will be damned for his sins, but has already passed from death in life." John 5:24. Jesus said. "But some will come to me—those the Father has given me and I will never, never reject them " John 6:37.

Jesus also said, "I am the way—yes, and the truth and the life. No man can get to the Father except by means of me." John 14:6.

Following is a short prayer which has changed the eternal destiny of many: .

Dear Lord Jesus, I know that I am a sinner and need your forgiveness. I believe you died for my sins. I now repent of my sins, and invite you to come into my heart and life. I want to trust you and follow you as lord. In Jesus name. Amen.

The Bible says, "Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." Romans 10:13, and "He that hath the Son hath life and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life. 1 John 5:12.

(All quotations are taken from Taylor's The Living Bible.)

Prayerfully,
Henry and Mary Yoder

Work hard so God can say to you, "Well done." Be a good workman, one who does not need to be ashamed when God examines your work. Know what his word says and means. II Timothy 2:15.

Fluid Milk Processors Missing Opportunities

The National Academy of Sciences (NAS) issued a stunning report last month that concluded Americans are not getting enough calcium in their diets. That lack of calcium can lead to the brittle bone disease known as osteoporosis. Bones need calcium and phosphorus to remain healthy. Milk provides these two minerals in approximately the same ratio as found in bone. The NAS suggests increasing the recommended daily allowance of calcium in the diet. Translated into everyday language, Americans should drink one more glasses of milk per day.

This could have tremendous implications for the U.S. dairy industry. If just 20 percent of the population were to drink one extra glass of milk per day, that would represent a 19 percent increase in annual fluid milk sales (up 10.6 billion pounds per year). Imagine what that would do to the farm price of milk?

But the reality is that Americans have been turning away from milk in the last two decades, purchasing other beverages such as soda, fruit juices and bottled water. These products use high dollar advertising programs and slick packaging that appeal to the consumers. Unless decisive actions are taken, American consumers could react to the NAS report by purchasing calcium pills from their local health food store or buying calcium-fortified orange juice rather than drinking more milk. This report should serve as a wake up call to the U.S. dairy industry, which has witnessed a steady decline in market share over the past 25 years.

The bride is the daughter of Jean Alexander, Mtn. Lake Park, and the late Russell B. Alexander. The groom is the son of Gina Gauntner of Madison, Ohio, and Kenneth Gauntner of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Ronald Lothry of Terra Alta, W.Va. She wore a floor length ivory gown covered with pearls and beads and wore elbow length gloves. Her headpiece was a pearl and flower circle with a fingertip length veil. She carried a bouquet of ivory lilies and gardenias with lace, ribbon, and pearl streamers.

The flower girl was Autumn Alexander, niece of the bride. She wore a blue and white dress and a circlet of flowers and baby's breath on her head. She carried a basket of red roses, which were presented to the mothers of the couple, and their sisters and aunts.

The flowers and the bride's headpiece were made by Nellie Lothry, Terra Alta, aunt of the bride.

The best man was Jim DiPofi of Ashtabula, Ohio. Groomsmen were Phil Bonnema, Gaithersburg, Kevin DiPofi, Labelle, Fla., and Tom Galvin, Orlando, Fla., all friends of the groom. They wore black tuxedos, identical to the groom's.

The purpose of this notice is to identify two separate but unrelated actions to be taken by Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, Inc.

On or about November 21, 1997, Garrett County Habitat for Humanity will request that the Habitat for Humanity International and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development release funds under the Housing Opportunity Program to be used for the following project:

Name of Project: Garrett County Housing Opportunity Program

Purpose of Project: Acquisition of land by Garrett County Habitat for Humanity for the purpose of improving the site for rebuilding lots and constructing four single family houses.

Location: Wheeling Avenue, Mt. Lake Park, Maryland

Notice of No Significant Impact

Notice is hereby given that an Environmental Review Record on the project described in this Notice has been prepared and that it has been determined that said project will have no significant effect on the quality of the human environment. No further environmental review of the Garrett County Housing Opportunity Project is proposed prior to requesting Release of Funds.

The Finding of No Significant impact is based on the following:

The Environmental Review Record which documents the Environmental Review of the Garrett County Housing Opportunity Project is available for public examination at the offices of the Garrett County Habitat for Humanity Office at 104 East Center Street in Oakland, Maryland, during the hours of 8:30 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. All comments will be considered and a Request for Release of funds will not be requested or action taken on the project prior to that date.

Request for Release of Funds

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity will undertake the project described above with Housing Opportunity Program Funds. This notice also certifies that Habitat for Humanity International consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action brought to enforced responsibilities has been satisfied. BEST IN THE FIELD, SAVE ONE - These two high school cross country runners brought recognition to Garrett County, as each was the second fastest finisher in the Maryland Class 1A State Championship boys' and girls' races, held Saturday at Hereford High School. Beau Gibson, son of Jim and Cathy Gibson, Deep Creek Lake, led the Southern High School boys' team to its fifth consecutive state title, as all six of his teammates finished among the top 22 in the race. The second fastest female runner in the girls' race was Northern High School's Rachel Leverenz, daughter of Neil and Jenn Leverenz, Accident, who is also the 1997 West Region champion. Rachel ran as an individual in the race since Northern did not have enough runners to qualify as a team. The Southern girls' team, which won the state title last year, had another outstanding day by placing second in the state. See the sports pages for more photos and detailed coverage.

Rape Suspect May Be Facing More Charges

A 31-year old Oakland man, arrested last week on various rape and sexual offense charges, may face additional charges as detectives from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office gather more evidence that reveals the possibility of predatory sexual activity on his part spanning several years.

David Allan Smith, 31, is being held on charges of second-degree rape, third- and fourth-degree sex offenses, and second-degree assault stemming from an alleged rape of a 14-year old female that occurred early in the summer. He has also been charged with the attempted rape of a 20-year-old woman.

Sheriff's detectives are currently interviewing additional women that Smith may have attacked, and one of the detectives said that Smith may be eventually linked to as many as eight alleged rapes and/or attempted rapes.

Smith was reportedly known to his victims, either as a friend or as a friend of a friend, and would reportedly ask some of the women for rides, allegedly attacking them in their cars

DICK SANDERS SWORN IN - The county's interim sheriff, Dick Sanders, left, shakes hands with clerk of the circuit court David Martin, following Sanders' swearing-in ceremony at the courthouse on Monday afternoon. "I look forward to serving the citizens of Garrett County and working with the team of dedicated and professional employees that we have at the sheriff's office," Sanders said after the ceremony. Sanders was named interim sheriff recently after the Governor interviewed him in his Annapolis office.

Sines Is Ordered To Pay Back Nearly $14,000 More To County

Used improper bank account for two years

More investigation into the actions of Randy L. Sines, former sheriff of Garrett County, has uncovered a bank account that he is accused of using for his own benefit, spending cash in the amount of $13,995. Judge Fred C. Wright III, Washington County, issued an order Friday that Sines pay that amount back to the county, in addition to the previous fine of $2,500 and improper credit card charges of over $4,440.

As a condition of his probation, levied against Sines in a September hearing at the time of his misconduct in office conviction, the judge has ordered the defendant to get the full amount of over $21,000 paid back to the county in no more than three years.

The checking account was opened by Sines at the American Trust Bank in his own name, but the checks were also inscripted with the words, "Garrett County Sheriff's Office." The money that went into the account came partly from Maryland State Treasurer's Office payments that were supposed to have gone to the county's financial office before being distributed to the sheriff's office, but reportedly the county's financial department was simply receiving memos from the state indicating that the money had been sent on to the sheriff. Other amounts came from the Garrett County Treasurer's Office, local attorneys pay-

Bittinger Residents Worried About Proposed Native American Center

A conference center for Native Americans may be built in Garrett County in the Bittinger area, with construction beginning in the next several months. While the purchasers of the property, Donald Keel and Theda McPheron of the Wind Hollow Foundation, contend that the conference center will benefit many, the residents of Bittinger and members of the West Virginia Native American Coalition, Inc. (WVNACO), are skeptical and displeased with Wind Hollow's approach.

A meeting was held in Bittinger last evening with about 75 residents in attendance, as well as all three Garrett County commissioners, Delegate George Edwards, and WVNACO representatives. Keel and McPheron were not in attendance.

Keel, a Morgantown, W.Va. resident, stated in a telephone interview yesterday that he and McPheron have been hesitant to announce their plans because they are still in the process of purchasing the property. He also said that they had heard of the public hearing on Monday evening and were not able to make it, although they did speak with a Bittinger resident for over an hour that same evening, he said, to try to quell fears.

Keel said in the interview that his and McPheron's vision is to build a conference center for Native Americans.

"Wind Hollow is a non-profit, private, West Virginia-based corporation," Keel said, noting that he is not a Native American but that McPheron, who teaches Native American studies at West Virginia University, is of Cherokee descent. "We have been involved mainly in health care for rural Native Americans, health education, outreach, and economic development." He explained that Wind Hollow had originally sought property in Terra Alta, W.Va., near Hopemont Hospital, but that the state was now looking seriously into building a correctional facility there.

"We didn't want to leave West Virginia to build our center," Keel said. "But it looks like we are going to have to. Garrett County offers a great deal to us,

The Republican To Launch Local "Warm The Children" Campaign

In an effort to help local needy families, The Republican newspaper will this Christmas season take part in a nationally growing campaign. "Warm the Children" is a fund-raising effort conducted by newspapers in several states with the purpose of providing new winter clothing to children.

The newspaper office will be connected with a social services entity to identify needy families. At the same time, articles and advertisements will be printed each week in the paper to solicit donations of money to the Warm the Children fund. As the money comes in, the newspaper staff will gather volunteers to serve as "shoppers" who will accompany selected families on shopping trips. A total of $80 will be spent on each child, expressly for the purchase of new winter clothing: coats, boots, hats, gloves, sweaters, gloves, and other warm items.

"We wanted to do something directly for our community," said Don Sincell, editor and owner of the paper. "The beauty of this campaign is the fact that every single penny donated will directly benefit local

Yough Glades Elementary School Opening Delayed Until January

The opening of Yough Glades Elementary School, originally scheduled to occur at the end of the Thanksgiving vacation, will be delayed until the beginning of January.

At the meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education Tuesday evening, Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County public schools, informed those present of the change in target date for opening the new school.

Dr. Teets explained that though the construction is substantially complete, more time will be needed than originally anticipated. Changing the opening date from Dec. 1 to Jan. 6 will allow the time to assure that everything is ready, he said. "We want to be sure the furniture we have ordered is in and that the kitchen equipment is installed," he said.

To facilitate the move, Dr. Teets recommended that the children who will be transferring to Yough Glades stay home from school on Dec. 23, which is scheduled as a half-day prior to the Christmas break. In addition, the transferring students would remain home on Jan. 5, the date originally set to resume classes after the holidays.

This one day and a half of absence from classes is within the guidelines set by the state for this move, Dr. Teets explained.

The punch list for the project will be compiled in the very near future. "We still have some work to do there," Dr. Teets said. Trying to keep with the original time table, he said, would be difficult because of what remains to be accomplished. "I don't feel it would be practical," he added.

Ferren To Leave County Library Director's Post

Emily Ferren, director of the Ruth Enlow Library system of Garrett County will be leaving her post effective Dec. 15. She will assume the office of director of the Charles County, Md., Public Library.

In 1993 Ferren moved to Garrett from Carroll County to take her position as library director. Among the changes she has seen since coming here is the renovation and enlargement of the Accident branch of the library.

She said she has enjoyed her time here and the pace of life in a rural environment. "City life puts different layers on you and different life styles," she said. But here Ferren found something else. "Do you know what I learned here? I learned that simple pleasures are the best," she said.

Ferren said she will not sell her home here, but will keep it and come back to Garrett County for vacations.

Fumes Send 38 SHS Students To Hospital

Fumes from a delivery truck were reported to be the cause of symptoms suffered by students at Southern High School this morning. Thirty-eight students were transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Michael Sines, supervisor of buildings and maintenance for Garrett County Board of Education, was on the site to access and respond to the situation. "A delivery truck was parked which had left its engine running. Some of the fumes were pulled in through our own ventilation system," Sines explained.

SALUTES were commonplace Tuesday morning in the rotunda of the Garrett County Courthouse, as members of several local veterans groups convened to observe Veterans Day with ceremonies, music, and sossachas. The keynote speaker this year was Art Refosco, a member of Prosector Kildow Post 71, American Legion, which organized the program. Garrett Choral Society To Sing Handel's Messiah

The Garrett Choral Society will once again present Handel's Messiah for local audiences this holiday season.

"The performance of the Messiah is something that is enjoyed by many people, and we receive many requests to bring it back every few years," stated Nancy K. Learey, director. "It is truly a masterpiece, and is the best way I know to tell the Christmas message."

The society will offer three performances at two locations, with the Friday, Dec. 12, presentation slated for 7:30 p.m. at the Maranatha Church in Grantsville, a performance which will have piano accompaniment and narration of the solo parts.

St. Peter's Catholic Church in Oakland will host performances on Friday, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 14, at 1:30 p.m., which will be accompanied by the West Virginia University Symphonette, comprised of WVU music faculty musicians. The solos will be performed by professional vocalists, including local resident, John Wilson.

"I am pleased that we will once again be able to take our music to other parts of the county," Learey said. "It is very important that we reach out and make the arts available to as many county residents as possible." This will be the second consecutive year that the Choral Society has performed its holiday concert in Grantsville.

More information on the soloists and tickets will be provided in future newspaper articles.

Partial funding for the performances is being provided by the Garrett County Arts Council and Maryland State Arts Council.

Car Accident Leaves Woman Hospitalized

An accident in Grantsville Tuesday afternoon resulted in the hospitalization of a Grantsville woman.

Maryland State Police, Barrack W, McHenry, reported that Terry L. Beitzel, 56, Grantsville, was eastbound on Route 40 around 3:50 p.m. when Lorana M. Garlitz, 18, Grantsville, failed to yield the right of way as she pulled out of Amish Road onto Route 40. The Garlitz vehicle struck Beitzel's car, the report said.

Both drivers were taken by Northern Rescue Squad to Garrett Memorial Hospital. Beitzel was treated and released. Garlitz was admitted for treatment and was reported to be in stable condition as of Wednesday.

No charges were filed.

Car Strikes Dump Truck

Three people were transported to the hospital following an incident in which a car struck a dump truck.

Police reported that on Friday, at 2:11 p.m., Timothy J. Hardesty, 37, Oakland, driving westbound on Route 135 in a 1989 International dump truck, stopped to turn left onto Route 38.

Willis L. Lewis, 32, Keyser, W.Va., also traveling westbound on Route 135, reportedly tried to pass the truck driven by Hardesty and struck it as it turned.

Lewis and his two passengers, Erma Davy, 62, and Erma M. Eversole, 42, both of Keyser, were taken by Elk District and Southern Rescue Squad ambulances to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where they were treated and released.

Police charged Lewis in the incident.

Three Car Mishap

Trying to avoid a collision with a third vehicle, two cars were involved in an accident in Grantsville last Thursday around 6 p.m.

Angela Shunk, 17, Grantsville, was traveling on Chestnut Ridge Road near the Holiday Inn as was Delrose J. Tilgner, 37, also of Grantsville.

A vehicle driven by Shawn M. Oester, Salisbury, Pa., pulled out of the Holiday Inn parking lot as the Tilgner and Shunk vehicles approached. Seeing Oester exiting the lot, Tilgner applied her brakes to avoid hitting Oester's car. Shunk also applied her brakes, the report stated, but was unable to stop, and struck the Tilgner car.

Tilgner was taken by Northern Rescue Squad to Sacred Heart Hospital, where she was treated and released.

Oester was charged with failure to yield right of way.

Police reported a theft from and malicious destruction of property in a field on Sand Flat Road, Oakland. The reported stated that on Sunday, between 9 a.m. and noon, Gary W. Harvey, 41, the accused, removed 12 bales of hay from property belonging to David E. Stephens and Paul E. Perrine.

The hay was valued at $240.

Funds Awarded To GCCAC For Food, Shelter

Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc., has been named the recipient agency for an award of federal funds in the amount of $25,051, to be used for emergency food and shelter programs. This information was announced this week by Sen. Paul S. Sarbanes and Sen. Barbara A. Mikulski.

The funding comes from the Emergency Food and Shelter (EFS) National Board Program, which is operated by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). The money is earmarked for use in non-disaster emergencies that may arise during the winter months.

"These funds will allow local communities to help individuals with food, shelter, and rent and mortgage assistance," Mikulski said.

Linda Green, Community and Emergency Services director for CAC, said that she is very pleased with the amount quoted. "That is up quite a bit from our award last year," she said. Last year the amount of funding was just over $20,000, she explained.

The EFS National Board, chaired by FEMA, is composed of representatives from the American Red Cross, Catholic Charities USA, the Council of Jewish Federations, the National Council of Churches, the Salvation Army, and the United Way of America.

These representatives administer and oversee the distribution of funds appropriated by Congress.

Second Group Forms To Lobby Against Highway

The Continental One NAFTA Highway Opposition Group (CONHOG) held its first public meeting under that name last Thursday night at Garrett Community College. It was the fifth meeting that this basic group of people has been involved with regarding the opposition to the Continental One International Trade Corridor through Garrett County.

CONHOG was formed by several former members of Garrett County/Conservative Action for a Rural Environment (G.C./CARE), which continues to operate in opposition to the construction of Continental One as well. Each group has a different strategy and style of working on this project. The new steering committee of Continental One NAFTA Highway Opposition Group is made up of a majority of the former steering committee members of G.C./CARE. "We have been involved in organizing this highway opposition since August. We are following the same basic plan of action with a few new twists," said Ken Bauer, a CONHOG spokesperson.

At the CONHOG meeting last week, Dana Shimrock presented a list of accomplishments by both highway opposition groups thus far. "Public awareness is being raised. We have demonstrated that there is great opposition throughout Garrett County to the proposed highway, contrary to David Moe's claim that there was none. We are conducting a successful petition and letter writing campaign, which must continue. We planned and presented a very successful public forum with an excellent turnout. We have encouraged public debate through letters to the editor in the newspaper," she said. CONHOG also cites other developments, such as a public stand against the highway taken by the Farm Bureau, and the attention that opposition to the proposal has gotten from local, state, and national representatives.

Dana Shimrock urged the people attending Thursday's meeting and anyone else to write a letter to Governor Parris Glendening thanking him for his expressed appreciation of Garrett County's natural beauty and resources, and his apparent skeptism about the proposed highway project. She also noted that CONCOG has other plans for action, and that the CONHOG steering committee's primary purpose is informing and educating as many citizens as possible on the highway issue through the use of town meetings all over the county. In the meantime, the group is exploring the possibility of having the issue placed on the ballot in 1998 as a referendum to be voted on by Garrett County residents.

Shimrock also said that "CONHOG will be planning Public Forum II on the highway issue to include our other elected officials. We will arrange a meeting with the governor and continue the petition and letter writing campaign. We will also engage in other activities aimed at stopping Continental One," she said.

Persons interested in reaching CONHOG may write the organization at CONHOG, P.O. Box 702, Oakland, MD 21550.

Friendsville Man Jailed On Child Abuse Charge

A Friendsville man is being held in the Garrett County jail awaiting a hearing with the court commissioner following his arrest on a child abuse charge last night.

Randy Bruce Hall Sr., 31, was taken into custody by Garrett County sheriff's deputies late last night after receiving a report of allegations that he had reportedly struck two juveniles in the heard who had been left in his care on Saturday night. He subsequently reportedly admitted to striking the children, who were photographed at the sheriff's office with marks consistent with being struck.

Hall will appear before the court commissioner later today.

In other sheriff's news, a Mtn. Lake Park man faces a charge of second-degree assault following his arrest at his Deer Park Avenue residence in the early hours of Wednesday morning.

Jerry Wayne Swiger, 50, allegedly assaulted his wife Jann and son Robert both of whom reportedly displayed bumps on their head to deputies when they arrived on the scene. The sheriff's report cites alcohol as a factor in the incident. Swiger was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

A theft of loose change from an Oakland Avenue residence in Mtn. Lake Park over the weekend resulted in the loss of $300 in coins. The resident, Darlene Whitcomb, discovered that the container where the coins were hidden in the home missing on Monday morning after she returned home from a weekend trip. She told deputies that she had been saving her loose change for quite awhile in order to pay for a vacation. There was no evidence of a break-in, according to the report.

A Paradise Ridge Road residence near Oakland was burglarized and ransacked recently. On Friday evening the resident, Vince Piccirillo, discovered that a side door had been broken open and that the contents of the house were strewn about in each room.

A one-vehicle accident on Cranesville Road on Friday resulted in injuries to the driver and her passenger. Jennifer Lynn Shillingburg, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, was traveling south on Cranesville Road near West Cranesville Road when she lost control of her vehicle in a turn, crossed the center line, and struck an embankment and a utility pole on the opposite shoulder. Both Shillingburg and her passenger, Amy Denise Johnson, 15, Oakland, were transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital by private auto, where both were treated and released. Shillingburg was issued a ticket for failure to maintain control of her vehicle.

A hit and run that occurred in late October was reported to the sheriff's office recently. The victim told deputies that at 12:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 21, he parked his white Ford Escort at Southern Auto, and was inside the store for no more than 30 minutes. When he came out, he had difficulty in opening his car door, and subsequently noticed blue paint damage to his door and fender. Damage is estimated at $500.

A bench warrant was served last week on Michael Joseph Zahner, 31, Baltimore. Zahner is charged with violation of probation, and is currently being held in the Garrett County jail on a $5,000 bond.

Finally, Timothy Wayne Arnold, 45, Bayard, W.Va., was charged with driving while intoxicated. He was subsequently released on his own recognizance.

Governor Is "Not Enthusiastic" On Highway Concept

In a state-wide live television broadcast on Maryland Public Television recently, Governor Parris Glendening expressed his sentiments concerning the proposal to construct a new north/south interstate highway through Garrett County in terms of his recently passed "Smart Growth" legislation. The governor commented that he "was not very enthusiastic" about the concept.

The governor's remarks came in response to an E-mail question posed by representatives of Garrett County/Conservative Action for a Rural Environment (G.C./CARE), that was read on the MPT discussion program "Smart Growth: An Electronic Town Meeting."

G.C./CARE's question stated the anti-highway group's position that the proposed highway contradicts the stated goals of the Smart Growth plan, and that it is an unnecessary waste of taxpayers' money.

In his reply, Governor Glendening stated, "I know the road they're talking about -- obviously I'll look at it, but I've got to tell you -- just from my knowledge of western Maryland, I'm not very enthusiastic about this. I'm going to look at it, but it seems to me that what they're talking about -- this so-called 'International Highway' going from Buffalo and connecting to interstates down here -- I'm just not at all convinced. I'll look at the local proposal, but knowing the area, I'm just not convinced that we need an Interstate cutting through those rolling hills to help traffic come from New York to Richmond."

Glendening went on to comment that "Garrett County, Allegany County, Washington County are all beautiful areas and there are plenty of [existing] growth nodes within that [area]."

The television program featured the governor and a board of representatives of various business and civic groups that deal with economic and land development issues explaining and exploring the ramifications of the Smart Growth legislation. The governor has referred to Smart Growth as "a landmark achievement in our unceasing effort to halt suburban sprawl and address its impacts, providing support to our efforts to more wisely use our diminishing farm and forest lands, reutilize our existing infrastructure and more efficiently manage our financial resources."

The Smart Growth concept is designed to concentrate future development in locales and corridors containing already existing development to take advantage of locales and corridors where infrastructure is already in place. The Rural Legacy Program, a component of the legislation, has established a grant program that redirects existing state transfer tax revenue to preserve rural lands threatened by sprawl development in an effort to preserve agricultural, forest and natural resources in contiguous blocks, corridors or greenways. Funds will be used to purchase properties and easements in rural areas selected from the most competitive proposals submitted by local governments and non-profit land trusts. An individual land owner's participation is purely voluntary.

Persons interested in further information on Smart Growth legislation may contact the western regional office of the Maryland Office of Planning at 301-777-2158, or the Internet address for the state office of planning at www.mop.md.gov.

Restoring Accountability...

The 1996 audit of Garrett County's finances showed a budget deficit of $2.7 million in the general fund, at which time the Garrett County Board of Commissioners set a rather aggressive goal to eliminate the deficit within three years. The recently released 1997 audit shows that the county's deficit is now $960,000. With this same level of extraordinary progress, our county should be in the black and meet the goal within just one more year.

This state of affairs would suggest at least two realities - one positive and one negative.

For the positive side, it seems that our present commissioners, and particularly Monty Pagenhardt, the county's administrative officer, are doing an outstanding job of overall fiscal management. They took immediate steps to eliminate waste and to try to account for every single penny that is spent. They have made debt reduction a line item on the budget. They have added a reserve funds category to the budget to build some equity. They have made the county's contingency fund, previously used for anything and everything, strictly an emergency "rainy day" fund. They have instituted a new and far better way for county agencies to prepare and present their budgets, which incorporates a proactive approach to head off debt, instead of the reactive approach of the past that seemed to promote indebtedness. Along with attempting to reduce/eliminate waste, they have taken bold steps to uncover and eliminate corruption, which leads us to the negative reality.

One can't help wondering just how much of our county's indebtedness in recent years was a result of corruption, rather than just waste and sloppy management. Two county officials - Robert Fousek and Sheriff Randy Sines - have been caught red-handed taking/spending county funds for personal use, funds that certainly did not belong to them. That was our money.

If there are other guilty parties, then we are hopeful that they have "cleaned up their acts," because if they have not, we are now confident that the current county commissioners and their administrator will root them out and lower the boom, post haste.

Thanks, Roger, Wayne, Gary, and Monty, for getting our county's finances back under control and restoring accountability of our agencies and county officials.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Thank you for adding John McEwen's "Film Quips" as part of your weekly local coverage. They inform in a delightfully witty way, and one does not have to agree with his opinions to be entertained by them.

Jon Boone
Oakland

To the Editor:

The reason West Virginians call their state "almost heaven" is because it is next to Garrett County.

George Falter Jr.

To the Editor:

I would like to say thank you for the nice editorial you had in the paper titled "The Best Choice." I couldn't agree more, and I would also like to congratulate Sheriff Sanders.

I am sure that many people remain puzzled as to the order of choice submitted by the GOP State Central Committee, and as to why the Democrat Committee didn't tell us whose name they submitted. I think we all have a right to know.

I have heard that Gov. Glendening's staff couldn't have been more gracious to the people of Garrett County, which is more than I can say for some of the people who showed their ignorance when he came to Garrett County for the Autumn Glory Parade in 1996.

Thanks again.

Sincerely,
Mrs. W.G. Gnegy

To the Editor:

To the girls' and boys' cross country teams of Southern High and Coaches Louis Newcomb and Carl Booth:

Congratulations on a winning season and thank you for making our introduction to high school sports a memorable one! Garrett County should be extremely proud of the students on these teams. They are truly S.H.S.'s finest.

The coaching staff of Louis Newcomb (girls) and Carl Booth (boys) is what makes these teams #1. Their leadership, support, and guidance is one of a kind. Thank you!

We are very fortunate that our daughter is able to be a member of this team. The first year in high school can be as scary for the parents as it is for the students, but with role models and friends like Amy Snyder, Christy Hoalcraft, Angie Sincell, and all the members of the team, I'm sure we got our daughter off on the "right foot"! We can't thank you enough for all you've done for Erin this year.

To Dan Sincell, you led the boys to their 5th championship. Even though you did not physically run at Hereford, your spirit, determination, and leadership crossed the finish line seven times!

And to Northern High's Rachel Leverenz, you truly are the gold in the Husky blue and gold, and we will all miss the "mailman's" infamous yell next year! Good luck in all you do.

Thank you,
Chad and Melissa Lucas

To the Editor:

A few moments of your time (and space) to allow me the expression of my opinion on the interstate controversy is greatly appreciated. Will a north-south interstate from Canada, southeast to Miami, be advantageous 20 years from now? I honestly believe so and the planning must begin now if it is to be completed in this time frame.

However, there are two issues that I believe must be considered in this planning stage. We must not construct an interstate across the top of Garrett County. The winter weather is far too adverse to be conducive to safe travel. Knowing our weather the way most of us do, we must unanimously agree (for the safety of these travelers) that we get them off the mountain as safely and quickly as possible. A route immediately down 68 to LaVale or Cumberland seems the most practical.

Also, this addresses my second issue, going through Garrett County in a southwesterly direction seems more like destination Houston, Texas, not Miami.

Well, thanks for the space and mostly for this forum that allows us all our say.

Billy Hughes

To the Editor:

Recently I purchased a small house in Mountain Lake Park in which I hope to live when I retire soon. I am disappointed in the mail service that is available to me in the county, particularly Oakland. If I receive a third-class delivery, it usually averages about seven to 10 days for it to appear in my box in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Today, I received a first-class envelope which took eight days to arrive.

These delays have caused me anxiety because I am trying to take care of business with contractors and friends through mail service. It is becoming expensive to use the telephone for every transaction regarding the renovation.

Has anyone asked the post office what causes these extraordinary delays? Is it possible that Pony Express may still be an alternative?

On three occasions I have received The Republican newspaper in an odd fashion. If the date on the newspaper reads, for instance, August 15, it is not uuusual to receive a second newspaper, dated August 8, at about the same time. This would indicate that publications sit in post offices for long periods of time before processing.

I also received a letter back this week that I had mailed to a church in Oakland. I didn't know the exact address, but I put on the envelope "Corner of Second and Liberty streets." The letter came back to me, all the way from Oakland to Fort Lauderdale, stamped "no mail receptacle." The church is located almost directly across the street from the post office!

This is efficiency?!

Thank you,
J.L. Stonham

To the Editor:

Congratulations to the Southern boys' crosscountry team for winning its fifth consecutive state title!

View From My Window

"PAINTING THE GARAGE"

My garage needed a coat of paint. That was obvious. What was not so obvious was why I had not given it what it needed. I puzzled over the riddle myself, and I am sure one or two other folks must have wondered too.

The garage is the youngest of the structures on this place, probably built in the teens or twenties of this century, about 100 years after the house. It is a simple, frame structure with a forge in the back for the traveling smith, and sided with Philadelphia fencing, what I call six-inch barn siding.

It had last been painted in 1985, the year after I came to this place. I had not even gotten the whole thing painted then. I had bought a five-gallon bucket of barn paint, and when it was finished, so was I.

From the back, the garage looked almost worse than it had before, if such a thing were possible. The back faced the road, which gave an unfavorable impression to all passers-by.

Something got into me this year, and I was determined to paint the garage. I had not more than begun until I realized why I had not pitched myself into this job before. This was no ordinary paint job.

This was a major rehabilitation. This was months of therapy after an auto accident. This was years of AA after a life of alcoholism. This was, in other words, a typical Jeffrey Wilson job when most other people would have torn down what was there, and started all over again.

First I went over the building, hammering in popped nails, and replacing nails that were gone. That also served as a survey of the structure. There were missing boards, and boards that needed replacing. The windows were pane-less. Between good boards there were gaps from 75 years of shrinkage.

All of that had to be remedied before one brush-stroke of paint had any point. So I set to.

I am fond of saying, if I could have done anything, my parents would not have spent so much money educating me. When I came to this place 13 years ago, I couldn't hammer a nail, and I still can't hammer one very well.

There is another sense, however, in which this was the perfect project for someone without any practical skills. A real carpenter might have been driven mad by this project. To anyone for whom "plumb and square" have meaning, repairing my garage was purest heresy. For me it was just something I had to do before I could paint.

Little by little, the garage was transformed from a dilapidated shed into something worthy of the name "garage." I learned a thing or two along the way as well. I had heard the saying, "Measure twice, cut once," but I learned that for me the dictum is "measure thrice, cut once--that is when lucky."

When all the repairs had been made, I went over the building again, this time with a wire brush. In some places there was mildew. Out came the wash bucket with hot water and chlorine bleach. I scrubbed and scrubbed, sometimes at the top of the ladder. I ran the hose on that garage so much that the neighbors probably thought I was a fireman.

Having spent so much imagination and energy on repair, I decided to go whole hog on the painting. I bought five gallons of primer and five gallons of top coat, and went back for another gallon of primer before it was all over. I started with two tubes of caulk. As fast as it went, I went back for a case of it.

My father told me years ago that caulk and paint could make any carpenter look like a genius. Never was a truer word spoken. When it comes to garages, Einstein has nothing on me.

It is a commonplace saying that a job worth doing is worth doing well. G.K. Chesterton observed that, in a very different sense, a job worth doing is worth doing poorly. The garage was a job worth doing, as well as I could perhaps poorly compared to the skill of others, but it is a job that is done.

This Mess Is A Place
by Mary Siacell McEwen

We reached a high point in our lives this week at our house by successfully rearranging the living room furniture. (Yes, it's a glamorous life, ours. Try not to be envious.) This was a feat of sorta because our living room is oddly shaped, being far longer than it is wide. The television is in there, as is the fireplace, so in the winter this room is our central dwelling chamber. (Boy, I like using that hoity-toity design magazine lingo.) My husband John wanted to move things around to make room for a table -- it is nigh on jigsaw puzzle season and he's antsy to get one going. In our household, a puzzle can't just be thrown out with abandon -- there are three sets of little hands that enjoy such activities as tossing puzzle pieces down vents or giving them a taste, so we had to arrange a set-up allowing us to put together a puzzle while protecting it via a furniture blockade. This arrangement had to be somewhat visually suitable as well. Not an easy task.

While working with John to arrange and rearrange, keeping the baby out from behind moving chairs and helping the others pretend the moving couch was an ocean liner, I tried to look at our furnishings as if I were seeing them for the first time. If you are like us, hanging on the lower fringe of middle class and doing your best to rear lovable yet messy children, don't try this at home. It's disturbing.

For one thing, we have no real end tables -- we use these 1980s wooden box things that would look better in a college dorm. The pictures on our walls have been basically tossed up onto nails already there, so their arrangement borders on comical. We also have mismatched furniture and a strange amalgam of old things, new things, used things, and . . . well, mostly used things. And at every turn, there are projects awaiting our attention. For instance, we have a few chairs inherited from my great-aunt that need new upholstery on the seats. The material for it is available, folded neatly on the chairs themselves, waiting for the upholsterer. It's been waiting since 1994. Then there's the mantle. John and I were excited when we saw the house for the first time, having never owned our own home and hoping to find one with a fireplace. The dream -- a mantle clock, a pretty figurine, something simple. The reality -- a place to toss stuff to "keep out of reach of children." It's a piled-up mess of matches, outlawed toys, breakable knickknacks that used to be on the not really end tables, curled up photos intended for but never put in frames, various tools needed for odd jobs that crop up (like prying the bathroom door open or snatching Batman out of the fire), and random ripped pages from the boys' books long awaiting a lousy piece of tape or drop of glue. So much for plans.

There are the steps to the second floor, too, that probably look a fright to people first coming into our house. They had those ugly plastic skid mats on them when we moved in (in 1991) and we ripped them right off, telling our fine selves that we would surely strip the 80-year-old black paint off soon and put a nice light varnish on the natural wood. We did do a little scraping and discovered it wasn't going to be easy. I was pregnant with the first boy, so we put the job on hold, thinking ever so foolishly that after he was born, we'd get right on it. I can now only wonder what in the world we did with all that free time. And the steps? Still black, still partly scraped, still awful. Do we even see it anymore? Heck, no. We're too busy going up and down, herding children here and there saying, "hurry up, we're late," and never much looking at the steps we're stepping on. The only time I notice is when someone new comes to visit. "Man, we really oughta do something about these stairs," I think.

And in that same vein, there's the outside. The porch that John worked so hard to rebuild -- very well done, of course -- but still lacking the lattice work under the steps. Oh, it's partly up, but we ran short just as we were finishing. "We'll get up to the store for another piece soon," we said -- three years ago. The definition of "soon" is relative. Like, "soon" we'll get the gingerbread trim on the porch -- that trim covered with cobwebs in the basement.

But, hey, I've never been a neat freak, just ask my family. I've never worried much about brand-name furniture or matching wallpaper, I've never lost sleep over my choice of colors. Not that I'm criticizing anyone for having a knack for interior design -- quite the opposite -- I envy that flair. But it's not me, never has been, never will be. Our house is a rather comfortable nest of odds and ends that suffice, and that constitute a home far more adequate than what many billions of people in this world have. Someday, perhaps, I'll pay more attention to the details, especially when there's no more danger of tot-damage. But for right now, if you come to visit, you'll have to overlook the clutter and just be glad if you can leave without having sat in a glob of jelly or something.

Life is messy, as they say, and I think if we want to experience its true essence, we have to jump into that mess with both feet, willing to get our hands dirty, willing to welcome guests even if the couch clashes with the rug, and, yes, willing to let our hearts be bruised from time to time. I chose to get on that roller coaster, so my hair is a mess -- but boy, I wouldn't trade the thrill for anything!

Charity Workout Set At SHS This Saturday Night

This Saturday evening's Workout for Hope, a dance and exercise extravaganza set to benefit the House of Hope, will include entertainment by performing groups between the participatory workout sessions, as well as door prizes which will be awarded throughout the evening. The four hours of exercise and entertainment will get underway at 6 p.m. on Nov. 15 at the gymnasium of Southern High School.

In addition to the Pittsburgh Pirates Parrot, who will be on hand for the children's Fun House Fitness workout from 6:45 to 7:15 p.m., the Southern and Northern cheerleaders will lead cheers and perform dance routines throughout the evening. They will also be helping lead exercise enthusiasts during the Boogie Wonderland workout. "By sharing our energy and enthusiasm we hope that we can add enjoyment and motivate people to participate or come watch the event," said Southern cheerleading advisor Amy Nemith.

Another special feature for the evening will be a fashion show presented by Little Expressions, Oakland's newest toddler and children's clothing store. These mini-models will take to the cat walk wearing all the latest in fall fashions. "We're excited to be a part of the Workout for Hope," said Rachelle Lewis, co-owner of Little Expressions. "The models from the Town and Country Learning Center and Brenda's kinderdance classes are so adorable. Our goal is to make the fashion show entertaining," she said.

Performing groups from Brenda's Body Shop include Power Pac, the Energizers, Mat Mates, Aerobic All-Stars, and solos by Leigh Ann Schefft and Marlana Beitzel. A performance by the Aerobic Diehards will be videotaped and sent to the Washington Wizards professional basketball team (formerly the Bullets) for an audition for a halftime performance. Last year the Diehards performed during a halftime show at a Bullets vs. Milwaukee Bucks game.

Local massage therapists Cynthia Knight, Glenna Boyd, Carol Van Sickle, and Debora Nichols have volunteered to provide their services to relieve tired muscles from both exercise participants and sitting spectators. All donations for their services will be given to the House of Hope.

Event coordinator Brenda Brosnihan has high hopes for the Workout. "All the groups have been practicing very hard preparing for this event. The evening is just packed with fun and inspiring energy," she said. "The support from the community, participants, and the entertainers has been unbelievable. could have seen this group of students Saturday, at Hereford, they would have been pleased. As the teams started the course walk of 3.1 miles the Southern runners were scattered out, but towards the end they all came together to walk with their teammate Dan Sincell, who using a cane walked the course. Dan was injured shortly after the region championship on Oct. 31, in which he placed second, and will be having reconstructive surgery of his ACL in his knee over the Christmas holidays. The team knew they had to win this race for Dan as well as for themselves. Needless to say, they did, placing all seven in the top 25. Beau Gibson, Casey McBee, Eric Rexrode, Rusty Strubin, and Sean Conroy received All-State honors by finishing in the top 15. Ted Wolf was 18th and Mike Bittinger was 22nd. I would like to quote Eric Rexrode once again as he said, "We've gone to other places and beat 4A, 3A, and 2A schools, and it's not as hard to beat 1A schools." The Rams finished with a 130-2 record. Can any other sport say this?

Mike Bittinger, a senior, has been a member of the team for four consecutive titles, having run each year in the championship race. He received All-State honors his junior year. This year he ran while being sick and also with a stick stuck to his shoe for half the course.

These boys, as well as the past members, are so closely knit that nothing can stand in their way. When one is hurting, they all hurt. When one is doing well, they all do well. When one needs help, they all help. It's just like one big happy family!

The girls' team also placed second at state, placing three members on the All-State honors list. They were Angie Sincell, Amy Snyder, and Erin Hoalcraft. The other four runners were Christy Hoalcraft, Beth Sauder, Anissa Jamison, and Katelyne McBee. The girls' team is as close as the boys' team. It was outstanding see 33 high school students, ranging from freshman to seniors, get along as well as they do. They work together, but also individually, to be the best athletes, and have truly proven they are.

I would like to extend my appreciation to coaches Carl Booth and Louis Newcomb for their time well spent with these top athletes, and may they have many more years to come and many more titles.

I have thoroughly enjoyed my last four years being associated with this group of athletes from Southern. I would like to extend my deepest gratitude to the members and their families for making our fund raisers successful.

Congratulations again for your success.

Marilyn Bittinger

P.S. I only wish that the pride of Southern High faculty and students could be shared a little more willingly with the members of this team. Remember, this is the only sport (and it truly is a sport of self motivation and determination) that has provided Southern with five straight state titles!

To the Editor:

Twenty years ago the Oakland town fathers were duped by a single man who brought Bradley Manor, which cost the taxpayers millions of dollars. Now, with the "help"? of our economic development director, we are seeking to bring a "non-profit" group in so we can pay three ways. We pay locally more because another tax property will be taken from the tax rolls. This is totally unacceptable. We pay because we will be asking for grant money from the government to "help" the non-profit organization. In addition, the organization itself will be successfully seeking money from nine government agencies! With our local economic developer helping, that will be 10 agencies from the government.

Basically, we are looking at a totally government supported hole into which our money will go. Look at another unrealistic economic matter: Farming for "self sufficiency." We can rent pasture land for, say, $15 per acre. If we pay $1,000 per acre, we need $100 income just to pay 10% interest. At the outset we are losing $85 per acre x 140 acres = $11,900 loss per year to start. Not very wise.. We can see our farmers who have bought land at $1,000 per acre, borrowed the money, and in only two years they are filing bankruptcy. Farmers who inherit their farms are not making it! They are getting milk prices which tney got 20 years ago. Most farmers do

State Police Get More Four-Wheel Drive Vehicles

In preparation for dealing with emergencies in hazardous winter weather, Maryland State Police have added about 70 four-wheel drive vehicles to their statewide patrol fleet. Of these, 36 are new Ford Explorers and over 30 are surplus military vehicles.

The new vehicles will replace regular patrol cars, with about 25% of them assigned to Western Maryland barracks. Barrack W, McHenry, has received three of the 1997 Ford Explorers, marked with the police insignia, 1st Sgt. Dan Stanton said. He agreed that they will be very helpful in dealing with the Garrett County winters.

Other newly acquired vehicles were assigned to the K-9 division, and the commercial vehicle enforcement divisions of the state police. In the event of bad weather, these units are assigned to road patrol to meet increased calls for service.

"Our commitment is to meet our citizens' needs for law enforcement services, no matter what the weather conditions are," said Col. David B. Mitchell, state police superintendent.

Opening Delayed

The board members voted in favor of the recommendations made by the superintendent for the changes in the schedule for the Yough Glades school.

Furniture for the school was also on the agenda of Tuesday's meeting. The board approved the changes to the bid information to include several items previously omitted.

Student Recognized

As stated in a memo to board members sent prior to Tuesday's meeting, Dr. Teets said he would like to present to the board from time to time, for recognition, students who have received state awards for achievements.

Elizabeth Michael, a student at Dennett Road Elementary, was given such acknowledgment at the board meeting. She had competed with 10,000 students and won a statewide poster contest offered by the state dental association. She was received and honored by board members.

Family Network

Though no formal action was taken, board members were in accord with an opinion offered by Dr. Teets that county schools not participate in the Family Education Network. Noting that schools could develop their own web pages and that the information offered by the program is available now through the Internet, he said he could not see sufficient merit for involvement is something that could result in future expense.

Computer Issues

Board members considered several other computer issues. They discussed expanding use of the Internet to inform community members of school policies and procedures. There was also agreement among all present that the expanding use of technology would require future deveiopment of acceptable use polkies. "We haven't had any policies in these area in the past, but we will need them in the future," said Dale Carpenter, board president.

Veterans Day

The board issued a Veterans Day Resolution to express thanks to all veterans for their service to the community and to the children of the community. Five Garrett County representatives of veterans organizations were present for the recognition.

plaints of illness and evacuated all students from the school. "When I arrived, we ventilated the school. The fire and rescue workers came in and swept the building with CO detectors," Sines said. When no carbon monoxide was found, the students were brought into the gym.

Staff from the Environmental Health division of the Garrett County Health Department also were at the school to assist with the situation. By about 10:30 a.m. things were returning to normal. "We have secured the building and the students have returned to classes," Sines reported.

He said Columbia Gas had been contacted and a representative was in route to the school to verify that there were no problems with the natural gas heating system. This was done as a precaution, Sines said, even through they already knew there were no more fumes present.

A health area was set up at the school and the students instructed to report there should they experience any symptoms of illness.

"We'll be here until we know we have everything under control and there are no further complaints from students," Sines said.

both in location and setting. It's a beautiful place -- Native Americans who live on reservations are often very uncomfortable about traveling to Washington, D.C., for meetings. We think our center will be a much more comfortable place for them to go. We want to offer a halfway point."

Keel said the plans are to build a conference meeting center surrounded by seven "clan houses," which are basically townhouse-like structures that would contain four units each, housing two persons per unit. This part of the development would cover about 15 acres of the 140-acre tract of land.

On the remaining acreage, Keel said they would like to plant "traditional" crops, including the purple cone flower and corn. (In the interview yesterday, he did not mention tobacco, although representatives of WVNACO said they thought it was to be grown as well.) Keel also said they would like to raise a herd of buffalo.

"Buffalo meat is extremely healthful food," he said. "Low in fat and cholesterol. That goes right along with our interest in rural health issues."

Keel said they wish to become involved in the school system, offering field trip activities at the center as well as going into the schools with artists-in-residents.

"There is so much talent out there -- dancers, singers, potters, jewelry makers. There is a great deal of educational opportunity," he said.

A reconstructed Indian village would be built on the property, Keel said, offering local students the chance to visit and learn about Native Americans.

As far as conferences at the center, he said the main topics would involve health issues. McPheron is apparently on the National Rural Health Committee and would be encouraging conferences in that area. She is also connected with the East Coast Network of Native American Cancer Survivors.

Residents of Bittinger are worried about the proposal, some anxious about development in the rural area, and others fearing that a casino might be built. According to sources in the area, some feel that the development proposal has gone past them without any discussion with the present residents. James Hinebaugh, director of the county's economic development office, stated in a telephone interview this week that Wind Hollow has followed the rules so far in purchasing land and proposing the development.

"There's no zoning in the area, so there are no laws ordering public hearings or community input," Hinebaugh said. "I understand the concerns there -- tourist traffic, changes in the community as a whole -- I do understand those worries. When they [Wind Hollow] came to my office in September, I talked with them about their ideas and directed them to visit John Nelson in the zoning office. They did do that." Wind Hollow has also contacted the environmental health division of the Garrett County Health Department to have the perc tests performed. This, too, is in compliance with county laws.

As for the casino issue, Keel dismissed it.

"We bought the property just like anyone else who buys property. We are not a tribe -- there are no special allowances for us, anymore than there are for other people who purchase property," he said. "In order to have casino gambling, a group must be designated as a tribe. This designation is a long, complicated process that we have absolutely no interest in pursuing. We are not a tribe -- we are a non-profit, private group. The assumption that we are going to have some special allowance is absolutely untrue."

Delegate Edwards apparently echoed that sentiment at last night's meeting, stating plainly that casino gambling is illegal in Maryland.

The WVNACO spokespersons at the meeting, Jeff Riffle and Linda Karus, explained their concerns about Wind Hollow, expressing their confusion and uneasiness about McPheron, who apparently came from Alabama into West Virginia and has not had much contact with WVNACO. In a letter to the commissioners from the Elders Council of the group, Ms. Karus made the following statements:

"When we first heard of Wind Hollow and Cherokee Associates through the articles in the newspapers, our first reaction was that of confusion. Here was a person who had come to our community from Alabama, supposedly a 'medicine woman' of this tribe, and was in the process of finalizing plans to create a monumental project which would seriously affect the lives of those of us who have lived here through multiple generations. She said she had a dream that she had come here to help the Indians of West Virginia.

"We talked among ourselves, and none of us could remember having asked for help from a medicine woman of the South East Cherokee Tribe of Alabama. In fact, we weren't even aware that we needed a conference center, as we are very rural people who meet most often in one another's homes, in parks, and on our farms. . . . We have always been told that medicine people never advertise their vocation; they do not go to the people -- the people go to them. This is one reason why we are so confused.

"Whatever Indian People do is every Indian's business because we are all related," the letter continues. "But we are also related to the non-Indian people, to the animals, to the plants, and everything. So our confusion deepens, because we have read . . . McPheron believes what she is going to do on the property . . . is nobody's business until it happens -- not even the people whose lives will be most affected. We have never heard of traditional Indians behaving in such a manner. . . .

"We have spoken several times with old friends who have served on the Maryland Commission on Indian Affairs; they have been much involved in these issues and are just wondering how Ms. McPheron intends to assist them . . . because if she has treated their West Virginia Indian friends so rudely, they want you to know that they will not be availing themselves of the new facilities; and because they will not, they know their Indian friends from other states will not, either. And when the major tribes discover that all the indigenous people from a wide area . . . are feeling insulted right alongside their brothers and sisters from West Virginia and Garrett County -- whom they have known for many years -- they certainly would not want to disgrace their elders by intruding into such a mess or to insult the local people by disagreeing with them."

Commissioner Roger Glotfelty said this morning that he felt last night's meeting was orderly and informational. He said he understands why the Bittinger residents are concerned.

"It's a tight-knit community," he said. "They are close to one another, they help each other, they are a religious community. We don't want any negative things to happen there, of course. But there is no zoning there -- it's hard to say what will happen.

"I can only hope the Wind Hollow folks communicate with the local people and that whatever they do, they do it with the input of the community. As commissioners, we can't really halt or help Wind Hollow -- it's not something we can get into at this point. But we are concerned for our communities, as always, and I hope there is open communication between Wind Hollow and our residents."

Keel said he and McPheron hope to open the conference center in June of next year.

THE LITTLE MERMAID

Rated G

Well, what can I say about it? Originally released in 1989, The Little Mermaid is the one that started the new incarnation of Disney; after a period of mediocre animated features, this was the kickoff to the new era. What followed was the string of Oscar-winning hits we now know and love: Beauty and the Beast, Aladdin, The Lion King, etc.

Ariel (featuring the voice of Jodi Benson) is a mermaid who dreams of life above the surface. Against the wishes of her father, Triton, the king of the ocean (Kenneth Mars), she involves herself in a plot to meet a handsome prince after saving his life. Unfortunately, to do that she's got to make a desperate deal with Ursula, the sea witch (Pat Carroll). With a trio of hapless friends on her side [Sebastian the crab (Samuel E. Wright), Flounder the flounder (Jason Marin), and Scuttle the seagull (Buddy Hackett)], she barely gets by.

The Alan Menken/Howard Ashman soundtrack is exceptional, featuring hits like "Under the Sea," "Kiss the Girl," and "Part of Your World," and the animation and characterization are top-notch. All the voice actors do an excellent job, particularly Carroll, who practically steals the show as Ursula, and Wright, whose Jamaican crab accent is funny and lovable.

Those who are interested probably have already seen this, or have their own copy at home. I find it a little disconcerting that Disney is already re-releasing this eight-year-old movie, showing that they obviously have nothing else ready for the holiday season to compete with Don Bluth's Anastasia. Does this mean they're moving away from their recent habit of releasing a feature every six months, and planning to start dishing out reruns on a regular basis? But it's still worth seeing at the theatre, and the new generation of little ones will love seeing their old favorite on the big screen. ★★★★★

THE MAN WHO KNEW TOO LITTLE

Rated PG

Bill Murray is getting older; there's no doubt about it. The young man we met on Saturday Night Live 20+ years ago, and learned to love in his early movies like Stripes and Meatballs, has some definite lines on his face, some failures under his belt. But this isn't one of them. Murray can still deliver the belly laughs if given the right vehicle, and this is Bill at his best.

In this hilarious spy spoof, Murray is Wallace Richie, a regular guy who celebrates his birthday in London by participating in the newest craze: the "Theatre of Life." This is a kind of audience-participation adventure game where the client pays for assistance by real actors to live out his most exciting (clean) fantasy. It's sort of like the "holodeck," for you Star Trek: The New Generation fans. You get a call in an anonymous phone booth, you show up at a seedy hotel room, and you are cast as the savior of a young damsel who is being roughed up by a "bad guy." The problem is, when Wallace picks up his anonymous phone call, he gets a real "bad guy," giving him real orders (intended for someone else) to perform a real killing.

Wallace soon gets caught up in an extremely complex international spy operation, with numerous attempts made on his life. But he thinks it's all a game, and all the people are just actors. So he lives it up, gleefully making the most of every opportunity to shoot at people, be shot at, and rescue his girlfriend. He also takes time to continually thank and compliment the "actors" on the fine job they're doing, including one shooting victim who astounds Wallace with his "dead" act. Of course, he ends up making the world safe for democracy, without ever knowing it. The large supporting cast does a fine job at the relatively simple task of playing straight opposite Murray's comedy.

This film is excellent for laughs, but there are a few minor problems. The story is a little too complex for its own good; there are almost too many characters to keep track of, and it lags at times, especially toward the end. They probably could have trimmed a half hour or so off the running time, or dispensed with all the bad guys' evil machinations and just filled it up with Murray. But it's still a hoot. ★★★★½

In judging a movie like Bean, one must use a completely different kind of measuring stick. This film is obviously not trying to win any Academy Awards; its purpose is to make people laugh in the quickest and least thought-provoking way possible. That said, I think it fulfills this job quite adequately. Probably more appealing to established fans of the BBC television series, Bean is an acquired taste. A sort of cross between Inspector Clouseau (at his worst moments) and Benny Hill (at his best), its title character, played by Rowan Atkinson, is the quintessential clumsy oaf. He is self-confident to the point of smugness, and because of this we can all look down on him and laugh. The film is little more than a showcase for Atkinson's broad slapstick comedy, overdone facial contortions, and bathroom humor.

The rather flimsy plot centers around an extremely eccentric guard at the London Art Gallery, Mr. Bean, who is sent on a trip to the U.S. to lecture at the unveiling of Whistler's Mother at an L.A. gallery. The gallery's curator, played by Chicago Hope veteran Peter MacNicol, invites the distinguished scholar to stay with him, hoping it to be a learning experience for his family. From there it's pretty predictable, with Bean getting into one mess after another and continually scrambling to cover his tracks. Although the original TV character never speaks, the producers were forced to give Atkinson a few lines here, which results in a kind of uncomfortable juxtaposition of styles. For most of the film, Bean is a sort of modern-day Chaplin, relying completely on physical comedy and the occasional grunt. When he delivers his long-awaited speech, competent if a bit halting, one wonders why he hasn't spoken up before. The film appears to be of very little substance until near the end, where it redeems itself considerably. It's worth a few laughs, if you don't think too much. ★★★

Thank You

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department extends its sincere appreciation to all who made our 1997 Oktoberfest and our other Autumn Glory Festival weekend events the most successful ever. This would include many local businesses, service clubs, other emergency service organizations, Oktoberfest band members, and certainly the thousands of persons who attended/participated in our Firemen's Parade, Oktoberfest, Big Bucks Bingo, Oldies Dance, Vacation Raffle, and Pre-Grand Feature Parade Food Concession.

We are proud to provide top-quality fire suppression service to our community, but without the tremendous support we always receive from so many, it would be impossible for us to even exist as a service organization.

Thank you!

Girls Second

Southern Boys Win Another State Title

"Southern was incredible, just unbelievable."

That's how, in Baltimore's Sunday issue of The Sun, Oakland Mills High School boys' coach Steve Carnahan, the most successful high school cross country coach in the state, described the Southern boys' cross country team just after the Runnin' Rams literally coasted to their fifth consecutive Maryland State 1A championship Saturday afternoon at Hereford High School.

Oakland Mills, which has captured an unprecedented six state titles under Coach Carnahan, finished second to Coach Carl Booth's Rams out of nine complete teams that participated in Saturday's state final.

Meanwhile, the Southern girls' team just missed a successful defense of its state title by finishing second only to Allegany, also an outstanding effort in that, of the 22 girls on Coach Louis Newcomb's team, only three are seniors.

The Southern boys dominated their race, despite the fact that their number-one runner and co-captain Dan Sincell had to stand along the sidelines and watch. Sincell, who led the Rams to their fifth straight West Regional 1A title the previous Saturday by placing second, is facing knee surgery because of a torn anterior cruciate ligament sustained in a fall the evening following the regional race.

All seven of the Southern runners finished among the top 22 in Saturday's 3.1-mile race, and the top five placed among the first 14 finishers to earn All-State status. One of the most pleasant surprises for Coach Booth and Ram fans was the second-place finish by junior Beau Gibson. Only Clear Spring's Tim Mason, the defending state champion, ran faster than Gibson, as he literally ran away from the entire field and recorded a time of 16 minutes, 41 seconds. Gibson's time was 17:50.

Southern's Casey McBee and Eric Rexrode, both juniors, placed fourth and fifth, respectively, while freshman Rusty Strubin finished in 10th place and senior Sean Conroy rounded out the Southern All-Staters with a 14th place.

Sophomore Ted Wolf, who moved up to the state event when Sincell was injured, crossed the finish line in 18th place, while senior Mike Bittinger, running in his fourth straight state championships, placed 22nd.

A total of 66 runners finished the race. The Rams finished with a team total of 33 points, followed by Oakland Mills with 69 points, Glenelg with 77, Clear Spring with 116, Hereford with 139, Westmar with 150, Hammond with 158, Kent County with 229, and Harford Tech with 236.

Several other schools were represented in the event by individual runners, including Northern High School, as Joe Weimer qualified for the state race by virtue of his finish in the regional meet; however, Weimer sustained a sprained ankle on the muddy course at the state race and had to drop out.

"It was just a great day and a great race by our kids," stated an elated Coach Booth. "I don't think anyone realized just how good these guys are. When Dan went down, most thought our chances for another title may have gone with him, but our kids had no doubt in their minds. They went out and won this one for Dan."

Booth said Sincell continued to serve in his role as co-captain of the team, along with Mike Bittinger, at least in terms of providing words of encouragement.

"Before the race, the boys were all standing under a tree off to the side of the course, with Dan standing right in the middle of them with his cane," Booth said, "and he was also right beside them at the starting line. He was in charge, and they really responded."

The finish for the Rams this year had some similarities to last year's state race, as a younger member of the team, who finished in the middle of the pack in most of the regular season meets, stepped up as the leader. Last year, when Sincell faltered somewhat, it was Sean Conroy who stepped up and led the Southern finishers. This year, it was Gibson who took charge after typically placing fourth or fifth among the Runnin' Rams in the regular season.

"We knew at least one of the younger kids would take that role," Booth said, "but it was really three of them who did it. Beau, Casey (McBee), and Rusty (Strubin) all stepped up, along with Eric and Sean, and just had incredible races.

"Teddy (Wolf) and Mike also came through for us with very good performances," he added.

With only Conroy and Bittinger being lost to graduation next spring, Booth is confident that the Rams can capture next year's title and thus tie Oakland Mills' and Coach Carnahan's record of six state championships.

"Steve (Carnahan) knows I'm chasing him," Booth laughed, "and I think he knows that we're going to catch him next year."

The Rams finished this season with a record of 130-2.

Southern's other coach, Louis Newcomb, was just as pleased with the Southern girls' performance, as the Rams were one of five teams that were given a good chance of winning the championship.

"This was our best effort of the season," Newcomb said. "They literally gave it all they possibly had to give, and when you realize that 19 of 22 girls will be back next year, it makes their second-place finish even more outstanding."

The Rams nearly took first place, as Allegany's Kate Gall collapsed just seven yards from the finish line, but was able to muster enough strength to crawl across the finish line. Gall, who has been one of the area's top runners all season, fell and was injured, but still managed to finish in 17th place to guarantee a victory for her team.

"Everyone, including our own kids parents, were

THEY DID IT AGAIN! Won another Maryland Class 1A state championship in cross country, that is. The Southern High School boys' team, under Coach Carl Booth, captured its fifth consecutive state title on Saturday at Hereford High School. The Runnin' Reme literally ran away from the rest of the field to claim the title, as five of the seven members of the team placed among the top 15 finishers and were thus awarded All-State status. Beau Gibson, a junior, finished second, while fellow juniors Casey McBee and Eric Rexrode placed fourth and fifth, respectively. Pictured above, from left, front row, are: Eric Rexrode, Rusty Strubin, Sean Conroy, Ted Wolf, Pete Porcaro, Beau Gibson, and Casey McBee. In the second row, same order, are: Dan Sincell, Richard Cornelius, Dan Shafer, Mike Bittinger, George Tichnell, Jon Browning, Andrew Sieler, and Coach Booth. The young Southern girls' team, which won the state title last year, had another outstanding effort Saturday by placing second. In the front row below are: Amy Snyder, Beth Sauder, Amanda Pegenhardt, Aniesa Jemison, Meriah McBee, Erin Hoalcraft, Angie Sincell, Keri Strubin, Megan Conroy, and Katelyne McBee. In the back row are: Coach Louis Newcomb, Jody Bowser, Erin McClive, Elizabeth McDonald, Devon McClive, Rilene Lloyd, Katelyn Moomau, Nicole Frazee, Christy Hoalcraft, and Kristen Spurrier.

MUD AND THE STEEP HILLS of the Hereford High School cross country course took their toll on many of the runners who qualified for the event, including Northern High's Joe Weimer, who was unable to finish Saturday's race after taking a spill and spraining an ankle. Northern did not have enough runners this year to qualify for the state meet as a team, but Weimer earned a spot in the event after placing ninth in the West Region 1A meet the previous Saturday. He came into the race as an All-State runner, having finished among the top 15 (13th) in last year's state meet.

POURING IT ON are these high school harriers during Saturday's Maryland state cross country championship at Hereford High School, with four Southern Rams at or near the front in this particular shot. At right is Southern's Mike Bittinger, who was one of the few runners in the entire event to have qualified for four straight state title teams. Second, fourth, and fifth from right are Rams Ted Wolf, Rusty Strubin, and Casey McBee, all of whom earned All-State designation by finishing among the top 15 runners. Pictured below left is Eric Cosner of Southern, who captured fifth place, and below right is Sean Conroy, the Rams' top finisher last year and 14th finisher this year. Beau Gibson was the fastest Runnin' Ram of the day, as he placed second in the state (see his photo on front page). Photos by Bev Sincell.

screaming for her when she went down," Newcomb said, "and we were all pleased for her when she was able to make it across the finish. She's a senior, and she knows what it takes sometimes to complete the race."

The Southern girls finished with 63 points, while Allegany won with 46 points. Glenelg finished third with 77 and Hereford was fourth with 116. Smithsburg, a team that tied the Rams in the regular season, placed fifth with 118, and was followed by Brunswick with 127, Westmar with 131, and Oakland Mills with 209.

Leading the Southern girls were sophomore Angie Sincell and junior Amy Snyder, who placed 11th and 12th, respectively, with times of 21:53 and 21:57. Close behind, and also finishing as an All-State runner with Sincell and Snyder, was sophomore Erin Hoalcraft in 15th place, while Beth Sauder placed 20th, Katelyne McBee finished 33rd, and Christy Hoalcraft placed 51st.

Freshman Anissa Jamison was the seventh Southern runner, who took Erin Lucas' place when Lucas was unable to run because of illness. While Jamison finished near the back of the pack, she still finished the extremely rigorous Hereford course.

A total of 68 runners completed the race, with the points of the top five on each team being added to determine the final scores.

Northern High School's Rachel Leverenz, who was the West Region champion, brought still further acclaim to Garrett County cross country, as she finished second in the race with a time of 20:47. Kjetil Lowe of Poolesville won the girls' race with a time of 20:33.

Southern has won a total of six state titles in athletics and all six have been in cross country over the past five years.

SHS GIRLS FINISH SECOND IN STATE - The Southern High School girls' cross country team, which won the state Class 1A championship last year, produced another outstanding effort this year by placing second at the state meet, held Saturday at Hereford. The finish was particularly impressive since only three of the 22 members on the team are seniors. Leading the Rams was sophomore Angie Sincell, pictured above left, who finished just one spot ahead of junior Amy Snyder, pictured below left rounding a turn on the rigorous Hereford course. Erin Hoaleraft, also a sophomore, pictured second from left above, finished 15th to retain her All-State rating. Sophomore Beth Sauder, second from right, placed 20th, while junior Katelyne McBee, far right, crossed the finish in 33rd place and senior Christy Hoaleraft, below right, was 51st.

Huskies Fall To Mt. Savage, End Season At 13-2

The Northern girls' volleyball team had its outstanding season come to an end at the hands of unbeaten Mt. Savage as the two teams met in the Class 1A West Region Championship game last Thursday.

At the night's outset the Huskies looked like they might have a chance at knocking off the Indians, as the loud home crowd spurred them on in a closely fought opening match which the home team lost by only four points, 15-11. It was downhill from there, however, as the visitors dominated the next two matches by scores of 15-5 and 15-6.

Terri Sines's six service points paced Northern's efforts for the night, while April Skidmore led a balanced Mt. Savage attack with 12 service points, along with help in the form of several aces from Amy Stafford and Heather Abucevicz. Stafford also led the Indians' defense.

Mt. Savage went on from the win over Northern to sweep Allegany and Rising Sun as well. Currently undefeated at 19-0, the Indians will play for the Maryland Class 1A state volleyball championship on Saturday afternoon at Catonsville Community College.

Statistics Close, But Rams Shut Out Huskies, 30-0

If one were to look just at the game statistics, he would come to the conclusion that the 1997 football clash between the Southern Rams and the Northern Huskies ended as predicted: close. The Rams finished with 267 yards of offense and the Huskies recorded 261; the Rams recorded 14 first downs and the Huskies finished with 12; each team punted just once; the Rams were penalized for 45 yards and the Huskies for 65 yards.

However, the most important statistic of the contest - the score - showed a lopsided 30-0 victory for Southern, which gave the Rams and their coach, Tom Woods, another winning season (5-4) and resulted in a losing mark (4-5) for the Huskies and their coach, Phil Carr, in his first year at the helm for Northern.

The statistic that was lopsided in favor of the Rams, besides the final score, was turnovers, as the Huskies lost the handle on the ball four times in the steady downpour of rain and the Rams recovered three of those. Southern runners fumbled three times, but lost the ball only once.

Chad Warnick, Southern's senior quarterback, finished as the game's top rusher and top scorer, as he amassed 108 yards and scored two touchdowns plus a two-point conversion. He also had a 99-yard touchdown run called back because of a penalty.

The Huskies received the ball on the opening kickoff and drove inside the Rams' 20-yard line, but the Rams made a big defensive play on fourth down and took possession.

Warnick then engineered a drive and finally broke loose on a 27-yard touchdown run late in the first quarter. Nick Dolan rushed for the two-point conversion to give the Rams an 8-0 lead.

The Huskies had another golden opportunity to put points on the board by driving the ball all the way to the Rams' three with a first-and-goal. But an offsides call moved the ball back to the eight and the Ram defense again stiffened and stopped the Huskies on the one.

It was on the next play that Warnick broke loose for a 99-yard run, but the play was called back because of a clip that occurred some 20 yards behind Warnick. Nonetheless, the Ram offense went on a 99-yard, time-consuming drive that was capped when Josh Bosley scored on a six-yard carry 21 seconds before intermission. The run for the conversion was stopped short, but the Rams took a 14-0 lead into the locker room at halftime.

The Huskies also had problems with penalties, as a 57-yard run by senior running back Jinuny Green was nullified by a clip.

The Rams scored their second two touchdowns in the third quarter, including one on their first possession, as Warnick capped a drive with an eight-yard TD run. Jason Weaver carried for the two extra points, putting Southern on top, 22-0.

Weaver scored on the Rams' next possession with a 12-yard touchdown run and Warnick concluded the Rams' scoring for the season, and for his high school career, by running for the conversion.

Leading Northern's 188-yard ground game was Green, who finished with 88 yards.

Defensively, the Rams were led by senior linebacker Josh Helbig, who unexpectedly returned to the Southern line-up after being sidelined for several weeks with a knee injury.

Jeremy Hoover and Jed Wilhelm paced the Huskies' defensive effort.

"We came into the game after a great week of practice," stated Coach Woods. "The kids were as focused as they had been all season.

A MUD BOG would perhaps best describe Friday night's annual football game between the Southern Rams and the Northern Huskies, as the contest was played in a steady downpour of rain at the Cove. While most of the game statistics were nearly even, the Rams returned to Oakland with a 30-0 victory to finish the season with a 5-4 record, while the Huskies concluded their campaign with a 4-5 mark. Above, Northern's Jimmy Green, who finished the regular season as the area's fifth leading rusher, attempts to elude a Ram defender. Green finished with 88 yards against the Rams, while Southern's senior quarterback Chad Warnick led all rushers with 108 yards. Also identifiable in the photo for the Huskies (left background) are #76 Ryan Savage and #64 Dale Frazee. Weather conditions made both football and photography extremely difficult, and the above shot is the only one that John McEwen was able to pull from his negatives.

"Plus, Josh Helbig being back in the line-up really gave our team a lift," he said.

Woods was particularly pleased with the performance of the Ram offense, and noted the running of both Warnick and Bosley. "Playing a much bigger role than most people realize was Jason Weaver," Woods added, "who was throwing key blocks all evening for Chad and Josh."

Woods said he believed that his team's scoring just before halftime, and then coming back out and scoring quickly in the third quarter were also key to the Rams' success. "Those two scores really took a lot out of the Huskies," he said, "But they played extremely hard. They came in with a very good game plan and they executed it very well in the first half. But the elements (rain) usually favor the team that is physically bigger, especially with two running teams."

Woods labeled the win important for the Southern program for several reasons. "We hadn't lost to Northern since 1984, and we haven't had a losing season since 1977," he said, "so we really wanted to keep those two streaks intact.

"Plus, it was even more important for our kids to go out with a win, especially since we were really out of sync for three straight games (Bishop Walsh, Fort Hill, and Allegany)."

Northern's Coach Carr was disappointed with the loss, but saw a number of bright spots in the Huskies' season.

"Against Southern we shot ourselves in the foot the first half," he said. "We gave them great field position with our fumbles, and a good team will always capitalize on their opponents' mistakes. If we had punched it in when we were inside their five, and then kept them from scoring just a few seconds before halftime, we would have gone in at halftime down by just a point (8-7). That may have made it a different story in the second half. But their size and very good play on the line in the second half wore our kids down."

Carr noted that, despite his team's losing record of 4-5, the Huskies averaged over 20 points per game with a total roster of only about 18 players all season.

"Offensively, we played very well in most of our games," he said. "Defensively, we had only two starters back, so we struggled with a lack of experience, almost no depth, and relatively small size all season. But we were only a touchdown away from two more wins (Tucker County and Westmar) and a 6-3 record.

"There weren't too many people around who thought we would even get four wins," he added. "We got a lot of mileage out of our kids."

Woods also pointed out the positive aspects of the Rams' season, and said that they finished only about one win shy of what he anticipated.

"The loss to Keyser was our biggest disappointment," he said. "I really believe we were a better team, and a win over them would have given us a 6-3 mark, which is what most of us expected for this year since we were such a young team."

Both coaches are already looking forward to next year, as Woods will have eight or nine defensive starters and seven offensive starters back. "Our freshmen and jayvees also won half of their games, even without several sophomores who played varsity," he said.

Carr also noted that the

Lakers Open By Winning CCAC-South Tournament

The 1997-98 basketball season for the Garrett Community College Lakers and their fans opened on a high note this past weekend, as the Lakers won the Community College of Allegheny County-South Campus Classic in Pittsburgh.

The Lakers recorded an 80-70 victory over the host team, CCAC-South, Friday evening, and then coasted to a 72-56 win over CCAC-Allegheny in the tourney finals on Saturday.

Former Allegany standout Michael Fields paced the Lakers against South by recording 22 points and nine rebounds in his debut for GCC, while Jerome Adams finished with 19 points, a dozen of which came on three-point goals. Adams had to leave the game in the second half after being struck in the head by an opponent's elbow.

The Lakers led by as many as 20 points in the first half, and were up 42-25 at intermission. South made a run in the final two minutes to close the gap to the final spread of 10 points.

Leading all scorers was South's Dave Spell, who netted 23 points, while Kirk Evanov finished with 20.

The Lakers out-rebounded their opponents, 41-30.

Rob Wheeler paced the Lakers in scoring against Allegheny in the championship game Saturday night, as he poured in 21 points. Adams and Fields each recorded 19 points and four assists, with Adams scoring 15 of his points from long range.

The score remained close throughout most of the first half, but just before halftime the Lakers began to pull away. A jumper at the buzzer by Timmy Pitcher gave Garrett a 39-31 advantage.

The Lakers maintained a lead of about seven points through most of the second half and then stretched it to 16 in the final minutes.

Mike Walendziewicz scored 22 points to pace Allegheny, and Mike Mares finished with 10.

Missing from Garrett's line-up in both games was former Southern High standout Jimmy Pamepinto, who sustained a shoulder injury the day before Friday's opener.

"We played very well as a team," stated GCC coach Dennis Gibson, "especially defensively."

The Lakers will return to action this weekend in their own Rob Michael Alumni Tournament, which will include Dundalk, Potomac State, and the Beaver Campus of Penn State.

The Lakers are the returning champions of the Rob Michael/State Farm Insurance Tournament, and will play in Friday evening's second game against Penn State-Beaver, slated to tip off at 7:30 p.m. The 5:30 contest will pit Dundalk against Potomac State College.

The consolation and title games will be held Saturday at 1 and 3 p.m., respectively.

A halftime shootoff, involving members of the audience, is being sponsored by Smiley's Pizza, Deep Creek Lake.

Garrett will also play at home next Wednesday against Montgomery CC.

Arsenal Soccer League Expands; Try-Outs Slated

Arsenal Football Associates of Oakland, which sponsors a year-'round soccer program, has announced a significant expansion and will also conduct try-outs in five divisions this Saturday, Nov. 15, at the Southern High School practice field (inside the track).

The organization is expanding to three teams for boys - Under 12, Under 16, and Under 19 - and two teams for girls only - Under 12 and Under 16, with indoor practices to begin for all levels in early December.

Youth born Aug. 1, 1985, or later may try out for the U-12 teams, those born Aug. 1, 1981, or later may try out for the U-16 teams, and those born Aug. 1, 1978, or later may try out for the U-19 team. The schedule is as follows: U-12 boys, 9:30-11 a.m.; U-12 and U-16 girls, 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m.; U-16 boys, 1:30-3 p.m.; U-19 boys, 3:15-4:30 p.m.

Those participating in the try-outs must wear shin guards (covered by socks) and bring a soccer ball. If the weather is rainy, try-outs will be held in the Dennett Road School gymnasium. At least one parent must accompany youth to the try-outs, and they must bring both the social security number and a copy of the birth certificate of their child(ren).

The Troubleshooters, which is the traveling team of the Mountaintop Soccer Association, will hold U-14 tryouts on the same day at the same location and at the same time as the Arsenal boys' U-16 try-outs.

Competition in the league will be from December until June.

Persons desiring more information about the Arsenal league, including fees, may telephone Coach Mel Menker at 301-334-5906.

Arsenal Football Associates is a sanctioned soccer club registered with Maryland State Youth Soccer and the United States Youth Soccer Association.

Soccer Coaching Clinic Planned By MSA, Arsenal

A two-day certified soccer coaching clinic will be held by the Mountaintop Soccer Association and Arsenal Football Associates over a weekend in January or February, with the date depending upon the availability of a United States Soccer Federation instructor.

The clinic will train each coach in basic player skills, the rules of soccer, injury management, practice drills, basic goalkeeping skills, how to structure a practice session, and various other areas.

The instruction will be held at Garrett Community College, most likely from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day, with the cost of the clinic to be announced later.

The clinic is being held in conjunction with Maryland State Youth Soccer and the United States Youth Soccer Association. Persons wishing to attend the clinic and/or obtain more information may telephone Mel Menker at 301-334-5906.

New Freshwater Fishing Regs In Effect Nov. 17

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin announced this week that the department has adopted several new regulations affecting fishing in freshwater. These regulation changes, which will be effective Monday, Nov. 17, were originally scheduled to take effect January 1, 1998.

"In order to prevent confusion and accommodate freshwater fishermen, a concerted effort to educate anglers regarding the newly adopted regulations will be made by the Natural Resources Police, Park Rangers, and Fisheries Service personnel," Griffin said.

These new regulations have been printed in the Maryland Freshwater Sportfishing Guide and will be distributed along with the 1998 freshwater fishing license that will be available Monday, Dec. 1, at designated license agents and DNR Regional Service Centers.

Among the regulatory changes are

1. Put-and-Take Fishing Areas:

Specific dates changes for trout stocking closure periods are made so that the dates will correspond with weekend dates. This type change is made every year to accommodate anglers.

2. Delayed Harvest Trout Fishing Areas:

In these areas (including sections of the North Branch Potomac River, Casselman River, and Town Creek) the dates during which harvest is allowed are changed. Specifically, only artificial lures may be used and no harvest is allowed during October 1 through June 15. During June 16 through September 30 there are no bait restrictions and the daily trout creel limit is two fish.

Student-athletes will be recognized from the ranks of the school's cross country, volleyball, golf, soccer, and football teams. Refreshments will be served following the awards ceremony.

All interested persons are invited to participate in the evening's festivities and honor the hard work and accomplishments of the Huskies this fall. Student-athletes and coaches may attend at no charge, but there will be a $2.50 admission for all others. Proceeds go to benefit Northern's athletic programs.

For more information, interested persons may call NHS Athletic Boosters president Gary Savage at 301-746-8683.

Northern jayvees had their first non-losing season (4-4) in many years, and a number of those younger players will fill some gaps in the varsity next year.

Woods noted his appreciation to all who supported the Southern football program this season, particularly his assistant coaches, the cheerleaders, new athletic director Steve Cosner, and his wife Debbie, who has led numerous fund-raising activities throughout the summer and fall.

"I also want to extend special thanks to our group of seniors this year," he said. "A lot of people had sort of written them off. They had lost two games to the Northern freshman team four years ago, so to finish the year with a win over those same Huskies was great for them."

Woods said he will spend the next several months attempting to fill next year's schedule with a 10th game, as two 1A teams (Westmar and Beall) continue to refuse to play the Rams.

Carr likewise expressed his appreciation to all supporters of Husky football, including his assistant coaches, the members of the "chain gang" at the home games, the many businesses that provide financial support to the program, the cheerleaders, players, and parents.

Off-season weight training is also on tap for the Rams and the Huskies, who will return to summer practice next August 15.

WTU Chapter Slates Annual Game Banquet

The Garrett Woods Chapter of Whitetails Unlimited (WTU) will be holding its annual wild game banquet Wednesday, Nov 19, at 7 p.m. at the McHenry House at the Wisp Ski and Golf Resort. The public is invited, and included in the admission price is an annual membership in the local chapter and national organization of Whitetails Unlimited. A social hour will get the evening's activities underway at 5:30 p.m., during which current members and newcomers can share ideas about the organization's stewardship efforts in instructing the public on the importance of the study and sound management of the nation's white-tailed deer population.

The annual banquet affair is highlighted by a wild game buffet prepared from game donated by chapter members. The menu will include meats from whitetail deer, mule deer, pheasant, quail, duck, smoked turkey, elk, and buffalo. In addition to the buffet meal, there will be displays of professionally mounted trophies, raffle and door prize drawings for a variety of hunting-related items, a live auction and a brief membership meeting.

Auction items include guns, knives, prints, collector plates, and decoys, and raffle items include an National Rifle Association commemorative edition Marlin MR-7 .270 cal. rifle, and a black powder gun, as well as other fine hunting accessories.

A variety of topics of importance to all white-tailed deer hunters will be addressed during the chapter meeting portion of the event. Scott Reihl, a lobbyist for the National Rifle Association, has been invited to brief the gathering on issues surrounding legislation concerning the second amendment, and there will also be reports on WTU objectives and selection of chapter officers. The chapter is also soliciting volunteers to serve on committees that have been formed to plan and carry out special events, functions, and activities.

Banquet tickets are $35 per person or $55 per couple, and are available from chapter president Wendell Beitzel at 301-387-6950 and chapter treasurer Tommy Thayer at 301-387-2000. Persons interested in attending the banquet are encouraged to purchase tickets as soon as possible so that the proper number of dinners can be prepared. Raffle tickets for the Marlin rifle are currently available at $25 each, as well as raffle tickets for the black powder gun at $2 each, and may be purchased by contacting Thayer.

More Antlerless Deer Permits Are Now Available

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary John R. Griffin has announced that hunter applications for antlerless deer permits fell short of DNR's allocations for Garrett County. (Zone 2). DNR allocated 2,000 permits for Garrett County (Zone 2), but received only 1,819 applications for this zone. Every hunter who applied for an antlerless deer permit for one of these deer management zones received a permit.

"Antlerless deer permits provide for the maintenance of deer populations at levels compatible with available habitat, while providing recreational opportunities for Maryland's deer hunters," Griffin said. "Antlerless deer permits are required for hunters to take antlerless deer during the firearms or late muzzleloader deer season in certain Western Maryland deer management zones."

DNR will make available the remaining antlerless deer permits according to the following procedure:

1.) There will be 181 antlerless deer permits available for Garrett County (Zone 2). This zone includes the portion of Garrett County west of a lin

Garrett County Outdoors

By Robert Yonke

DON'T LET JACK FROST BITE YOU

With the onset of the hunting seasons and accompanying cold weather, the opportunity for Garrett County outdoor folk to experience injuries from cold exposure is magnified. Frostbite is the term used to describe damage to skin and underlying tissue caused by extreme cold. Hands, feet, nose, and ears are most vulnerable. If only skin and underlying tissue are affected, recovery is usually complete. But, if blood vessels are affected, gangrene can follow and the situation can be life threatening.

The first symptoms of frostbite are a pins and needles sensation, followed by numbness. The skin is probably hard, pale, cold, and without feeling. As it thaws, it becomes red and painful. In more severe cases, it may appear white and numb. Frostbite is certainly nothing to fool with, and a victim should receive emergency room treatment as soon as possible. First aid includes getting the victim to a warmer place, warming the affected areas with tepid, not hot, water and applying dry, sterile dressings to the affected areas. If frostbite is extensive, give warm drinks, not alcohol, to the victim to replace lost fluids. Most importantly, get medical attention promptly.

Certain factors contribute to a victim's susceptibility to frostbite. These are, of course, extreme cold, wet clothes, and high winds. Also, poor circulation caused by tight clothing or boots, cramped positions typical of a deer or turkey stand, certain medications, smoking, alcohol consumption, and diseases that affect the blood vessels can also contribute.

WHAT EL NINO MEANS TO GARRETT COUNTY

It seems that every news broadcast, newspaper, and magazine has addressed the weather phenomenon of El Niño in terms of its global effects and implications. Discussions address storms in the U.S. west, increased rainfall across the southern states, flooding in Peru, and drought in the western Pacific. All of interest certainly; but, what does the warming of waters in the equatorial Pacific Ocean mean to Garrett County?

The El Niño effect occurs every two to seven years, and during the last few months, scientists have recorded water temperatures off the South American coast increasing by about five degrees, setting the stage for another El Niño to occur this year. Each El Niño has its own character, so it is difficult to make precise forecasts. However, information gleaned from the Internet publication called DCSki shows that, historically, the Washington, D.C., area experiences wetter winters during El Niño years and El Niño may also cause warmer temperatures. This trend tends to be more evident in areas such as Ohio and western Pennsylvania. And, since our weather more closely parallels that of western Pennsylvania, Garrett County could very well see more precipitation this winter. Depending on the temperature line, this could mean a whole bunch of snow or...

This year's El Niño could be a large climate event lasting well into next spring and shows signs of equaling or exceeding the strong occurrence of 1982-1983. Chmatologist Jagadish Shukla said, "It will likely be the biggest El Niño in 150 years...and the only reason we say it will be the largest in 150 years is because we don't have any data before then.

EARLY TURKEY SEASON STATISTICS

Garrett County turkey hunters started the season fighting the elements. But, this didn't stop some talented folks from bagging a fall bird. These include Connie Bowser (11 lb. hen on Negro Mountain), Don DeWitt (20 lb. tom in the Savage River area), Bob Slaugherbock (15 lb. hen near Accident), and Calvin Kinna (17 lb. gobbler in the Potomac Forest).

SUCCESSFUL GARRETT COUNTY ARCHERS

Archers who have checked in respectable deer include Gary Whitaker (11-point from the Potomac Forest), Zane Kisner (7-point, West Virginia), John Flanagan (7-point, White Church area), Robbie Elliott (3-point, Kitzmiller), and Jason Savage (9-point, Fort Hill area). Dan Milavec of D&B Sport Shop said archers he has talked to have been seeing quite a few bear.

WALLEYE FISHING HAS BEEN STRONG IN DEEP CREEK LAKE

Larry Iden of AMC reports that anglers in his area have been catching lots of big walleyes on jigs and spoons and minnows. Also, he has seen some nice catches of jumbo perch. How long this lasts will depend somewhat on the weather.

WHITETAILS UNLIMITED BANQUET

The Garrett County Whitetails Unlimited banquet and festivities will be held November 19 at the Point View on Deep Creek Lake. Anyone interested in attending can get more information and tickets from Larry Iden at Appalachian Mountain Crafts in McHenry. Call 1-301-334-9725. Proceeds from this banquet will support the organization's habitat and conservation work.

Sines Ordered

ing paper service fees, and one check for $100 written to the Fraternal Order of Police of Garrett County from the Consolidation Coal Company.

During the county audit for fiscal year 1996, taking place in the late summer of 1996, auditor James Murray and Monty Pagenhardt, county administrative officer, apparently asked Sines directly if there were any other accounts not disclosed by him to the county office. He reportedly told them there were not, even though the account at American Trust was active, having been opened in December 1994, without the knowledge or approval of top county officials. It remained active until December of '96, when Sines closed the account by writing a check to himself for $476.83.

The account came to light only this year, when Assistant State's Prosecutor Isabel Cumming spotted a curious payment source in her investigation. A check for $800 had been made out by Sines to the Credit Card Center on Oct. 5, 1996. Cumming obtained the check and apparently then discovered the American Trust account. This occurred the week Sines was to be arraigned on the credit card charges in September. The former sheriff's attorney, Ransom Davis, worked out the plea agreement with Cumming to stipulate that the findings concerning the American Trust account would result only in further restitution costs to the defendant. In other words, he cannot be prosecuted further for his initiation and use of the improper account.

According to information from Cumming, Sines wrote about 30 checks to himself totaling $9,263.60, two checks to Kerri Shaffer, his secretary and step-daughter, in the amounts of $210 and $200, and spent another $4,321.76 in checks to stores, businesses, and banks.

The checks to himself began at $40 and increased in frequency and amount throughout 1995 and 1996. In November of 1996, he wrote checks to himself nearly every other day for over two weeks: Nov. 4, $500; two checks on Nov. 6, one for $400 and one for $200; Nov. 8, $250; Nov. 12, $100; Nov. 14, $250; Nov. 15, $400; Nov. 16, $300; Nov. 18, $100; Nov. 20, $600; Nov. 21, $300; Nov. 23, $300; Nov. 27, $500; and on into December with at least six similar withdrawals until he closed the account on Dec. 20.

The total amount deposited in the account was $31,229.02. The nearly $14,000 spent by Sines is to be paid back in full, interest free, in three years.

Sines resigned the day before his arraignment in September and his chief deputy, Dick Sanders, was recently appointed as the interim sheriff to serve until the 1998 election.

Staff writer Mary McEwen is the coordinator for the effort at The Republican. In the next several days, she and other employees will be making the necessary contacts with local stores, social services, and banks to carry out the campaign. Families to be served in this effort will not be identified by The Republican -- they are to be determined by the social service agency involved in the effort.

Persons who wish to donate now may do so by sending a check to The Republican Warm the Children Fund, P.O. Box 326, Oakland, MD 21550. All donations are tax-deductible. All donors who wish to do so may provide their names for inclusion in a weekly display advertisement listing that week's contributors. Contributions can be made in honor or in memory of loved ones, and those names will be printed as well.

More information will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

2.) Permits will be made available on a first-come, first-served basis via U.S. mail only. Interested hunters should send a written request to: Antlerless Deer Permit, DNR Wildlife and Heritage Division, 3 Pershing Street, Rm 110, Cumberland, MD 21502. All requests must be postmarked no later than Friday, Nov. 28, 1997.

3.) The following information should be provided: a.) Full name and address (please print). b.) Maryland hunting license number. c.) Zone desired (Garrett, Zone 2). Hunters may submit only one request and may apply for only one deer management zone. d.) Include a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Hunters may obtain only one antlerless deer permit. Antlerless deer permit holders can hunt antlerless deer during the last two days of the deer firearms season (Dec. 12 and Dec. 13, 1997). If the hunter does not use the permit on these two dates, then the permit is valid for the late segment of the deer muzzleloader season (Dec. 20, 1997, to Jan. 3, 1998).

For additional information on antleriess deer permits, or to obtain a copy of the 1997-98 Guide to Hunting and Trapping in Maryland, local persons may call the DNR Wildlife and Heritage Division Western Maryland office at 301-777-2136.

You need to understand that if this becomes a reality we all lose. We also lose because if one is born in America, one is an American. I am not an American Irishman, I am an American. The ruse is overtaking us worse than a horrendous malignancy which is inoperable. No one will escape the cost of this if it goes forward. Another interesting item for your perusal is that the salaries planned for the several "founders" is $145,000 for 1998, at our expense! Help! Perhaps we need to redefine economic development.

To survive we must have "for profit" industry if it comes to Garrett County, not "take our money" organizations who play on the empathy of the easily duped. The concept of "free" money is a myth. We, to survive, must return to the concept which made America great: We want money, so we work for it, the old fashion way.

Over 11,500 Inquire About Unclaimed Funds

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said more than 7,200 callers have contacted his office as a result of the fall unclaimed property advertising supplement, which ran in 29 Maryland newspapers between October 20 and October 31. The Comptroller's Office also received over 4,300 inquiries on its website during the same period.

Most of the unclaimed funds just advertised were insurance benefits, including unclaimed life insurance benefits, lapsed policies with a cash value, and medical insurance benefits. Unclaimed funds also include bank accounts, unclaimed wages, contents of safe deposit boxes, unclaimed stocks and bonds, and security deposits. The accounts recently advertised remained unclaimed for at least five years before they were reported to the Comptroller's Office.

The 40,000 most recently reported accounts currently posted on the comptroller's website have been searched by thousands of hopeful inquirers. "Individuals and web surfers who called as a result of the ad or website search are being sent claim forms," Goldstein said. "Please, don't forget to return the claim forms, so we can send you your money."

General information on Maryland unclaimed funds is available on the comptroller's website and the Forms-by-Fax system. Information on requirements for businesses to report unclaimed money such as wages and security deposits is also available. The website address is www.comp.state.md.us. The Forms-by-Fax system can be reached by calling 410-974-3299.

"Remember," Goldstein said, "if you've ever moved to a different address, or had a friend or loved one die, there may be unclaimed utility deposits, bank or other financial accounts, and other funds that were overlooked or forgotten. This money can still be claimed by a rightful owner or heir, even if it has been forgotten for many years. There is no statute of limitation on claiming the money."

The Comptroller's office honored 7,556 claims totaling $11,571,470 during fiscal year 1997. The average claim was $1,531.

Tartuffe To Be Presented At Frostburg State

Frostburg State University Theatre is back for its season's second production, the classic Tartuffe.

Tartuffe," written by Moliere, has been considered by many critics the most popular of his plays. The genre is farce and illustrates how easily a person or a society can be "duped" or "Tartuffified," even when protected by sophisticated technological and human devices.

Performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Nov. 21 and 22, at 8 p.m. There will also be a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday, Nov. 23. After Thanksgiving break, there will be three more performances, on December 5, 6, and 7, also at 8 p.m. All performances will take place inside the Drama Theatre of the Performing Arts Center.

The play was translated by Richard Wilber and will be directed by Lynn Broderick of the FSU Communication and Theatre Arts Department.

Reservations can be made by calling the FSU Theatre Department at 301-687-4145 from 1 to 4 p.m. Persons with disabilities may request accommodations through the ADA Compliance Office, FSU Library Room 228, 301-687-4102, TDD 301-687-7955.

Every muscle tense...every sense attuned to their surroundings...they're ready! A scent, a sound, a glimpse of the unexpected and they will streak silently into the forest. They're alert, but their alertness indicates a readiness to run away.

ALERT!

Human achievement is born of a different alertness. When we are awake to our opportunities, alive to our responsibilities, brave to our challenges...then progress is realized, goals are reached.

Our religion helped to establish this human standard of alertness and our churches constantly inspire us to achieve it. For when the mind is attuned to life's environment, and the soul is attuned to God, then we have the wherewithal to go forward to greater goals.

True alertness begins when we discover the riches and fulfillment regular worship can add to our lives.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

HOW TO STRENGTHEN YOUR HAND
November 16, 1997

Background Scripture: Nehemiah 1 through 2
Devotional Reading: Psalms 146:1-10

I wonder whether Nehemiah thought of himself as a leader? You might answer, 'Of course, he thought of himself as a leader; why else would he do what he did?'

We tend to think that way because (1) we think that leaders are born, not made and (2) we weren't born to be leaders. We fail to realize that many people who assume roles of leadership do so, not because they necessarily want to or feel qualified, but because there is a job to do and they realize someone must take the initiative.

When I was in my first pastorate just outside Harrisburg, Pa., I was on my way to the Polyclinic Hospital one day to visit a parishoner. On the way I witnessed a terrible accident in which a woman crossing the street was hit by a car and thrown up into the air. All of us brought our cars to a stop and jumped out to see what happened. The woman lay in the street, a bleeding, broken body that was still breathing. All the drivers looked at each other, expecting someone to take over and help her until an ambulance could get there. But no one stepped forward.

SURELY SOMEONE ELSE

I confess that I was squeamish and assumed that surely someone would take the initiative. But nobody did. So, not because I wanted to, not because I thought I was the one best prepared to help her, but because it was obvious no one else was going to make a move, I stooped and began to minister to her as best I could. Eventually the ambulance arrived and they took her away.

I did not see how she could possibly survive this terrible accident. But several days later, I saw her in the hospital and she had not only survived but would recover completely, I was told.

Now I mention this incident only because I'm sure we all find ourselves in situation when we ask or wonder, "Why doesn't someone do something about that?" The very fact that we are perceptive enough to ask the question often means that we are the ones who may have to provide the answer. We may think that there is someone else who surely can do a better job than we—and quite possibly there is—but that is no excuse not to do what we can do.

We will never know if Nehemiah thought of himself as a leader, but maybe he saw something that had to be done and realized that, if it was going to be done, he would have to do it. Of course, Nehemiah did not have to do this task all by himself, but he had to get the job started so that others could pitch in.

IN A POSITION TO HELP

He started with the king he served in the very trusted position of cupbearer. Kings were always afraid of being poisoned so their cupbearers had to be men in whom they could entrust their lives. So, Nehemiah, although he may not have felt that he had leadership skills, was in a position to do something and he did it.

Don't think for a moment that it was easy for Nehemiah. He knew he was sticking his neck out by bringing up this subject to the King. "Then," he says, "I was very much afraid" (2:2). Despite his position as cupbearer to the king, he knew this request could cost his position, perhaps even his life. Leadership calls us and there is no guarantee that it won't cost us to respond to that call.

Nehemiah doesn't tell us if he was gifted, handsome, a good speaker or possessor of a powerful physique. What enabled him to lead the people in Israel in the reconstruction of the walls of Jerusalem was his understanding of people and his sincerity. "You see the trouble we are in, how Jerusalem lies in ruins...Come, let us build the wall of Jerusalem, that we may no longer suffer disgrace" (2:17). He tells us that they responded to his challenge, saying "'Let us rise up and build.' So they strengthened their hands for the good work" (2:18).

How do you strengthen your hands for a good work? Answer: you put your trust in God and he will provide power enough for the task.

COVER STORY

Delightful Dreyfuss excels in Oliver Twist

©TVData Features Syndicate

Richard Dreyfuss

Charles Dickens' immortal Oliver Twist has been adapted countless times over the years, but a new Disney TV version is among the best – by a nose.

Academy Award winner Richard Dreyfuss, rising star Elijah Wood and newcomer Alex Trench star in a splendid new Oliver Twist, premiering Sunday, Nov. 16, on ABC's The Wonderful World of Disney.

The production was filmed in Dublin, Ireland, and director Tony Bill and production designer Keith Wilson present a credible picture of the period, neither oppressively dark nor artificially light.

The costumes look lived in, and the lads in Fagin's gang, many of them real Dublin street kids, look convincingly grubby, not like the laughably Lost but Politically Correct Boys from Steven Spielberg's Hook.

Screenwriter Monte Merrick does a judicious job of pruning the novel into a 90-minute run time, and the story unfolds with sufficient emotional complexity for adults, yet straightforwardly enough to allow younger viewers to follow it. (Parents: Be prepared to explain what happens to Nancy, who meets her fate off-camera).

Yet the real engine that drives this beautiful production is Dreyfuss, virtually unrecognizable under his wig and sporting an amazing prosthetic nose.

His Fagin is outwardly charming and clownish enough to dazzle his innocent young charges, whom he really is criminally exploiting, of course.

Somehow, that preposterous proboscis frees the actor to exhibit delightful flamboyance in his "public" scenes, while Dreyfuss unveils the dangerous and pathetic reality in his private moments. It's a mesmerizing piece of work.

The very gifted Wood, who co-stars in the talked-about feature The Ice Storm, is every bit as good as the Artful Dodger, Oliver's street mentor and secret protector.

At 16, this one-time child star handles this deceptively complex character and his cockney accent with ease: Watch for his scary confrontation scene in a stable with murderous Bill Sikes (David O'Hara, Braveheart).

Many viewers familiar with the story mainly from Oliver!, the Oscar-winning 1968 musical film starring Ron Moody and Jack Wild, will be pleasantly surprised by the latest adaptation, which is truer to Dickens' sentimental but often grim tale.

And Trench, making his acting debut in the title role, compares favorably to Mark Lester's anemic, whispery little performance in Oliver!

Trench is a wonder, giving a very natural portrayal that is touching yet plucky. This Oliver is a survivor, while Lester seemed too frail to hold up his gruel bowl.

This Oliver Twist is a top-flight entry in the mostly strong Wonderful World of Disney roster. Its creative team clearly believes in the classic source material, and its performers clearly have a Dickens of a lot of fun.

Please, sirs, we want some more.

IN FOCUS

"The Elephants of Africa," an episode of PBS' Nature, explores the home of this snouted pachyderm Sunday, Nov. 16 (check local listings).

The show follows Cynthia Moss, an elephant expert known for her studies of the animals in Kenya's Amboseli National Park, as she turns her attention outward to other areas of Africa, including rain forests and mountaintops. She examines how the lumbering animals change behavior and physical appearance to adapt to any environment.

Kevin Smith

Q: On the Hercules and Xena syndicated shows, who plays the god Ares? My mom says it is Kevin Smith. I say it is Bruce Campbell. –T. Bradford, Cranbrook, B.C.

A: Both men have guest starred on the two shows, but Mom is right: Smith plays Ares, while Campbell plays Autolycus, the king of thieves.

Q: Whatever happened to Gabe Kaplan, star of Welcome Back, Kotter? –Luke Aiello via e-mail.

A: According to the weekly WASHED-UPDate column in the Internet Movie Database, Kaplan continues to do stand-up and personal appearances occasionally at such high-profile venues as the Westbury (N.Y.) Music Fair and Boston's Faneuil Hall.

A skilled poker player, Kaplan won a bundle in recent World Series of Poker tournaments.

The actor reportedly didn't reprise his Kotter character in an episode of last season's Mr. Rhodes because he and NBC couldn't agree on financial terms.

Q: Rick Springfield once starred in a show called Human Target, in which he disguised himself as people targeted for assassination. How long did it last? –Chris Stuart, Benicia, Calif.

A: This adaptation of a DC Comics character was a fast ABC flop in 1992. It premiered on July 20 and expired on Aug. 29.

Q: Could you please tell me what projects Drew Carey worked on before getting his own sitcom? –N. Lehner via e-mail.

A: Apart from his stand-up, Carey previously made guest appearances on The Torkelsons and The George Carlin Show. His first series role was Drew Clark in the NBC sitcom The Good Life. Carey's film credits include Coneheads and the 1995 TV remake of Freaky Friday.

Medusa's Child never really gets off the ground

By Suzanne Gill
©TVData Features Syndicate

In Medusa's Child, Gail O'Grady is tricked into spending four hours sitting within 15 feet of an armed atomic device.

To keep a similar thing from happening to you, consider skipping Part 1 of the ABC movie, airing Sunday, Nov. 16, and tune in Thursday, Nov. 20, for Part 2. (Unfortunately, the better half of this what-if drama airs opposite NBC's Must See TV.)

Medusa's Child is adapted from a best seller by John J. Nance. Linda McCoy (Lori Loughlin) is a meteorologist eager to see a hurricane that is about to hit the mid-Atlantic coast. She and her equipment are aboard a 737 cargo plane flown by former fighter pilot Scott Nash (Vincent Spano).

Also on board is Vivian Henry (O'Grady), ex-wife of nuclear physicist Rogers Henry (John Glover). He went off the deep end when the government canceled his top-secret project and Vivian divorced him. Now terminally ill, he has persuaded his gullible ex to deliver a "prototype" bomb to the Pentagon.

In flight, the device begins to count down to detonation. Rogers has rigged it to sense the electronic pulse of Vivian's pacemaker; if she goes more than 15 feet away, the bomb will detonate. Hell hath no fury like a nuclear scientist scorned.

The plane's progress is monitored from the ground by FBI coordinator Tony DiStefano (Christopher Noth) and the U.S. president (Martin Sheen).

A lot of disbelief must be suspended to get through this film (a meteorologist performs open-heart surgery?), and the conclusion is simplistic to say the least, but a few genuinely suspenseful moments keep Medusa's Child from being a total bomb.

NHS Junior Wins Math Competition

The University of Maryland has notified Joshua Neubert, a junior at Northern High School, that he was the first place finisher in Garrett County for the 1996-97 University of Maryland High School Competition in Mathematics.

Neubert competed in a preliminary round of competition and was the only student from Garrett County to go on to the final round of questions. Maryland students from all high school grades competed throughout the state. According to a spokesperson, it is unusual for a student below the junior or senior year to finish at the top level. Neubert was a sophomore during the selection process. County winners were chosen from the final round of competition.

Neubert is an honor roll student at Northern and has won numerous awards for his academic and extracurricular activities, including Minds in Motion and a second place in mathematics at the Regional Science Fair at Frostburg State University. He is a member of the school's soccer, basketball, and track teams, and is on the Science and Academic Bowl teams.

Neubert spent eight weeks this summer at the Thacher School in Ojai, Calif., where he participated in the Summer Science Program, sponsored by several universities in that area. He worked with other selected high school students in investigating asteroid orbits and learning to use advanced astronomical equipment.

Joshua is the son of Cathy and John Neubert, Grantsville.

American Ed. Week Proclaimed For Nov. 16-22

American Education Week will be celebrated in schools across America the week of November 16-22. The theme of observance is "Teaching Children to Think and Dream."

"This theme is designed to remind people that schools are a fundamental investment for our future," stated Irene Sigel, president of the Garrett County Education Association. "Without education, children not only lack the skills they need for the future, but they lack hope. Learning can be both fun and adventurous. Education is about possibility.

"It's not just a matter of giving students the tools they need to succeed in the world. It's also about helping them to fulfill their potential, to develop ideas and inventions, to imagine a better world. Education doesn't occur in a vacuum. Garrett County schools need not only financial support, but parental and community involvement. We educators do our best to educate every student, but we need parents, grandparents, business leaders, public officials--everybody--to work with us," she said.

American Education Week was established by the National Education Association and the American Legion as an annual event in 1921. It has been celebrated every year since, making it one of the longest-running observances in the nation. The week now has 13 national co-sponsors, including the U.S. Department of Education. Wednesday, Nov. 19, was set aside as a special day to honor Garrett County's Educational Support Personnel--the assistants, secretaries, custodians, cafeteria workers, bus drivers, "and others whose contributions often go unnoticed," Sigel stated.

Garrett County Education Association, an affiliate of the Maryland State Teachers Association and the National Education Association, extends congratulations to every education employee working daily to inspire tomorrow's leaders.

"American Education Week is a great time to visit your schools and see how you can contribute to making them better. It's also a good time to thank a teacher or education employee who's made a difference in your life or your child's," Sigel said.

Zion Women Of ELCA Meet

Women of the ELCA, Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting in the church on November 4.

The study theme--The Law and the Golden Calf: We Are Yet Sinners--was led by Leota Baker. The lesson explored laws given at Sinai, the special relationship between God and Israel, and the great sin of the golden calf. Devotions closed with the litany "We Have Wondered" and the singing of "Amazing Grace."

The annual ingathering of the thank offerings was observed with the litany, "Remembering The Gifts," a prayer of dedication, and the hymn "Now Thank We All Our God."

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting.

Thank-you notes were received from Our Savior's Lutheran Church on the Rocky Boy Indian Reservation in Box Elder, Mont., and the family of Ann Rowe.

A birthday offering was presented by Dorothy Burow. All birthday offerings received during the year will be used for social ministry in the local community.

Evergreens have been gathered to make the Advent wreath, which will be placed in the church for the Advent season.

DeWitt Earns WVU Certificate In Gerontology

Oakland resident Sharon DeWitt was one of nine tri-state residents who work with the elderly in human service settings to earn certificates in the West Virginia University gerontology practitioner program.

Offered in cooperation with Allegany College of Maryland, Cumberland, the WVU course provides increased understanding of the aging process and a strengthening of professional skills.

The cooperative arrangement of WVU School of Medicine's Center on Aging and AC's Center for Continuing Education's Institute for Health and Human Services brings the expertise of the large university into the western Maryland community and permits wider access for gerontology practitioners.

The WVU Center on Aging program at AC is a longstanding one that has enabled many area residents to further their education and professional training while they work. Experts and recognized authorities in varying aspects of gerontology are enlisted to teach the courses.

Each course in the program is offered as a seven-hour class on one day. There are four required core courses, three skills courses and a minimum of four elective courses. All courses are offered on the AC campus.

Middle School Students Dress For Success

"Dress for Success" was the theme of a recent seminar attended recently by students from Southern Middle School and Bloomington Elementary-Middle School. The 254 students who attended were invited to dress for their potential careers.

The occasion was Career Day for middle schoolers, an event previously held only for students in high school. The goal of this seminar is to expose students to various career options through interaction with professionals in different fields.

Local residents, representing 26 professions, volunteered time to spend the day with the middle schoolers. "The students were allowed to select 12 out of 26 presentations to attend. Question sessions followed each presentation," explained Kurt Lear of the Garrett County Board of Education Office of Career and Technology, who chaired this event.

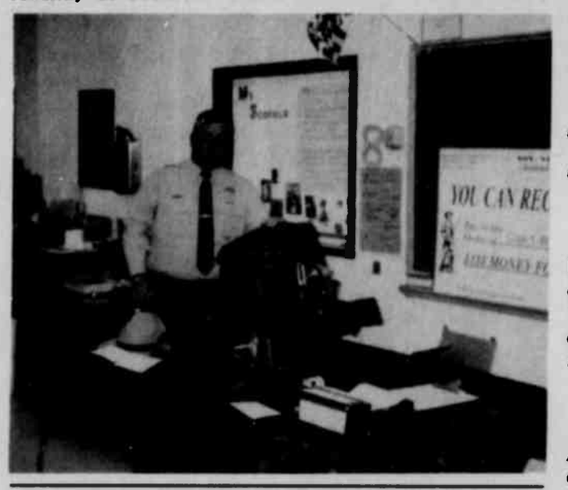
Students were encouraged to ask the speakers about types of daily tasks they perform in their line of work, what they find most enjoyable in their work, and what type of specialized training was required to prepare for their careers, he said.

Bloomington student Pam Morton said she liked listening to the beautician's presentation and thinks she might be interested in pursuing that line of work herself some day.

Classmate Gerald Abernathy got some insights that day, too. "I had thought before that I might want to go into the Army. I liked the guy from the National Guard. I learned I could go into the guard when I am 17," he said. Both he and Pam agreed that a career day for middle school students is a good idea.

Guidance counselor Randy Paugh of SMS is in accord with these students.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE - Students listened to business and professional people from around the county during the career day for middle school students held recently at Southern Middle School. Elaine McDonald, above, spoke to the students about her business venture, the Silver Tree Restaurant; Rick Wakefield, below, gave information to his listeners about the responsibilities and duties in the ONR police; and above, right, Gary Thompson may look like a chef, but is in fact a social studies teacher. The students and teachers were invited to dress for potential, part-time, or previous careers in accordance with the theme "Dress For Success."



"It was a great success. The students are very focused. They take this very seriously," he said.

The local professionals who participated were Susan Bell, actress; Mike Logsdon, Adventure Sports, GCC; Laura Stutzman, artist; Phil Rodeheaver, American Trust Bank; Jan Shafer, The Christmas Shop; Melissa Workman, WVU nursery school; Chuck Trautwein, computer specialist, board of education; Dr. Donald Richter, physician; and Rick Wakefield, DNR police.

Other volunteers were Mark Ruhe, Wisp Resort; Dave Taylor, Green Acres Garden Center; Renita Sherwood, Quality Marine; Tom Bittinger, National Guard; Tara Lloyd, US Air Airlines; Jesse Broadwater, Maryland State Police; Paul Mullan, WKIJ Radio, and Dr. Paul Deal, veterinarian.

Also speaking at the forum were Bill Cox, professional golfer; Tim Taylor, government official; Wendy Wakefield, dietitian, Garrett Memorial Hospital; Jim Hinebaugh, economic development director; Elaine McDonald, Silver Tree Restaurant; Mark Phillips, radiologist, Garrett Memorial Hospital; Dawn Riley beautician, Hairfax; Brooks Hamilton, farming; and Amy Hartung-Jones, State Farm Insurance.

"These people were wonderful to donate their time in this way," Lear said.

Northern Middle School Career Day will be held Nov. 26.

Biography

Michael J. Fox: The Actor Everyone Loves to Like

"Spin City" star Michael J. Fox may be only five-foot-four, but his impact on audiences is anything but small. His role in the hit movie trilogy, "Back to the Future," helped the film gross an estimated $1 billion worldwide.

Born June 9, 1961, in Alberta, Canada, Fox began acting on Canadian TV at age 15. When he was 18, he dropped out of high school and moved to Hollywood. His youthful appearance led to his feature-film debut in 1980 in "Midnight Madness," Disney's first PG-rated movie. According to the November issue of Biography magazine, acclaim soon followed for playing Willy-Joe Hall in "Palmerstown, U.S.A.," a series set in a racially-integrated 1930s Southern town.

But it was as Alex P. Keaton in "Family Ties" that put Fox on the map. His role in "Family Ties" as the young conservative son of '60s-generation liberals won Emmys for best actor in 1986, 1987 and 1988 and a Golden Globe in 1989. This success led to the role as the time-tripping Marty McFly in "Back to the Future." Films that followed at this stage of his career, including "Teen Wolf" and "Casualties of War," garnered more modest success.

By the mid-'90s, his career hit a flat spot with such flops as "Life With Mikey," "The Hard Way" and "Greedy." A seven-month shooting stint in New Zealand for "The Frighteners" in 1996 — seven months away from his wife, Tracy Pollan, (his former "Family Ties" girlfriend) and their three children — intensified his desire for the stability of a TV series. When first pitched the idea for "Spin City," he was not optimistic about its prospects. Reading the first act three days later, he and his wife began laughing out loud together. "We both kind of simultaneously said," he recalls, "'This is it.'"

A color revolution is taking place in the American kitchen, and solid hardwood cabinetry is at the forefront.

The warmth and beauty of solid hardwoods have always defined the very best in kitchen cabinetry, but now, according to designers and industry experts interviewed by the Hardwood Manufacturers Association, favorites such as oak, maple and cherry are turning up in a broader palette of colors.

Agnes Willcox, CKD, a Florence, S.C. designer who features colorful, distressed cabinetry in some of her kitchen designs, says the trend represents a backlash against the uninspired "one-size-fits-all" kitchens of the 1960s and '70s.

Whether it's a sign of a revolt or just a matter of personal taste, the emergence of colorful hardwood cabinetry is part of a growing trend toward more lively kitchens, where bright colors play an increasingly prominent role.

"People are in tune to what's going on in their kitchen environment, and they're not afraid to bring in splashy colors," says Vincent Achey, Director of Marketing for Plain & Fancy Custom Cabinetry, Schaefferstown, Pa.

His company offers red, green, coffee bean, celery and arctic white as standard color choices for solid hardwood cabinetry. "Color is very popular right now," he adds. "People have a chance to give a design more pizzazz."

Pizzazz was clearly the order of the day for John Troxell, design director for Wood-Mode Cabinetry, Kreamer, Pa., when he was asked to create a maple kitchen island in fuchsia for a custom kitchen.

"Some people would be very uncomfortable with that color in their kitchen, while others would be just fine with it," says Troxell. "It is largely dependent on your personality."

As for the significance of the trend, Troxell sees the popularity of color as merely a case of variety promoting individualism. "The cabinets you select for your kitchen are a factor of what you see as your environment," he says. "Not everybody likes the same things."

Q. I have a picture that I believe is printed on cloth. It depicts a man tipping his hat to a woman in a long dress. The title above it is "Fluffy-Ruffles." There's a poem that reads, "She's back in town with cheeks aglow, Now leaves are sear and yellow. And though she loved me a while ago, Now can't she snub a fellow?" There's also the name and address of a laundry. Do you have any idea what it was all about?

A. "Fluffy Ruffles" was a Sunday comic about a woman who was too beautiful and well-dressed to hold a job. Wallace Morgan drew the comic strip in the early 1900s. It ended in 1910.

Your picture was a laundry's promotional giveaway.

Q. My original Alvin and the Chipmunks harmonica still works. Is it worth anything?

A. Alvin and the Chipmunks were "born" as recording stars in 1958. Their prime-time animated TV show, "The Alvin Show," ran from October 1961 through September 1962. Reruns aired Saturday mornings from 1962 through 1965 and again in 1979. A sequel, "Alvin and the Chipmunks," debuted on Saturday mornings in 1983 and was renamed "The Chipmunks" in 1988.

Alvin memorabilia doesn't command high prices yet. The harmonica, made in 1959, is worth $35 if you still have the original display card.

Q. My mother has an old Indian necklace made of many strands of small coral beads. They can be twisted to give the necklace a different look. What's it worth?

A. Coral necklaces were made by members of the Santo Domingo and other pueblos along the Rio Grande in New Mexico. Necklaces of many strands of small stone beads are called "heishi."

Contemporary necklaces of that description sell for about $300. A vintage version would be worth about $700.

HELPING EDUCATORS WARD OFF HEART DISEASE -- Garrett County Memorial Hospital has been working with employees of the Garrett County Board of Education to assist board employees in reducing their risks for heart disease. Healthworks, a worksite program available through the hospital's Wellness department, provides health screenings that test for high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, smoking status, and weight. Pictured from left, at the Kitzmiller Elementary School screening, emergency room technician Sam Moon takes a blood sample from Jarrod Hauser, a math resource teacher at Swan Meadow and Red House schools.

Hospital Helping Board Of Ed. Employees Reduce Heart Disease

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital Wellness staff has been working with the Garrett County Board of Education to help BOE employees reduce their risks for heart disease through the Healthworks program.

During the past two months, Bloomington, Kitzmiller, Route 40, and Friendsville elementary schools, as well as Southern and Northern high schools, have served as designated screening sites where BOE employees received testing for high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, smoking status, and weight--all major factors that contribute to heart disease, according to Debora Nichols, CHES, Garrett Memorial's Wellness coordinator.

Participants also received educational materials about healthy lifestyle changes that can assist in decreasing heart disease, such as exercising regularly and eating foods low in fat.

"Through education and a supportive work environment, employees can learn new behaviors to help reduce the risk for coronary heart disease," said Ms. Nichols.

"The number of our employees participating in the Healthworks program has increased this year," observed Henrietta M. Lease, director of personnel for the Garrett County Board of Education. "This would indicate that there is a consciousness that has been raised through this program about the importance of living a healthy lifestyle to reduce heart disease."

Ms. Lease added that the Healthworks program also provides employees who have existing health problems with yet another way to monitor those problems and keep them in check.

Nichols noted that the hospital's Wellness department offers programs to control blood pressure, cholesterol, weight, and smoking, providing individuals with the necessary skills and behaviors to adopt healthy lifestyles.

Persons desiring more information about the Healthworks worksite program may call 301-334-2155, ext. 408.

Rev. Ken Heath To Lead Revival At Baptist Church

Rev. Ken Heath, the leader of western Maryland's Southern Baptist churches, will hold revival meetings at Deep Creek Baptist Church beginning this Sunday at 11 a.m. and each evening, Sunday through Wednesday, at 7 p.m.

Rev. Heath, a native of North Carolina, recently was a pastor in the greater Baltimore area. He was appointed six months ago to oversee 20 churches in the western Maryland region. He, his wife Deborah, and their two children have settled in Allegany County.

Pastor Don Wilson of Deep Creek Baptist Church said the public is invited to attend these meetings.

July Dozer Ride Ends In Jail Term For Oakland Man

An Oakland man will be residing in the Garrett County Jail for the next year and a half after stealing a bulldozer and taking it for a self-described "joyride" in the Kitzmiller area in July.

Michael Lee Paugh, 26, was sentenced during last week's Garrett County District Court proceedings as a result of his August conviction on charges of theft, reckless endangerment, and driving while intoxicated. Judge Ralph M. Burnett handed Paugh a three-year sentence, 18 months of which were suspended, and placed him on two years of supervised probation.

The charges stemmed from Paugh's arrest by sheriff's deputies after they stopped him while driving down Vindex Road aboard a stolen bulldozer. He reportedly refused to stop at their repeated requests and orders, and allegedly attempted to run a deputy down with the bulldozer. Blood alcohol tests confirmed that he was intoxicated at the time.

In other district court news, a Meyersdale, Pa., man drew a $100 fine for his role in the events associated with a motor vehicle accident that claimed the life of a Frostburg woman in March.

Richard Allen Baer, 24, pleaded guilty to a charge of buying and providing alcohol to three underage drinkers, including 18-year-old Jennifer Renee Delsignore, who was killed as the car she was driving struck another vehicle at the intersection of Route 135 and Boiling Springs Road. Baer and the two other underage drinkers were passengers in Delsignore's vehicle at the time of the accident.

Two Oakland residents were each convicted on felony theft charges and sentenced to a one-year suspended sentence and placed on one year of supervised probation last week. Randall Dale Beckman, 25, and Rosemary Elza, 27, had both been arrested by sheriff's deputies as result of an investigation of a February theft of a snowblower and a mulching mower from a storage shed in Oakland. The pair were also ordered to pay $460 in restitution to the owner and $765 to the owner's insurance company.

Owen Hayes Snyder, 53, Accident, was convicted on three counts of reckless endangerment after pleading not guilty and was handed a nine-month suspended sentence, fined $300, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. The charges stemmed from his June arrest by state troopers after a dispute with unwanted visitors at his residence. Snyder had reportedly fired a pistol into the air outside his home in an attempt to drive the other parties away. Other charges of five counts of first-degree assault, six counts of second-degree assault, and two additional charges of reckless endangerment were not prosecuted.

James Edward Regan Jr., 19, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a 30-day sentence, with all but two days suspended, fined $155, placed on one year of supervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. The charge stemmed from his August arrest by Natural Resources Police after he was reportedly discovered smoking the drug inside his vehicle as it was parked on the shoulder of Devil's Half Acre Road at 11 p.m.

Steve Kent Crabill, 32, Laurel, pleaded guilty to charges of possession of heroin, misdemeanor theft, and exceeding 100 miles per hour in a 65 mph zone. He was handed a 4½ year suspended sentence and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Crabill's charges stemmed from his October arrest by state troopers who were initially patrolling 1-68 in response to a lookout for a subject who had pulled away from the pumps at a Bruceton Mills, W.Va., gas station without paying for his gasoline. After a short chase along 1-68 in Garrett County that reached speeds over 100 mph, troopers stopped Crabill eastbound on 1-68 at Green Lantern Road. A subsequent vehicle search uncovered the drugs in his car. Additional charges of possession of cocaine and assorted drug paraphernalia and driving without current tags were not prosecuted.

LOCAL FIRE FIGHTERS HONORED - Two members of the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company recently received awards from the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Association. Pictured left is Bob Sines, who was chosen Junior Fireman of the Year by the association, and at right is Deep Creek chief Michael Phillippi, who was inducted into the Association's Hall of Flame. The two were honored at the association's annual convention, which was hosted this year by the Eastern Garrett Volunteer Fire and Rescue Company in Finzel.

Brian Jason Hughes, 24, Gambrills, pleaded guilty to marijuana possession and was handed a 30-day suspended sentence, fined a sum of $155, placed on six months' unsupervised probation, and ordered to complete 30 hours of community service. The charge stemmed from his August arrest at the Swallow Falls State Park campground by Department of Natural Resources park rangers.

A charge of intoxication which did endanger one's own safety faced by Daniel August Georg, 26, Accident, was placed on the stet docket, meaning that the charge can be recalled for trial within the next 365 days if deemed necessary. The charge stems from Georg's September arrest by sheriff's deputies after they had received reports of a subject lying in traffic on Hutton Road. He was subsequently located lying in the bed of a pickup truck parked outside a store in Crellin.

A charge of disorderly conduct faced by Rocky Calvin Tichinel, 18, Mtn. Lake Park, was placed on the stet docket, with a condition that he complete 20 hours of community service. The charge stemmed from his August arrest by sheriff's deputies at the Garrett County Fair after an off-duty state trooper, who had identified himself as a law enforcement officer, requested that Tichinel stop yelling profanities in front of other citizens waiting in line at an amusement ride.

Bryan Denver Shaffer, 19, and Douglas Edward Halterman, 34, both of Oakland, had motions to revise their sentences granted. The men had pleaded guilty in earlier unrelated trials to charges of possession of marijuana. Their cases will now each reflect records of a probation before judgment ruling as a result of the sentence revision.

Unrelated felony theft charges faced by Robert Sequin, 22, Madison, and Stanley Henry Van Meter, 32, Elk Garden, W.Va., were not prosecuted, as were charges of possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia faced by Roddy Lee Pifer, 31, Flintstone.

Introducing Panelcraft Building Systems
The House of Tomorrow is Here Today!
Cool When It's Hot, Cozy When It's Not!
Customer satisfaction is our #1 goal.

These houses are built with Panelcraft's Structural Insulated Panels (SIPs).
Using SIPs requires less construction time and leaves the customer with a draft-free Energy Efficient Home at an affordable price!
At Panelcraft, these Panels go through a special bonding process to create a Structural Panel far superior to using just the insulation by itself in a conventional frame building.
The material used for the insulation is called Polystyrene, the same thing that is used for styrofoam coffee cups. Not only does 1/16 of an inch of Polystyrene protect your fingers from being burned from the scorching hot coffee, it also keeps them dry!
Now if only 1/16 inch will do this, imagine what 4 to 6 inches will do in your home to keep the warm and the dry inside and keep the cold and the dampness outside!
Oh! By the way all you carpenters and do-it-yourselfers, etc., no more itching and scratching and coughing while insulating a house!
Panel homes have withstood earthquake activity where others crumbled.
If you would like to know more about Panelcraft and why SIPs are one of the fastest growing building techniques in the industry, call or write:
